God created man different from all other creatures in the animal kingdom. Stimulus is always followed by a predictable conditioned response in animals, but man alone has the ability to make a choice between stimulus and response. Animals are conditioned (or trained), but man alone can choose. Those who have accepted sodomy have reduced themselves to the level of brute beasts, thus they have the mark of the beast—either in their hand representing their behavior, or in their foreheads representing their animalistic philosophy of life.

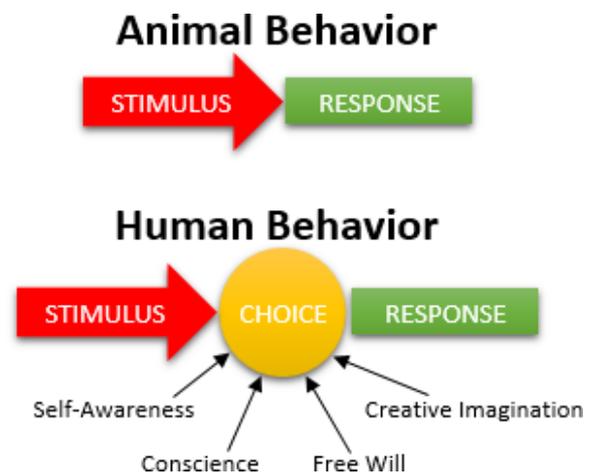

Just before God destroyed the antediluvians, He caused the animals themselves to testify against the wickedness of the people by going into the ark in male-female pairs, according to the divine order.

And of every living thing of all flesh, two of every sort shalt thou bring into the ark, to keep them alive with thee; they shall be male and female. (Genesis 6:19)

Of every clean beast thou shalt take to thee by sevens, the male and his female; and of beasts that are not clean by two, the male and his female. Of fowls also of the air by sevens, the male and the female; to keep seed alive upon the face of all the earth. (Genesis 7:2-3)

There went in two and two unto Noah into the ark, the male and the female, as God had commanded Noah. (Genesis 7:9)

And they that went in, went in male and female of all flesh, as God had commanded him: and the LORD shut him in. (Genesis 7:16)

Milestones on the Road to Perdition

Granting homosexuals the right to marry, was the first phase of the attack on God’s law in the United States, where the nation put the mark of the beast into effect, but still left the possibility open for individuals to remain faithful to God by speaking against it and not participating in it. The U.S. entered that phase on June 26, 2015. Many people have already been suffering as a result, for refusing to service homosexuals, but that is only the first phase.

The next phase is the limitation of free speech. That is coming as I write this—and it is coming so quickly that I question how long we will be able to publish articles like this one. It is happening everywhere around the world, but what is happening in Europe and the U.S. is especially making the news. In Europe, people are being held up to public ridicule, losing their jobs, being deprived of their assets, and generally losing everything—all for speaking a word! Public comments are no longer allowed by some press organizations. The tolerance and anti-discrimination laws mean that you cannot speak freely (negatively) about public figures, corporations, governments, or people groups because it is considered “hate speech” against them.^[2] In the U.S., you can already browse a public “hate map” showing some surprising organizations that are considered to be hate groups by the influential Southern Poverty Law Center, which feeds the recently-created domestic terrorism council, which is aimed at curbing free speech in an effort to prevent the formation of terrorists.^[3] One point worth pondering is: why are these kinds of measures being pressed so urgently, if they are aimed at preventing the rise of a future generation of terrorists? Is a day, or month, or year, going to make a difference—or is there an ulterior motive supplying the urgency?

Tolerance laws will be the cause of a great darkness, and will prevent the “buying and selling” (spreading) of the truth, as it is written in the Word of God.

And he causeth all, both small and great, rich and poor, free and bond, to receive a mark in their right hand, or in their foreheads: And that no man might buy or sell, save he that had the mark, or the name of the beast, or the number of his name. (Revelation 13:16-17)

The merchandising of Babylon is a prominent theme that occupies almost the whole 18th chapter of the book of Revelation. Merchandising, commerce and trade—buying and selling—can be understood symbolically as the trading or exchange of doctrines, teachings, and philosophies. Babylon offers its myriads of false teachings, each one tailored to appeal to the sinful desires of a particular crowd. Free speech allows the truth to be shared and exchanged—bought and sold—as Jesus counseled the church of Laodicea to do.^[4] When free speech is restricted, it is very difficult to exchange the truth with others.

The big issue today is LGBT tolerance. Tolerance laws protect those who are in harmony with the New World Order, but they deny protection for anyone who is “intolerant.” That means if you speak anything that is considered hate speech, then you are automatically the guilty party and have no protection under the law. That means all worldly support is being removed from those who remain faithful to God. It means that if you do not endorse sodomy, if you do not receive the image of the beast, then you are not permitted to trade your words on the free-speech market.

Worst of all, the death decree, or death sentence, will eventually come for those who still refuse to accept (tolerate) LGBT marriage. The framework has already been in place in the United States for some time, being that terrorists are no longer counted as having rights—and can be detained, tortured, and killed without due process. Now that hate speech is categorized as the cause of terrorism, and since the tolerance laws are tolerant of all but the intolerant, the death sentence without the right to a trial is lacking little more than implementation. The Bible mentions the death sentence in the third plague:

And the third angel poured out his vial upon the rivers and fountains of waters; and they became blood. And I heard the angel of the waters say, Thou art righteous, O Lord, which art, and wast, and shalt be, because thou hast judged thus. For they have shed the blood of saints and prophets, and thou hast given them blood to drink; for they are worthy. And I heard another out of the altar say, Even so, Lord God Almighty, true and righteous are thy judgments. (Revelation 16:4-7)

The death sentence for intolerance will affect all of the faithful, causing them to cry out to God day and night for deliverance.^[5] The bigger the city that a person lives in, the worse these things will be.

The national sodomy law of the U.S. went global on September 25, 2015, when all 193 nations on this planet signed the new 17 Sustainable Development Goals at the United Nations summit. Among those 17 goals are women's equality and anti-discrimination—both of which are the primary enablers of LGBT rights. The entire world signed onto the UN goals! And it did not take much time for UN representatives to knock on the doors of yet-to-be-compliant nations, urging them toward implementation, with fiscal consequences to be imposed for non-compliance. It happened on October 6 in Paraguay—less than two weeks after the nations signed the new goals!^[6] Rapid changes are afoot everywhere.

A Brief Sketch of Lucifer, Past and Present

The acceptance or tolerance of homosexuality is a frontal attack on the due authority of God established for this world at Creation as an extension of God's throne. If you will, Adam was coregent of Earth with God. When Adam fell, this world fell with him into a state of rebellion against God, and Satan (formerly Lucifer) became the world's new de facto leader, because Adam had obeyed him over God.

Know ye not, that to whom ye yield yourselves servants to obey, his servants ye are to whom ye obey; whether of sin unto death, or of obedience unto righteousness? (Romans 6:16)

Satan usurped God's authority over Adam by tempting Adam to sin, and as such Satan became the representative of planet Earth in the courts of heaven.^[7] That representation endured until Jesus Christ overcame Satan through the cross.

Now is the judgment of this world: now shall the prince of this world be cast out. (John 12:31)

And the great dragon was cast out, that old serpent, called the Devil, and Satan, [and Lucifer] which deceiveth the whole world: he was cast out into the earth, and his angels were cast out with him. (Revelation 12:9)

Jesus' victory on the cross redeemed the world from Satan's representation. From that time forward, Jesus has been not only the sinner's personal Advocate, but also the corporate representative of our planet in the courts of heaven.

Although Satan can no longer represent the entire planet, however, he still holds sway over sinners who reject the gift of Jesus Christ and remain obedient to him. He does not have authority over the world as a whole, but he has control of the majority of the people. Through human agents, Satan still seeks to accomplish his ultimate goal of usurping God's throne in heaven.

How can he hope to do it? Simple—he and his angels control the people to accomplish his purposes for him. We can see it very clearly right now through current news headlines like the following one (dated October 11, 2015): Canadians hoping to travel to Mars welcome news of water on planet. Through human instrumentalities, Satan is endeavoring to expand his government to other worlds! His agenda from the beginning has been to usurp not only the dominion of Adam, but the throne of God Himself. That is why the space capsule that is being constructed to carry astronauts to Mars is called ORION. Satan's ultimate goal is to spread his rebellion all the way to the throne of God in Orion, and his method is to use human instrumentalities to do it.

Satan's government does away with the husband-wife hierarchy in traditional marriage (the image of God) by replacing it with two equivalent and generic LGBTQxyz persons with equal authority. That represents his intention to rise to equal power with God Himself. He wants to compete equally with God, as yin and yang, forever.

For thou hast said in thine heart, I will ascend into heaven, I will exalt my throne above the stars of God: I will sit also upon the mount of the congregation, in the sides of the north: I will ascend above the heights of the clouds; I will be like the most High. (Isaiah 14:13-14)

It gives the endless saga of Star Wars a whole new depth of gnostic meaning, where the perfect square of 144,000 faithful are depicted as the always-orderly rows of storm-troopers dressed in white. Good guys represent the rebellion of Satan and his angels, and the orderly government of God is depicted as extremely harsh and evil to the core. The "force"—Spiritism—permeates its doctrine. As a person sits emotionally captivated in the theater seat, he is being conditioned to root for the enemy of God without even knowing it. That is how entertainment has corrupted countless souls, while they enjoyed the process.

Thus, the struggle between LGBT rights vs. traditional marriage is in fact the struggle between Satan's governance vs. God's. The Bible tells us how to identify the human agents whom Satan is using to accomplish his agenda. It says that the "world" is opposed to God. It is speaking here of worldliness—the ideologies and philosophies that Satan has been selling to the world ever since the Fall.

...know ye not that the friendship of the world is enmity with God? whosoever therefore will be a friend of the world is the enemy of God. (James 4:4)

The ways of God are exemplified by love, which is expressed in His law. That is why the Ten Commandments include the command to honor "thy father and thy mother" (defining the home as consisting of heterosexual parents) and to not commit adultery—which is a breach of the marriage institution, and a betrayal of the principle of love.

Blessed are the undefiled in the way, who walk in the law of the LORD. (Psalm 119:1)

By contrast, Satan has been working tirelessly to change the ways and laws of the world according to his design. When we look at the world today, we can identify Satan's influence very easily. We need not look any further than the UN summit on September 25, 2015, where all the nations of the world agreed to the new UN development goals. That means the UN is now in the role of facilitating Satan's one-world government—and Satan himself presides over it through the human agency of Pope Francis, whose monumental address to the UN was given that same day in the highly symbolic Tower of Babel (expand the image to see the symbolism explained). Pope Francis is the human embodiment of Satan himself, masquerading as an angel of light.^[8]

Satan has achieved such a victory over the souls of the human race that he has become the leader of world through Pope Francis. Now do you understand why the death penalty will be attached to hate speech, and why these changes are being urged so quickly upon the national governments of the world? The polarization is so strong that there is no middle ground any more. Everyone has been influenced toward one side or the other.

Crossing the Rubicon

Julius Caesar, a Roman statesman who “is considered by many historians to be one of the greatest military commanders in history,”^[9] no doubt offers a good illustration of what Satan is trying to accomplish through Pope Francis. “He played a critical role in the events that led to the demise of the Roman Republic and the rise of the Roman Empire.” That parallels the role Satan wants to play in the “reform” of God’s government, which he intends to accomplish by replacing it with his own.

Satan is acting against his Creator. Like Julius Caesar, he is engaging in a very difficult battle, and he knows it.

We know from [Caesar’s journals] that Caesar is not taking this lightly. He knows that if he marches on Rome with his armies, then he is a public enemy, and that he will either have to win, or die. For a Roman patrician like Julius Caesar there is no life without military service; there is no life without service to the state. He cannot simply ‘go native’ and stay in Gaul, and he does realize that if he goes back to Rome, he would be killed. At this time the northernmost border of the Roman territory in Italy is the River Rubicon. Once someone crosses the River Rubicon, he’s in Roman territory. A general must not cross that boundary with his army – he must do what the Romans call lay down his command, which means surrender his right to order troops, and certainly not be carrying weapons. Caesar and his armies hesitate quite a while at this river while Caesar decides what to do, and Caesar tells us that he informs his soldiers that it’s a little tiny bridge across the river, but once they cross it they’ll have to fight their way all the way to Rome, and Caesar is well aware that he's risking not just his own life, but those of his loyal soldiers, and he might not win. Pompey is a formidable enemy. It's also impossible to avoid the fact that Caesar was attacking the state, and as a patrician Roman this would have been very difficult for him, equivalent to beating up your father. He wouldn't have done any of this lightly. Finally, he makes a decision, it's time to go, and he uses a gambling metaphor: he says 'Roll the dice', 'Alea jacta est'. Once the dice start rolling they cannot be controlled, even though we don't know what it is as the dice roll and tumble. Julius and his men swiftly cross the river and they march double time toward Rome, where they almost beat the messengers sent to inform the Senate of their arrival.

—Titchener, To Rule Mankind and Make the World Obey

Can you imagine how immoral a person would have to be to “beat up their own father!?” And yet this man is revered as a great man! Pope Francis is no different. After having already subdued the entire world outside of Roman Catholicism, he marched home to Rome to conquer his own Church in the three-week synod. His goal since the beginning of his papacy has been to reform the Church, ultimately to break down the marriage institution by trivializing divorce and welcoming homosexuality.

The whole drama was acted out in the Seventh-day Adventist Church in advance, so there is no guesswork involved as to what is happening in the Catholic Church. It has all been rehearsed and practiced. Step 1, marriage is compromised. Step 2, homosexuality is defended (tolerated). It's that simple, whether we are talking about churches or politics.

The Seventh-day Adventist Church demonstrated the Hegelian dialectic with classic clarity. The thesis was women's ordination. The antithesis (or opposition) was determined to have no change. After fierce battles between the two sides threatened to divide the church, the synthesis was presented and voted on July 8, 2015 saying effectively this: “Obey the leadership, even if it contradicts Bible and conscience.” Thus the corporate Adventist Church crossed the line and declared war against God. To be clear, they chose to beat up their Father.

That was just the practice run for what has now happened in the Catholic Church. For Catholics, the thesis was communion for unorthodox marriages, among other things. The antithesis was again no change. After fierce battles between the two sides threatened to divide the church, the synthesis came directly from the lips of the Supreme Pontiff himself. On October 17, 2015, he addressed the synod on its 50th anniversary with words “particularly significant not only for the internal life of the Catholic Church...but also for her relations with the other Christian churches and communities—beginning with the Orthodox Church, and her witness in the world.”^[10] In other words, he offered his solution of synthesis to all denominations, saying in essence, “Obey me as the great shepherd, even if it goes against God and conscience. I have the last word.”

Thus Pope Francis crossed the Rubicon, declaring war against God on behalf of the entire political and religious world. Alea jacta est—the die has been cast. As the furious pace of his march against God reaches every person along the way, the cultivated tendencies of each individual will determine how the dice will roll for them. Preparation time is over for humanity, and the armies of Satan and the messengers of God are racing toward the conflict in double time.

Are you enlisted in the war? Which side have you prepared yourself to join, as the battle cry rings through your town today? Although we are using the metaphors of war, we are not advocating violence in any way. The battle is a spiritual one. It is not violence to teach that homosexual conduct is an abomination, and that sexual perversion brings plagues. It is not violence to speak one's conviction or to kindly refuse to bake a cake! This is a battle between right and wrong and has nothing to do with physical aggression. The metaphor of war is appropriate because of the eternal consequences that are at stake.

Another famous worldly general put the dire situation we face in very succinct and somber words:

If you will not fight for right when you can easily win without bloodshed; if you will not fight when your victory is sure and not too costly; you may come to the moment when you will have to fight with all the odds against you and only a precarious chance of survival. There may even be a worse case. You may have to fight when there is no hope of victory, because it is better to perish than to live as slaves.

—Winston S. Churchill

That can be read from either perspective, for either side of the battle. Think about it, and know how far the enemy will go. We have ample hope of victory, if only the soldiers would rise to duty! But will that always be the case? This is your last call to duty, and it is just that—a call to duty, not a call to life guarantees! Love is a matter of principle. Take your stand for God, and for God's government as reflected in the image of husband-wife marriage. With no violence or malice, speak against homosexual tolerance! And do not tolerate or practice homosexuality yourself, lest you receive the plagues!

The First Plague

The first plague is a punishment specifically on those who have the mark of the beast or worship his image.

And the first went, and poured out his vial upon the earth; and there fell a noisome and grievous sore upon the men which had the mark of the beast, and upon them which worshipped his image. (Revelation 16:2)

Note that the sore (or ulcer, or boil) falls upon a certain class of people. In other words, it is discriminatory. That means the plague cannot be something that affects the whole world without discrimination; it affects only certain people.

It is poetic justice that when the world (led by Satan) is pushing anti-discrimination laws that require tolerance of all people groups, God comes along with the first plague and says He definitely will discriminate based on a certain people group. The world says to tolerate everyone without discrimination, especially certain protected groups like LGBT groups, but God says He will not tolerate, but will pour out His wrath upon exactly that group! Those who have the mark of the beast are those who practice homosexuality, and those who worship his image are those who support and defend homosexuality (in other words, those who are morally loose even if they are still heterosexual). It is about sin: the soul who sins shall die.^[11]

The selectivity of the first plague already eliminates several possibilities as to what it could be. For example, it cannot be a great earthquake, because an earthquake kills everyone in its reach without discrimination. It cannot be an asteroid impact, meteor shower, or nuclear war, because all of those would affect all people groups equally. It has to be something that is connected to the mark and image of the beast. It has to be something that is connected to homosexuality and sexual promiscuity, and understanding that allows us to connect the dots...

Is there anyone who has not heard of AIDS/HIV, and who does not know its cause?

HIV infection is caused by the human immunodeficiency virus. You can get HIV from contact with infected blood, semen, or vaginal fluids. Most people get the virus by having unprotected sex with someone who has HIV. Another common way of getting it is by sharing drug needles with someone who is infected with HIV. The virus can also be passed from a mother to her baby during pregnancy, birth, or breast-feeding.^[12]

AIDS (or HIV) is a disease that is a consequence of lifestyle. The fact that most people who get the virus get it via sex from someone else who has it shows that the AIDS virus punishes sexual promiscuity, point-blank. It is a judgment or plague which discriminates against an immoral people group. It's that simple! Nature and the Word of God take a direct shot at the immorality couched within the tolerance and anti-discrimination laws that the world is pushing.

But that's not all. The Bible also gives a description of the symptoms of the plague, which matches the most distinctive AIDS symptoms.

Common AIDS symptoms in men include:^[13]

- swollen lymph glands.
- unusual lesions on the tongue; skin rashes and bumps.
- nausea, vomiting, and diarrhea.
- cough and shortness of breath.
- chronic fatigue.
- fever, chills, and night sweats.
- rapid weight loss.
- blurred or distorted vision.

In the first plague, the “noisome and grievous sores” are an apt description of the skin rashes and bumps that are associated with AIDS/HIV infection. However, the Bible goes into even further detail of the disease in the fifth plague. The fifth plague is also associated directly with the seat (or authority) of the beast, which is his counterfeit to marriage in the form of homosexuality and sexual promiscuity.

And the fifth angel poured out his vial upon the seat of the beast; and his kingdom was full of darkness; and they gnawed their tongues for pain, And blasphemed the God of heaven because of their pains and their sores, and repented not of their deeds. (Revelation 16:10-11)

The “unusual lesions on the tongue” are described as being painful, along with the repeated mention of the sores which were mentioned in the first plague.

It seems abundantly clear that these two plagues are talking about AIDS/HIV, which is the discriminatory plague that only affects people groups that are sexually licentious—in other words, those who either practice sodomy themselves, or are so free with sex that they support the animalistic maxim of “if it feels good, do it” and thus they support the homosexual movement (and Satan’s authority) indirectly. Sin gives Satan power! He sits on the seat of sin!

Remember, we are talking about sin as the real disease with eternal consequences—not the loss of health in this life due to AIDS, which resulted from poor choices of the past. If you are a person who is already infected by HIV but have repented and reformed your life in time, then thank God that you found salvation for the life to come! Just “Go,” in the power of Jesus’ word, “and sin no more.”^[14] For those who “pride” themselves in their sin, mark well...

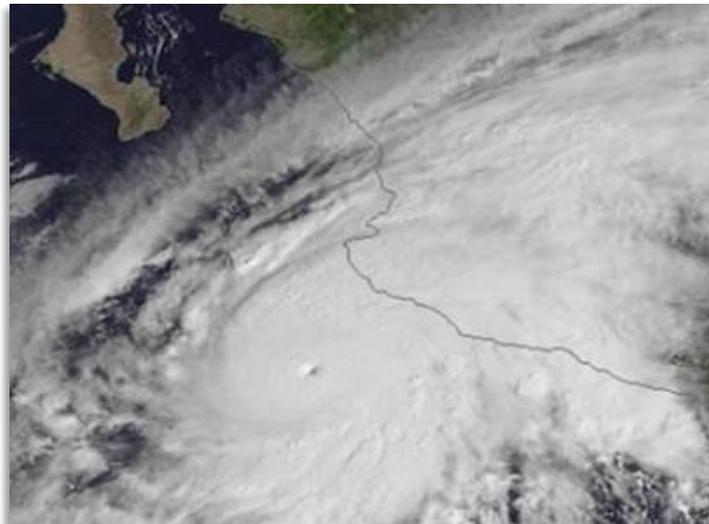

Mercy Lingers No More

One thing that can now be deduced from the first plague is that it will rise continuously, and not happen suddenly. Viruses can spread quickly, but a whole population won't drop dead overnight from AIDS. That begs the question: what does it mean that our countdown to the plagues expired at the end of the specific date of October 24, 2015, pointing to the beginning of the plagues (the first plague) on October 25? There were no masses of people dropping dead—as our critics were all too eager to “inform” us. Why then did God give a specific date for the beginning of the plagues?

Pope Francis sure didn't miss an opportunity to contradict our warning of the plagues. On that very day, he said “Today Is a Time of Mercy!”^[15] When the plagues began, Satan flatly contradicted it. He will continue to contradict it for the entire duration of the plagues, too.

The fact is, God could have poured out His judgments upon this world as far back as three and a half years ago, if it had not been for those who were still praying, still wrestling. Mercy lingered a long time for sinners to repent of their bad character, but now the preparation is over and the final exam has begun.

God gave an attention-getting sign as the time of plagues approached. Hurricane Patricia was “among the most rapidly intensifying tropical cyclones ever witnessed anywhere in the world since the advent of modern meteorology.”^[16] Heralded as the strongest storm in world history, it was a fitting warning of the impending plagues, not to mention that it was on course to make landfall on the very eve of the plagues, apparently making a beeline for Guadalajara, “one of the gayest spots in Latin America.”^[17] It was nothing short of a prompt act of God against a nation quick to adopt same-sex marriage laws.

The hurricane threatened a fierce death toll as its 200 mph (320 km/h) winds were expected to rip through Mexico on short notice, and tens of thousands were evacuated in anticipation of widespread destruction. And then, as soon as the Day of Atonement High Sabbath arrived on Friday evening, the hurricane spontaneously burst into just rain. “Patricia weakened even faster than it strengthened,” and by the time the plagues began on October 25, what was left of hurricane Patricia was nothing more than “a remnant low.” What can it mean? Any statistician should tell you that it is highly improbable that the strongest storm of all time would coincide with a single date that we've been counting down to for several years as the beginning of the plagues.

It was nothing short of a miracle that the storm passed without a significant number of mortalities or amount of damage. In the Bible, winds represent strife and war, which God held back from breaking loose on the first day of the plagues. It was always prophesied that way.

And after these things I saw four angels standing on the four corners of the earth, holding the four winds of the earth, that the wind should not blow on the earth, nor on the sea, nor on any tree. And I saw another angel ascending from the east, having the seal of the living God: and he cried with a loud voice to the four angels, to whom it was given to hurt the earth and the sea, Saying,

Hurt not the earth, neither the sea, nor the trees, till we have sealed the servants of our God in their foreheads. (Revelation 7:1-3)

The fierce winds of Patricia threatened to tear the land to shreds, but they did not! Very little damage was reported compared to what was expected. The winds of destruction were held back, and the Bible tells us why in the above verse. Before the world can suffer harm, the sealing must be done.

That does not mean there is grace in the time of plagues, however. Think of it like a final exam in school. The time of plagues is the time of your final exam. Your preparation for the exam must have been done ahead of time. The time of grace was the preparation time, when you could have still changed your thinking before the exam. That time is over, and as of October 25, 2015 the world is seated in the exam room, and the door has been closed. At this point, even if the examiner has not administered your individual test yet, you still cannot change. You cannot go outside of the exam room to your study resources any more.

There is no more grace. No storm in weather-recording history has ever strengthened as fast as this one. It was near unbelievable—but after breaking the all-time record and grabbing the attention of the world, the storm gave an even greater surprise: “Patricia weakened even faster than it strengthened.” Those who prayed for Mexico thought their prayers were answered, but they have misunderstood what the storm means. Rain from Patricia was not held back.

Like the rain that came after Noah had waited in the ark for seven days, Patricia was full of rain as a sign that the real thing—the plagues—would begin after the seven days from October 18–24. It was not a sign to rejoice, or a sign of grace—and certainly not a sign for the latter rain. The latter rain is over, and the ark door is shut. Now we are in a time like the flood rains, which is not a rain that symbolizes grace or mercy, but a time when God must execute judgment. That is exemplified by the rains of Patricia, as “Rainfall was heavy enough to cause flooding and mudslides, including a slide in the state of Michoacán that took a section of roadway out with it, injuring two people whose vehicle fell into the slide.” When Patricia burst into rain, the God of Heaven burst into tears for the yet impenitent.

From one account, we learn additional details that are very interesting in light of the symbolism of Bible prophecy:

“The wind began around five in the afternoon,” she said. “The velocity of the air began to increase, and with it you could begin to feel the havoc it brought on. Trees started to fall one by one. It went on that way until 10 p.m.—the winds were strong. We sat in a small corner of the house—we all sat the same way in our houses—caved in.”^[18]

First of all, note that it began just before the Sabbath which begins at sunset, just like the storm we experienced a few years ago. In our storm, a large tree was symbolically uprooted, but with Patricia many trees “started to fall one by one.” Trees represent individual people,^[19] and an uprooted tree is no longer a living tree. It has been judged and found wanting, and rooted out without mercy! In fact, one report indicated that the only two deaths from Patricia were caused by falling trees.^[20] Clearly, the message is that the plagues begin with a process of individual judgment, “one by one.”

So, contrary to the idea that God was merciful, the heavy rain and uprooted trees from Patricia confirmed that the plagues did begin, but it tells us something about the time of plagues that we had not yet understood.

Think about it. If the gamma-ray burst from the Betelgeuse supernova had lit the globe on fire on the first day of plagues, how could the Holy Spirit administer the final exam? Specifically, how would God know who should die and who should live, if the final exam had not been completed yet? First, the student must take the exam. Then, the exam must be graded and given a PASS or FAIL mark. Then the consequences can finally come.

From that understanding alone, we can deduce that the gamma-ray burst probably won't happen until at least the seventh plague, or at the actual coming of Jesus. Supernovae are both destructive as well as creative, and with the interstellar distances involved it is even difficult to say if the supernova will affect the earth before the millennium or after the millennium. Our best idea at this point is that the initial gamma-ray burst could occur before the millennium, while other slower effects of the supernova could reach earth after the millennium for the final destruction of the wicked. It's hard to say for sure at this point, but we should not let such details discourage us from having faith in God's leading. He will guide us into all truth, as He promised.^[21]

From a distance, we so often see prophecies as monolithic. We think events all happen at once, only to realize that they are separated by time. We think events are sudden, when they are gradual. We think grouped events all have the same properties.

The case in point is the first plague itself (covered earlier). We already saw that the first plague fits AIDS/HIV symptoms, which would spread over time and not instantaneously on the first day. It is also logical that since the plagues are cumulative, as indicated by the mention of the sores of the first plague in the text of the fifth plague, then they must get worse and worse over time, which means that they cannot start with full force on the first day of the first plague.

Still, the Bible gives another evidence that the first plague has to do with uprooting trees, one by one:

And, behold, six men came from the way of the higher gate, which lieth toward the north, and every man a slaughter weapon in his hand; and one man among them was clothed with linen, with a writer's inkhorn by his side: and they went in, and stood beside the brasen altar. And the glory of the God of Israel was gone up from the cherub, whereupon he was, to the threshold of the house. And he called to the man clothed with linen, which had the writer's inkhorn by his side; And the LORD said unto him, Go through the midst of the city, through the midst of Jerusalem, and set a mark upon the foreheads of the men that sigh and that cry for all the abominations that be done in the midst thereof. And to the others he said in mine hearing, Go ye after him through the city, and smite: let not your eye spare, neither have ye pity: Slay utterly old and young, both maids, and little children, and women: but come not near any man upon whom is the mark; and begin at my sanctuary. Then they began at the ancient men which were before the house. And he said unto them, Defile the house, and fill the courts with the slain: go ye forth. And they went forth, and slew in the city. (Ezekiel 9:2-7)

We have understood for a long time that the six angels with slaughter weapons of Ezekiel 9 correspond to the six stations around the Clock of God. That was the solution to the mystery of Ezekiel, which explains how the six angels of Ezekiel correspond to the seven angels of Revelation. Since the clock makes a full circle, the first angel of Ezekiel (corresponding to the star Saiph) is also the last angel. He has two parts to act, once at the beginning of the cycle, and once at the end.

Formerly, we applied that understanding to the Trumpet Cycle of the clock and the dates for the seven trumpets of Revelation. However, since the destructive judgments of the trumpets were held back in mercy by Jesus pleading for His people with His precious blood, that means the prophecy of Ezekiel 9 did not have its complete fulfillment in the trumpet cycle. Yes, the marking of the man with the writer's inkhorn began, but the slaughtering could not start because the command was given to hold back. Mercy lingered still, till the trumpet cycle had ended.

Furthermore, the text itself confirms that the slaughter must correspond to a time without mercy, by using absolutely merciless language. It must correspond to the time of the plagues when God’s wrath is poured out without mixture. The angels with slaughter weapons are commanded “let not your eye spare, neither have ye pity.” That means they will have no mercy! They are commanded to “slay utterly,” without regard to age or gender. That is merciless, and thus corresponds very well to the time of the plagues.

The only differentiation that the slaughter angels are permitted to make is between those who were sealed (marked) by the man with the writer’s inkhorn, and those who were not. Comparing the slaughter of Ezekiel 9 with the plagues of Revelation, we see the contrast between the seal of God and the mark of the beast. The first angel marks the foreheads to seal God’s people, whereas the first plague is poured out upon those who have the mark of the beast or his image.

			(Second Coming of Jesus: Oct. 24, 2016)

The gradual nature of the first plague—in terms of the spreading of HIV/AIDS—is complementary to the work of the angel with the writer’s inkhorn. Both represent a marking process. We must remember that the true marks are invisible, and that prophecy has symbolic meaning. Although the HIV/AIDS-induced disease is a genuine visible mark, it symbolizes something deeper. It symbolizes contamination with sin, as leprosy did in Bible times. The true mark is the blot of sin upon the character, which is not always visible. God sees through the exterior into the heart, and that works both ways. On the one hand, He can see through a rough exterior to a pure heart that has been washed in the blood of Jesus, and on the other hand, He can see through a white-washed exterior to the unregenerate and self-sufficient heart within.

The heart is deceitful above all things, and desperately wicked: who can know it? (Jeremiah 17:9)

Thus the marking process of the first plague includes a certain kind of invisibility. Going back to the final exam analogy, even though every student’s outcome will be based on preparation which is already over, the results cannot be known until the test is actually administered and graded. Each one must face his test.

The natural question is, what test began on October 25, 2015, and for whom? The answer is clear: every follower of our movement is tested, because the gamma-ray burst or any other calamity did not happen on that date. That was the big High Sabbath that we’ve been warning about and counting down to for years, and everyone who knew about it is now faced with their exam. Do you still believe that this ministry is led by God? Or were the anti-time-setters right all along? Is your faith contingent upon sight, or do you love Jesus in Orion just for who He is? Ultimately the test is a test of love.

Last year, we had the unfortunate duty of informing you that one person left our team. We did not disclose the whole story at that time, but another detail has become relevant now. There was another person who was going to leave with him at the same time last year, but he apparently repented and was given grace accordingly. However, on October 26, exactly a year later to the day, he confessed that he lost faith in this message, and thus left our team. He departed the next day, this October 27, on the birthday of Jesus.

You can imagine that we have all gone through a lot together as a team, and have grown to love each other. We are more than a team; we are a family, and it hurts terribly to lose a loved one. When we said it is no longer possible to change sides, he apparently changed sides. Thus he betrayed the message, and even Jesus/Alnitak Himself who is at its center. The fact is, he actually did not change. His repentance one year ago was answered with grace, but in the end he showed that he still did not overcome. He still made his faith dependent upon sight (which is no faith at all) and he placed himself above the group by making up his mind on his own.

Ultimately, the great test is a test of love, and here in the first plague we can see that the test began at His sanctuary and was about love (faith) to Jesus and His leading despite what is seen or not seen. A legalist does good works, but does not have love. God showed that love is above the letter of the law by giving His Son to die for transgressors! We have had so much evidence—so many tokens of God’s love—in the past year to confirm this message! To reject it because “what you said did not exactly come to pass” shows pure legalism and no love.

Now the team in Paraguay consists of exactly seven people.^[22]

By contrast, our brother in faith who left last year has stayed faithful to the message, and is currently counted among our followers in good standing. It reminds us of the story of the butler and baker on the good Pharaoh’s birthday. The 144,000 will be the highest officers in God’s kingdom like the butler, but the others are like the baker, who was hung on a tree and the birds ate his flesh.^[23]

No, there is no more mercy. If you fail this final exam, there is no more blood to cover you in the sanctuary above. You will either pass the test, or be uprooted like the trees under hurricane Patricia. Have you received your entrance exam for service in God’s army? Have you passed it? Has the angel with the writer’s inkhorn put God’s mark upon you yet?

Peals of Loudest Thunder

The seven last plagues come in seven cascading phases. The first phase began at the house of God, and it will continue until the marking angel has finished marking the entire Seventh-day Adventist denomination. Then—when everyone in that class has been tested and their grade has been recorded—the destruction of that class can begin in the next phase, while the marking continues to the next class. The process repeats until the entire world has been tested and marked, and the destruction has eliminated all but the 144,000 who remain to see Jesus come.

The following table provides an initial look at how the voice of God will cascade from Paraguay to the rest of the world. Next in line is the rest of the Seventh-day Adventist denomination. Have you wondered at how suddenly Ben Carson has risen to prominence in the U.S. presidential race?^[24] God is putting Ben Carson in the spotlight to raise awareness about Seventh-day Adventism in the public mind, just in time to test Protestants in the second plague. One of the well-known facts about Seventh-day Adventists is that they live about 10 years longer on average because of their teachings on health,^[25] central to which is a vegetarian diet. Exactly that teaching is coming to the attention of the world right now, as it has now been confirmed by the World Health Organization (WHO) that meat eating is linked to cancer.^[26] It is as if the world is already being primed for the exam that will test them in regards to Adventism.

Plague	Period	Activity of the Destroying Angels	The Test	Activity of the Marking Angel
1 – And the first went, and poured out his vial upon the earth; and there fell a noisome and grievous sore upon the men which had the mark of the beast, and upon them which worshipped his image. (Rev. 16:2)	Oct.25,2015 – Dec.1,2015	Waiting.	As fellow Adventists, do you still have love for Orion followers, even though nothing visibly big happened on Oct. 25, 2015, or do you denounce it as erroneous time-setting?	Marking begins at the house of God in Paraguay and continues across the entire Seventh-day Adventist denomination.
2 – And the second angel poured out his vial upon the sea ; and it became as the blood of a dead man: and every living soul died in the sea. (Rev. 16:3)	Dec.2-5,2015 – Mar.8,2016	Destruction begins with the Seventh-day Adventist denomination, where the 144,000 who stand on the sea of glass should have come from, for all who did not pass the test of the 1 st plague.	As fellow Protestants, do you still have love for Seventh-day Adventists who survive the destruction, or do you condemn them as cultists for keeping the seventh-day Sabbath?	Marking continues with the other Protestant denominations.
3 – And the third angel poured out his vial upon the rivers and fountains of waters ; and they became blood.... (Rev. 16:4)	Mar.9,2016 – Apr.21,2016	Destruction continues with Protestant denominations, who should have finished the Reformation of doctrinal waters , for all who did not pass the test of the 2 nd plague.	As fellow Christians, do you still have love for Protestants who survive the destruction, or do you condemn them as heretics for not joining the ecumenical movement?	Marking continues with Catholic and Orthodox churches.
4 – And the fourth angel poured out his vial upon the sun ; and power was given unto him to scorch men with fire.... (Rev. 16:8)	Apr.22,2016 – May17,2016	Destruction continues with Catholic and Orthodox churches, where sun worship entered Christianity, for all who did not pass the test of the 3 rd plague.	As fellow religious people, do you still have love for Catholics who survive the destruction, or do you reject the whole of Christianity as too exclusive?	Marking continues with other world religions.
5 – And the fifth angel poured out his vial upon the seat of the beast ; and his kingdom was full of darkness; and they gnawed their tongues for pain.... (Rev. 16:10)	May18-21,2016 – Jul.31,2016	Destruction continues with all of the religions of the New World Order , upon those who did not pass the test of the 4 th plague.	As atheists and irreligious worldlings, do you still have love for religious folks who survive God's wrath, or do you denounce all religion as bad?	Marking continues with atheists and the irreligious.
6 – And the sixth angel poured out his vial upon the great river Euphrates; and the water thereof was dried up, that the way of the kings of the east might be prepared. And I saw three unclean spirits like frogs ... (Rev. 16:12)	Aug.1,2016 – Sep.24,2016	Destruction continues with the atheists and irreligious people of the world, represented by the three frogs of atheistic France , upon those who did not pass the test of the 5 th plague.
7 – And the seventh angel poured out his vial into the air; and there came a great voice out of the temple of heaven, from the throne, saying, It is done.... (Rev. 16:17)	Sep.25,2016 – Oct.24,2016			Marking is complete. [He]...reported the matter, saying, I have done as thou hast commanded me. (Ezek. 9:11)

The above table is just an initial look. Prophecy has many aspects of interpretation and depths of meaning. We said nothing of the four beasts (corresponding to the four outer stars of Orion, and thus the first, third, fourth, and sixth and seventh plagues) nor of any number of other aspects of the plagues. Yet even from this initial look it is clear that, like the mighty thundering cataracts of Iguazu Falls, the executive judgment of God will cascade through the entire world, leaving no class untouched.

And I heard as it were the voice of a great multitude, and as the voice of many waters, and as the voice of mighty thunderings, saying, Alleluia: for the Lord God omnipotent reigneth. (Revelation 19:6)

And thus the gospel goes into all the world, not to convert now, but to convict!

And because iniquity shall abound, the love of many shall wax cold. But he that shall endure unto the end, the same shall be saved. And this gospel of the kingdom shall be preached in all the world for a witness unto all nations; and then shall the end come. (Matthew 24:12-14)

The witness unto all nations is no longer for conversion. Many courageous people have stood up for Christ and have given their testimony by being martyred, by ISIS for example, especially in recent months—and it happens much more frequently than it gets reported. People will continue to die for their faith during the plagues, but their death will not be a martyr's death—at least not in the regular sense of the word, because their blood will not convert another soul. Instead, their blood will be for a testimony, as the gospel goes to the whole world.

A Preview of the Second Plague

If the first plague corresponds to the man with the writer's inkhorn, then the second plague must correspond to one of the other men with slaughter weapons who follows after him. That is confirmed in the second plague by the first mention of mass death in the plagues:

And the second angel poured out his vial upon the sea; and it became as the blood of a dead man: and every living soul died in the sea. (Revelation 16:3)

That is when it will become visible that mercy really ended and faith will be replaced by sight, at least for a certain group of Christians who have been the house of God. The Plague Cycle of the Orion Clock sets the date of the second plague to December 2-5, 2015. The range of four days is given by the throne lines of the clock, which is an indication that God Himself gives the command to unleash the destructive forces which are symbolized by the angels with slaughter weapons, as it says in Ezekiel 9.

God offers us additional information to pinpoint what the second plague is talking about, which will visibly confirm the prior close of mercy for humanity. It is a special blessing which God promised to those whose faith endures.

And from the time that the daily sacrifice shall be taken away, and the abomination that maketh desolate set up, there shall be a thousand two hundred and ninety days. Blessed is he that waiteth, and cometh to the thousand three hundred and five and thirty days. (Daniel 12:11-12)

We have an official interpretation of the 1335 days which places the beginning at February 27, 2012 and the end at October 17, 2015, the end of the Trumpet Cycle and the close of probation (see chart). We uphold that interpretation as it stands, but we also recognize that God is able to offer a "Plan B" in surprising ways. It often seems as if He is able to pull time out of thin air, but when we study more, we find that it was written in His Word all along. God's plans are masterfully orchestrated to accommodate every need, without ever destroying the harmony of truth in His word!

The case in point is the 1335 days. A new look at the verses of Daniel quoted above offers an alternative interpretation. The blessing of the 1335 days stands in the context of the 1290 days, with no other beginning point specified. That means the 1335 days could be interpreted as beginning at the same time as the 1290 days, and that would mean that the special blessing is reserved for those whose patient, waiting faith reaches and touches (signifying Hebrew inclusive counting) 1335 days.

Back to our chart, you can see that the 1290 days began on April 6, 2012—which was a very special Passover that followed the same days of the week as it was in the year of Christ’s death on the cross. Our small group came together from different countries to observe the Lord’s Supper together in person for the first time on the eve of that Passover, recognizing that the final events of earth’s history were beginning. Our experiences are documented in our book, but the point right now is only that the 1290 days had that very special beginning. Many people around the world sensed the significance of those days, and indeed the world might have been thrown into sudden destruction had there not been groups like ours earnestly pleading with God in remembrance of His Son on that day.

If April 6, 2012 was Day #1, then how long do we have to wait in faith for the blessing of Daniel 12:12? Day #1335—the last day of waiting—comes to December 1, 2015, and that means the slaughter comes exactly on the first day of the second plague, on December 2, 2015.

There is a possible simple interpretation of the second plague—it is the Day of the Demon that we wrote about, except delayed to the next related holiday of Islamic Arba’een.

Arba’een...is a Shia Muslim religious observance that occurs forty days after the Day of Ashura. It commemorates the martyrdom of Husayn ibn Ali, the grandson of Muhammad...^[27]

The holiday of Arba’een is directly related to the Day of Ashura, and it falls this year on Wednesday, December 2, 2015,^[28] the first day of the second plague! Thus God pinpoints the beginning of the slaughter through the special blessing that is reserved for those who keep the faith until that day. From December 2 onward, it will not take faith anymore to see that God’s mercy has run finally out.

Notice that it is exactly 40 days later. Beginning with the landfall of hurricane Patricia, these are the 40 days of Noah’s rain, after seven days in the ark.

After the initiation of the second plague, the Hebrew Feast of Lights, or Hanukkah will come. That signifies the victory of faith for God's people, which will finally be confirmed beyond doubt. That is the blessing in it, but it also implies a curse on those who will still refuse to believe in the face of such great evidence. Pope Francis has mobilized his forces for his greatest roundup of souls to begin on the opening day of Hanukkah.

On December 8, 2015, the "Holy" Door of St. Peter's Basilica will swing open for the pope's Jubilee Year of Divine Mercy. Satan is prepared to welcome with open arms of mercy all of the poor souls who decide to repent when they see that the end has come. When God's mercy ends, Satan's lie comes again: "Yea, hath God said" mercy has ended?^[29] "Ye shall not surely die!"^[30]

Will you make the right choice in the time of test, or will you wait until the only remaining option is to entrust your life to the arch-rebel, or else fight with no hope of victory, because it is better to perish than to live as slaves? Hurricane Patricia brought little devastation, but it brought plenty of rain to symbolize the tears of God because there is no turning back now from what He must do from the second plague on. Have you seen His tears, as He prepares to perform His strange act^[31] of wrath?

Say unto them, As I live, saith the Lord GOD, I have no pleasure in the death of the wicked; but that the wicked turn from his way and live: turn ye, turn ye from your evil ways; for why will ye die, O house of Israel? (Ezekiel 33:11)

Sadly, the time of preparation has passed and your final exam is upon you behind the closed door.

The Holy Grail

The End of the World

Written by Robert Dickinson

This four-part series of articles represents the Holy Grail of the Christian faith. As such, it challenges the uniting of all religions that Pope Francis, the representative of the entire Catholic world (not to say the entire world), is seeking to bring to pass. His teaching reduces the belief in Jesus Christ to a mere belief in so-called “love,”^[1] but what he misses is that not all religions offer the same caliber of love.

Does your belief in Jesus Christ put a kind of love in your heart that is no different than that of any other religion? I assure you that after ingesting this first article in this series, you will not view the Christian faith in such a trivial light. Our aim, aside from writing out of a sense of the sheer love of truth for the glory of God, is to inspire sincere Christians (including Protestants and Catholics) to practice the kind of love that Jesus taught, and we will present it to you in such a clear way that you will not be able to mistake it for anything less. The undiluted truth is in the cup that Jesus drank, and that is what this article is about.

Staying with the metaphor of the Holy Grail, we could say that Part 1 of this series is about the cup, what it contains, and what it means to drink it. Part 2 is about the certainty of the reward for those who accept it. Part 3 is about the rightful heirs who discarded that priceless relic, thus making it available to you. Part 4 unpacks it for you to see, but not yet touch. That will come soon enough if you are faithful. Is it tantalizing? It is!

The End of the World

At its very heart, the Christian faith is about the end of the world. Jesus promised that He would come back, and that is the expectation that is at the heart of the faith. That has been the case ever since the time of the church fathers all the way down to the present. The beloved apostle, John, quoted Christ in one of the most famous, most memorized passages of Scripture as follows:

Let not your heart be troubled: ye believe in God, believe also in me. In my Father's house are many mansions: if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you. And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you unto myself; that where I am, there ye may be also. (John 14:1-3)

Thus, we should already know that Christian belief is not just a belief in a nebulous concept of love like the pope and the popular world say, but in a tangible promise of a literal reunion with the Lord at the end of the world. Notice that He didn't say “I will take you to me when you die.” He said “I will come again.” Jesus promised to return to this world to receive the faithful.

In the course of this article series, we will sometimes talk about timelines, and dates and events that fulfill prophecy, but even if some of the technical details escape you because you don't have the full background yet, the substance of our message should still reach deep into your heart.

Even the pope talks about the end of the world, and similar terms are used in his propaganda nowadays.^[2] There is no question that Pope Francis has been a one-of-a-kind pope, but whether that is a good thing or a bad thing is in fact a very big question, even among Catholics.^[3] You can see why, when he reduces belief in Jesus—including His promised return as the basic hope of Christianity—to nothing more special than the religion of the Jews who deny that He ever came the first time, the Muslims who reject His identity as the Son of God, or the other religions that have nothing to do with Him at all. Is he just trying to further his political goals that way, or does he have an even more sinister motivation? What you learn about the pope in this article series could peel your eyes wide open. We are talking about the end of the world, and the most eminent religious leader in the world must have no small role!

It is natural to imagine the seven last plagues^[4] as being so sudden, horrible and obvious (not to mention short in duration) that nobody could mistake them, but the Day of the Lord spans a full year, and within this year the prophetic events are unfolding in ways that are not entirely literal. It takes a little bit of discernment to recognize them right now, but big things are happening right on schedule according to the Orion Clock, and the fact that we are living in the time of the seven last plagues will be obvious enough very soon.

By the end of this entire four-part series, the faithful will discover some of the most sublime truths that have ever penetrated the human mind. Jesus Christ is coming again! And not just “soon,” or “someday.” We are privileged to be living in the closing months of the generation of which Jesus said:

Verily I say unto you, This generation shall not pass, till all these things be fulfilled. Heaven and earth shall pass away, but my words shall not pass away. (Matthew 24:34-35)

The very next verse at once confounds the wicked and inspires the honest in heart, for his pursuit of godliness:

But of that day and hour knoweth no man, no, not the angels of heaven, but my Father only. (Matthew 24:36)

In so saying, Jesus was not discouraging man from understanding the time of His coming—no, no! He was setting forth a promise to the believers and a goal for their spiritual development. The goal is to draw near to the Father, to understand Him, to love Him, to know Him, and to be like Him, as the Savior said:

Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect. (Matthew 5:48)

Again, the Word of Life confounds the wicked and confirms the righteous. The wicked say that perfection in Christ is impossible while we live in mortal flesh, thus voiding Christ’s command and denying that He came, and overcame, in the flesh—not only as our substitute, but as our example. They love the world too much to contemplate that completion in Christ is wholly attainable and within the grasp of everyone. In this article, you will learn what it means to grow to the full stature of Jesus Christ. If you want to grow into spiritual maturity, then stay with us.

Divine Mercy: The Door Is Closed

The end of the world is the time of God’s wrath. It is not a time of “divine mercy,” despite the open doors at basilicas everywhere. Jesus was officiating in the heavenly temple as the mediator between God and man for a long time,^[5] and those who confessed their sins to Him received His merciful forgiveness, but that time is over. In the heavenly sanctuary, Jesus has finished His mediation and put the sins of His people upon the head of Satan, the scapegoat. That having been done, He has left the sanctuary for the duration of the seven last plagues, which have already begun. I hope you sent your sins beforehand to judgment, during the time of mercy!

Some men’s sins are open beforehand, going before to judgment; and some men they follow after. (1 Timothy 5:24)

People have been writing us, asking for help to make sense of the events that have been happening since the plagues began, so that their hope will remain strong and their faith will not falter. While we can continue to encourage and educate those who have found grace in the time of mercy, the fact is, every case has been decided and nobody will be convinced to change sides any more. We write this last series of articles out of a sense of love for the truth, and to encourage and strengthen those whose sins have already been forgiven, in the hope that they will be able to endure till the very end.

Some people have written to ask us—either sincerely or mockingly—whether they are eternally lost now, because mercy has ended. When you wake up and hear the birds singing or the cars going back and forth as always, and everything seems apparently the same, how could it be the end of the world? How could mercy have ended when things still seem the same? That is exactly how it was prophesied:

...when the irrevocable decision of the sanctuary has been pronounced and the destiny of the world has been forever fixed, the inhabitants of the earth will know it not. The forms of religion will be continued by a people from whom the Spirit of God has been finally withdrawn; and the satanic zeal with which the prince of evil will inspire them for the accomplishment of his malignant designs, will bear the semblance of zeal for God. {GC 615.1}

So don't think it strange that mercy has ended without an angel personally knocking on your door to inform you of the fact. And later in this series of articles, it will become clear who that people is, "from whom the Spirit of God has been finally withdrawn." The world considers unity of all religions under the banner of tolerance to be the work of the Holy Spirit ("the semblance of zeal for God"), but that is a different doctrine than what the apostle John recorded from the Savior's lips:

Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me. (John 14:6)

Is Pope Francis speaking the gospel according to John by equating all religions under the banner of love, or is it an altogether different gospel? Even if you would like to defend the message of Pope Francis, which says that God is love and therefore belief in God is belief in love, there is still a practical conflict of understanding regarding how one loves. The gospel says that Jesus Christ is the way, and we can come to God (or love if you will) only by going the way He went. The definition of true love and godliness is in Jesus Christ, and in no other religion.

We will unpack that definition shortly, but to the question of whether a person is lost or not because the time of mercy has ended, our answer is: It depends on what the inclination of your heart was as the door of mercy closed. Sanctification, the process of becoming holy, continues. We will even continue to grow spiritually in heaven. The issue here is just a matter of which path you have been on since you passed the fork in the road. It is a question of whether you have prepared yourself to follow the narrow Way that leads to life, or the broad way that leads to perdition.

As righteousness tendeth to life: so he that pursueth evil pursueth it to his own death. (Proverbs 11:19)

Probably the vast majority of people determined their course long before the final moment when probation closed on October 17, 2015 at sunset. It is not as if the door of mercy was slammed shut against a tide of potentially worthy souls. You might not realize it, but the cultivated thoughts and decisions of a lifetime have made you who you are. Now, in the final test, it will become evident who prepared their heart to follow God, and who set their affections on the passing world.

This article series can strengthen you for your great test if you are already on the right path and your sins were confessed and forgiven while mercy lingered, but it is not to convince or convert anyone who is on the wrong path. The time for that is past.

There is a seven-day gap between the end of the trumpet cycle of the Orion Clock and the beginning of the plague cycle, and that period of seven days started on October 17/18, 2015 (Hebrew day boundaries^[6]) when the real “door of divine mercy” was closed in the temple in heaven. During that week, Jesus placed the sins of His people on the scapegoat, Satan. Those who did not acknowledge and confess their sins before that are still having to bear them, and will have to die—physically and eternally. At the end of those seven days on October 24/25, 2015, Jesus removed His priestly attire and put on His royal robes and crown. In the articles of this series, rich lodes of truth will be mined out of the book of Revelation, and you will have an opportunity to see how significant the crowning of Jesus is to understanding the wrath of God and the end of the world.

The Secret of the Father

Those who have prized Jesus, and have set their heart to follow His example in this final year on earth are on a journey that leads to life. And Jesus’ promise to such is that the Father will make known to them the time of Christ’s coming and the end of the world.

*Surely the Lord GOD will do nothing, but he revealeth his secret unto his servants the prophets.
(Amos 3:7)*

As Jesus said in the presence of His followers:

*And he said unto them, It is not for you to know the times or the seasons, which the Father hath put in his own power. But ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you...
(Acts 1:7-8)

Those words were not only for the disciples of A.D. 31, but also for us, upon whom the end of the world has come. Jesus explained that the knowledge of the time of the end was reserved by the Father, and would be given with power by the Holy Spirit. We are here! The Holy Spirit came and left already, and the power of the Father accompanies His message.

The seven last plagues span one full year from October 24/25, 2015 all the way to the Second Coming on October 23/24, 2016. Soon you will see just how accurately the Clock of God is ticking, and that even the time of the saints’ arrival on the sea of glass is indicated there! The clock has already pointed out two of the seven major waymarks (plagues) in the time of the end as history races toward its climax, and the last two articles of this series will show you the speedily-coming waymarks that remain—and more.

Understanding the end of the world has always been the Holy Grail of the Christian faith, and by the end of this article, you will gain a deeper appreciation for what it means to drink from that sacred cup. Recognizing the time of the end is part of the highest calling to fallen humanity, just as Jesus Himself recognized His own calling through an understanding of the Hebrew prophecies that pointed to the time of His own birth, ministry, and sacrifice.

The apostle Peter expressed it beautifully as the end-goal of the Christian faith:

*Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which according to his abundant mercy hath begotten us again unto a lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, To an inheritance incorruptible, and undefiled, and that fadeth not away, reserved in heaven for you, Who are kept by the power of God through faith unto salvation ready to be revealed in the last time. . . . Of which salvation the prophets have enquired and searched diligently, who prophesied of the grace that should come unto you: Searching what, or what manner of time the Spirit of Christ which was in them did signify, when it testified beforehand the sufferings of Christ, and the glory that should follow. Unto whom it was revealed, that not unto themselves, but unto us they did minister the things, which are now reported unto you by them that have preached the gospel unto you with the Holy Ghost sent down from heaven; which things the angels desire to look into. Wherefore gird up the loins of your mind, be sober, and hope to the end for the grace that is to be brought unto you at the revelation of Jesus Christ; (1 Peter 1:3-13)

The Holy Spirit has come down from heaven again in these last days, from Orion as it has been preached and reported unto you, testifying of the sufferings and glory of Christ. It is the chalice of His blood, as symbolized by the wine of the Lord’s Supper, and it is the miracle (translated power in Acts 1:8) which certifies the authenticity of this message, as you will see in Brother Ray’s article (Part 2). The miracle is that the clock points to the events, and the events happen right on time.

Note how the apostle Peter refers to this revelation as containing “things the angels desire to look into,” namely the time of the Second Coming, which was reserved by the Father until the “revelation of Jesus Christ” like Matthew 24:36 (quoted earlier) speaks about. The book of Revelation begins with those same words as its self-description—The Revelation of Jesus Christ—so in other words, when the end of the world as described in the book of Revelation has come (and it has), then we will know (and we do know) the date when Jesus will return to take His people to heaven.

Before the Crown, The Cross

The overview chart at right (click to expand) is taken from the Tears of God article, where we showed that the second plague on the Orion clock is positioned exactly 1335 days^[7] from the 2012 Passover day. There is a lot of significance to that which we will explore shortly, but in that article we only went as far as to point to it as an indication that big things should not be expected at the start of the first plague, but at the second plague.

Blessed is he that waiteth, and cometh to the thousand three hundred and five and thirty days. (Daniel 12:12)

In the chart, the 1335 days appear three times:

1. Relating to the heavenly events,
2. Relating to the earthly events,
3. In connection with the heavenly events, but delayed.

By the way, if you take a close look at the events on the chart, you will see that our ministry predates the pope, and our experiences even unwittingly foretold what he is doing. Now, the pope is starting to warn about present world events leading to the end of the world, but we have been warning since 2010 about specific future dates and events that have come to pass! The point is, while many people call him the false prophet of Revelation (though indeed he is something even more sinister) he might try to shake that off by making prophecies that will come true, just to make himself look like a true prophet instead of the false prophet. Just remember, we warned you first with precise dates—and the evidence is mounting. Satan is the great copycat, but there are some things he just cannot copy.

After the end of the first 1335 days on October 24/25, 2015, we did not appear to be “blessed” enough to fulfill the promise of Daniel 12:12 above. Therefore, we correctly inferred that the invisible blessing which we believed we should have received on that day must not become visible to us until after the delay that would bring us to the second plague. One reason we mentioned for that was to bring the final test of faith to our group, but it is deeper than that.

A well-known principle of Bible prophecy is illustrated in this 40-day delay. The principle is that the great prophetic periods often begin and end in complementary ways. That means we have an opportunity to explore the relationship between the beginning and end of the 1335 timeline to find the deeper meaning that God has tucked away in the diary of those days.

Back in 2012, our small study group, which was scattered across several continents, recognized that the 1335 days would begin on February 27 of that year. We made the physical preparations that we could in accordance with our understanding at that time, and warned our friends and family. We acted in faith, and waited for the time of the end to begin with balls of fire from the skies in accordance with our understanding of the prophecies at that time. Obviously fire did not rain down on that day, but our group experience in the end times had verily begun—complete with mocking, shunning, and the rest of it. Although we did not fully understand what we were doing at that time, we had taken the first step in our journey to find the Holy Grail, which was simply to believe that time prophecy could be understood by those who know God, and to try to do so by studying God's Word in the faith that He would guide us through the power of the Holy Spirit.

In the wake of that first disappointment of our movement, we discovered that a 40-day period was nestled from February 27 to the April 6, 2012 Passover day, and we saw by faith that momentous events were taking place in the heavenly sanctuary at the beginning, middle, and end of those 40 days. We understood that God was going on trial, leaving Jesus in charge of the judgment of the living, which was soon to begin. The Father Himself was going on trial to be subject to investigation and judgment. What humiliation for the God of the universe to endure! In His own way—by subjecting Himself to a trial involving human witnesses—He was retracing the steps that His Son had taken in the Garden of Gethsemane nearly two millennia earlier.

That is why the 40 days ended on Passover, and why Passover in 2012 fell on the same weekdays as in the year of Christ's crucifixion! We on Earth who were to participate as witnesses had to understand the Father's case, and Passover—the death of Christ—was to be our lesson book.

Jesus saith...he that hath seen me hath seen the Father... (John 14:9)

To be witnesses for the Father, we had to learn from Christ.

It would be well for us to spend a thoughtful hour each day in contemplation of the life of Christ. We should take it point by point, and let the imagination grasp each scene, especially the closing ones. As we thus dwell upon His great sacrifice for us, our confidence in Him will be more constant, our love will be quickened, and we shall be more deeply imbued with His spirit. If we would be saved at last, we must learn the lesson of penitence and humiliation at the foot of the cross. {DA 83.4}

We had to go with Jesus in spirit, to hold the memorial of the Lord's Supper and drink the Passover cup that He drank. At first, it tastes of the rich, sweet juice of the grape, but the dregs are bitter.

And he took the cup, and gave thanks, and gave it to them, saying, Drink ye all of it; For this is my blood of the new testament, which is shed for many for the remission of sins. But I say unto you, I will not drink henceforth of this fruit of the vine, until that day when I drink it new with you in my Father's kingdom. And when they had sung an hymn, they went out into the mount of Olives. (Matthew 26:27-30)

Like they sang a hymn, the 144,000 have a special song to sing^[8] after drinking from the communion cup of the Lord, too. It is the song of Moses and the Lamb,^[9] hinted at many times in our previous articles and now presented clearly in this series. Only the 144,000 could learn that song, because it is the song of their experience in drinking the cup with Jesus.

As was the case in 2012, the 2016 Passover also falls on the same weekdays as in the year of the crucifixion. Furthermore, it coincides with the fourth plague, which you will learn more about later in this series. Those are indicators that show how significant this Passover will be, but the time to paint the doorposts of the heart with the blood of Christ is past. Now it is the time of retribution upon those who spurned a sacrifice which was so great that to rightly appreciate it, you have to follow the advice given above (to contemplate the magnitude of Jesus' sacrifice).

The Sacrificial Love of Christ

When we look at the sacrifice that Jesus made, we begin to see what sets Christian love apart from the love of any other religion or ideology in the world. Jesus—being the Son of God—sacrificed His divine attributes at the Incarnation to become human forever. Time out! This is deep stuff, and should be read slowly and thoughtfully to grasp every word. Put yourself in His shoes. Yes, put yourself in Jesus' shoes—because the holy nation^[10] is a nation of priests, after all, and He is our example for no other reason than that we would follow in His footsteps. Jesus wanted to identify with fallen humanity so that He could redeem us by His sacrifice.

To assure us of His immutable counsel of peace, God gave His only-begotten Son to become one of the human family, forever to retain His human nature. {DA 25.3}

Contemplate that, and let it sink into your mind. Imagine what omnipresence means—the ability to be anywhere and everywhere independent of time—and what a limitation He subjected Himself to, in becoming human! Jesus could no longer do that as a human. Imagine what omniscience means—the ability to know all things—the end from the beginning irrespective of time—and how much Jesus sacrificed to be born as a baby, and learn and grow like you and me. Imagine what omnipotence means—the ability to do anything—and how helpless He made Himself for our sakes. What a sacrifice it was just to be born human! It is beyond our ability to fully comprehend what Jesus gave up, and yet we are counselled to dwell with our imagination on precisely those points. Jesus grew up and matured as a human being, with no advantage that we do not have.

At some point, it dawned on Him that He was the Son of God by identity, and that it was His calling to be the Savior of the world. He gave up carpentry and lived His conviction, going about doing good. Then in Gethsemane, He took upon His human shoulders the weight of the guilt of the world's sin, from Adam to the end of time. He had taken it upon Himself to redeem the world; He understood that its destiny was on His shoulders. As the sins of the world were imputed to Him and the Father hid Himself from His Son, Jesus felt the eternal weight of loss. He realized that sin was so offensive to God the Father, that by taking our sins upon Himself, He might be blotted out for eternity.

The Saviour could not see through the portals of the tomb. Hope did not present to Him His coming forth from the grave a conqueror, or tell Him of the Father's acceptance of the sacrifice. He feared that sin was so offensive to God that Their separation was to be eternal. Christ felt the anguish which the sinner will feel when mercy shall no longer plead for the guilty race. It was the sense of sin, bringing the Father's wrath upon Him as man's substitute, that made the cup He drank so bitter, and broke the heart of the Son of God. {DA 753.2}

Jesus wrestled with it:

And he went a little further, and fell on his face, and prayed, saying, O my Father, if it be possible, let this cup pass from me: nevertheless not as I will, but as thou wilt. (Matthew 26:39)

After pleading in prayer three times, Jesus decided to yield His eternal life for you and me. He chose to be absent from heaven forever, if that's what it would take for sinners to be present. What selflessness Jesus demonstrated!

Yet now, if thou wilt forgive their sin--; and if not, blot me, I pray thee, out of thy book which thou hast written. (Exodus 32:32)

That is the song of Moses and the Lamb! That is the song of the 144,000! It is selfless, and Christ-like. No wonder a person of such character would glow with holy radiance! It puts to shame the pathetic question of "Can I be saved, even now that the time of mercy has ended?" Ask yourself if such a one has grown up to the full stature (spiritual maturity) of Jesus Christ! Ask yourself if this kind of love is represented in any other religion of this world!

Having made His decision to follow through with the sacrifice, the angel Gabriel appeared in Gethsemane to strengthen our Lord. He showed Him the many who would be saved as a result, in order to encourage Him to be faithful to His decision, because the trial was not over.

On the cross, darkness engulfed Him. Jesus felt forsaken by God. The sense of separation caused Him to feel that He had failed, that He was no longer accepted by God, that humanity would be lost, and that the full guilt of the lost race rested on Him because it was His calling to intercede for them.

At the ninth hour the darkness lifted from the people, but still enveloped the Saviour. It was a symbol of the agony and horror that weighed upon His heart. No eye could pierce the gloom that surrounded the cross, and none could penetrate the deeper gloom that enshrouded the suffering soul of Christ. The angry lightnings seemed to be hurled at Him as He hung upon the cross. Then "Jesus cried with a loud voice, saying, Eloi, Eloi, lama sabachthani?" "My God, My God, why hast Thou forsaken Me?" As the outer gloom settled about the Saviour, many voices exclaimed: The vengeance of heaven is upon Him. The bolts of God's wrath are hurled at Him, because He claimed to be the Son of God. Many who believed on Him heard His despairing cry. Hope left them. If God had forsaken Jesus, in what could His followers trust? {DA 754.3}

He, the Sin Bearer, endures the wrath of divine justice, and for thy sake becomes sin itself. {DA 755.1}

Separated from and apparently forsaken by God, Jesus felt that He had failed to redeem humanity—that the sin imputed to Him was too great.

Hope did not present to Him His coming forth from the grave a conqueror, or tell Him of the Father's acceptance of the sacrifice. {DA 753.2}

That is why His first and foremost concern after His resurrection was to know from the Father whether His sacrifice had been sufficient.^[11] But Jesus did not fail—He did not lose faith till the moment He died. He drank the bitter dregs of the cup of the wrath of God.

Have you ever experienced such a Passover? In 2012, we vowed to testify for the Father in His trial, and we were willing to give our lives for others if necessary.^[12] That was the first date for which we gave public warnings of the fireball event, which we expected would usher in the end of time. Today we know when the fireballs will actually fall—and you will too before you finish reading Brother Gerhard's article (Part 3) in this series. We had embarked on a journey of faith, but little did we conceive of where it would lead! We had only begun to drink the cup.

Sometimes people tell us that they want to be among the 144,000 so they can stay alive to see Jesus come. To them, it sounds like a good club to belong to, with nice benefits. It is reminiscent of the request of the apostles James and John to be next to Jesus in the kingdom.

Then came to him the mother of Zebedee's children with her sons, worshipping him, and desiring a certain thing of him. And he said unto her, What wilt thou? She saith unto him, Grant that these my two sons may sit, the one on thy right hand, and the other on the left, in thy kingdom. But Jesus answered and said, Ye know not what ye ask. Are ye able to drink of the cup that I shall drink of, and to be baptized with the baptism that I am baptized with? They say unto him, We are able. And he saith unto them, Ye shall drink indeed of my cup, and be baptized with the baptism that I am baptized with: but to sit on my right hand, and on my left, is not mine to give, but it shall be given to them for whom it is prepared of my Father. (Matthew 20:20-23)

Those who have such a rose-tinted view of what it means to be among the 144,000 will be bitterly disappointed. They know not what they ask! They had to first drink of the cup—all of it. Can a person dare to desire to be a priest of God without learning what it means to intercede with his own life, as Jesus interceded for him? After all, that is what priests do! The priests were commanded over twenty times in the Levitical law to make an atonement for others. That was their job!

Note, we are not speaking about cheap Catholic-style intercession. God alone can forgive sins, but if we comprehend how bad our sin is, and we are confident that our own sins have been forgiven by God, then we will also understand something of God's love. We will recognize that we are no more worthy than others, yet God was willing to forgive us for Christ's sake.

When we understand how much God loves us, then we are in a position to bargain with Him, like Moses, saying "Look, I was in sin too, and I know how much you love me—"

Yet now, if thou wilt forgive their sin--; and if not, blot me, I pray thee, out of thy book which thou hast written. (Exodus 32:32)

Did you know that was what it meant to be like Christ, and to be among the 144,000? Offering your own eternal life for the benefit of others! Maybe now you are content to settle for martyrdom, or even just to be a street cleaner in heaven. There is only one problem: you also have to drink your cup even if it is not as bitter as that of the 144,000.

If, after knowing the depths of God's love for you, you willingly decline to drink your cup, it is as if you are saying to Jesus, "If I were you, I wouldn't have made that sacrifice." You would be saying that the souls He came to save (such as yourself) are not worth that high of a price. But you really are worth that much!

In the light of the cross alone can the true value of the human soul be estimated. {AA 273.1}

When you understand the high calling of the 144,000 and that they are the antidote to sin, and that the future wellbeing of heaven itself is dependent on them, then you begin to realize the true value of the human soul. In other words, a soul is worth all that Jesus gave up—all heaven—because it would all be lost without the 144,000 to protect the universe from sin ever rising up a second time.

Friend, you really are that valuable, but only if you offer yourself. If you bury your treasure, it is worthless for all practical purposes. Ask yourself if you have reached the full stature of Jesus Christ, and if you would intercede for other unworthy souls by foregoing your own place in heaven for them, as Christ did for you, if it were possible.

The Victory of the Cross

Jesus cried out, “It is finished.”^[13] “Father, into Thy hands I commend My spirit.”^[14]

As in submission He committed Himself to God, the sense of the loss of His Father’s favor was withdrawn. By faith, Christ was victor. {DA 756.3}

Jesus bowed His head and died in victory! Pope Francis was not correct in saying that “His life, humanly speaking, ended in failure, the failure of the cross.”^[15] The sacrifice was total; Jesus succeeded in redeeming the human race. When a human heart breaks at the cross and melts in the warmth of true sacrificial love, then “humanly speaking” it is a testimony that Jesus was victorious through the cross.

Jesus’ sacrifice was accepted and He did come forth from the grave a conqueror! Likewise, Moses was raised and his offer to be blotted out was not collected upon. Omniscient God knows best.

For whosoever will save his life shall lose it: and whosoever will lose his life for my sake shall find it. (Matthew 16:25)

Appearances deceive, however, and so do the thoughts and intents of the heart. God’s Word alone has the final say regarding who is fit for heaven and who is not. It is not safe to judge even your own heart by any other standard, much less someone else’s heart.

The heart is deceitful above all things, and desperately wicked: who can know it? I the LORD search the heart, I try the reins, even to give every man according to his ways, and according to the fruit of his doings. (Jeremiah 17:9-10)

Mercy has ended, and we are in the time of the final test. How do you score, on the scale of the cross? Do you appreciate the sacrifice that was made for you? When your options dwindle to betraying Christ (or your Christ-like brethren) or facing death, which will you choose? Omniscient God will soon tell you whether you made an acceptable sacrifice like Christ or not, like Moses or not. In the last article of this series (Part 4), Brother John will reveal to you the exact date when God will hold a special meeting with only the 144,000 to tell them whether their sacrifice was complete and acceptable, and whether or not their eternal life will actually be required of them.

Part of what it means to love others is to do everything in your power to help them stay free from sin. That is what the washing of the feet at the Last Supper symbolized. In the church that I came from, it was called the “ordinance of humility,” which is actually a very accurate name because it was commanded as the way to remember the humility of Christ and to practice it among ourselves as believers.

The funny thing is, aside from the possible slight embarrassment of exposing your bare feet to someone whom you might not otherwise, the foot washing service is not especially humbling in and of itself as it was in the days of the disciples. In their day, there was a stigma associated with washing feet because that was the job of the servant class. To wash someone else’s feet was to put yourself lower than them in rank. Have you ever wondered what the ordinance of humility should mean on a deeper level today? How can it be a reminder of the humility of Christ, if there is nothing especially humble about it?

Washing the feet is symbolic of washing away the dirt that leads to sin. We are not talking about the sinful life of the past, which was washed away by baptism into the blood of Christ, but the everyday accumulation of dust that sticks to our feet just because we walk on dusty roads. Christ told Peter that his whole body was clean in reference to conversion and baptism, but only his feet needed to be washed. In other words, it is about the offenses between brethren that “stick to us” and the hard feelings that result from our daily interactions in our journey through this imperfect world.

These words mean more than bodily cleanliness. Christ is still speaking of the higher cleansing as illustrated by the lower. He who came from the bath was clean, but the sandaled feet soon became dusty, and again needed to be washed. So Peter and his brethren had been washed in the great fountain opened for sin and uncleanness. Christ acknowledged them as His. But temptation had led them into evil, and they still needed His cleansing grace. When Jesus girded Himself with a towel to wash the dust from their feet, He desired by that very act to wash the alienation, jealousy, and pride from their hearts. This was of far more consequence than the washing of their dusty feet. With the spirit they then had, not one of them was prepared for communion with Christ. Until brought into a state of humility and love, they were not prepared to partake of the paschal supper, or to share in the memorial service which Christ was about to institute. Their hearts must be cleansed. Pride and self-seeking create dissension and hatred, but all this Jesus washed away in washing their feet. A change of feeling was brought about. Looking upon them, Jesus could say, “Ye are clean.” Now there was union of heart, love for one another. They had become humble and teachable. Except Judas, each was ready to concede to another the highest place. Now with subdued and grateful hearts they could receive Christ’s words. {DA 646.3}

It is pride that causes us to take offense and harbour bad feelings. We have an internal concept of the hierarchy of who is better, and when someone says or does something to upset that hierarchy, we naturally get offended.

One of the most humiliating things to do is to accept criticism from someone whom you consider to be inferior. Yet, Jesus commanded us to wash one another’s feet, or in other words, to help each other get rid of accumulated offenses. It is a general principle that we are blind to our own faults but can easily spot the faults of others. It is like the allegory of the long spoons^[16]—that is why we have to allow others to tell us what our faults are. That is no easy task, especially while we are concentrating on them and seeing their own faults!

It is said that a person should be willing to give their life for someone before rebuking them of wrong. In fact, that is very near the truth. Do you understand now why it is necessary to drink the cup of the Lord’s Supper, and be willing to sacrifice as He did as we covered in the previous section? In so doing, you willingly make yourself lower in rank than the other person, and that is the key to being able to reach their heart when washing them of their offenses. When your brother understands that you would truly give up your place in heaven for him to be there, then his heart melts, and he can trust that above all, you have his highest interest in mind. That is what it means to rebuke with love! That is when the ordinance (law) of humility becomes the ordinance (weapon) of humility that conquers hearts: it is the weapon of the cross. That is how the servants of God will be able to prevent sin from rising up a second time.

When your brother needs his feet washed—before the dirt hardens into sin—and you want to help him, first you have to be like Christ. You have to mature up to His stature, and that means drinking the cup that He drank. That means humbling yourself and offering your spot in heaven for him.

Judge not, that ye be not judged. . . . Thou hypocrite, first cast out the beam out of thine own eye; and then shalt thou see clearly to cast out the mote out of thy brother's eye. (Matthew 7:1,5)

To judge your brother of wrongdoing, you first have to allow yourself to be judged. Removing the beam from your own eye means being willing to risk worse condemnation of yourself for your brother's sake. When you are willing to sacrifice for him, then you are fit to address his shortcomings. Then you can intercede for your erring brother. That is how you wash one another's feet. This is especially important now that Jesus has ceased His intercession in heaven for the time of plagues. The servants of God must show that they can keep sin at bay among their brethren here on Earth before they can be trusted to do that work throughout the unfallen universe.

Last but not least, Passover is about breaking bread with your brothers and sisters. That symbolizes sharing and eating spiritual food, so they can be nourished and strengthened too. Need I tell you to share this message with others?

The Blessing at the End

Remember, at the end of the 1335 days of invisible events in the heavenly sanctuary, we were expecting a blessing according to the promise recorded by Daniel.

Blessed is he that waiteth, and cometh to the thousand three hundred and five and thirty days. (Daniel 12:12)*

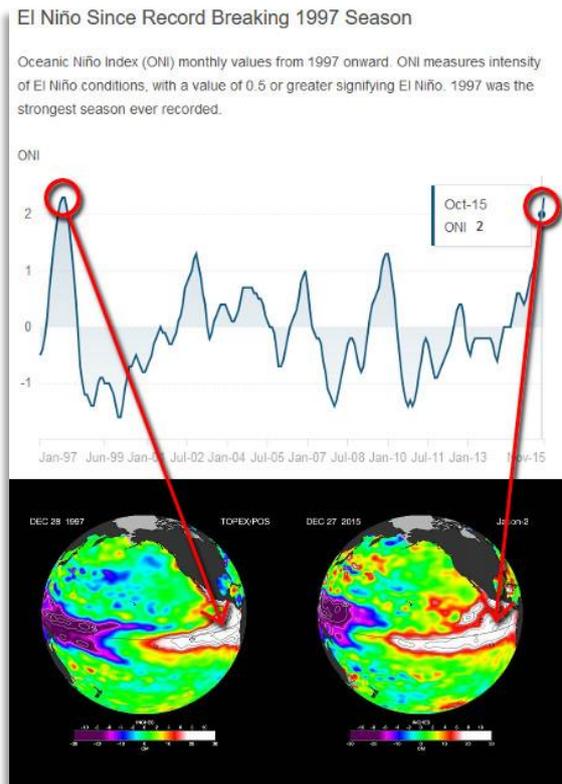

On that very day, October 23/24, 2015, we received a sign that confirmed us, as explained in the Tears of God article. It was the strongest storm ever to make landfall on the Pacific coast. It grew to category 5 over a period of less than 24 hours from the time it reached hurricane status. Then, even more suddenly, the storm winds burst into tears of rain as it came ashore—a heartfelt picture of the sadness of God for those who had spurned His mercy. The time had really come for the plagues to begin. Presently, we can see that the rains keep on coming as a result of the current El Niño effect, to the point that NASA even warns that it could become the worst El Niño ever, threatening tens of millions of people with hunger, water shortages and disease.^[17]

At the beginning of the first plague, however, we didn't yet recognize the role El Niño would play. We were expecting the plagues to begin with something a little more awakening to the general population. It was a test for us to see whether our faith and love would continue—not a lot different from the very first disappointment of our movement. We were expecting a blessing, but we only got a sign.

One must have tenacity when claiming the promises of God. We did not give up; we quickly recognized the 40-day period till the second plague, and then we understood that the blessing of the 1335 days must come at the end of the 40 days. The 40 days at the beginning of the 1335 led to Passover, but the 40 days at the end led to the second plague. Remember, the prophetic principle is that there is a special relationship between the way a period begins and the way it ends.

At both times, the 40 days began with our expectation for a great and troubling world event. Both times, we quickly recognized a 40-day period.

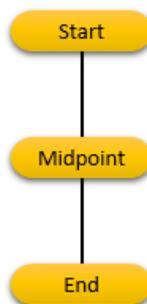

In the first case, we recognized that the midpoint of the 40 days landed on a Sabbath. We understood that the 40 days represented the Father's figurative exit through the Holy Place at the same time as our figurative entrance, which meant that we would figuratively cross paths with the Father at the midpoint on that special Sabbath day, and that we would figuratively receive the candlestick from the Father. That was our understanding as early as 2012. What if we apply those concepts to the second case of 40 days here at the end? Where would the midpoint fall?

First Case
At the beginning of the 1335 days

The Father departed from the Most Holy Place	Feb. 27, 2012
20 days inclusive
We figuratively received the candlestick of authority (It was a Sabbath)	Mar. 17, 2012
We drank the cup of the Passover / Lord's Supper	Apr. 6, 2012

40 Days

Second Case
At the end of the 1335 days

Oct. 24, 2015	Jesus departed from the Most Holy Place
Nov. 13, 2015	Our prophetic interpretation was confirmed by Paris attacks (beginning of a High Sabbath)
20 days inclusive
Dec. 2, 2015	We received the understanding of the blessing of Daniel 12:12

Right after the 1335 days, we count the 40 days inclusively from Saturday, October 24, 2015, to Wednesday, December 2, 2015. The middle day, the 20th day from the end, was Friday, November 13—the day of the Paris terror attacks. Some 130 people died in the middle of the first plague...and I expect you know how pivotal that event was for the uniting of Europe and the world against ISIS. Despite the obvious reality that the migrant crisis had brought an army of terrorists into Europe, the nations still did everything in their power to keep the migration channels open. Terror was the topic of the news for days, until Russia and the U.S. finally came on board as well, and the great 2015 United Nations Climate Change Conference took the world stage, there again in Paris.

It's much deeper than that, however, because the Paris Agreement was only adopted in that conference, but it has not yet entered into force. It is scheduled to be signed into force on April 22, 2016, the exact date of the fourth plague by the nations of the world. Oh, that means a lot! The nations are getting ready to give their power to the acting moral leader of this world—Pope Francis—in an effort to “save the planet” from utter destruction. Brother John will talk more about it, but what is already clear at this point is that the plagues are consequences of human choice, not arbitrary divine judgments. God has withdrawn His mercy, and that means humanity is about to suffer the natural consequences of their own depraved choices.

Back to our comparison, however, we should ask at this point: What does crossing paths with the Father on Sabbath and receiving a candlestick in the first case have to do with the terror attacks in Paris in the second case? According to God's calendar, the first crescent of the new moon became visible at sunset on that very Friday, November 13. That means the terror attacks took place during the Sabbath hours on the first day of the Hebrew month. Biblically speaking, the first day of the month is called the new moon (technically the first visible crescent), and as we explained in Babel Rising, that qualifies it as a High Sabbath when it lands on the weekly Sabbath. We also explained in that same news article that God marks world events by High Sabbaths, including such days when the new month begins on a Sabbath.

Thus, God pointed at the terror attacks on November 13 through the High Sabbath on His calendar, showing more fully the role of the Sabbath in prophecy and confirming us as High Sabbath Adventists. That is how our Sabbath midpoint in the first case is reflected in the second case. Our principle of interpretation was validated. The High Sabbaths are a lamp unto our feet, highlighting the key world events that are tracing the course of the apocalypse.

Now, if the beginning and midpoint of the 40 days correspond, what about the end? We held a beautiful Lord's Supper at the end of the 40 days in the first case, where we literally broke bread and drank grape juice in memory of our Lord. We drank of the cup. 1335 days later, what should we expect but the full blessing of Daniel 12:12! The reward of the righteous!

Not yet literally—because we are still talking about the invisible events of the heavenly sanctuary, which we grasp by faith—but please understand how great this is! This article series is the expression of the blessing we received, and what we received, we share with you. If you are faithful, this blessing which we received in spirit will become a tangible reality to you when Jesus returns on October 24, 2016—which is the end of the 1335 days of visible events!^[18]

Stewards of the Riches of His Glory

Have you ever wondered: How could God the Father resurrect Jesus without undoing the sacrifice that He had made? Jesus had laid aside His divinity, and took on the form of humanity forever. It was a permanent sacrifice, but since Jesus was completely faithful and righteous as a human being, glorifying God perfectly, God was fully justified in resurrecting Him like any other righteous human. God raised Jesus up as a human being, and glorified Him as we will be glorified:

Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be: but we know that, when he shall appear, we shall be like him; for we shall see him as he is. (1 John 3:2)

O friend, do you understand how close God is bringing man to Himself!? Do you understand what it means that our Brother—our flesh and blood (human) Brother—has risen to the throne of Almighty God?

To him that overcometh will I grant to sit with me in my throne, even as I also overcame, and am set down with my Father in his throne. (Revelation 3:21)

It would be blasphemy to speak of sitting in the throne of God if Jesus Himself didn't promise it! Can you imagine what that would be like? What would it be like to sit with Jesus in the throne room of the Omniscient, Omnipresent, and Omnipotent God!? What does it mean that Jesus has given us the Holy Spirit!?

But as it is written, Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him. (1 Corinthians 2:9)

Do you see it? God has written us a blank check! The ALMIGHTY has written a BLANK CHECK!!! You just have to name your price, and cash it!

Do you have a good imagination? What do you imagine heaven to be like? It exceeds it. What do your brethren imagine heaven to be like? It exceeds their imagination too. What have the prophets seen of heaven with their own eyes in visions and dreams? It exceeds it! "Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him!"

I'm sure you still don't understand the magnitude of this. May I try to get your imagination flowing, just a little bit? God knows the end from the beginning, so His knowledge is not restricted by time, right? And God is not limited to being in a single location at a single point in time, so His presence and actions are not restricted by time either, right? Would it be fair to say from our limited perspective that God's throne is a time machine of some sort? Will you give me that liberty of imagination? Orion certainly is a clock after all, and it is definitely not lacking in features. Why couldn't it also be a time machine? Awaken your heart to ponder anew what the Almighty can do!

Have you ever wondered how God will wipe away all tears from your eyes?^[19] How would you like to have a session in the Time Machine to go back to when Satan hurt you, to re-write your life according to what it would have been like if he had never existed?^[20] Would that wipe away your tears? What if God spent a thousand years with us doing just that: bringing justice for all the redeemed while reviewing and judging the cases of the unrepentant? Who cares how long it takes!—it's wonderful!—just use the Time Machine! God will erase the memory of Satan and destroy his works,^[21] to re-make the world as though he had never existed! After the millennium, Satan's final destruction will just be the last ceremonial act to discard his empty shell.

O Friend, this is precisely what God promised to do from His throne, and from the Holy City!

And in this mountain [the Holy City] shall the LORD of hosts make unto all people a feast of fat things, a feast of wines on the lees, of fat things full of marrow, of wines on the lees well refined. And he will destroy in this mountain the face of the covering cast over all people, and the veil that is spread over all nations. He will swallow up death in victory; and the Lord GOD will wipe away tears from off all faces; and the rebuke of his people shall he take away from off all the earth: for the LORD hath spoken it. (Isaiah 25:6-8)

See, it is from "this mountain" as a figure for the Holy City, where God will hold this wonderful feast, and do this wonderful work of destroying the shadow of sin that covers all people and veils all nations. Brother John will tell you the date for that wonderful feast—but wait! Do you really understand it? Do you understand that Jesus will personally serve and crown each one of the saints? How? Normally, for one man to serve that many would take an eternity just for one meal! But with the Time Machine, no problem! All He has to do is dial in the same moment over and over again, and each time He can go to a different person individually and personally—all apparently in the same moment! Imagine it!!!

As a steward of the riches of God's glory, you could do that too. If you are a faithful steward, then you will be able to serve the unfallen beings who inhabit whatever vast realms of God's creation are put under your dominion. As Jesus serves, so the stewards of His house also serve.

The privilege that God has given to humanity through Jesus Christ is promised to a special group. All of the righteous of all the ages will be kings and priests in heaven, reigning with Christ for a thousand years:

Blessed and holy is he that hath part in the first resurrection: on such the second death hath no power, but they shall be priests of God and of Christ, and shall reign with him a thousand years. (Revelation 20:6)

But a special place is reserved in the Holy City for the servants of God who will reign forever and ever.

*And there shall be no more curse: but the throne of God and of the Lamb shall be in it; and his servants shall serve him: And they shall see his face; and his name shall be in their foreheads. And there shall be no night there; and they need no candle, neither light of the sun; for the Lord God giveth them light: and they shall reign for ever and ever. (Revelation 22:3-5)

Those who will dwell in the Holy City must have the name of God in their foreheads. They must be members of the church of Philadelphia, and sealed with the special seal that contains the special promise of never having to leave the temple of God:

Him that overcometh will I make a pillar in the temple of my God, and he shall go no more out: and I will write upon him the name of my God, and the name of the city of my God, which is new Jerusalem, which cometh down out of heaven from my God: and I will write upon him my new name.* (Revelation 3:12)

They have a permanent place in the temple, because their reign is never to end.

They do not go in and out as those who beg a place. {AA 590.4}

They do not beg a place in the temple of God! They will not even have to schedule an appointment to visit the command center of the universe! Others will beg for an audience, but they will have permanent places and permanent residences like Ezekiel described:

The holy portion of the land shall be for the priests the ministers of the sanctuary, which shall come near to minister unto the LORD: and it shall be a place for their houses, and an holy place for the sanctuary. (Ezekiel 45:4)

In the last article (Part 4) of this series, you will discover the exact dates when the priests of God will be consecrated for service, how long it will take, and when the millennial reign with Christ will begin. Imagine it! God's agenda for those days is already in our hands!

So far, very few people have been sealed with the seal of the church of Philadelphia. We can infer that they must already have the correct inclination of character because probation (the time of mercy) has already closed, but they still have to be gathered into Philadelphia. Yes, in this series you will find out when the gathering will take place, and by when it must be complete.

But the blessing is not for everyone. The Bible speaks of a class of people who will weep and gnash their teeth because they were weighed and found wanting. That topic will be expounded in Part 3, where you will learn about the wheat and the tares, and the grapes of the winepress of God's wrath.

The Omniscient God knows the heart. Those who do not drink the cup of the Lord willingly or worthily will be compelled to drink of it in the form of the seven last plagues.

Wherefore whosoever shall eat this bread [read these articles], and drink this cup of the Lord [offer his life for others], unworthily [without a willingness to sacrifice], shall be guilty of the body and blood of the Lord. But let a man examine himself, and so let him eat of that bread, and drink of that cup. For he that eateth and drinketh unworthily, eateth and drinketh damnation to himself, not discerning the Lord's body. (1 Corinthians 11:27-29)

The cup of the Lord is the cup of God's wrath; it is the same cup:

Christ felt the anguish which the sinner will feel when mercy shall no longer plead for the guilty race. It was the sense of sin, bringing the Father's wrath upon Him as man's substitute, that made the cup He drank so bitter, and broke the heart of the Son of God. {DA 753.2}

Are you seeking to avoid the cup? It is a matter of the heart, for:

Though I give my body to be burned, and have not charity [selfless (agape) love], it profiteth me nothing. (From 1 Corinthians 13:3)

If you do not drink it willingly, you will have to drink it by default!

Whosoever shall seek to save his life shall lose it; and whosoever shall lose his life shall preserve it. (Luke 17:33)

To the wicked and unregenerate heart, it is the cup of God's indignation which Jesus already emptied the bitter dregs of on man's behalf! Oh, that men would appreciate the sacrifice! Those who spurn the Savior's blood must still drink the wrath of an offended God, who made such liberal and costly provision for their salvation! The last article in this series will reveal from Scripture exactly when the wicked will drink the cup of the wrath of the Almighty God.

Filling the Cup, Plague by Plague

Time and time again, we have received signs that confirm our studies, yet the worldly onlookers cannot see them. They think it is just coincidence, or simply our attempt to fit the random events of the day to preset dates. Jesus explained this problem, saying:

A wicked and adulterous generation seeketh after a sign; and there shall no sign be given unto it, but the sign of the prophet Jonas. And he left them, and departed. (Matthew 16:4)

Interestingly, they desired a sign from a man who had healed the sick, cast out demons, multiplied food, and performed other miracles. Were those not signs enough? The point is, the signs are given to confirm the righteous, not to convince the wicked. Even though a person is obliged to prove all things, there should come a point when faith is established, and those who have faith are blessed in a way that no others can be. Jesus encouraged His disciples to contemplate the power of faith, and promised them that they would move mountains if they would have faith.

And when he saw a fig tree in the way, he came to it, and found nothing thereon, but leaves only, and said unto it, Let no fruit grow on thee henceforward for ever. And presently the fig tree withered away. And when the disciples saw it, they marvelled, saying, How soon is the fig tree withered away! Jesus answered and said unto them, Verily I say unto you, If ye have faith, and doubt not, ye shall not only do this which is done to the fig tree, but also if ye shall say unto this mountain, Be thou removed, and be thou cast into the sea; it shall be done. And all things, whatsoever ye shall ask in prayer, believing, ye shall receive. (Matthew 21:19-22)

Jesus did not say that they needed a mountain of faith, but that faith—even a mustard seed of faith—would make all things possible, including the moving of a mountain:

...If ye have faith as a grain of mustard seed, ye shall say unto this mountain, Remove hence to yonder place; and it shall remove; and nothing shall be impossible unto you. (Matthew 17:20)

The fig tree has already withered. What you are about to see next is a mountain of evidence rising up in support of the Clock of God, and as the mountain of evidence grows, it will either confirm the faith you already have, or crush you in your disbelief.

Remember the plagues of Egypt. Except for the apparent “magic trick” of turning the rod into a snake, the other plagues were things that could be plausibly denied and attributed to mere weather conditions and other natural phenomena. Waters turned to blood,^[22] frogs, lice, flies, a murrain, boils, hail, locusts, darkness, and finally the death of the firstborn. Until the very end, the Egyptians denied mere natural conditions as evidence, and denied that the timing of the events was anything supernatural.

In the end, scepticism will finally be crushed by the mountain of evidence, but nobody will be benefited by it. Every case has been decided. The evidence will rise up for a testimony against the enemies of God. Only those who have already been walking by faith will be blessed by it. Those who did not show faith will not receive the blessing that God has promised.

But without faith it is impossible to please him: for he that cometh to God must believe that he is, and that he is a rewarder of them that diligently seek him. (Hebrews 11:6)

The cup of God’s wrath, the plagues, is filling up fast. There are several principles that will help you to understand the plagues. Above all, the plagues parallel and build upon the trumpets. What we have written about the trumpets in various articles, and even how they were interpreted during the Christian era, is relevant to the plagues.

The fact that the plagues parallel the trumpets indicates a few specific things:

1. Something prophetically significant should happen on the first day of each plague to confirm the date that is already indicated on the plague cycle of the Orion clock.
2. Something prophetically significant should happen on the High Sabbaths (if any) that occur during the course of a plague.
3. The plagues begin small and increase in severity, like the trumpets.
4. The plagues are cumulative, like the trumpets.
5. The three woes have a counterpart in the fifth, sixth, and seventh plagues, which are exceptionally severe.

The trumpets were warnings, saying “if you do this (trumpet), then that (plague) will follow.” God’s warnings are not arbitrary; there is a clear cause-and-effect relationship at work. The consequences of the actions taken by the world during the trumpet cycle were held back and deferred until the time of plagues, but they come surely.

We already mentioned Hurricane Patricia and the Paris terror attacks as the fulfillment of the first plague. Spiritually speaking, the volcanic eruptions of the first trumpet symbolize the “boil” or sore of the first plague. In the most general sense, it stands for all sin. The appearance of the boils in the first plague meant that sins would become manifest, and we saw that very clearly in the religious world. People and whole churches began taking their stand and showing their true colors. At the time of this writing, the Seventh-day Adventist Church has come out openly with a transgender (LGBT) elder.^[23] The sores of the first plague are rearing their ugly heads.

To illustrate the cause and effect relationship, we could look at when the first trumpet sounded. We received the wonderful and extensive light about the trumpet and plague cycles of the Orion

Clock on that day (January 31/February 1, 2014), which gave us the exact date of every trumpet and plague of Revelation. Receiving new light is not a warning per se, however. To understand what the warning of the first trumpet was, you have to realize that the light bearer should have been the Adventist Church, but because they refused to accept new light, we received it instead. The warning is: If you do not accept the light that comes to you, you will fall into complete and total darkness. Now with transgenders serving as elders in good standing, we see how great that darkness is. Have you read the Adventist Review lately? It has been chock-full of ecumenical rhetoric, which shows that the Church is squarely against the truth and on the side of Satan. Their sins have become publicly visible.

Where the first trumpet was a warning for refusing light, the first plague is the punishment. It began with the pope's closing speech at the Ordinary Synod of Bishops in Rome on October 25, 2015. That synod represented the great end-goal of the Second Vatican Council and the whole synod system. And where did the SDA Church end up after rejecting the light that God bestowed upon them? ...smack into the whole dark ecumenical mess.

Pope Francis ended his unprecedented synod of the first plague, saying "Today is a time of mercy."^[24] With that false statement, he has plunged the world into darkness, and everyone who rejected the light of truth will end up caught in that dragnet sooner or later, for one reason or another. He has set himself directly against the message from heaven, which says that the plagues began that very day. You are taking your final test without any possibility for a make-up exam, so give it all you've got!

The Black Mountain

On the political front, we interpreted the green grass of the first trumpet as a symbol for Crimea, and we saw back in late February, 2014 at the end of the first trumpet that Crimea was annexed by Russia. The burning mountain of the second trumpet was a symbol for Russia's involvement in the East Ukraine as the Crimea crisis escalated. Those things are written in the article titled Trumpets with a Certain Sound. Thus, the second trumpet was warning of a large-scale European war, but that looming war was held back by God because of His mercy. Now we are in the time of the plagues, and the four angels which are holding the four winds of strife are letting loose. You can see that very clearly by the events that happened on the date of the second plague, which was December 2, 2015.

One of the big events that day was that NATO (North Atlantic Treaty Organization) invited the country of Montenegro to join it, which was a big provocation to Russia. Vladimir Putin gave a speech warning that Russia would retaliate against NATO and that Turkey (a NATO member) would regret shooting down the Russian aircraft. God marked those events as key events that will lead up to the last great battle. What is especially interesting about that happening is that Putin said in his speech that it is connected to the Crimea crisis!

In his speech Mr Putin made a direct connection between Russia's annexation of Crimea last year and the current fight against terrorism, saying Russia was showing its "confidence" as a "strong, independent state, with a 1,000-year-old history".^[25]

The news itself is connecting the plagues back to the trumpets! However, the delay has only intensified the severity; what threatened to be a European war in the second trumpet is now threatening to be a full-blown world war in the second plague.

Don't expect it yet, though. Ellen White said something that gives us even further insight into why, even now in the time of the plagues, the conflicts in the world are not erupting into terrible wars just yet.

Four mighty angels hold back the powers of this earth till the servants of God are sealed in their foreheads. The nations of the world are eager for conflict, but they are held in check by the angels. [A] When this restraining power is removed there will come a time of trouble and anguish. Deadly instruments of warfare will be invented. Vessels with their living cargo will be entombed in the great deep. All who have not the spirit of truth will unite under the leadership of Satanic agencies, but they are to be kept under control till the time shall come for the great battle of Armageddon.—The S.D.A. Bible Commentary 7:967 (1900). {LDE 238.3}

To understand this paragraph, first we need to understand that she speaks of two different time periods. In the first two sentences, before the point [A] in the paragraph, she speaks of the time of mercy when the sealing is taking place and the four winds of world strife are held back. That time period ended at sunset on October 17, 2015, and since she was living in the time of mercy, she wrote those sentences in the present tense.

Then at point [A] she changes, and begins to talk of another time period that would come after that. From her point of view, it was still future, so she wrote in the future tense, saying what “will” come. She said that the time of trouble and anguish “will come,” but for us today it has already come as of October 25, 2015 when the plagues began. From point [A] through the rest of the paragraph, she wrote of the time of plagues, mentioning some of the troubles and giving us an overview of the whole time.

She stated that in the time of plagues, “All who have not the spirit of truth will unite under the leadership of satanic agencies.” Satan is getting his people in position, marshalling his army. He is gathering his army similarly to how we are gathering into Philadelphia God’s people, whose sins were sent beforehand to be forgiven before mercy ended.

And he shall send his angels with a great sound of a trumpet, and they shall gather together his elect from the four winds, from one end of heaven to the other. (Matthew 24:31)

In the first plague, we saw the first visible sign of Satan gathering his forces. We saw the migrant crisis explode, because the Paris attacks showed that ISIS did indeed enter Europe through the refugee migration. It was proof that the Trojan Horse operation was successful. The four winds are loosening, but they are not completely loosed yet.

Ellen White said something very important in the statement above that is not natural or intuitive for us to think of. She said “they are to be kept under control” till a certain time. That means that even during the plagues, Satan does not have full control until a certain time! He is allowed to get ready, but his army is kept under control till a certain time.

Satan is marshalling his forces. To marshal means to “arrange or assemble (a group of people, especially soldiers) in order.”^[26] That is what Satan is doing now, but the battle itself has not yet begun. One would naturally ask: When will it begin? When will the restraint be completely removed for Satan to wreak his havoc?

That will be answered in a later article, but in the second plague we already saw the first important milestone in the marshalling of Satan’s army—but not out-of-control. Like the BBC News article quoted earlier, NBC News also connected the affront to Russia (NATO’s invitation to Montenegro) with the conflict that flared up with the first deaths in the Ukraine at the sound of the second trumpet:

NATO foreign ministers broke off formal contact with Russia in April last year after Moscow annexed Ukraine’s Crimea peninsula and sparked the conflict in eastern Ukraine that has killed more than 8,000 people.^[27]

That shows how this event at the outpouring of the second plague is indeed the answer to Russia’s attack against Ukraine in the second trumpet last year. Cause and effect are at work, but despite the tensions between Russian and Turkey that ensued, the forces have been “kept under control.”

The Beautiful Mountain

While Europe was still in shock from the terrorist attacks in Paris, the United States got its own taste of terrorism. Also exactly on the first day of the second plague, terrorists attacked a holiday party in San Bernardino, California.

Although the news reports were reluctant to state any motives for the shooting near the mostly-Adventist village of Loma Linda on the same day, December 2, it was clear from the initial story that the attackers were Arab Islamists and were apparently offended by the holiday celebration. Several of the injured were taken to Loma Linda (the flagship Adventist hospital). The woman who organized the holiday party was also an Adventist.

It is interesting that Ben Carson’s falling out of favor in the presidential election polls^[28] came just at that time. Carson is a professed Adventist and a doctor, and the terrorism that struck so “close to home” seems to have made him look unsuitable as the strong man “for such a time as this.” Unfortunately, he is a day late and a dollar short of being the Esther that many deluded Adventists thought of him as.

We can see the connection between the second trumpet and the second plague again if we look at what happened. Back in the second trumpet, there was the “day of four popes,” which involved the canonization of two popes. Canonizing someone requires that they have (supposedly) performed miracles. Most miracles are of healing, and on the date of the second plague the pope reiterated that fundamentalism is a sickness. In other words, the pope was identifying a particular so-called sickness which he would like to eradicate: fundamentalism. Of course you know that the definition of fundamentalism includes people whose only wrong is to believe the Bible, so his statement is a frontal attack against God. The warning was, if you bow to the miracle-working popes (of the second trumpet), then the pope will “heal” you of fundamentalism (in the second plague). Do you see how it works?

Going back to the events in San Bernardino, however, it must be noted that the event brought the second beast of Revelation 13—the US—directly into France’s world war against terrorism (ISIS) which began in the first plague, just like how the bombing of the Russian passenger jet brought Russia into the war. In that sense, it is easy to see how it was a further milestone in the marshalling of Satan’s army for the last great conflict, which is why God marked it in His clock.

Great Britain also voted to enter the war in Syria on December 2, and conducted bombing raids just hours later on the morning of December 3. Thus, another very important player entered the fray on exactly the first day of the second plague. Clearly, Satan is marshalling his forces for the final conflict! Do you see the mounting evidence?

It also came out in an official report on the same day that Iran has been working on nuclear weapons up to 2009 at least. Much of the report is inconclusive, but since Iran is an Islamic country, it is obviously a big deal if they have nuclear weapons (or even just plans for such) because it is likely that they would side with their fellow Islamists against Western decadence at some point as conflicts increase.

The Sugar Mountain

The news of Zuckerberg’s gift of 99% of $45 billion for his daughter’s future hit the news on December 2 as well, the date of the second plague. (The money is going to his wife’s foundation, so the “gift” is not actually leaving the control of his family.) In his letter to his daughter, he says that the money will go to promote “equality,” among other things. The fact that they named their daughter “Max” (a boy’s name) shows what kind of equality they are really talking about: not just gender equality but also gender equivalence, or in other words, the LGBT agenda.

As the armies are being martialled for the last great conflict, this announcement shows once again that the LGBT issue is paramount. Those who side with equality as the world defines it will find themselves on the wrong side of the conflict. Satan’s criticism against God’s government has always been on the point of authority. He wanted equality with the Son of God in heaven. He wanted equal say, or equal rights.

What he couldn’t do in heaven, he is doing here on earth. He is upsetting the hierarchy of marriage and replacing it with complete equivalence—to the point that it doesn’t matter if you are a man or a woman or anything in between. Name your daughter Max, because “Who cares! There’s no difference!”

Women’s equality is a major agenda item for the UN (United Nations). As we are in the 70th anniversary year of the UN, Zuckerberg is joining in the world’s celebration of its accomplishments. He’s not the only one, however. What do the rich elite do with their money to celebrate their accomplishments and spread their philosophies? They make movies...and reap the box office profits in exchange for the masses allowing themselves to be indoctrinated through entertainment!

The big film that was in the news regularly within the second plague was Star Wars: The Force Awakens. Commentators noted that the film’s “balletic” dogfight scenes were a commemoration of World War II. The film’s release this year is just one more part of the 70th anniversary celebration of the UN, which arose from the ashes of World War II.

What the masses don’t realize when they go to watch films for entertainment’s sake is that it’s all about education. They are teaching you. Star Wars is another case of Zuckerberg’s daughter Max, except this time it is the heroine named Rey. She is the star of the universe—and her name is Rey, which is “king” in Spanish. Mind you, they could have called her Reina (which means “queen”) but they didn’t. They made a girl the king of the universe! Do you understand what a mockery that is?^[29]

The chalice of God’s wrath is being filled up, and when the seventh plague begins, it will be completely full. Then all restraint will be removed, and His fury will be poured out in full strength upon the unrepentant. Woe to those who have no shelter in the day of wrath!

There is another development worthy of mention before I give the floor to Brother Ray. Did you hear about the financial crash in China that caused markets to close after a mere 29 minutes of trading?^[30] It triggered the Royal Bank of Scotland to warn investors to “sell everything.” The effects of the Chinese market crash have been felt around the world, and analysts everywhere are painting a grim picture of this year’s economy—for many other reasons too,^[31] not just the crash in China.

This is, once again, the second trumpet coming back to haunt the world now in the second plague. The last section of Trumpets with a Certain Sound explained how ships are a symbol for economy and world trade, and showed how Europe was especially being affected at that time. This time, the consequences will not be mercifully held back as they were during the time of the trumpet warnings. And this time, not just Europe but the whole world is being affected. What is beginning now will continue to worsen, and it will exacerbate the problems of the world as the remaining plagues come.

We’ve covered at least three mountains of evidence that began to appear when the second plague was poured out, and that evidence will continue to grow. However, there was a fourth mountain of evidence that featured in the news on December 2, 2015 to mark the second plague, and more importantly the end of the 1335 days. It was the sign of the blessing we were expecting, which has unfolded into this entire article series, and Brother Ray will share that mountain of evidence with you in the next article...

The Great Seal

Sometimes, the Lord keeps a little secret for a while and then reveals it at just the right time for maximum effect. For 2700 years, a tiny artifact about the size of a fingertip, lay buried in the dirt just south of the Temple Mount in Jerusalem. In 2009, it was recovered from the earth and identified as a seal impression in clay (called a bulla), catalogued, and stored in a university closet. It lay there in the dark several more years before it was analyzed more closely, and the inscription was understood to be that of one of the most famous biblical kings, King Hezekiah!

When the value of this treasure was understood, it was finally announced to the public after so many centuries of obscurity, on a very special day: December 2, 2015.^[1] “What makes this day special?” you might ask. For the unwitting public, the day was like every other, but for one who recognizes God’s voice in Orion, the day is very significant. Not only were we expecting a blessing according to our application of Daniel 12:12 as explained in the previous article, but the plagues cycle of Orion marks that very day with a throne line, indicating that it is something especially relating to the Godhead. I will explain that relation later in this article.

The professor who conducted the excavation noted what makes this a remarkable find for the rest of the world: “This is the first time that a seal impression of an Israelite or Judean king has ever come to light in a scientific archaeological excavation.”^[2] In other words, this finding comes with strong scientific backing to substantiate its authenticity, since it is known to have originated directly from a site just south of the Temple Mount, adjacent to a royal building.

Signs from God

When the voice of God speaks, the wise listen, rather than mock as though it were merely thunder. As we discussed previously, when His voice spoke at the beginning of the plagues cycle, there was a great sign: as the sun set in Mexico, beginning the High Sabbath of Yom Kippur, 2015, which we had recognized was marked by the Clock of God in Orion from the beginning of this ministry,^[3] the most powerful storm ever recorded, hurricane Patricia, threatened to wreak terrible havoc on the inhabitants ashore.^[4] But despite its arrival with looming destructive potential, there was little actual damage, because the time for unrestrained devastation was still a bit in the future.

God is showing the world His tears in El Niño, as the loosening of the four winds begins. As yet, the strife is held in check until the harvest is gathered in, as it was prophesied:

All who have not the spirit of truth will unite under the leadership of Satanic agencies, but they are to be kept under control till the time shall come for the great battle of Armageddon.—The S.D.A. Bible Commentary 7:967 (1900). {LDE 238.3}^[5]

The voice of God spoke again on December 2, 2015 at the second plague, and there was another great sign amidst the mountains of evidence that became visible on that day. This time, it was a sign of approval and blessing upon those who heard it like God gave His Son at His baptism.

*And straightway coming up out of the water, he saw the heavens opened, and the Spirit like a dove descending upon him: And there came a voice from heaven, saying, Thou art my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased.
(Mark 1:10-11)

The Father gave His approval by a voice from heaven, at which time, the Holy Spirit came down upon Him. The divine testimony proclaimed that Jesus was the Son of God. In like manner, the Holy Spirit came down in 2010, when the Father’s voice began to be heard from heaven in Orion, and together, they have been proclaiming the virtues of Jesus, the Wounded One. The sign that was given was the revelation of the tiny seal impression mentioned above, exactly on the date when we had been expecting a blessing. It may not seem like much, but it is replete with significance, which we shall explore.

Right from the get-go, it is a righteous king’s seal of authority! It is as though God is saying, “This is my beloved Son [as seen in Orion], in whom I am well pleased; hear ye him.”^[6] The LastCountdown is the only ministry that was waiting expectantly for a blessing on that date. For everyone else, the discovery of the seal is a nice find, but they cannot hear the voice of God in it. Only those who understand the significance of the timing may discern the blessing.

When a find like this comes exactly at the termination of the Daniel timeline, and even coincides with a key marker on the Orion clock, we can discern a relationship. And as we explore, we discover many more details to further substantiate it. For example, the seal was revealed on a throne-line date, which indicates that it has something to do with God and His seat of authority. With this find, God would have the world know to whom He has given the signet of His right hand.

Sealed with God’s Authority

A seal attests to the authorship or ownership of that which is sealed (for example, a document or container), and is also used as a mark of authority, as with the book of seven seals, which could only be opened by Him who was found worthy to loosen its seals. No one else was found with the proper authority. A complete seal expresses three key attributes that identify the authority behind it:

1. Name
2. Title
3. Territory

A common example of a biblical seal containing these elements is, “The Lord (1), Creator (2) of Heaven and Earth (3).” One instance where we find an impression of this seal is on the Sabbath commandment from the law of God:

For in six days the LORD [name] made [title: Maker] heaven and earth, the sea, and all that in them is [territory], and rested the seventh day: wherefore [by the stated authority] the LORD blessed the sabbath day, and hallowed it. (Exodus 20:11)

We can be sure of the authenticity of the Sabbath and the territory over which it applies by referring to the seal affixed to it. (Those who contest the applicability of the seventh-day Sabbath should question what seal of authority declares any other day to be sacred, and consider which seal bears the greater authority.)

Authority may also be bestowed upon one’s subjects, as was the case with Adam:

And God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness: and let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the earth, and over every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth [territory delegated to man]. So God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them. (Genesis 1:26-27)

God bestowed authority upon man, giving them a portion of His own territory to have dominion over. God’s seal of authority is expressed (God, man’s Maker) and He figuratively engraves man’s signet as well, designating his territory, and his capacity as an image or reflection of God (man’s title). God’s seal was impressed upon mankind the way He created them: as a complimentary pair: male and female. No other combination (male and male, female and female, or the role-reversed female and male) bears the seal of God. The image of God is effaced in these other combinations, and the authority God bestowed upon man as He created him, male and female, is forfeited. It’s not hate speech to say so, it’s just the reality.

And [they] changed the glory of the uncorruptible God into an image made like to corruptible man... For this cause God gave them up unto vile affections: for even their women did change the natural use into that which is against nature: And likewise also the men, leaving the natural use of the woman, burned in their lust one toward another; men with men working that which is unseemly, and receiving in themselves that recompence of their error which was meet. (Romans 1:23, 26-27)

When the Pope says things like “Who am I to judge?” do you, dear Catholic reader, understand that it is contrary to the doctrine of the Apostle Paul? He warned us not to allow those living in open sin to remain in the church. By doing so, although the sinners feel comfortable, the church has lost its effectiveness and cannot accomplish its work. Now, we must stand independent of any church organization.

But now I have written unto you not to keep company, if any man that is called a brother be a fornicator, or covetous, or an idolater, or a railer, or a drunkard, or an extortioner; with such an one no not to eat. For what have I to do to judge them also that are without [outside the church]? do not ye judge them that are within? (1 Corinthians 5:11-12)

A Love to Die For

The Creator invests everything with meaning. Nothing He does or allows is without purpose. He has given us many puzzle pieces to fit together, and it is our job as kings and priests, to work with the Holy Spirit to assemble the puzzle, as the proverb says:

It is the glory of God to conceal a thing: but the honour of kings is to search out a matter. (Proverbs 25:2)

Even the fact that it was a seal impression that God chose as the medium for communicating the blessing bears remarkable significance, for it points us to God's own seal! In the Song of Solomon (the man gifted with wisdom more than all others), the love story of Christ and His people (who are represented by the beloved Shulamite) is related, and it shows us something important about His signet. The story features not only the Man and His beloved, but there is a chorus of onlookers who sing along from time to time as well. Speaking of His beloved, He says,

"My dove, my undefiled is but one; she is the only one of her mother, she is the choice one of her that bare her." (Song of Solomon 6:9)

She is described as "the choice one", like the delicious, first-ripe figs of the fig harvest^[7] and "undefiled" like those who seek God with their whole heart:

"Blessed are the undefiled in the way, who walk in the law of the LORD. Blessed are they that keep his testimonies, and that seek him with the whole heart. They also do no iniquity: they walk in his ways." (Psalm 119:1-3)

And they sung as it were a new song before the throne, and before the four beasts, and the elders: and no man could learn that song but the hundred and forty and four thousand, which were redeemed from the earth. These are they which were not defiled with women; for they are virgins. These are they which follow the Lamb whithersoever he goeth. These were redeemed from among men, being the firstfruits unto God and to the Lamb. And in their mouth was found no guile: for they are without fault before the throne of God." (Revelation 14:3-5)

But in the song, He includes a note of uncertainty, saying,

I went down into the garden of nuts to see the fruits of the valley, and to see whether [or not] the vine flourished, and the pomegranates budded. I knew not, my soul set me on the chariots of my willing people." (Song of Solomon 6:11, 12, margin)

He didn't know whether the fruit would be flourishing, yet He put Himself in the care of His willing people. Would the fruit of faith be found? Would any be willing to follow Jesus' example of selfless love? God gave His Son to make it possible, and He made His own life dependent on whether they could be found. Is it a wonder that the chorus of voices joins in, calling for Jesus' beloved, that they may see her?!

Return, return, O Shulamite; return, return, that we may look upon thee. What will ye see in the Shulamite? As it were the company of two armies. (Song of Solomon 6:13)

As the song continues, the beloved expresses her love:^[8]

Set me as a seal upon thine heart, as a seal upon thine arm: for love is strong as death; jealousy is cruel as the grave: the coals thereof are coals of fire, which hath a most vehement flame. Many waters cannot quench love, neither can the floods drown it: if a man would give all the substance of his house for love, it would utterly be contemned. (Song of Solomon 8:6-7)

The imagery is that of her hands clinging to His arm and her face pressed against His heart as one would press a signet into clay. Her love is like a signet, and is represented as being as strong as death, and as a fire so fierce that no amount of water can quench it. The language is that which is used in relation to the wrath of God upon the wicked.^[9] In other words, her love is as strong as the second death! She represents His willing people—willing to give their own eternal lives for love! They possess the faith that Jesus earnestly asked if He would find, knowing that even the Father Himself was depending on it!

Imagine! The Almighty, entrusting His own life, in which is wrapped the existence of the whole Universe, into the "chariots" of love of weak, erring humans! He trusts that His own deep love—like Jesus demonstrated on the cross—will be manifest in His people of the last generation. Truly

God is love, and that love is a fountain of water of life that flows through His Son and refreshes those who appreciate what Jesus did for them, for when they consider the depth of His sacrifice, in giving them deliverance from the bondage of the sin they hate, that same love begins to spring up in themselves, enabling them to return it back to the Father as a token of gratitude and praise. They have love because He first loved them. They walk in His ways without regard to cost or reward, simply because they love Him more than anything else. His law is written on their heart. They have the faith of Jesus and they sing the song of Moses and the Lamb, having willingly followed their Master in drinking the dregs from the Holy Grail. It is all an outflow of the Father's love, and it is embodied in His signet ring.

Length of Days and Long Life

Hezekiah had two different seals that he used during his reign, and he made the switch after an important event in his life. It was when he was sick unto death, and at his request of God, was granted an extension of life.^[10] The Seal impression that was found on December 2 was his later one from after his healing experience, and therefore includes especially that event in the message that God is communicating.

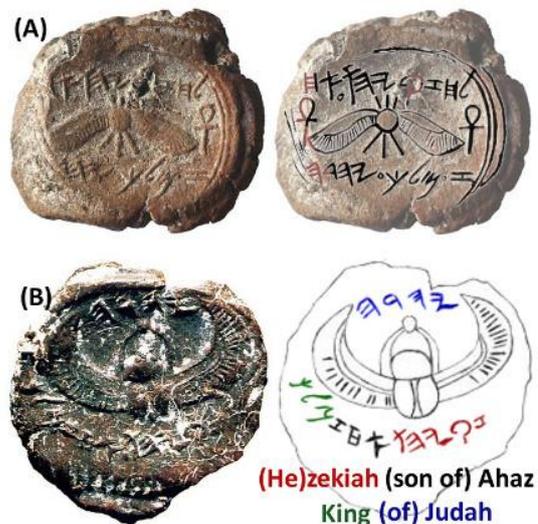

The symbols on the seal impression from the Ophel suggest that they were made late in his life, when both the Royal administrative authority and the King's personal symbols changed from the winged scarab (dung beetle)—the symbol of power and rule that had been familiar throughout the Ancient Near East, to that of the winged sun—a motif that proclaimed God's protection, which gave the regime its legitimacy and power, also widespread throughout the Ancient Near East and used by the Assyrian Kings.^[11]

Although there is definite Egyptian influence, Hezekiah was a devout follower of Yahweh and no sun worshipper. We must understand the symbols as Hezekiah would have meant them—in the same way that Malachi spoke regarding the sun: “But unto you that fear my name shall the Sun of righteousness arise with healing in his wings.”^[12] He was simply utilizing a common and widely understood symbol of the winged sun and applying its meaning to his God. It is important to understand these symbols in the proper light, lest interpret them according to a wrong context.

Not only does the sun, represent God's provision, and the downward-pointing wings, His protection, as though ready to embrace and shield, but because God gave Hezekiah a sign in the sun that he would be healed, for him, it would have been doubly representative of God's protection and care!

The ankhs on either side of the wings were another common Egyptian symbol that represented life. The association of these ankhs with the protecting sun and its rays of blessing and provision reiterates the reference to his healing.

His story is a well-known Bible story retold in three books of the Bible. God honored Hezekiah with a great sign in the sun—a sign of life that was marked on a great “clock”—the sundial of Ahaz—by moving the shadow backward 10 degrees! It was a disproportionately grand sign in comparison to the event, which shows that it pointed to something much greater! The honor

The seals of King Hezekiah bearing the same textual inscription. (A) The winged sun motif from late in his reign, and (B) the older dung beetle motif.

God bestowed on him also served to test the king's pride, however, and he failed the test by not giving God the glory, but pointing to his own achievements as though they were meritorious. Nevertheless, his repentance for his pride is recorded in Scripture.^[13] The change in his seal shows the genuineness of his repentance for his pride, for he no longer identified with the former symbol, which gave tribute to his own power and dominion, but designed his later seal to give the glory to God, acknowledging His provision and protection over him and expressing gratitude for life. Not only has God now honored his repentance by pointing to this discovery with His heavenly clock in Orion, but He incorporates the lesson of humility and faith into the message, for though the 144,000 do a great work, it is Christ who does the work through them, for of themselves, they can do nothing.

Not only does the Orion clock point to the bulla from the timing, but even the symbols on the seal itself are intimately related to this message! In the Orion clock, the outer stars are represented in Scripture by seraphim with six wings; two to cover the face, two to cover the feet, and two outstretched wings to fly!^[14] Thus, the motif combines the outstretched wings of the seraphim with the suns of Orion, which the seraphim represent in reality, and together, they form a sign that reiterates the significance of the timing as a pointer to this message!

But the ankhs also point to this message, for they are a symbol of life, and in our modern world today, the well-known natural symbol of life is DNA. What we commonly refer to as the "Orion Message," includes not just the Orion clocks, but also the High Sabbath List, also known as the Vessel of Time, which has many allegorical relationships to DNA!^[15]

Engraved Like a Signet

The signet ring of God is like no other, but it serves the same purposes as the physical variety. In symbolic terms, the Bible describes how this special signet is designed. As Moses was given instructions regarding the garments of the priest, three times he was instructed to make engravings "like the engravings of a signet."^[16] The language is significant. God does not use words without purpose or intent. He could have described the depth of the engravings, for example, but He chose to associate them with a signet. In order for the text engraved on a signet to be legible on the seal, it is necessary to be deeply engraved. Simply scratching the surface, while it would be visible on the signet ring itself, it would not be enough to transfer to the clay into which it is pressed. By relating the engravings for the priest to that of a signet, the Scripture points to something greater—God's own signet.

In the design of the priest's ephod, there were twelve precious stones on the breastplate that were engraved with the names of the children of Israel—one name per stone. Near to the heart, the children of God are individually represented according to their tribe. On the priest's shoulders, however, the names of the children of Israel were again engraved in two precious stones, only this time, they are represented collectively, with six names engraved on each of the two shoulder stones. By symbolically placing the children of Israel on His shoulders, He shows us that it is He who upholds us and is our strength in time of trouble.

Dividing the twelve tribes into two sets of six is not common, but we see the same pattern in the show-bread that was continually present in the sanctuary. There were twelve loaves of unleavened bread in two stacks of six that were set on a table for display before God continually, being refreshed weekly. The bread represents the body of Christ—the church—but especially that last generation, who fulfills the purpose of the church as Paul stated:

And he gave some, apostles; and some, prophets; and some, evangelists; and some, pastors and teachers; For the perfecting of the saints, for the work of the ministry, for the edifying of the body of Christ: Till we all come in the unity of the faith, and of the knowledge of the Son of God, unto a perfect man, unto the measure of the stature of the fulness of Christ: (Ephesians 4:11-13)

The bread was on display before God as a reminder of the end result of salvation—that generation possessing the unity of the faith and the completion of man's growth and maturity into that which fills Christ, i.e. Christ-likeness, particularly His self-sacrificial love. The shoulder stones in the ephod represent the last generation as well, being upheld from sin by Christ and set on display as the first fruits of salvation. The weight of the world's sin rested upon the shoulders of Christ, our High Priest, and the weight of this burden is lifted through that upheld people, being interposed between His shoulders and the burden. Theirs is not a role of strength, for they could lift nothing apart from Christ, but they see in themselves what He can do, and this is a necessary part of the plan. They prove the effectiveness of Christ's salvation and they reign with Him. Consider when Israel was given his name, representing His victory through claiming God's power by faith:

And he said, Thy name shall be called no more Jacob, but Israel: for as a prince hast thou power with God and with men, and hast prevailed [overcome]. (Genesis 32:28)

To him that overcometh will I grant to sit with me in my throne, even as I also overcame, and am set down with my Father in his throne. (Revelation 3:21)

The last generation of spiritual Israel have the same characteristics. They are overcomers—the first fruits of salvation, who have allowed the blood of Christ to cleanse them from sin while on earth. They validate the plan of salvation by proving that it is effective. It is a routine practice in the analytical industry. When a batch of samples is analyzed, several other prepared samples, called checks, must be analyzed with them. If they give the expected results, then you know that you can trust the results of the unknown samples. Without them, however, you have no proof that the analysis of the unknown samples was valid, and the results cannot be trusted. The 144,000 are the required check that the salvation which the great multitude of “unknown samples” receive at their resurrection, actually serves its intended purpose—the complete deliverance of the individual from sin.

Verily, verily, I say unto you, Whosoever committeth sin is the servant of sin. (John 8:34)

These [the 144,000] were redeemed from among men, being the firstfruits unto God and to the Lamb. And in their mouth was found no guile: for they are without fault before the throne of God. (Revelation 14:4-5)*

The third item of the priest's attire that was engraved like a signet, was the golden plate affixed to the headwear, which bore the inscription, “Holiness to the Lord.” This also applies to the 144,000 because they are consecrated wholly to God. With implicit trust, they desire to follow His every word, not deviating this way or that, and they join the Psalmist, saying,

With my whole heart have I sought thee: O let me not wander from thy commandments. Thy word have I hid in mine heart, that I might not sin against thee. (Psalm 119:10-11)

The law of God is the foundation of His government. This is represented in the sanctuary by its position directly beneath His throne—the mercy seat. It is universally obeyed in every province of His entire kingdom, and it is precisely that law, which is the central theme of the great conflict between the government of God and that of Satan. The devil's kingdom consists of those who choose to disregard that law. Though they may profess to love the Lord, they do not love His nature, nor do they respect the authority of His seal, which is found in the law as we saw earlier. On the other hand, God's people love His government and have His law written in their hearts and minds. These words express the sentiment of one who knows and loves the Lord:

I hate and abhor lying; but thy law do I love... Great peace have they which love thy law: and nothing shall offend them. I have hoped for thy salvation, and done thy commandments. My soul hath kept thy testimonies; and I love them exceedingly. (Psalm 119:163, 165-167)

But this shall be the covenant that I will make with the house of Israel; After those days, saith the LORD, I will put my law in their inward parts, and write it in their hearts; and will be their God, and they shall be my people. And they shall teach no more every man his neighbour, and every man his brother, saying, Know the LORD: for they shall all know me, from the least of them unto the greatest of them, saith the LORD: for I will forgive their iniquity, and I will remember their sin no more. (Jeremiah 31:33-34)

Therefore, the engraving of "Holiness to the Lord" at the forehead represents the entire kingdom of God—the territory where His law is cherished and obeyed.

Do you understand what these things mean? The signet of God, as illustrated by the engravings, describes His people—His last generation! They are His living temple, in whom God dwells, and through whom His stamp of approval and authority is given! That temple is built during the great day of the Lord, when the character of God, as presented in His signet, is at last fully developed in that generation of His people!

The Day of the Lord

In the Bible, when Zerubbabel, the governor of Judah, oversaw the laying of the foundation for the new temple, God said,

I will shake the heavens and the earth; And I will overthrow the throne of kingdoms, and I will destroy the strength of the kingdoms of the heathen; and I will overthrow the chariots, and those that ride in them; and the horses and their riders shall come down, every one by the sword of his brother. In that day, saith the LORD of hosts, will I take thee, O Zerubbabel, my servant, the son of Shealtiel, saith the LORD, and will make thee as a signet: for I have chosen thee, saith the LORD of hosts. (Haggai 2:21-23)

There is a clear application to the last days in this passage; it is not just a reference to the time of Jesus' first advent. The more literal application is directly associated with the time of God's wrath—the time in which we have been living since October 25, 2015!

Behold, the day of the LORD cometh, cruel both with wrath and fierce anger, to lay the land desolate: and he shall destroy the sinners thereof out of it. For the stars of heaven and the constellations thereof [Strong's: Orion] shall not give their light: the sun shall be darkened in his going forth, and the moon shall not cause her light to shine. And I will punish the world for their evil, and the wicked for their iniquity; and I will cause the arrogancy of the proud to cease, and will lay low the haughtiness of the terrible... Therefore I will shake the heavens, and the earth shall remove out of her place, in the wrath of the LORD of hosts, and in the day of his fierce anger. (Isaiah 13:9-11, 13)

Note that the day (year) of the Lord^[17] is a time when God said that Orion would cease to give its light. Physically, the amount of light coming from Orion, or even all of the stars together, is rather miniscule, so it must be speaking spiritually. From Orion, the earth has been lightened with His glory, but the inhabitants of this world have rejected the light. Therefore, He has left them to wander in darkness.

And this is the condemnation, that light is come into the world, and men loved darkness rather than light, because their deeds were evil. For every one that doeth evil hateth the light, neither cometh to the light, lest his deeds should be reproved. But he that doeth truth cometh to the light, that his deeds may be made manifest, that they are wrought in God. (John 3:19-21)

When the light came, it was to bring conviction to the hearts of God's people and prepare them for His return. But how few have taken advantage of that opportunity?! Now the light of the Holy Spirit is withheld from those who have rejected Him. Foreshadowed by the solar eclipse in the middle of the prophetic blood moon tetrad, even the sun and the moon, God's bright lights of the Bible and the testimonies, no longer shine! Although the words are still available, the Spirit of understanding has left, and though they search with great intensity, they will not find the light...

...because they received not the love of the truth, that they might be saved. And for this cause God shall send them strong delusion, that they should believe a lie: That they all might be damned who believed not the truth, but had pleasure in unrighteousness. (2 Thessalonians 2:10-12)

[The Lord has sent] a famine in the land, not a famine of bread, nor a thirst for water, but of hearing the words of the LORD: And they shall wander from sea to sea, and from the north even to the east, they shall run to and fro to seek the word of the LORD, and shall not find it [because they rejected Him while He was available]. (Amos 8:11-12)

As Nebuchadnezzar lost his sanity and became as an animal, so is humanity losing its sanity for having turned away from the Spirit of understanding. God is laying low their pride, but unlike Nebuchadnezzar, they won't repent, because they can't. Their lives are burdened with unforgiven and unforgivable sin, because they did not repent while Jesus was still interceding on their behalf. Now He is no longer pleading His blood (without which, there can be no forgiveness), but has left the sanctuary, and is waiting to harvest His people, as you will see in the next article.

Here is the patience [Strong's: cheerful (or hopeful) endurance, constancy] of the saints: here are they that keep the commandments of God, and the faith of Jesus. And I heard a voice from heaven saying unto me, Write, Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth: Yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labours; and their works do follow them. (Revelation 14:12-13)

Once Jesus stopped His intercession, the death of the righteous became a blessing, for if they have not the endurance to stand the great trials without falling into sin, they would lose their eternal life, since sin can no longer be forgiven. Those who have the faith of Jesus to endure in their keeping of the commandments of God, were therefore given the seal of the Living God,^[18] granted "daily provisions" of the Holy Spirit to uphold them, and are prepared to take the role of His signet in the time of darkness.

A Living Signet

In the previous section, we saw how Zerubbabel was chosen by God to be as a signet. This was in association with the laying of the foundation of the temple whose glory exceeded that of Solomon's temple by virtue of receiving Jesus, the Son of God in the flesh, within its walls. This also has a parallel for our time. The temple of Ezekiel's vision, which was never physically built on the earth, is symbolic of the spiritual temple of the 144,000, whose foundation was laid by the message from Orion. John Scotram was the chosen instrument to oversee the laying of that foundation, and to be as a signet. In turn, the rest of the 144,000 are also to serve as His signet.

How does God use His living sealing ring? As I mentioned earlier, a seal was used in ancient times to declare ownership and authority. God uses His people for both purposes. He has established His authority through them. Because the 144,000 are the first fruits that validate the plan of salvation, they are the seal of assurance that the redeemed may be legitimately called children of God. This concept may be difficult to grasp, so let me explain.

Remember, because all have sinned, the devil has had claim to every human being from Adam to yourself, with the lone exception of Jesus Christ, who never sinned. Sinners are marked by Satan as subjects of his kingdom, and he is jealous to keep all who were once his. Those who received a love of the truth that they might be saved by the grace of Christ, must have a genuine mark of God's authority to be claimed as His own—a mark that cannot be contested! The 144,000 are the living proof of God's authority to claim a lover of truth as His own.

God's provision for the church has been for it to grow up into the likeness of Christ,^[19] but not all of the saved throughout history have reached that measure and completely overcome sin. Rather, they had faith in Christ's plan to bring them to that point, if time should allow. That faith consists of two elements. First, it is faith in Christ's perfect sacrifice, without which, no flesh could be saved. But it is also faith that that perfect sacrifice would produce fruit on earth. While the 144,000 can do nothing to save a person, they do what Christ Himself could not do: they prove that humans, having once been trapped in sin, can indeed overcome that sin and live a Christ-like life in the flesh in the midst of a polluted and exceedingly sinful world.

It is one thing to grow up into Christ in a heavenly atmosphere, where all things are supportive of that growth, as most of the redeemed will do, but it is an entirely different thing to grow up into the fullness of His stature against the tide of wickedness in the earth and the pressure to conform to one degree or another. The 144,000 come from the weakest, most degenerate and decrepit generation, but they have a love for the truth, as have all of God's children, and Christ proves with them that that love is sufficient to overcome all obstacles. They are the proof that all people throughout all ages who demonstrate a love for truth, would, if they had the time and were given the light, come to the same point of victory. They prove that all that is necessary for salvation to be effective, is a supreme love for truth, or a desire to be Christ-like, for their victory over sin was accomplished by faith without any other advantage of circumstance.

Jesus takes their love—their willingness to put Him first, no matter the cost to themselves—and indwells them by His Spirit. With His Spirit in them, He upholds them so that they are able to stand without sin in the time of plagues, against all the odds of their circumstances, which is one thing the devil can use against them to tempt them to turn away from the path of life to what he promises will be more pleasant circumstances.

Because he hath set his love upon me, therefore will I deliver him [from sin]: I will set him on high, because he hath known my name. He shall call upon me, and I will answer him: I will be with him in trouble; I will deliver him, and honour him. With long life will I satisfy him, and shew him my salvation. (Psalm 91:14-16)

God will not suffer one of His true-hearted workers to be left alone to struggle against great odds and be overcome. He preserves as a precious jewel every one whose life is hid with Christ in God. Of every such an one He says, "I... will make thee as a signet: for I have chosen thee" {7T 67.3}^[20]

The process of cleansing is not a pleasant one, but despite the pain, if one has a love for the truth that is greater than all else, having allowed God's love in them to unstop that spring, the experience is blessed, however severe it may be. God can accomplish the cleansing work when we simply allow His love to wash away our pride and resistance.^[21]

Watching for His Coming

By bringing to light one square centimeter of ancient testimony on the day when He designated a special blessing, we see how the Lord uses the story of Hezekiah's healing and the sign of the regressing sun to point to the grand climax of history, when the first-fruits of Salvation finally ripen and give their sweet fragrance. Even the origins of the artifact parallel the message to which it points!

The bulla was used originally to sign a document written on papyrus and kept rolled and tied with thin twine whose subtle marks can be seen on the back of the bulla... King Hezekiah's bulla was discovered in a garbage heap that was dumped during or shortly after Hezekiah's time, from a royal building that was used to store food.^[22]

A legitimate announcement of the return of Christ could not be given without proper authority. Orion is the document sealed with seven seals, which comes from a royal building (Orion, where the King dwells) that is used to store food (spiritual nourishment: the profound message of Orion). But much like Hezekiah's seal, this message has been thrown out with the garbage by the majority of the world who don't recognize its immense value.

Contrary to popular belief, the Bible does not say that no one will ever know the time of His return. Jesus did say that it wasn't known when He was on the earth, but His counsel to watch because we don't know the hour is best understood that we should watch so that we might learn the hour when it is revealed! This is made clear in Jesus' message to the church of Sardis:

If therefore thou shalt not watch, I will come on thee as a thief, and thou shalt not know what hour I will come upon thee. (Revelation 3:3)

Jesus draws a contrast between those who watch and those who don't. By saying that if we don't watch, He will come upon us as a thief, and we won't know the hour of His coming, He also says that if we do watch, He will not come upon us as a thief, and we will know the hour of His coming. "Hour" is the most precise unit of time in the Bible. If He only wanted us to know the general season according to the signs of the times, as many suggest, He would not have used such a specific term.

It is like the times when you wait for a special delivery. When you check the tracking info, it is marked as "out for delivery." But you don't know whether it will come in the morning, midday, or in the evening! Several times, I requested that the driver call me shortly before delivery so that I could meet him at the delivery location. On these occasions, I would watch for their call to make sure I didn't miss it, so I could have time to prepare to meet them. It is the same with Jesus. Notice how He explains it:

But of that day and that hour knoweth no man, no, not the angels which are in heaven, neither the Son, but the Father. Take ye heed, watch and pray: for ye know not when the time is. For the Son of man is as a man taking a far journey, who left his house, and gave authority to his servants, and to every man his work, and commanded the porter to watch. Watch ye therefore: for ye know not when the master of the house cometh, at even, or at midnight, or at the cockcrowing, or in the morning: Lest coming suddenly he find you sleeping. And what I say unto you I say unto all, Watch. (Mark 13:32-37)

Just as I didn't know when to expect the delivery driver's call during the day, humanity didn't know when to expect the message of Jesus' return, but they could know that it was near. In the parable, Jesus commanded the porter to watch. The porter was the door keeper, and he would watch for a messenger! This is brought out very clearly in the parable of the ten virgins, when a messenger comes announcing that the bridegroom was on his way:

And at midnight there was a cry made, Behold, the bridegroom cometh; go ye out to meet him. (Matthew 25:6)

The messenger bears the authority of the one who sent him. In the case of a royal announcement, it would be sealed with the king's signet ring so that the people would know that it was authentic. In the case of the announcement of Jesus' return, the authority must come from the Father, for Jesus said that the times are in the Father's authority.^[23] The good news of the coming of God's Kingdom has arrived, and God has sealed that message with His own signet ring in Orion!

And this gospel [good news] of the kingdom shall be preached in all the world for a witness unto all nations; and then shall the end come. (Matthew 24:14)

A witness gives evidence. As the mountains of evidence build, that we are in the time of the final reapings, it catches the attention of a wider and wider class of people, until the evidence is so unmistakable that every sensible person on the planet will realize that it is time for the end of the world, "and then shall the end come." The question you should ask yourself is, in which reaping will you be gathered? Will you be bundled among the tares to be burned, or will you be gathered into the barn with the wheat?

Let both grow together until the harvest: and in the time of harvest I will say to the reapers, Gather ye together first the tares, and bind them in bundles to burn them: but gather the wheat into my barn.

The harvest is the end of the world; and the reapers are the angels. As therefore the tares are gathered and burned in the fire; so shall it be in the end of this world. The Son of man shall send forth his angels, and they shall gather out of his kingdom all things that offend, and them which do iniquity; (Matthew 13:30, 39-41)

It takes some time to sort and harvest a crop. The end of the world is a period of time, not a moment. When Jesus stepped out of the heavenly sanctuary and put on His kingly garments, He was crowned and the time of the end of the world began. Soon is the time of harvest—when the crop is mature and the good grain is separated from the pretentious weeds. In the next article, you will discover how this theme is repeated in the Revelation with a beautiful fit into the "end-of-the-world cycle" of the Orion clock (the plagues cycle).

A Revelation of Time

Not long ago, we discovered a simple clock in the story of Hezekiah's healing and the sign in the sun. In the article, In the Shadow of Time, we called it the Reformation Clock, because it covers the span of the great Reformation of the church at the beginning of the modern era of history, highlighting the last phase of that Reformation, which was the Great Advent Movement of the 19th century, and culminating with the present time and the completed reformation from sin.

Thus, God took a small clay bulla showing Hezekiah's gratitude for the healing he received, and made it into a sign for the message of healing from sin overarching all humanity through all time! That simple clock gives us a measure for the shortening of the time of the end, as Jesus said must be the case:

And except those days should be shortened, there should no flesh be saved: but for the elect's sake those days shall be shortened. (Matthew 24:22)

The precious gift of the understanding of time, which God has given to all who will receive it through this ministry, reveals many things and answers many deep questions that people have been asking for ages. God has done this, not merely to satisfy our curiosity, but to teach important lessons. The Orion Message, with all of its temporal components, gives a framework of time from Creation until the Second Coming, into which biblical chronology has a splendidly perfect fit that should be the envy of every Christian chronologist!^[24]

But the Orion timeline is not the only timeline on the scale of the whole of Earth's history! Please indulge me in reiterating what was presented previously, adding a few details to solidify the concept. Peter warned of the scoffers who would come in the last days, denying the promise of Jesus' coming,

And saying, Where is the promise of his coming? for since the fathers fell asleep, all things continue as they were from the beginning of the creation. (2 Peter 3:4)

His explanation of their end gives us a working span of time for the judgment against the ungodly:

But the heavens and the earth, which are now, by the same word are kept in store, reserved unto fire against the day of judgment and perdition of ungodly men. But, beloved, be not ignorant of this one thing, that one day is with the Lord as a thousand years, and a thousand years as one day. The Lord is not slack concerning his promise, as some men count slackness; but is longsuffering to us-ward, not willing that any should perish, but that all should come to repentance. (2 Peter 3:7-9)

The unwillingness of Jesus that any should perish for their sin is what prompted the first sacrifice at the gate of Eden, the garden of God, which prefigured the sacrifice of our Savior four thousand years later! The relationship of time that Peter establishes is that a thousand years represents one day, and he sets one day apart from the rest, saying,

But the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night; in the which the heavens shall pass away with a great noise, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat, the earth also and the works that are therein shall be burned up. (2 Peter 3:10)

Now I ask, which day is the day of the Lord? We need not look to tradition for an answer, but to the Bible:

But the seventh day is the sabbath of the LORD thy God: in it thou shalt not do any work... (Exodus 20:10)

Only one day is identified as the Lord's, and it is distinguished from the rest of the week as a day of rest. Not only that, but the Sabbath is also associated with the promised rest from our earthly labors, as we enter into the heavenly Canaan:

Again, he limiteth a certain day, saying in David, To day, after so long a time; as it is said, To day if ye will hear his voice, harden not your hearts. For if Jesus had given them rest, then would he not afterward have spoken of another day. There remaineth therefore a rest to the people of God. For he that is entered into his rest, he also hath ceased from his own works, as God did from his. Let us labour therefore to enter into that rest, lest any man fall after the same example of unbelief. (Hebrews 4:7-11)

It is clear, then, that the seven-day week, culminating with the seventh day, which is the Lord's day—His Sabbath of rest—is the span of time which Peter identifies. Six millennial days of labor are given before the Lord's day, when the people of God finally enter into His rest. Therefore, we understand that six thousand years are allotted for the labor against sin, before Jesus comes and gives us rest.

Now, the Word of God is not just a casual expression, but a sharp and discerning weapon:

For the word of God is quick [\[living\]](#), and powerful, and sharper than any twoedged sword, piercing even to the dividing asunder of soul and spirit, and of the joints and marrow, and is a discerner of the thoughts and intents of the heart. (Hebrews 4:12)

How carefully and respectfully, then, should we handle it?! If we do, and we take seriously the six thousand years of labor for sin, rather than assuming it is a casual expression, then we discover a hidden treasure! Without going into detail here about the numeric symbolism, suffice it to say that the six millennia are divided into four and two. The divisive moment being in AD 31, when our Lord was crucified.^[25] Once again, we are reminded that at the focal point of all of God's timelines, there stands the sacrifice of our Savior. He is the center of attention for all time. At the entrance of sin, the sacrifice was promised; after four millennia, the promise was realized; after two more millennia, the fruit of that sacrifice is harvested; and at the culmination of the millennial week after the thousand years of rest in heaven, sin will be eradicated and the promise of deliverance from it will be completely fulfilled!

And here is the simplicity of the measurement: the year in which the Lord should be expected to harvest the fruit of His sacrifice when He returns (were time not shortened), would be two thousand years after the crucifixion, or AD 2031. As we detailed before, however, the shortening of that time is given a measure in the extended life that Hezekiah received! His life was to be shortened, and fifteen years would have been taken away. Thus, the true year of Jesus' return is not AD 2031, but fifteen years earlier, or AD 2016!

As we have come to expect of our amazing God, this is in perfect harmony with His other clocks! The last day of the Jewish feasts is the 8th day of the feast of Tabernacles, called the Great Day or Shemini Atzeret. It is the feast day that prefigures Jesus' return after a long wandering,^[26] and thus, in a simple way, we can discern the very day in which the Lord will return! That day begins at sunset on October 23, 2016, and the 24 hours of that day will live up to its name, for great indeed, is the day when "he cometh with clouds; and every eye shall see him, and they also which pierced him."^[27] As the earth makes its rotation, every eye will behold the King of Kings. The righteous dead will be raised and the 144,000 will join them in the cloud to welcome Him as their deliverer from a planet overcome by sin, while the wicked who remain until then will be destroyed at His coming on that day.

This is the second witness^[28] to the 372 days of special provision of the Holy Spirit that were discovered from a study of the meaning and counts of the sanctuary sacrifices, and which connect the other clocks directly to the day of the Second Coming.

How many who profess to await His return, hope for a Jesus that the Bible does not describe— one who accepts sinners living in sin?! No, no. He who thinks to see the Lord in peace when He returns, while he yet cherishes sin, will be bitterly disappointed.

Behold, he cometh with clouds; and every eye shall see him, and they also which pierced him: and all kindreds of the earth shall wail because of him. Even so, Amen. (Revelation 1:7)

How few have heeded the counsel to the Hebrews to harden not your hearts, having heard God's voice? Have you heard His voice in this message without becoming hardened against its correction? Have you sighed and cried for your own sin, preparing the way for God to cleanse you from it? If you see light reflecting from the facets of the beautiful gem of time, please make haste and drink from the fountain of life, for the great day is but months away, and you have A LOT to learn!

A Little Season

We are entering upon the millennial Sabbath of rest in Christ! For nearly six thousand years, the world has suffered under the burden of sin, but at the cross, the Way of salvation was prepared, and at this climactic year of history, He finally has a generation who will walk in that Way, unwilling to yield to sin. This is what He has been waiting for! In a matter of months, the wheat harvest will be gathered, the grapes of wrath crushed, and the devil will be bound, having no man to lead for a thousand years. But then, he is unchained, for the wicked are raised and live for “a little season” to be deceived again. Hear the biblical narrative about the devil:

And he [an angel] laid hold on the dragon, that old serpent, which is the Devil, and Satan, and bound him a thousand years, And cast him into the bottomless pit [an abyss], and shut him up, and set a seal upon him, that he should deceive the nations no more, till the thousand years should be fulfilled: and after that he must be loosed a little season.

And I saw thrones, and they sat upon them, and judgment was given unto them: and I saw the souls of them that were beheaded for the witness of Jesus, and for the word of God, and which had not worshipped the beast, neither his image, neither had received his mark upon their foreheads, or in their hands; and they lived and reigned with Christ a thousand years.

But the rest of the dead lived not again [note that they aren't in hell, but dead!] until the thousand years were finished. This [the righteous dead who live and reign] is the first resurrection. Blessed and holy is he that hath part in the first resurrection: on such the second death hath no power, but they shall be priests of God and of Christ, and shall reign with him a thousand years.

And when the thousand years are expired, Satan shall be loosed out of his prison, And shall go out to deceive the nations [who were raised after the thousand years] which are in the four quarters of the earth, Gog and Magog, to gather them together to battle: the number of whom is as the sand of the sea. (Revelation 20:2-8)

At the end of the millennium, Satan is loosed for “a little season.” That expression is used only three other times in the New Testament (all by the apostle John; Strong's numbers are G3398 and G5550), and they all refer to the same duration of time! The first two occurrences are in the gospel of John:

Then said Jesus unto them, Yet a little while am I with you, and then I go unto him that sent me. (John 7:33)

Then Jesus said unto them, Yet a little while is the light with you. Walk while ye have the light, lest darkness come upon you: for he that walketh in darkness knoweth not whither he goeth. (John 12:35)

They both refer to the duration of Christ's ministry on earth, which was three and a half years. The other occurrence is found in the Revelation, relating to the symbolic souls under the altar:

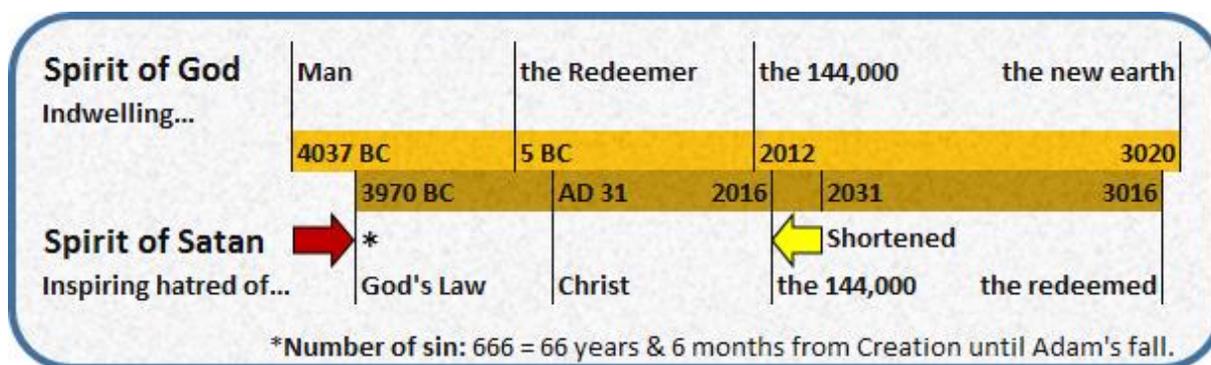

And when he had opened the fifth seal, I saw under the altar the souls of them that were slain for the word of God, and for the testimony which they held: And they cried with a loud voice, saying, How long, O Lord, holy and true, dost thou not judge and avenge our blood on them that dwell on the earth? And white robes were given unto every one of them; and it was said unto them, that they should rest yet for a little season, until their fellow servants also and their brethren, that should be killed as they were, should be fulfilled. (Revelation 6:9-11)

As we explained in the Orion Presentation,^[29] this period refers to the time of the judgment of the living, which is also shown to be three and a half years! From this, we can safely conclude that this phrase is specific to that duration of time. Incidentally, the number itself is half of seven, the number of completion. Therefore, it represents an incomplete work! Many claim that Jesus “did it all at the cross,” but this is not entirely true! He did complete the work that God gave Him to do on earth, but He has been waiting for the other half that completes the seven years. The last three and a half years of the Judgment were the other half: the ministry of the Holy Spirit to find and seal the 144,000 with the seal of the Living God.

The Controversy Etched in Time

The battle between Christ and Satan is depicted in the timelines of Orion and the millennial week. These are two timelines that span from the Garden of Eden all the way until the millennium is completed, during which the righteous reign with Christ in heaven while the wicked rest in their graves.^[30] The millennial week is exactly 7000 years in duration, beginning with the entrance of sin into the world, while the Orion timeline is a little bit longer, beginning with the creation of man and continuing 7056 years. The Orion millennium is 1008 years long,^[31] so the seven millennia by this scale is 7 x 1008 = 7056 years. Beginning at the Creation in 4037 BC, 7056 years brings us to AD 3020. On the other hand, the 7000-year timeline begins in 3970 BC, exactly 4000 years before the crucifixion of Jesus, and ends in AD 3016, taking the 15-year shortening of time into account.

Both are God’s timelines, but one (the 7056-year week of time in Orion) highlights the workings of the Spirit of God, while the other (the 7000-year millennial week) shows the workings of the spirit of the devil. The Orion timeline begins during Creation, when the Spirit of God was breathed into Adam, and he became a living being. On the other timeline, the beginning came after sixty-six years and six months, when Satan, indwelling the body of the flying serpent, managed to bring the holy pair of Eden into the filth of sin. This was the beginning of the destructive work of the unholy spirit of Satan, whose hatred for God’s law is encapsulated in the number 666, the number of Adam^[32] when he fell into sin.

At the end of the Great Cycle of Orion, the birth of the Son of God is marked, whom the Holy Spirit indwells from the womb. This was God’s answer to the introduction of sin: He introduced His Son as the Savior! And on the other hand, the spirit of hatred was manifested by Satan at the cross, when the unfallen Universe saw clearly the extent of depravation that sin brings one to, for Satan so hated Christ, that he would spare no effort to see the Son of God dead. His exultation was to see Jesus hanging, all bleeding and in physical agony (although His greater agony was spiritual). And his defeat is seen in an empty cross, which points to the resurrection of Jesus. Whether one considers the cross a failure^[33] or a success depends on whether they see Jesus hanging on it, or whether He had risen from the dead, and was beyond death’s grasp.

The next time that is marked out was at the end of the judgment of the dead in 2012. Because Jesus was raised from the dead and sent the Holy Spirit into the world, the success of the cross can be seen in the maturity of those who would receive the Spirit and follow Jesus, even yielding their eternal life if necessary. But if Satan hated God so much that he wanted to see Him dead, we can be sure that he hates the 144,000 willing ones equally vehemently! If given the opportunity, he would destroy the entire world to kill them, in order to prevent them from giving their testimony! And that is exactly what he will do! Revelation describes the loosening of the winds of strife, which usher in a great time of trouble on the earth. It even indicates that there are some who, inspired with the spirit of destruction from Satan, destroy the earth in their anger! At the same time, their destruction of the earth (which is a self-destruction!) serves as God's wrath against sin:

And the nations were angry, and thy wrath is come, and the time of the dead, that they should be judged, and that thou shouldest give reward unto thy servants the prophets, and to the saints, and them that fear thy name, small and great; and shouldest destroy them which destroy the earth. (Revelation 11:18)

Jesus, looking ahead to that fearful time of trouble, notes that it is for the elect's sake that He shortens the time, thus indicating that they are indeed the target for the destruction, for if God would not set a time limit, then the devil would surely be successful in his mission of destruction of the 144,000 elect! Note also, that once again, it is time that factors into their deliverance! Do you see the importance of understanding the time in which we live?

For then shall be great tribulation, such as was not since the beginning of the world to this time, no, nor ever shall be. And except those days should be shortened, there should no flesh be saved: but for the elect's sake those days shall be shortened. (Matthew 24:21–22)

In each of the markers, we see the Spirit of God at work first, followed closely by the destructive work of the spirit of Satan. Thankfully, however, the last markers of the timeline—the pair coming after the millennium during which Satan is bound, are reversed! When the Lord raises up the wicked, indicating that the life that He purchased by His death and resurrection is given also to them, the spirit of hatred and destruction takes complete hold of them as they are gathered for battle. Rather than receiving life gratefully, they choose a course of self-destruction! Then God, the Beginning and the End, who declared the end through Orion from the beginning of Creation, comes after Satan's last act, and makes a final end.

And when the thousand years are expired, Satan shall be loosed out of his prison, And shall go out to deceive the nations which are in the four quarters of the earth, Gog and Magog, to gather them together to battle: the number of whom is as the sand of the sea. And they went up on the breadth of the earth, and compassed the camp of the saints about, and the beloved city: and fire came down from God out of heaven, and devoured them. (Revelation 20:7–9)

For three and a half years, Satan—this time appearing as the prince of the world, taking advantage of the ignorance of the wicked, having now been raised—tricks the people into thinking he is their savior, who raised them from the dead. The nations are deceived once again and he marshals them to mount an attack against the city of God:

Now Satan prepares for a last mighty struggle for the supremacy. While deprived of his power and cut off from his work of deception, the prince of evil was miserable and dejected; but as the wicked dead are raised and he sees the vast multitudes upon his side, his hopes revive, and he determines not to yield the great controversy. He will marshal all the armies of the lost under his banner and through them endeavor to execute his plans. The wicked are Satan's captives. In rejecting Christ they have accepted the rule of the rebel leader. They are ready to receive his suggestions and to do his bidding. Yet, true to his early cunning, he does not acknowledge himself to be Satan. He claims to be the prince who is the rightful owner of the world and whose inheritance has been unlawfully wrested from him. He represents himself to his deluded subjects as a redeemer, assuring them that his power has brought them forth from their graves and that he is about to rescue them from the most cruel tyranny. The presence of Christ having been removed, Satan works wonders to support his claims. He makes the weak strong and inspires all with his own spirit and energy. He proposes to lead them against the camp of the saints and to take possession of the City of God. With fiendish exultation he points to the unnumbered millions who have been raised from the dead and declares that as their leader he is well able to overthrow the city and regain his throne and his kingdom. {GC 663.1}^[34]

Before they are able to reach the beloved city and camp of the saints for their attack, however, they are stopped in their tracks as they are brought to the judgment bar of God. The scales are finally removed from their eyes as they see the reason that there is no place for them inside that beautiful city:

And I saw a great white throne, and him that sat on it, from whose face the earth [man] and the heaven [fallen angels] fled away; and there was found no place for them. And I saw the dead, small and great, stand before God; and the books were opened: and another book was opened, which is the book of life: and the dead were judged out of those things which were written in the books, according to their works. (Revelation 20:11-12)

Then they understand their course and that “the wages of sin is death.”^[35] They see that theirs was a course of self-destruction. They earned their reward! Then, when the whole of humanity who ever lived, “small and great” (for those living before the flood were of much greater stature) see with clarity, the workings of the Spirit of God and the spirit of Satan, they acknowledge the sovereignty and righteousness and wisdom of God.

I have sworn by myself, the word is gone out of my mouth in righteousness, and shall not return, That unto me every knee shall bow, every tongue shall swear. Surely, shall one say, in the LORD have I righteousness and strength: even to him shall men come; and all that are incensed against him shall be ashamed. (Isaiah 45:23-24)

The wicked would be entirely out of place in heaven and they are ashamed of their choice. While the righteous loved the truth and would give their eternal lives before violating God’s law, the wicked would rather forfeit their eternal lives than live in harmony with that Law! They were strangely enraptured with the things of earth and gave up their place in heaven.

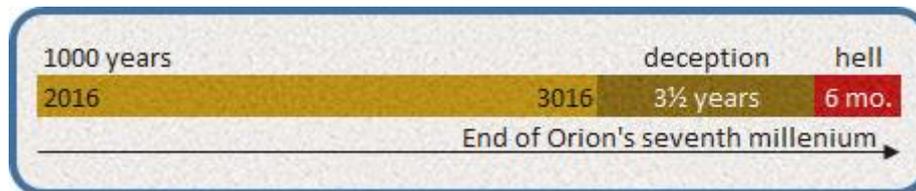

It is now evident to all that the wages of sin is not noble independence and eternal life, but slavery, ruin, and death. The wicked see what they have forfeited by their life of rebellion. The far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory was despised when offered them; but how desirable it now appears. “All this,” cries the lost soul, “I might have had; but I chose to put these things far from me. Oh, strange infatuation! I have exchanged peace, happiness, and honor for wretchedness, infamy, and despair.” All see that their exclusion from heaven is just. By their lives they have declared: “We will not have this Man [Jesus] to reign over us.” {GC 668.3}^[36]

After this acknowledgement, the last word goes to God, who sends fire from heaven to devour sin and sinners, and then the sin-decontamination zone of the Universe is re-created, having been thoroughly cleansed from sin, now with greater splendor than at the beginning.

And I saw a new heaven and a new earth: for the first heaven and the first earth were passed away; and there was no more sea. (Revelation 21:1)

The Lake of Fire

Notice that Satan's thousand-year imprisonment begins in the autumn of this year, 2016. That means that it continues until the autumn of 3016, exactly four years before the Orion timeline of 7056 years comes to the end of its millennial rest day in the autumn of 3020. That allows for the three and a half years of Satan's "little season" of deceiving the nations after the resurrection of the wicked in 3016, followed by six months given for punishment in the lake of fire and the re-creation of heaven and earth.

Many times, our concepts of religious subjects develop more from cultural influence rather than biblical instruction. The doctrine of an eternally burning hell is one of them. It is true that the Bible uses the term "tormented day and night for ever and ever,"^[37] but we must also realize that the term is often used in reference to an unspecified length of time, much as we use the expression in modern speech: "Oh, it took me forever to finish that project!" And when we couple that with the understanding of death being the absence of life, rather than the entrance into the spirit world, then we can understand verses like these:

And death and hell were cast into the lake of fire. This is the second death. (Revelation 20:14)

There comes an end to death as well as hell. The lake of fire may not be forcibly quenched, but it does not burn forever. It is called the second (as in, "final") death. Even death dies! That is, it ceases to exist! Hell is in the same category. If you think about religious subjects with a scientific approach, you are forced to recognize that in order to have fire, there must be something to burn, and as it burns, it gets consumed! The only fire in Scripture that burns without being consumed is God!^[38] But the fires of hell, while they are kindled by God, are not His presence, and they burn only so long as they have fuel. Once the sin-laden planet and the people thereon are burned up, the fire will go out. The more guilt of sin one is burdened with, the more fuel their fire will have, and they will burn longer. The devil, who will also be cast into the lake of fire, rather than being in charge of it, as some fanciful ideas suggest, will burn the longest, but even he will ultimately be reduced to ashes:

For, behold, the day cometh, that shall burn as an oven; and all the proud, yea, and all that do wickedly, shall be stubble: and the day that cometh shall burn them up, saith the LORD of hosts, that it shall leave them neither root [the instigator: Satan] nor branch [the sinner]... And ye shall tread down the wicked; for they shall be ashes under the soles of your feet in the day that I shall do this, saith the LORD of hosts. (Malachi 4:1, 3)

Deceiver of the Nations

The little season during which the devil is loosed begs for a symmetrical counterpart before the thousand years! Indeed, there are also four years on this side just before the thousand years begin. And this is where it gets interesting! Just as Jesus' ministry was divided, with the first half done by Jesus, and the second half done by the Holy Spirit in our day, so is Satan's "ministry" of deception divided. We saw the little season at the end, but there must be another three and a half years when he is deceiving the nations in our day to compliment and complete it!

Do you see Satan on the earth deceiving the world now? If you haven't read our articles on the subject, hold on to your seat, because you might be surprised! Indeed, the Angel of Light is here, walking the earth, and has been here since the spring of 2013 in the body of Pope Francis—three and a half years before the autumn of 2016, when the millennium begins—in perfect chiastic symmetry with the other side of the millennium.

But what does this mean? What is the storyline? To answer, let's start at the roots. Abraham was given a promise from God. He was promised an uncountable number of descendants—like the sand of the sea or the stars of heaven in number! The promised Redeemer—the hope of all the earth—was to come through his seed. After many generations, the time came for the Desire of all nations^[39] to enter into His public ministry to the seed of Abraham, but they refused Him. Jesus was the gift of the Father, therefore, in their rejection of Jesus, they rejected the Father and became as the heathen, who never knew the God of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob!

A very small remnant of the Jews—the twelve apostles—are the ones whom Jesus used to establish His spiritual kingdom. Revelation describes the foundations of the city of God as having the names of the twelve apostles in them.^[40] But even Christianity became corrupt and fell away from their first love, allowing apostasy to grow in their midst. Ultimately, they lost many of the truths that the apostles may have taken for granted! Therefore, Jesus sent many reformers, among whom, Martin Luther was one of the most well-known, to bring the church back to the uncompromised truths of God. At each stage along the reformation timeline, those who accepted the reforms came closer and closer to the law that is the foundation of God's government. They were growing up into the fullness of Christ's stature.

The final stage of the Reformation was the acceptance of God's Sabbath—the day that bears the impress of His seal. It was a special gift from the Lord, and those who loved Him with all their heart, cherished it and learned to appreciate it for the blessing that it is. It is, after all, the Lord's day—"the Sabbath of the Lord thy God!"^[41] When the church refused the Sabbath, they refused Jesus, and joined the ranks of the heathen and the Jews, who never knew the Lord!

Only a very small remnant of Christianity—some twelve young people—were the ones to whom this blessed truth was revealed in their study (because they remained faithful to God, despite the trials and disappointments they went through), and with their efforts, their numbers grew until they established the Seventh-day Adventist Church. The process of maturing God's people was not yet complete, however. There was a repetition of the history of the Christian church, complete with the loss of their first love, compromise, and eventually, total apostasy. In its last moments (since 2010), the Holy Spirit sent a precious gift in this message, but as was the case before, the body to whom it was given, rejected it. By rejecting the Orion message, they rejected the Holy Spirit who gave it, and classed themselves with the heathen, Jews, and apostate Christians, who never knew the Holy Spirit!

Wherefore I say unto you, All manner of sin and blasphemy shall be forgiven unto men: but the blasphemy against the Holy Ghost shall not be forgiven unto men. (Matthew 12:31)

The word translated “blasphemy” means “vilification.”^[42] That is exactly what the people have done. They have vilified the Holy Spirit, saying His message is from the devil! Forgiveness was still available for the Jews who rejected the Father’s gift of His Son, if they repented, and forgiveness was still available for the Christians who rejected Jesus’ gift of the Sabbath, if they repented, but the gift of the Holy Spirit heralds the close of the door of mercy, so there can be no forgiveness if it is rejected!

Have you questioned what it means that the pope would open the door of mercy at a time, when according to God’s clock, mercy has ended? Even many Catholics are questioning whether Pope Francis is really the Vicar of Christ! God’s Timekeepers tell the story that settles the question!

Imagine the sadness of the Godhead, when for the third time, They were rejected by the majority of those who professed to love Them! When the Seventh-day Adventist Church spurned its last moments of grace and continued in its rebellious course, the darkness over the earth became universal. The Orion message, which they rejected, pointed to the autumn of 2012 as the end of the judgment of the dead, and on the very day of its end, the Seventh-day Adventist Church, in official capacity,^[43] mocked the Sabbath upon which it was built. They denied not only the gift of the Holy Spirit, but that of the Son as well, all the while, keeping the form of the Sabbath. No official organization exists today that represents the Lord. All are subservient to the UN, which operates according to the devil’s principles. The 144,000 churchless ones, beginning with twelve who were faithful to the Adventist message and received the light of Orion, stand individually as His representatives.

There is much more that could be said about that sad day, but it represents the rejection of everything that God wanted to give to them. By thus rejecting God, they allowed Satan to take control of the church, and having conquered the last resistance, the way was cleared for him to ascend the throne. This, he did the following spring, when the first Jesuit pope took office and began his three-and-a-half-year revolution of deception. Have you been deceived as well? So many do not even realize how they are united with a false system of worship. Even if you are not a Catholic and feel distanced from the pope, the church to which you belong has drunk of his wine and will receive judgment. Now is the time to cleanly separate from every form of organized religion! Rather, worship at home with your like-minded friends!^[44]

After the thousand years, when the dead receive the gift of life from Christ and are resurrected, the deception continues unabated for another three and a half years before it falls apart in the light of God’s glory. When the last bastion of God’s truth at last rejected Him, it unknowingly embraced death, and after Satan’s reign of deception, that reality becomes clear to them. It is then that they finally reject the devil’s rule. Oh, stubborn and rebellious souls! Only the blazing eye of the King of kings compels them to acknowledge their guilt and the supremacy of God’s law! How much effort has been expended on them to open their eyes while there was opportunity? But they would not see. They preferred darkness to light, and after gazing into the face of their Judge, bright with infinite love, they turn away, unable to endure the sight any longer. Then, they knowingly embrace death, for they cannot endure the everlasting burnings of God.

Notwithstanding that Satan has been constrained to acknowledge God's justice and to bow to the supremacy of Christ, his character remains unchanged. The spirit of rebellion, like a mighty torrent, again bursts forth. Filled with frenzy, he determines not to yield the great controversy. The time has come for a last desperate struggle against the King of heaven. He rushes into the midst of his subjects and endeavors to inspire them with his own fury and arouse them to instant battle. But of all the countless millions whom he has allured into rebellion, there are none now to acknowledge his supremacy. His power is at an end. The wicked are filled with the same hatred of God that inspires Satan; but they see that their case is hopeless, that they cannot prevail against Jehovah. Their rage is kindled against Satan and those who have been his agents in deception, and with the fury of demons they turn upon them. {GC 671.2}^[45]

At that time, in the closing moments of the great day of the Lord, the consuming fire does His cleansing work, bringing the fateful decision of earth in 2012 to its full realization.

The sinners in Zion are afraid; fearfulness hath surprised the hypocrites. Who among us shall dwell with the devouring fire? who among us shall dwell with everlasting burnings? He that walketh righteously, and speaketh uprightly; he that despiseth the gain of oppressions, that shaketh his hands from holding of bribes, that stoppeth his ears from hearing of blood, and shutteth his eyes from seeing evil; (Isaiah 33:14-15)

On the larger scale, we see that the entire 7000-years of the devil's timeline (which was cut short) falls within the larger 7056-year timeline of Orion and God's movements. At first, the devil had a 66-year-and-6-month lead over God, but because the time was shortened, his lead disappeared, and as the deception of sin becomes fully revealed during the seventh millennium, in the end, God's timekeepers have the last word.

It is at the end of the Orion millennial Sabbath, in 3020, when the Universe will at last be healed from the sickness of sin, pulsing with the 144,000 antibodies, who share their story of how Jesus gave them victory in the worst of circumstances. Every question about the benevolence of God's law is dispelled in the light of the marks in Jesus' hands and feet and His human form, as it is explained how He gave His life because of the tiniest deviation from that holy law. All can see that the power of Jesus to save was sufficient to completely restore lost humanity, and all who desired that restoration received it. There remains no question as to the righteousness and perfection of the law, and they offer their praise in lines of sweet melody. The health of the Universe will thereby be maintained, nevermore to be attacked by the virus of sin again.

The great controversy is ended. Sin and sinners are no more. The entire universe is clean. One pulse of harmony and gladness beats through the vast creation. From Him who created all, flow life and light and gladness, throughout the realms of illimitable space. From the minutest atom to the greatest world, all things, animate and inanimate, in their unshadowed beauty and perfect joy, declare that God is love. {GC 678.3}^[46]

An Open Door

The Bible indicates that the 144,000 have all already been sealed with the seal of the Living God. The cleansing of sanctification and character growth continues forever, but they have the Holy Spirit, and He upholds them to keep them from that which they hate: sin. But there is more that God has for them than simply to be sealed. He also wants to make them like a signet, as we saw before.

To the church of Philadelphia, Jesus gave no rebuke, but encouraged them to remain faithful, not letting anyone take their crown (by luring them into sin), and He promises to preserve them from the “hour of temptation.” They must, therefore, represent the 144,000 and all who are faithful to God’s law, who will be kept from, or preserved through that hour. With the wise man, God says,

Keep my commandments, and live; and my law as the apple of thine eye. (Proverbs 7:2)

Because despite their disadvantages being the weakest generation, they have gained the victory over sin (which is transgression of God’s law^[47]), as represented by their crown, they are blessed with life and have the seal of the Living God. Jesus presented to them an open door,^[48] whereby they may become like a signet.

I know thy works: behold, I have set before thee an open door, and no man can shut it: for thou hast [only] a little strength, and [yet] hast kept my word, and hast not denied my name. (Revelation 3:8)

The psalmist sang about this door, or gate, and those who would enter through it:

The right hand of the LORD is exalted: the right hand of the LORD doeth valiantly. I shall not die, but live, and declare the works of the LORD. The LORD hath chastened me sore: but he hath not given me over unto death. Open to me the gates of righteousness: I will go into them, and I will praise the LORD: This gate of the LORD, into which the righteous shall enter. I will praise thee: for thou hast heard me, and art become my salvation. The stone which the builders refused is become the head stone of the corner. This is the LORD’S doing; it is marvellous in our eyes. (Psalm 118:16–23)

This inspired song is filled with allusions to the 144,000! They have been severely chastened, but cleansed and not given to death, and David sings of the hope they have of entering through that gate—the door that Jesus opens for the church of Philadelphia, which no man can close. He gives us an important clue regarding it, by saying that the stone which the builders rejected has become the chief cornerstone. Jesus quoted from this passage and applied the rejected stone to Himself.

In Orion, this prophecy finds a repeat fulfillment, and the stone is still Jesus Christ. It is He, whom the clocks are centered and focused on. It is He, whose character is highlighted in the starry lesson book through comparison and contrast. It is His body and blood that are represented in Orion and the High Sabbath List. He is the door of Orion.

As the stone was rejected by the builders, so it is today—this message with its unwelcome time-setting and unpleasant revelations of personal character flaws, is not the choice stone upon which the pastors and church elders would choose to build the symbolic temple of the 144,000! They rejected it, mostly without more than a cursory glance, but now, in the end of the world, Jesus in Orion is revealed as the cornerstone of God's choosing.

And why does Jesus present this door for us? If we consider what Orion says about God, it will give us a clue. One thing stands out very clearly: From the beginning of Creation, when God placed the stars of Orion, He foreknew the path that history would take, for many key moments and periods are marked there and described in the inspired commentary of Scripture.

Remember the former things of old: for I am God, and there is none else; I am God, and there is none like me, Declaring the end from the beginning, and from ancient times the things that are not yet done, saying, My counsel shall stand, and I will do all my pleasure: (Isaiah 46:9-10)

God uses this quality of knowing the end from the beginning as a mark of His authority! He distinguishes Himself from all other contenders for the throne by His ability to prophesy with accuracy. This characteristic is epitomized in the Orion message, which is effectively a declaration of the end (of the world) from the beginning (of Creation)! It is the Father's authority that Jesus presents through the open door of Orion to those of the church of Philadelphia who would believe before the evidence mounted! Orion reveals the authority inherent in God's signet ring. Therefore, the 144,000 who belong to Philadelphia, must come through that open door to receive God's authority before they may serve as His signet, sealing the children of His kingdom according to His good pleasure. This is what the sign of the discovery of Hezekiah's seal impression on the blessing date points to. He has given us the blessing of His authority to seal His people!

In the war between Christ and Satan, we must understand that Satan is a copycat. He sees God's example, and devises something similar to suit his own purposes. Just as the open door in Orion teaches us about God, so the devil has his own open door by which he deceives the people into believing a lie about God. On December 8, 2015, Pope Francis set an open door of mercy before the people. It sounds good—after all, the same Psalm quoted above begins with thanksgiving that the Lord's "mercy endureth for ever",^[49] but although

God is merciful, it is not always for everyone! There was a time for mercy toward the sinner, but that time has passed, contrary to what the pope says.

Not only does he copy the open door, but also the seal of authority written on those who enter! He seeks to imitate God's ability to declare the end from the beginning, by making his own predictions, based on what he knows from what God has already revealed! He gets his information second-hand, but presents it as though it were his own prediction!

Him that overcometh will I make a pillar in the temple of my God, and he shall go no more out: and I will write upon him the name of my God, and the name of the city of my God, which is new Jerusalem, which cometh down out of heaven from my God: and I will write upon him my new name. (Revelation 3:12)

This seal can only be properly understood through the knowledge of Orion. There is a great depth of meaning in this seal (which we would like to study with those who love the Truth of this message, and have familiarized themselves with it), and we received that understanding on January 12, 2013. Exactly 3 years later to the day, Pope Francis released his new book: The Name of God is Mercy!^[50] It is no coincidence that his book about what he considers is a key mark of God's identity^[51] is released on the very anniversary of the day when God revealed the true mark of His identity, appropriate for this time!

When one understands that this Jesuit pope is not Jorge Bergoglio, but that this man surrendered himself completely to become as a corpse,^[52] fully in control of Satan, we can begin to comprehend the significance of his words. We can understand why the devil wants people to believe it is a time of mercy, because he knows that any sin that is committed now cannot be forgiven by God, because Jesus is no longer interceding on man's behalf. The devil is on a mission of destruction, and the vast majority of the people don't even realize they're in danger! Oh, how my heart yearns for them—God's little children, oblivious to the dangers around them! Thus, many will be laid to rest as a measure of protection in the coming months, and those whose mind is sealed with the seal of the Living God, having a deep desire to live without sin, are granted the Holy Spirit, who upholds them, lest they fall:

Fear thou not; for I am with thee: be not dismayed; for I am thy God: I will strengthen thee; yea, I will help thee; yea, I will uphold thee with the right hand of my righteousness... For I the LORD thy God will hold thy right hand, saying unto thee, Fear not; I will help thee. (Isaiah 41:10, 13)

The belief that God's timeless identity is mercy, is the devil's counterfeit to the seal of Philadelphia, which through Orion, reveals His true universal identity. But that is not in harmony with the time of the end of the world, when God pours out His wrath unmixed!^[53] There was a time for mercy, but now is the time for wrath. God's mercy does not endure forever toward the sinner, but only toward those who fear Him!

But the mercy of the LORD is from everlasting to everlasting upon them that fear him, (Psalm 103:17)

The church of brotherly love (Philadelphia) reflects the image of Christ, and they hear His voice from heaven, and are to be sealed with that understanding. They meet the requirements, and now they must be gathered through the open door that Jesus presents to them. In the next article, brother Gerhard will share exactly when that gathering time will arrive, when the sheep from other folds will hear His voice and be brought out of Babylon, ultimately through the open door that He presents to them in Orion.

And other sheep I have, which are not of this fold: them also I must bring, and they shall hear my voice; and there shall be one fold, and one shepherd. (John 10:16)

Blessed Are Those Who Hear

In the Orion message, we eat Jesus, the manna from heaven—the food that “endureth unto everlasting life,” as Jesus said:

Labour not for the meat which perisheth, but for that meat which endureth unto everlasting life, which the Son of man shall give unto you: for him hath God the Father sealed. (John 6:27)

The gift of the Holy Spirit, which Jesus promised, has never been so generously poured out as in this message—this food that endureth unto everlasting life! The entire Godhead is behind this message, for it comes as the Latter Rain refreshing of the Holy Spirit and it is the revelation of Jesus Christ, upon whom the Father, Himself, has placed His seal of authority!

The Revelation of Jesus Christ, which God gave unto him, to shew unto his servants things which must shortly come to pass; and he sent and signified it by his angel [the Holy Spirit] unto his servant John:... Blessed is he that readeth, and they that hear the words of this prophecy, and keep those things which are written therein: for the time is at hand. (Revelation 1:1,3)

Do you hear the words of the revelation of Jesus Christ from heaven? Or do you hear only thunder, as those who could not hear the voice of God from heaven in affirmation of His Son, who was troubled as He contemplated what He must do:

Now is my soul troubled; and what shall I say? Father, save me from this hour: but for this cause came I unto this hour. Father, glorify thy name. Then came there a voice from heaven, saying, I have both glorified it, and will glorify it again. The people therefore, that stood by, and heard it, said that it thundered: others said, An angel spake to him. (John 12:27-29)

The 144,000 have a similar experience as they are brought to realization that their eternal lives may be required, but they settle it that their own self-interest is not important, but only that the Father’s name be glorified! The Father did not directly glorify His own name. Rather, He glorified His Son, who in turn, glorified Him.

These words spake Jesus, and lifted up his eyes to heaven, and said, Father, the hour is come; glorify thy Son, that thy Son also may glorify thee: (John 17:1)

And He continues, explaining what glory He referred to:

*And now, O Father, glorify thou me with thine own self with the glory which I had with thee before the world was. (John 17:5)

*For I have given unto them the words which thou gavest me; and they have received [heard] them, and have known surely that I came out from thee, and they have believed that thou didst send me. (John 17:8)

*And all mine are thine, and thine are mine; and I am glorified in them. (John 17:10)

*And the glory which thou gavest me I have given them; that they may be one, even as we are one: I in them, and thou in me, that they may be made perfect in one; and that the world may know that thou hast sent me, and hast loved them, as thou hast loved me. (John 17:22-23)

Oh, dear reader, we can discern but a faint glimmer of what these precious words mean! How can we comprehend the extent of what it means to be one with divinity and even to sit with Him on His throne?![54] Have you heard the words of the revelation of Jesus Christ in Orion, which the Father gave to Him, who gave them to the Holy Spirit, who gave them to us? Have you received the promise of this indescribably wonderful blessing? Have you known surely that this message comes from the Father and believe that it is Jesus, whom He sent thereby? The world will soon recognize that this is the chief cornerstone, as they learn that the Father loves us as He has loved His own Son!

Behold, I will make them of the synagogue of Satan, which say they are Jews, and are not, but do lie; behold, I will make them to come and worship before thy feet, and to know that I have loved thee. (Revelation 3:9)

This, dear reader—the blessing that the Father would be in us through Christ—is a permanent gift to those of this generation, who enter heaven through the open door in Orion!

For since the beginning of the world men have not heard, nor perceived by the ear, neither hath the eye seen, O God, beside thee, what he hath prepared for him that waiteth for him. (Isaiah 64:4)

Blessed is he that waiteth, and cometh to the thousand three hundred and five and thirty days. (Daniel 12:12)*

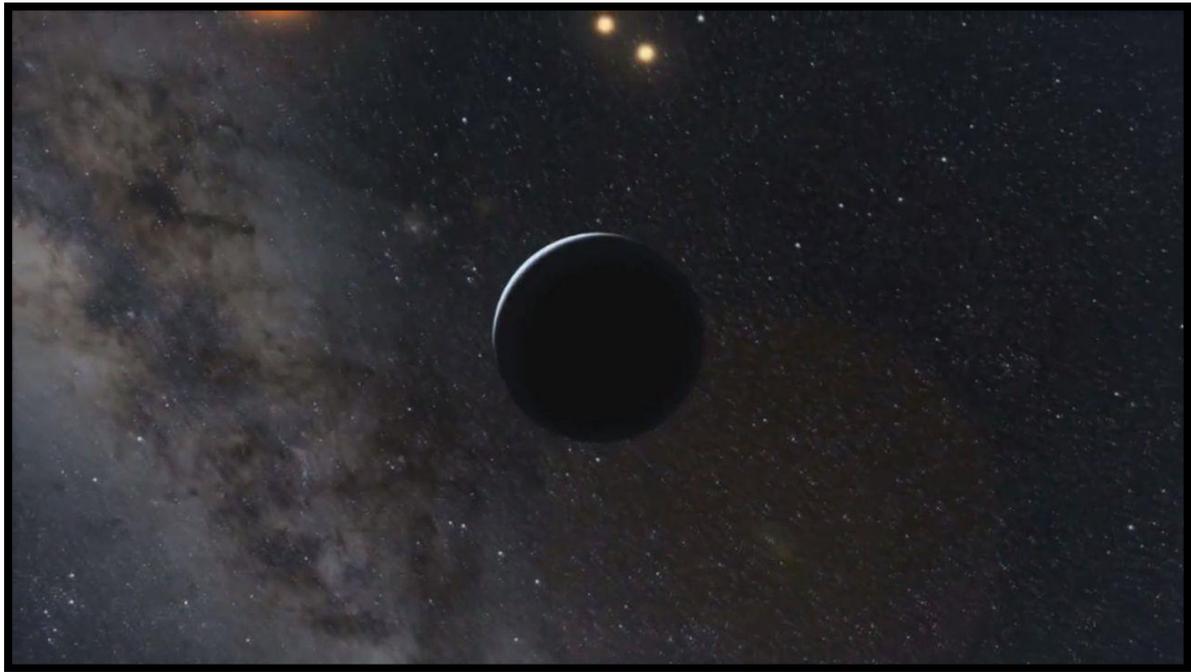

For several years, Jesus pled with the inhabitants of the world through this ministry:

Behold, I stand at the door, and knock: if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him, and he with me. To him that overcometh will I grant to sit with me in my throne, even as I also overcame, and am set down with my Father in his throne. (Revelation 3:20-21)

Sadly, so very few heard His voice from Orion and opened the door while He knocked. Now there is silence at the door for those who ignored His plea. He has left them desolate of the divine presence. His Spirit no longer strives with them, which is becoming more and more noticeable as the image of God, which characterized man from his Creation, is being effaced as completely as possible in every aspect of life.

The Reality of Heaven

Many people have a bogus concept of heaven. They think of a place where people go to sit on a white cloud playing a harp. I don't know about you, but that sounds pretty boring in my opinion! But that is a concept that thankfully has no root in Scripture! Rather, the Bible and Creation itself gives a much more inspiring view of heaven. Throughout the ages, the starry skies have been a source of awe and wonder for millions. It virtually demands your imagination! What would it be like to travel through space faster than the speed of light (because light-speed is positively too slow to be a practical speed limit for intergalactic travel!)? Or what would the sunset look like on an Earth-like planet with rings like Saturn and multiple moons? Or just imagine cruising through the colorful clouds of a nebula! The vastness and grandeur of space offers an incredible amount to feast the imagination on! Let this little animation give you a little taste of the immense scale of God's Universe!^[55]

Video: The Detailed Universe

Does your imagination of heaven include scenes like these? Or do you think that Jesus will simply whisk us away in an instant, and poof, we're at the pearly gates? Don't you think Jesus might have some travel plans lined up? The reality is that He has even given us some details about the itinerary! You'll discover that in the last article of this series. Or what of the pearly gates? Have you spent time thinking about your home in the New Jerusalem, or the place Jesus prepared for you? The Bible gives a little bit of information to wrap your imagination around:

And the building of the wall of it was of jasper: and the city was pure gold, like unto clear glass. And the foundations of the wall of the city were garnished with all manner of precious stones... And the twelve gates were twelve pearls; every several gate was of one pearl: and the street of the city was pure gold, as it were transparent glass. (Revelation 21:18-19, 21)

It sounds beautiful, doesn't it? God is a God of beauty. The city is full of beautiful gems and materials to pique any scientist's curiosity and inquiring mind. The sheer size of it is no small wonder, either, for it is nearly as big as a small planet, with a habitable surface probably considerably larger than that of multiple Earth-sized planets! Wouldn't you like to see its architecture? To see how the twelve foundations are situated? To sit by the stream that flows from the tree of life, enjoying the beauty, cleanliness, and pleasure of all aspects of it? It beats the white cloud and a harp, doesn't it?

Heaven is a real place, and it's big, spacious, and full of life, wonder, and love. But it might be something of a culture shock, coming from this sin-laden planet—the lost sheep of God's fold! Do you think that God will just wipe away our memories and make us new? God is not like that. While nothing defiling will enter heaven, the Bible speaks of a transition period:

And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes; and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain: for the former things are passed away. (Revelation 21:4)

There will be tears in heaven, as we realize that most of our friends and loved ones chose to keep their eyes fixed on earthly things and forfeit this blessing. But God will tenderly wipe away those tears, and then, after every life has been reviewed according to the heavenly records, the former things are passed away into oblivion.

As for humanity, not one of us is worthy of the least of that wonderful blessing. It is a gift to those who believe. The 144,000 desire to walk in the ways of God, living according to His law of liberty.^[56] They do this because that is the way they want to live, not for reward or from fear of punishment. Though it cost their eternal lives, it cannot change the way they live. They stand for God because they have His law written in their hearts—it is their adopted lifestyle, and nothing can separate them from it. They are citizens of heaven, even while on earth, and the character of heaven is written in their heart!

He that hath my commandments, and keepeth them, he it is that loveth me: and he that loveth me shall be loved of my Father, and I will love him, and will manifest myself to him. (John 14:21)

Do you love God and the Truth enough to give your life like Jesus did, even if it means no heaven for you? Do you see the bigger picture, and desire to stand for God in validation of salvation, so that others might experience heaven, even if it means you yourself will not? If so, Jesus presents to you the open door of Orion, and will make you as His signet.

The Lord has His secrets. When Hezekiah pressed his signet into that little blob of clay, he couldn't know how God would use that inscription of gratitude for his extended life. He couldn't know that twenty-seven centuries later, it would be used to point to the starry heavens and the message of the returning of our Savior! He just wanted to say, "Thank You, Lord!" And that is the reason I have desired to write this article. I want to say, "Thank You, Lord!"

Thank You for stepping down to this dark and filthy planet and humbling Yourself in every way until You hung naked on the cross, despising the shame. Thank You for the gift of life, which freed me from the bondage to sin! My only request has ever been best-expressed by David: "As for me, I will behold thy face in righteousness: I shall be satisfied, when I awake, with thy likeness."^[57] I did not ask for space travel or to have a high place in Your kingdom. I will be satisfied to have Your likeness and to see Your face! Beyond that, may our Father's name be glorified, whether through my life or death. Amen.

The Time of Harvest

Written by Gerhard Traweger

Most Christians know that the harvest of the faithful followers of God must come at the end of time. Jesus left behind some parables and hints in the Bible to help us properly understand the harvest. Many people wonder: Why do the wicked prosper? Yes, they often fare much better than those who want to live in a way that is pleasing to God. There must eventually come a separation between the wheat and the tares, which is NOW, because we are in the time when God shows His justice.

Do you think that you belong to the good wheat, or are you living from one party day to the next, regardless? Are you really sure that the door of mercy has not yet closed, or does your conscience prick you when you read on our website that the time of mercy is over? What if it really is over, notwithstanding that the anticipated major disasters have not yet struck?

Does this issue interest you at all, or do you just want to remain oblivious? Have the two previous articles about the events that have taken place and the significance of the discovery of the seal of King Hezekiah touched your heart? Were you happy with the blessing that was promised for the end of the 1335 days, or is it just a lot of hot air to you? Did you climb up the mountain of truth and understanding, which my friend and brother Robert wrote about, and did you decide to put the cup of selfless love to your lips as a result? Did it become real to you that we are already living in the final stage of a time which has already been shortened? I can well imagine that although you've read the articles of my two fellow authors, you still can't quite believe it. God revealed long ago that virtually no one would recognize the time after the closing of the door of mercy. Ellen White wrote:

When God's presence was finally withdrawn from the Jewish nation, priests and people knew it not. Though under the control of Satan, and swayed by the most horrible and malignant passions, they still regarded themselves as the chosen of God. The ministration in the temple continued; sacrifices were offered upon its polluted altars, and daily the divine blessing was invoked upon a people guilty of the blood of God's dear Son and seeking to slay His ministers and apostles. So when the irrevocable decision of the sanctuary has been pronounced and the destiny of the world has been forever fixed, the inhabitants of the earth will know it not. The forms of religion will be continued by a people from whom the Spirit of God has been finally withdrawn; and the satanic zeal with which the prince of evil will inspire them for the accomplishment of his malignant designs, will bear the semblance of zeal for God. {GC 615.1}

The recognition of the closing of the door of mercy is an act of FAITH. There was no literal door slamming shut with a great noise. It was an event in the heavenly sanctuary, and therefore faith is needed—a faith that is attentive to the open space in Orion, because that is where the voice of God comes from. That is the only place where we will find what we are looking for.

Or, is the reason for your indifference, that you think that God cannot be so cruel as to send such terrible plagues and judgments upon the world. But is it necessarily true that He is the one who causes the plagues, anyway?

A single angel destroyed all the first-born of the Egyptians and filled the land with mourning. When David offended against God by numbering the people, one angel caused that terrible destruction by which his sin was punished. The same destructive power exercised by holy angels when God commands, will be exercised by evil angels when He permits. There are forces now ready, and only waiting the divine permission, to spread desolation everywhere. {GC 614.2}

Because of your indecision, God has not allowed the plagues to be poured out in full measure, but He will permit it soon—even very soon. Satan, the fallen angels, and those who are in bondage to him will cause the impending disasters, but not God. It will all culminate in one last struggle in the battle of Armageddon. In fact, Jesus Himself and all His angels will literally fight against the army of evil. Do you want to know when that will take place? Then come, and continue reading what God has revealed.

Anyhow, before the full measure of destruction can be permitted to fall upon the world, the good wheat must be collected. There must be a little flock in this world who have received the affection of God. There must be those whom the Holy Spirit has already marked for moving in the right spiritual direction and for being pure of heart in God's eyes. And yet, we in our small group here in Paraguay still do not know them all, and we do not even know if we will ever know them by name until we meet them on the white cloud. It appears as if they still have not awakened from their slumber, but we know for sure that the 144,000 must already be sealed by the Holy Spirit because the door of mercy has been closed since October 17/18, 2015. However, there is another group of people in these last days who will in a special way give their testimony for their Father in heaven and His faultless character, which the moral law^[1] also depicts. This article is one of the last ones to address and awaken you—the rest of the multitude which no man could number—so you might recognize the glory of the Lord in faith.

The Great Divisive Message

Before we go into the topic of the harvest, we need to deal with the groups that are involved. They are playing their role in the final act on the world stage in these last days of earth's history (after the end of mercy), observed by the entire universe.^[2] This article is closely linked to my other article, Two Armies, and I would wholeheartedly recommend for you to refresh your memory on it before you continue to study this article. They belong together.

In the previous two articles of this series, my two friends presented the meaning of life in a loving and moving way, which the righteous should recognize here at the end of the world. By contrast, my article will show quite clearly how sharp a two-edged sword can be—and it definitely is. God is not only Mercy but also Justice, and He does not leave us guessing as to what it means to Him.

And he had in his right hand seven stars: and out of his mouth went a sharp twoedged sword: and his countenance was as the sun shineth in his strength. (Revelation 1:16)

Repent; or else I will come unto thee quickly, and will fight against them with the sword of my mouth. (Revelation 2:16)

And he was clothed with a vesture dipped in blood: and his name is called The Word of God. And the armies which were in heaven followed him upon white horses, clothed in fine linen, white and clean. And out of his mouth goeth a sharp sword, that with it he should smite the nations: and he shall rule them with a rod of iron: and he treadeth the winepress of the fierceness and wrath of Almighty God. (Revelation 19:13-15)

And the remnant were slain with the sword of him that sat upon the horse, which sword proceeded out of his mouth: and all the fowls were filled with their flesh. (Revelation 19:21)

Have you noticed that these are all quotations from the book of the Revelation of Jesus Christ? The first two have often been used in our articles. They are at the beginning of the Revelation and are a warning in a sense, and therefore they relate to the period before the end of grace. The last two verses, however, show Jesus Christ with a robe dipped in blood. They deal with the wrath of God and the killing of the “remnant,” so they clearly refer to the time of plagues. Therefore, we must ask, who is that “remnant” that is mentioned? We will come back to that soon.

Of course there is no literal two-edged sword coming out of Jesus’ mouth. It is a symbol in one of the most important prophetic books of the Bible, and therefore it needs to be interpreted. The Bible itself tells us what it means:

Stand therefore, having your loins girt about with truth, and having on the breastplate of righteousness; And your feet shod with the preparation of the gospel of peace; Above all, taking the shield of faith, wherewith ye shall be able to quench all the fiery darts of the wicked. And take the helmet of salvation, and the sword of the Spirit, which is the word of God: Praying always with all prayer and supplication in the Spirit, and watching thereunto with all perseverance and supplication for all saints; (Ephesians 6:14-18)

For the word of God is quick, and powerful, and sharper than any twoedged sword, piercing even to the dividing asunder of soul and spirit, and of the joints and marrow, and is a discerner of the thoughts and intents of the heart. Neither is there any creature that is not manifest in his sight: but all things are naked and opened unto the eyes of him with whom we have to do. (Hebrews 4:12-13)

That is clear! Who, after reading those verses, would still deny that the Word of God clearly challenges you to make a decision, a separation (dividing asunder), and that everything will ultimately come to light, and nothing will remain hidden? Anyone who would deny that, has been forsaken by the Spirit of God, and that in itself is already an indication that he could possibly belong to the aforementioned “remnant” who will be slain.

I will repeatedly mention in this article that the investigative judgment of the dead and living has been completed, and each case has been decided before the Great Judge in the great heavenly Day of Atonement. The question for you personally is, how were your “thoughts and intents of the heart,” as the Bible verse expresses!? God’s Word was the guiding principle in that judgment! Did you recognize His voice and discover His seal in our articles?

We tried again and again on our website, by our articles, through our World News, through newsletters, Facebook posts, and in many private messages to point out the abominations of this time and the variety of unclean things^[3] that should not be touched^[4] but have found their way into the churches and the world.

Think not that I am come to send peace on earth: I came not to send peace, but a sword. For I am come to set a man at variance against his father, and the daughter against her mother, and the daughter in law against her mother in law. And a man’s foes shall be they of his own household. He that loveth father or mother more than me is not worthy of me: and he that loveth son or daughter more than me is not worthy of me. And he that taketh not his cross, and followeth after me, is not worthy of me. He that findeth his life shall lose it: and he that loseth his life for my sake shall find it. (Matthew 10:34-39)

Were you able to distance yourself from all the bad, even if it meant problems in your family, or did you succumb? Did you use the time of preparation, or are you still in Babylon? Can you drink from the cup of Jesus, which Brother Robert wrote about, and take up your cross as a true

Christian? That will determine if you can and will still continue on the path of sanctification, or whether you will suffer what God has in store for the unjust, and what we—my friend John and I—unfortunately have to present to you in our two articles.

Why do I quote those verses and bring them back to your mind? Because I want to be clear and show you once more that the time of seeing through rose-tinted glasses is long gone. Now it is important to clearly show who is really following the advice of Jesus, by having already separated. Now it is important to identify which actors are on which side of the world scene and which banner they are waving. Ellen White was shown the terrible spiritual battle that raged until the door of mercy closed. Read carefully:

In vision I saw two armies in terrible conflict. One army was led by banners bearing the world's insignia; the other was led by the bloodstained banner of Prince Immanuel. Standard after standard was left to trail in the dust as company after company from the Lord's army joined the foe and tribe after tribe from the ranks of the enemy united with the commandment-keeping people of God. An angel flying in the midst of heaven put the standard of Immanuel into many hands, while a mighty general cried out with a loud voice: "Come into line. Let those who are loyal to the commandments of God and the testimony of Christ now take their position. Come out from among them, and be ye separate, and touch not the unclean, and I will receive you, and will be a Father unto you, and ye shall be My sons and daughters. Let all who will come up to the help of the Lord, to the help of the Lord against the mighty."

The battle raged. Victory alternated from side to side. Now the soldiers of the cross gave way, "as when a standardbearer fainteth." Isaiah 10:18. But their apparent retreat was but to gain a more advantageous position. Shouts of joy were heard. A song of praise to God went up, and angel voices united in the song, as Christ's soldiers planted His banner on the walls of fortresses till then held by the enemy. The Captain of our salvation was ordering the battle and sending support to His soldiers. His power was mightily displayed, encouraging them to press the battle to the gates. He taught them terrible things in righteousness as He led them on step by step, conquering and to conquer.

At last the victory was gained. The army following the banner with the inscription, "The commandments of God, and the faith of Jesus," was gloriously triumphant. The soldiers of Christ were close beside the gates of the city, and with joy the city received her King. The kingdom of peace and joy and everlasting righteousness was established.

Now the church is militant. Now we are confronted with a world in midnight darkness, almost wholly given over to idolatry. But the day is coming in which the battle will have been fought, the victory won. The will of God is to be done on earth, as it is done in heaven. Then the nations will own no other law than the law of heaven. All will be a happy, united family, clothed with the garments of praise and thanksgiving—the robe of Christ's righteousness. All nature, in its surpassing loveliness, will offer to God a constant tribute of praise and adoration. The world will be bathed in the light of heaven. The years will move on in gladness. The light of the moon will be as the light of the sun, and the light of the sun will be sevenfold greater than it is now. Over the scene the morning stars will sing together, and the sons of God will shout for joy, while God and Christ will unite in proclaiming: "There shall be no more sin, neither shall there be any more death."

This is the scene that is presented to me. But the church must and will fight against seen and unseen foes. Satan's agencies in human form are on the ground. Men have confederated to oppose the Lord of hosts. These confederacies will continue until Christ shall leave His place of intercession before the mercy seat and shall put on the garments of vengeance. Satanic agencies are in every city, busily organizing into parties those opposed to the law of God. Professed saints and avowed unbelievers take their stand with these parties. This is no time for the people of God to be weaklings. We cannot afford to be off our guard for one moment. {8T 41.1-42.2}

The messenger of the Lord had to watch the back-and-forth change of sides—how did it end? Did God’s judgment people, the Seventh-day Adventist Church, prove that they were not weaklings? Did they stand guard in the dark night without falling asleep? First let’s find out how the 144,000 are doing, who should have come from their ranks, because they play an important and prominent role in the last act. Besides the fact that there are differing opinions as to whether it is a literal^[5] or a symbolic number,^[6] there is even a notion that we are dealing with real unmarried female virgins.

And I looked, and, lo, a Lamb stood on the mount Sion, and with him an hundred forty and four thousand, having his Father’s name written in their foreheads. And I heard a voice from heaven, as the voice of many waters, and as the voice of a great thunder: and I heard the voice of harpers harping with their harps: And they sung as it were a new song before the throne, and before the four beasts, and the elders: and no man could learn that song but the hundred and forty and four thousand, which were redeemed from the earth. These are they which were not defiled with women; for they are virgins. These are they which follow the Lamb whithersoever he goeth. These were redeemed from among men, being the firstfruits unto God and to the Lamb. And in their mouth was found no guile: for they are without fault before the throne of God. (Revelation 14:1-5)

Since we are dealing with a prophetic vision here, we are confronted with symbols. We can be sure that we wouldn’t need to search for literal women, nor have to inquire about their virginity. The 144,000 are a symbol of God’s pure church, which is described as a pure woman in revelation 12. We already described the various symbolic attributes of the woman in The End of the Seventh-day Adventist Church article, and I won’t repeat that again here.

That they were not defiled with women means that this little company no longer belongs to any organization or church. That has probably been “overlooked” by most Adventists and believers in other Christian churches. No, the churches and their organizations do not save, as many wrongly assume. On the contrary, no one who wants to be among the 144,000 is allowed to belong to a church organization. At this point, we refer to the banner video for this article on our website, which is about precisely that. Enjoy it once more, and carefully think over the two different sets of lyrics.

I can imagine that for someone or another, that is the first shock in this article. I can already hear the outcry: “Am I now lost, or is there still a chance?”

Let’s keep thinking logically. If the 144,000 are not part of a church organization, which is clearly biblically supported, by when did they have to be removed from the books of their respective organizations? Was there a deadline? Yes, in the truest sense of the word. In all of the articles that we published in the time between the sixth trumpet of the trumpet cycle (July 8, 2015) and the end of mercy for humanity (October 17/18, 2015), we explicitly called for those last few weeks to be used to permanently leave the sinking churches of the General Conference organization. That was after we recognized that even God’s SDA church had become a part of Babylon, irreversibly. During that time, the call was also given specifically to the part of the 144,000 who were still in other Christian churches and denominations.

And after these things I saw four angels standing on the four corners of the earth, holding the four winds of the earth [picturing the time of plagues], that the wind should not blow on the earth, nor on the sea, nor on any tree. And I saw another angel ascending from the east, having the seal of the living God: and he cried with a loud voice to the four angels, to whom it was given to hurt the earth and the sea, Saying, Hurt not the earth, neither the sea, nor the trees, till we have sealed the servants of our God in their foreheads. (Revelation 7:1-3)

But when the door of mercy closed on the evening of October 17, 2015 according to the clocks of God, the process of releasing the four winds began. Thus the determined biblical time limit expired for sealing this small righteous group through the Holy Spirit. All of the 144,000 were already sealed on the evening of October 17, and that was only possible if they did not officially belong to any church organization.

Let us briefly examine the question of why they canceled their membership! It is not hard to find the answer. They were awake, they had an inexpressible desire for truth and therefore they recognized the corruptions that were creeping in everywhere. They sighed and cried^[7] and looked for solutions and answers. They took Jesus at His word and searched^[8] incessantly until they were led by the Holy Spirit to the message of God at www.lastcountdown.org. They saw all the transgressions of the church in the last 170 years displayed on the heavenly judgment clock of God. Sadly, only a handful of Adventists found the way out of the apostate SDA church, and even fewer actually went that way. However, God also showed some people from His other folds^[9] the way to our homepage, miraculously, and we know some of them personally.

God's ways are not always our ways and His thoughts are much higher than ours. The question has always been, where are the majority of the 144,000 who are already collected and sealed? We know just as little as Elijah, who also felt alone, but the 7000 who were faithful to God did exist, and they fulfilled their obligation. And what is the duty of the 144,000 in the time of plagues? Is their high calling only to stand without sin at a time when there is no intercessor, or will they actively help as harvest workers?

To answer this question fully, we must once again grapple with a very well-known passage in the Bible:

And after these things I saw another angel [the Holy Spirit in the latter rain] come down from heaven, having great power; and the earth was lightened with his glory. And he cried mightily with a strong voice, saying, Babylon the great is fallen, is fallen, and is become the habitation of devils, and the hold of every foul spirit, and a cage of every unclean and hateful bird. For all nations have drunk of the wine of the wrath of her fornication, and the kings of the earth have committed fornication with her, and the merchants of the earth are waxed rich through the abundance of her delicacies. And I heard another voice from heaven [Jesus or the Father Himself], saying, Come out of her, my people, that ye be not partakers of her sins, and that ye receive not of her plagues. For her sins have reached unto heaven, and God hath remembered her iniquities. Reward her even as she rewarded you, and double unto her double according to her works: in the cup which she hath filled fill to her double. (Revelation 18:1-6)

The work of the Holy Spirit in the latter rain is finished. The latter rain was poured out beginning in 2010 through the Orion message and it has done its work. The laborers for the last working hour of the day (the 144,000) were found through this message. They learned a particular song^[10] before the plagues, and they will sing it in the plagues too, as we shall see shortly!

Then another voice comes from heaven, which makes the call to leave all the churches of Babylon and to pour out the cup of vengeance on them. Without a doubt, this call comes in the time of plagues, and we need to think about who is making this call and to whom it is addressed.

Who does God refer to as "my people" in this text? Anyone who is allowed to make the journey to the Orion Nebula on the white cloud at the return of Christ is definitely one of God's people: the 144,000, the people from the special resurrection, and also the great multitude from the first resurrection. We just saw that the 144,000 completely left Babylon before the plagues, however, so this call can't apply to the 144,000. Thus, it is reasonable to assume that the 144,000 are the ones who make that call as the earthly representatives of the voice of God from heaven!

To underscore this, let's check when Babylon really fell. As you read, pay attention to the fact that the Fourth Angel's message of Revelation 18:1-3 is actually a repetition of the second angel's message of Revelation 14:

The second angel's message of Revelation 14 was first preached in the summer of 1844, and it then had a more direct application to the churches of the United States, where the warning of the judgment had been most widely proclaimed and most generally rejected, and where the declension in the churches had been most rapid. But the message of the second angel did not reach its complete fulfillment in 1844. The churches then experienced a moral fall, in consequence of their refusal of the light of the advent message; but that fall was not complete. As they have continued to reject the special truths for this time they have fallen lower and lower. Not yet, however, can it be said that "Babylon is fallen,... because she made all nations drink of the wine of the wrath of her fornication." She has not yet made all nations do this. The spirit of world conforming and indifference to the testing truths for our time exists and has been gaining ground in churches of the Protestant faith in all the countries of Christendom; and these churches are included in the solemn and terrible denunciation of the second angel. But the work of apostasy has not yet reached its culmination [in Ellen White's lifetime].

The Bible declares that before the coming of the Lord, Satan will work "with all power and signs and lying wonders, and with all deceivableness of unrighteousness;" and they that "received not the love of the truth, that they might be saved," will be left to receive "strong delusion, that they should believe a lie." 2 Thessalonians 2:9-11. Not until this condition shall be reached, and the union of the church with the world shall be fully accomplished throughout Christendom, will the fall of Babylon be complete. The change is a progressive one, and the perfect fulfillment of Revelation 14:8 is yet future. {GC 389.2-3}

From the quote we can clearly see that it is about the union of the churches with the world, and that all peoples or nations have drunk of the wine of Rome. Do I really have to remind you of the last few years and decades during which Rome reached out on all sides, offering her wine to all Christian denominations? You will hear a lot more about that in this article. The Lutherans were one of the first to fall to his flattery, and all the other Protestant and charismatic churches followed suit. Yes, even the Waldensians who were cruelly slaughtered by Rome in the Dark Ages were happy to kiss the hands of their former enemy! The purportedly faithful Adventist Church successfully played with fire and now also sits at the stake, which is ready to be kindled in the fire of the plagues. And the great mediator, "Pope" Francis, recently managed to unite all nations under him. We reported about all of that, and you can read it all over our website. We are therefore fully justified in saying that Babylon is completely fallen, because "the union of the church with the world" is "fully accomplished throughout Christendom."

Thus the second angel's message is completely fulfilled, and the time has come for the other call, or the new song, to sound "Come out of her!"

The call to the remnant of God's people who can still be called out of Babylon during the time of plagues must take place continuously in the coming months. The 144,000 who were sealed as the firstfruits to God will sound the loud cry. This article will reveal the exact time when it will be made with full strength. Please be patient with me until we come to it!

Let's summarize the groups of people who participate in the time of plagues, and whose side they are fighting on.

- The 144,000 who already left Babylon promptly before the end of mercy and were sealed. They are going through the time of plagues alive and are sounding the loud cry.
- Those who will still be called out from Babylon by the 144,000 during the time of plagues. They are part of the "righteous" that we had already found in the Two Armies article, in which we wrote the following about them:

It has been very difficult to harmonize this Bible verse with “only the 144,000” because we believed that they were the only ones who could come out of the great tribulation. Now we know better.

The many “righteous” have never, or only partially, heard the Fourth Angel’s message, and yet they will make up the majority of the saved in these last days. Thus, for them, time is never again to be a test, as Ellen White predicted. But it will be the test for belonging to the 144,000. Everyone who has come in contact with the Fourth Angel’s Message and rejected it has no affiliation with the 144,000, and has even committed the unpardonable sin against the Holy Spirit, too!

They will come out of Babylon and endure the persecution with the 144,000. They will thereby lose their physical lives, but they will be raised in the special resurrection and will experience the return of Jesus.

- Finally, we have the “remnant” of Revelation 19:21 whom Jesus will slay with His Word when He returns. They are fighting on Satan’s side. Unfortunately, this will be the biggest group. We will talk about their fate later.

Now only one question remains to be answered, namely, how will these “righteous” get called out? Some of you might get your next shock in answering this question when you realize what message the harvest comes through:

The message of the angel following the third is now to be given to all parts of the world. It is to be the harvest message, and the whole earth will be lighted with the glory of God.—Letter 86, 1900. {LDE 208.1}

Yes friends, there it is! After three comes four, right? It is the message of the Fourth Angel, which had been given first to Adventists since 2010 and is now, especially in the plague cycle, being given to all others who desire it. It will serve as the harvest message. The messages of the second and the third angels ended when the door of mercy closed and the time of plagues started. The light that we received afterward is included in this four-part article series. In fact, this series is what has been given for the time of harvest. It is the blessing which Brother Ray spoke of in his article.

The call to come out of Babylon, which only the 144,000 have followed so far, now gets even louder as it is given by the 144,000 to all Christians in the world who still haven’t heard anything about the Fourth Angel and His message. Of such ones, the “thoughts and intents of the heart” are in harmony with God, even though they are still in Babylon. My friend John will show in his article that the plagues are developing in an unexpected way, so everything will come to a head at a culminating point. Until then, there is still time to hastily leave Babylon so that you might escape what has already been decided.

I promised to show you how sharp the sword of God is. As sad as this may sound on one side, it is that enjoyable on the other: the 144,000 are found and sealed and none are missing. We do not know where they are, how God has led them, and the details of how He in His wisdom will use them now, but at the moment it is not important. We will know at the right time, if it is His will. Praise God!

Praise ye the LORD. Sing unto the LORD a new song, [the song of the 144,000] and his praise in the congregation of saints. Let Israel rejoice in him that made him: let the children of Zion be joyful in their King. [Jesus is crowned since the beginning of the plagues cycle!] Let them praise his name in the dance: let them sing praises unto him with the timbrel and harp. For the LORD taketh pleasure in his people: he will beautify the meek with salvation. Let the saints be joyful in glory: let them sing aloud upon their beds. Let the high praises of God be in their mouth, and a twoedged sword in their hand; To execute vengeance upon the heathen, and punishments upon the people; To bind their kings with chains, and their nobles with fetters of iron; To execute upon them the judgment written: this honour have all his saints. Praise ye the LORD. (Psalm 149:1-9)

That also means no one will be added to this small group of 144,000 anymore. That specific train has left the station, friends, especially for the SDA church which should have supplied the majority of the travelers on board and striven to be among the 144,000. But there is still hope, as explained before, for all those who genuinely didn't hear anything about the message of the Fourth Angel, and who didn't willingly reject it, but are now leaving Babylon knowing full well that it will cost them their earthly life. The inclination of their heart has God's approbation, and you will learn why in the next article.

For those who wake up when the literal fire from heaven comes over them and then still think they have a chance, we just have one more devastating quote from Ellen White, which hurts at least as deeply and painfully as the Bible verses that have already been quoted:

Then I saw Jesus lay off His priestly attire and clothe Himself with His most kingly robes. Upon His head were many crowns, a crown within a crown. Surrounded by the angelic host, He left heaven. The plagues were falling upon the inhabitants of the earth. Some were denouncing God and cursing Him. Others rushed to the people of God and begged to be taught how they might escape His judgments. But the saints had nothing for them. The last tear for sinners had been shed, the last agonizing prayer offered, the last burden borne, the last warning given. The sweet voice of mercy was no more to invite them. When the saints, and all heaven, were interested for their salvation, they had no interest for themselves. Life and death had been set before them. Many desired life, but made no effort to obtain it. They did not choose life, and now there was no atoning blood to cleanse the guilty, no compassionate Saviour to plead for them, and cry, "Spare, spare the sinner a little longer." All heaven had united with Jesus, as they heard the fearful words, "It is done. It is finished." The plan of salvation had been accomplished, but few had chosen to accept it. And as mercy's sweet voice died away, fear and horror seized the wicked. With terrible distinctness they heard the words, "Too late! too late!"

Those who had not prized God's Word were hurrying to and fro, wandering from sea to sea, and from the north to the east, to seek the Word of the Lord. Said the angel, "They shall not find it. There is a famine in the land; not a famine of bread, nor a thirst for water, but for hearing the words of the Lord. What would they not give for one word of approval from God! but no, they must hunger and thirst on. Day after day have they slighted salvation, prizing earthly riches and earthly pleasure higher than any heavenly treasure or inducement. They have rejected Jesus and despised His saints. The filthy must remain filthy forever."

Many of the wicked were greatly enraged as they suffered the effects of the plagues. It was a scene of fearful agony. Parents were bitterly reproaching their children, and children their parents, brothers their sisters, and sisters their brothers. Loud, wailing cries were heard in every direction, "It was you who kept me from receiving the truth which would have saved me from this awful hour." The people turned upon their ministers with bitter hate and reproached them, saying, "You have not warned us. You told us that all the world was to be converted, and cried, Peace, peace, to quiet every fear that was aroused. You have not told us of this hour; and those who warned us of it you declared to be fanatics and evil men, who would ruin us." But I saw that the ministers did not escape the wrath of God. Their suffering was tenfold greater than that of their people. {EW 281.1-282.1}

The Parable of the Wheat and the Tares

Now let us take a look at the well-known parable of the wheat and the tares, which Jesus presented to His disciples. Jesus explains in Matthew 13, starting from verse 24, that Satan scatters bad seed among the good seed, and in answer to the question of whether the workers should uproot the growing tares, Jesus gave the good advice to let them grow together until the time of harvest.

*Let both grow together until the harvest: and in the time of harvest

I will say to the reapers, Gather ye together first the tares, and bind them in bundles to burn them: but gather the wheat into my barn. (Matthew 13:30)

The disciples did not understand the Lord's parable immediately, so Jesus explained it again:

*Then Jesus sent the multitude away, and went into the house: and his disciples came unto him, saying, Declare unto us the parable of the tares of the field. He answered and said unto them, He that soweth the good seed is the Son of man; The field is the world; the good seed are the children of the kingdom; but the tares are the children of the wicked one; The enemy that sowed them is the devil; the harvest is the end of the world; and the reapers are the angels. As therefore the tares are gathered and burned in the fire; so shall it be in the end of this world. The Son of man shall send forth his angels, and they shall gather out of his kingdom all things that offend, and them which do iniquity; And shall cast them into a furnace of fire: there shall be wailing and gnashing of teeth. Then shall the righteous shine forth as the sun in the kingdom of their Father. Who hath ears to hear, let him hear. (Matthew 13:36-43)

We can think of it the way that we already tried to describe in the article, The Tears of God. There is one last final test for each person, which will turn out either positively or negatively (without mercy). And that test will start with the elders, then go further into His church and continue outward. Don't forget that, because we will find out later that the tares must first be gathered from God's church and must be tied in bundles before the good wheat can be harvested with a sickle. We will even find out at which point in time it will happen. Please keep in mind that the phrase "weeping and gnashing of teeth" is directly related to the harvest and the fire or furnace, which in turn is a picture of the destruction of the wicked before Jesus comes again. We will encounter that phrase a few more times. Wonderful insights are hidden behind it.

Ellen White substantiated the understanding that the wheat and tares are talking about people in God's (worldwide) church:

Christ's servants are grieved as they see true and false believers mingled in the church. They long to do something to cleanse the church. Like the servants of the householder, they are ready to uproot the tares. But Christ says to them, "Nay; lest while ye gather up the tares, ye root up also the wheat with them. Let both grow together until the harvest." {COL 71.2}

It should be noted that the long-awaited and hoped-for “cleansing of the church” does not in fact come to pass until mercy is no more. Please remember the sixth trumpet of the trumpet cycle, when we challenged the Seventh-day Adventist Church in conjunction with the whole Christian world to join us at Mount Carmel to see who God is really with. Did the fire already come down from heaven, and did God already fully execute the judgment of the wicked? No, but the cleansing process begins with the people showing whose side they are on, just as the priests of Baal sacrificed on their own altar and Elijah on another. The noisome and grievous sores of sin, described in the first plague, become visible and tangible. Everything comes to light! At the end of this article, you will have the horrible realization that what began in the sixth trumpet in the time of mercy will utterly break forth in the sixth plague without mercy.

Let’s take a brief look at the observation that Betelgeuse stands for conflict and separation in each cycle of the seven seals. We already explained in the Orion presentation that in 1914, the First World War began, and with it, a special test for God’s people: the question of whether we, as Christians, may participate in military service. With this question, God tested the loyalty of His people to the 6th commandment, “Thou shalt not kill.” Also, the Sabbath of the 4th commandment was made a test in a special way. It was clear that a soldier in military service would not be able to keep the Sabbath if this would conflict with the orders of his commanders. Ellen White was strictly against military service and stated so accordingly.

Because of these conflicts, the church was divided. Those who wanted to be faithful to their God, in spite of the perils of jail or death by their compatriots, were betrayed by their own brothers and sisters who chose to obey the laws of men over the laws of God. They were excluded from the church and committed to the authorities. Those who were faithful to Jesus, died the martyr’s death in those years of war, like their predecessors during the first cycle of the seals, who died in the time of Christian persecution by the Romans.

Thus, after this, there were two churches: The SDA Church, which fell more and more into apostasy, and those members who had been faithful to God, who had to reorganize themselves as the Seventh-day Adventist Reformation Movement after several unsuccessful attempts to reconcile with the mother church.

We mention this again here because it may well be that a schism will start to manifest in the third plague again, this time due to the current issues of dispute (women’s ordination, LGBT tolerance, etc.). In any case, the big issue is already simmering behind closed doors. It’s really just a matter of time before a schism manifests. So be vigilant, and watch what happens!

Christ has plainly taught that those who persist in open sin must be separated from the church, but He has not committed to us the work of judging character and motive. He knows our nature too well to entrust this work to us. Should we try to uproot from the church those whom we suppose to be spurious Christians, we should be sure to make mistakes. Often we regard as hopeless subjects the very ones whom Christ is drawing to Himself. Were we to deal with these souls according to our imperfect judgment, it would perhaps extinguish their last hope. Many who think themselves Christians will at last be found wanting. Many will be in heaven who their neighbors supposed would never enter there. Man judges from appearance, but God judges the heart. The tares and the wheat are to grow together until the harvest; and the harvest is the end of probationary time. {COL 71.3}

Here we even get a hint that the harvest must be after the END of mercy. Anyone who has read our latest articles knows that the investigative judgment is already finished and that the time of mercy ended. Now we are in the time of the plagues, so we can expect that the Lord will reveal even more about His plague clock in Orion. Some who recognize the voice of God will fall on their knees in amazement and gratitude to thank God for this article, but for the majority of people, it will be nothing more than another peal of thunder. Do you see how the chaff is separated from the wheat and how your faith gets tested? The binding of the wicked into bundles has already begun, and in the Tears of God article, we anticipated how that process will spread over the whole world.

The Weeping and Gnashing of Teeth

Remember, among those who are destined for the fire of God, there will be “weeping and gnashing of teeth!” Have you ever searched the Bible for that exact phrase to see if there is more light for this point in time? The expression is found exactly seven times in the original language (the Strong’s numbers are G2805 for weeping/wailing and G1030 for gnashing). It should give us reason for reflection when God uses His number of perfection for it.

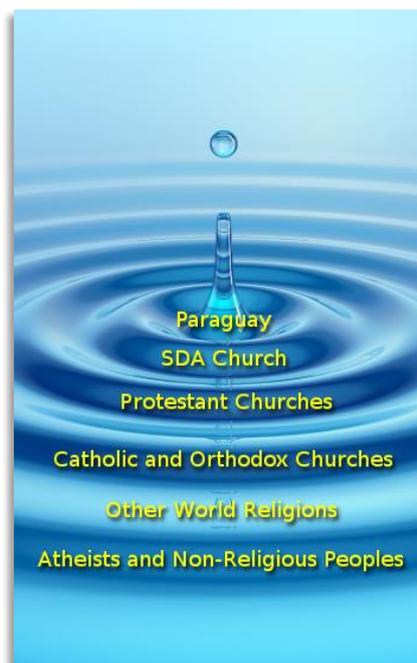

Peter had come to Christ with the question, “How oft shall my brother sin against me, and I forgive him? till seven times?” The rabbis limited the exercise of forgiveness to three offenses. Peter, carrying out, as he supposed, the teaching of Christ, thought to extend it to seven, the number signifying perfection. But Christ taught that we are never to become weary of forgiving. Not “Until seven times,” He said, “but, Until seventy times seven.” {COL 243.1}

Let us briefly consider each of the verses where the phrase appears and see what God wants to show us in relation to the harvest and the consuming fire. We already discussed one of the parables in the previous section.

The next story is about the centurion of Capernaum who showed great faith. That is exactly what Jesus asks for and wants to see! Will He find faith when He comes?

When Jesus heard it, he marvelled, and said to them that followed, Verily I say unto you, I have not found so great faith, no, not in Israel. And I say unto you, That many shall come from the east and west, and shall sit down with Abraham, and Isaac, and Jacob, in the kingdom of heaven. But the children of the kingdom shall be cast out into outer darkness: there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth. And Jesus said unto the centurion, Go thy way; and as thou hast believed, so be it done unto thee. And his servant was healed in the selfsame hour. (Matthew 8:10-13)

At that time, Jesus was speaking about His people, the Jews. They did not recognize Him, but they rejected Him. And Jesus cast them out. They had received several invitations by the grace of God, but they refused each one of them. The weeping and gnashing of teeth stood for their eternal death, just as for the Seventh-day Adventist Church at the Second Coming of Jesus, who persistently refused the voice and message of God from Orion. On the heights of Mt. Carmel, they chose to make their sacrifice on the wrong altar, and that showed once again, that God's door of mercy toward them had already closed. A short time later, on October 17/18, 2015, the time of mercy for the rest of the world also ended, and the Holy Spirit finished His sealing of the righteous among mankind. It looks as if the gentile centurion, who showed more faith than the elect people, stands for those sheep from the other folds who are found worthy.

The centurion's servant was healed at the same hour, the Bible says. Remember that, because in the next article you will learn more about the hour in which Jesus will reward the faithful, transforming the living faithful and resurrecting the righteous dead.

In the next parable, Jesus speaks of a king who prepares the wedding for his son and invites guests who do not want to come. That corresponds to the invitation to the Jews when Jesus lived among them, and who should have accepted Him. Then again, there was an invitation in the period after they nailed Jesus to the cross, and God uses the image of the sacrifice which was prepared, a reference to Jesus' sacrifice on the cross. But the Jewish people still did not want to come to the wedding, and God threw them into outer darkness where there was "weeping and gnashing of teeth," as we already learned from the previous event. But in His mercy, God made a third invitation (the Christian era) and, lo and behold, the hall was filled.

And when the king came in to see the guests, he saw there a man which had not on a wedding garment: And he saith unto him, Friend, how camest thou in hither not having a wedding garment? And he was speechless. Then said the king to the servants, Bind him hand and foot, and take him away, and cast him into outer darkness; there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth. For many are called, but few are chosen. (Matthew 22:11-14)

The king's visiting with the guests corresponds to the investigative judgment of the dead (October 22, 1844 – October 27, 2012) and of the living (May 6, 2012 – October 17/18, 2015). An angel (William Miller) announced to the world the dawn of the "hour of the judgment" (Revelation 14:6-7), and now we see those verses being completed during the period of the "second Miller". That judgment is finished, and that means the time of mercy has ended, and each case has been decided before God. Either the Holy Spirit put His mark on your forehead, or not. Either the inclination of your heart is correct, or not. Either you used the time of preparation effectively, or not. Orion's message was given to the SDA Church as a message of repentance. Jesus wanted to cleanse and whiten the church's clothes, but they either did not recognize His voice or they consciously rejected it. However, God visited not only the SDA Church in the judgment of the living, but all professing Christians of all denominations.

Don't forget that the "weeping and gnashing of teeth" has something to do with fire and burning and darkness. These bundles—bound hand and foot—will burn, and later you will learn when it will be. Unfortunately, few have made their election sure.

The fourth instance where this phrase occurs is the parable of the drag net.

Again, the kingdom of heaven is like unto a net, that was cast into the sea, and gathered of every kind: Which, when it was full, they drew to shore, and sat down, and gathered the good into vessels, but cast the bad away. So shall it be at the end of the world: the angels shall come forth, and sever the wicked from among the just, And shall cast them into the furnace of fire: there shall be wailing and gnashing of teeth. Jesus saith unto them, Have ye understood all these things? They say unto him, Yea, Lord. Then said he unto them, Therefore every scribe which is instructed unto the kingdom of heaven is like unto a man that is an householder, which bringeth forth out of his treasure things new and old. (Matthew 13:47-52)

It should be clear that the fish represent people who profess to have accepted Christ, like the guests at the wedding hall in the previous parable. But again, the fish must be sorted to separate the good from the foul. If something is rotten, then it stinks like a bad ulcer. The flesh is rotting, and thus it points to the time of plagues, for the first plague describes exactly that. It is not to be understood only literally, but spiritually. It stands especially for sin. Sin gets revealed. Everyone must decide which side he is fighting for. There is nothing hidden that will not come to light. Did you notice that the imagery of the ulcer comes back again and again? The ulcer does not look good. It hurts, and the one who has it cries. It smells bad. Simply put, it comes to the forefront of the senses in every way. What is described here is a picture of the biblical leprosy, and the result of the condition was exclusion from family and the general public, and banishment to a remote place. I would advise you to take all of these points very seriously, because the fun is over.

It is also interesting that Jesus explicitly asked His disciples whether they understood it. It was the affirmative answer of “Yea, Lord” that resulted in His identifying the scribes as householders. Where are the “wise” of Daniel 12 who shine like the stars and can decipher the oath in the same chapter, at the end of time? Where are the householders, who are awake and aware of the time?

That transitions into the fifth picture that Jesus wants to show us:

Watch therefore: for ye know not what hour your Lord doth come. But know this, that if the goodman of the house had known in what watch the thief would come, he would have watched, and would not have suffered his house to be broken up. Therefore be ye also ready: for in such an hour as ye think not the Son of man cometh. Who then is a faithful and wise servant, whom his lord hath made ruler over his household, to give them meat in due season? Blessed is that servant, whom his lord when he cometh shall find so doing. Verily I say unto you, That he shall make him ruler over all his goods. But and if that evil servant shall say in his heart, My lord delayeth his coming; And shall begin to smite his fellowservants, and to eat and drink with the drunken; The lord of that servant shall come in a day when he looketh not for him, and in an hour that he is not aware of, And shall cut him asunder, and appoint him his portion with the hypocrites: there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth. (Matthew 24:42-51)

God already revealed the time of the Second Coming of Jesus when He poured out the latter rain message. In today's frame of reference, we do not have to speak of a possible knowledge of the time at some point in the future, as was necessary almost 2000 years ago. Today, we can say that the wise and faithful scribes—the householders of this time—can definitely KNOW the hour if they accept the Orion message. That is the meat in due season! Many have rejected this present-truth food, like how they left 12 or 7 baskets full of bread, in the feeding of the five thousand Jews and four thousand gentiles, respectively, when Jesus invited them to have supper with Him. Oh, but if you would only show more interest! Those stories—including the intervening encounter with the Lord walking to the disciples on water—could fill an article of their own! You can deduce what time we are in from those stories, too.

Householders who have accepted the Orion message will no longer kill time with unimportant things, because they will be anticipating the coming of the Lord. They know the hour. Do you know it too?

It is interesting that precisely this passage is often used to supposedly prove that no one can know the time of the coming of Jesus. To the contrary, it shows us the polar opposite today, just as Revelation 3:3 says that the watchful people KNOW the hour. Furthermore, Jesus' coming as a thief in the night does not mean He will come quietly, for every eye shall see Him. Rather, He points out the fact that many, having not been vigilant, will be unprepared and therefore they will not be expecting Him.

We will draw on these verses again in the next article when we pursue the question of when this hour that ye know not of, will be!

Our sixth passage in the Bible is about the parable of the talents. Everyone knows that every human being has received from God talents and abilities which should not be buried and should not be allowed to wither. Instead, we should use our talents for the success of God's plans of salvation and redemption.

For unto every one that hath shall be given, and he shall have abundance: but from him that hath not shall be taken away even that which he hath. And cast ye the unprofitable servant into outer darkness: there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth.

When the Son of man shall come in his glory, and all the holy angels with him, then shall he sit upon the throne of his glory: And before him shall be gathered all nations: and he shall separate them one from another, as a shepherd divideth his sheep from the goats: And he shall set the sheep on his right hand, but the goats on the left. (Matthew 25:29-33)

Again, we can see that these verses are especially applicable to the SDA Church, because it received great light and God blessed them abundantly for a long time. But they buried the gift of the light of the Fourth Angel (the message of the latter rain), so whatever they did have, was taken away. The third angel's message ends with the closing of the door of mercy, and with the beginning of the plagues, because it was a warning about the plagues. Since the plagues have begun, that church has nothing more to warn about. It should have joined the Fourth Angel to sound the loud cry, but it did not want to. Meanwhile, the rest of the Christian world considers itself rich like Laodicea, although you can rightly regard most Christian people as merely nominal or traditional Christians who are still in Babylon. Do you really think that such people will receive the blessings of God, or will they stand on the side of the goats?

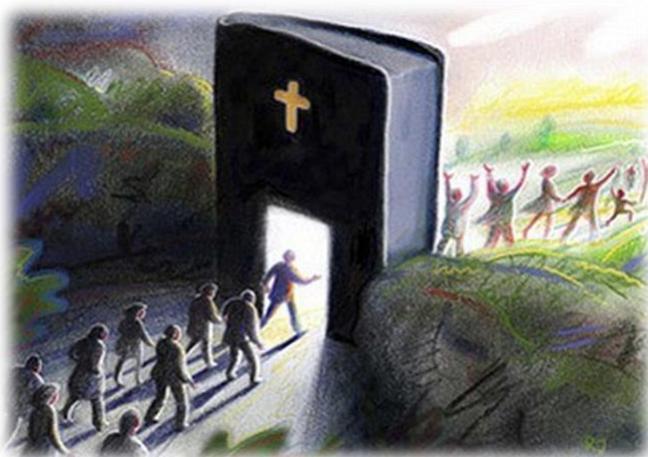

It gets more and more interesting, because here a time is described when Jesus will really and literally come with all the angels. That means that these verses must speak about the time after closing of the door of mercy, or in other words, the time of the plagues. It is even possible to find out the time more precisely; the time when Jesus will begin His journey from Orion to Earth can also be biblically proven now. That will be a topic for the next article...

It is noteworthy that the symbol for the just is a sheep or a lamb, and it is easy to identify them as the yet-to-be-called-out ones who have put on the character of Jesus. They stand at the right hand of the Lord. Have you ever taken a look at the plague clock to see where October 24, 2016 would be? The coming of Jesus would fall within the segment that stretches from the seventh plague to the throne line at Jesus' right hand, where He sets the sheep to take with Him when He comes again! So then, shouldn't there also be a time when the goats, who are perishing in the fire with weeping and gnashing of teeth, are set on the left side? You will be amazed at what God has revealed and how the plague cycle can be fully confirmed by using the Bible alone. All of these things are little hints that should strengthen our faith more and more.

And finally, we come to the seventh place in the Bible that refers to weeping and gnashing of teeth.

And he went through the cities and villages, teaching, and journeying toward Jerusalem. Then said one unto him, Lord, are there few that be saved? And he said unto them, Strive to enter in at the strait gate: for many, I say unto you, will seek to enter in, and shall not be able. When once the master of the house is risen up, and hath shut to the door, and ye begin to stand without, and to knock at the door, saying, Lord, Lord, open unto us; and he shall answer and say unto you, I know you not whence ye are: Then shall ye begin to say, We have eaten and drunk in thy presence, and thou hast taught in our streets. But he shall say, I tell you, I know you not whence ye are; depart from me, all ye workers of iniquity. There shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth, when ye shall see Abraham, and Isaac, and Jacob, and all the prophets, in the kingdom of God, and you yourselves thrust out. And they shall come from the east, and from the west, and from the north, and from the south, and shall sit down in the kingdom of God. And, behold, there are last which shall be first, and there are first which shall be last. (Luke 13:22-30)

These verses are clearly talking about the closing of the door of mercy, saying that you must go through a narrow gate beforehand, but only a few will succeed. The narrow gate is the narrow way, the one truth that can only come from Jesus. The message (from Orion) of the Holy Spirit, who enlightens the whole world with His glory, should have guided the hearts of Christians along the narrow path. True revival and reformation would have been the result, so that the Holy Spirit could have sealed them. All those who thought they were following Jesus, but who were found wanting, will be weeping and wailing and gnashing their teeth. They will be raised after the 1000-year judgment in heaven and will then see themselves standing outside of the Holy City. Then comes the last and all-evil-consuming fire after Satan's last attack against the Holy City with all of the unjust. Not a hint of sin will remain any longer. How many nominal Christians will have to experience that, just because they refused to accept God's final message? Will you find yourself in utter darkness too?

Can you believe how much information is packed in these seven passages? Do you see how the Holy Spirit always brings things old and new and sheds new light on them? Do you see how important it is to know the time now? If so, then things will really get exciting now...

The Harvest and the Vintage

We find a very similar picture of the harvest in Revelation 14. Many Adventists know this chapter, because it contains the three angels' messages. But, as mentioned earlier, the warning of the third angel (Revelation 14:9) has become obsolete since the door of mercy has already closed and the time of the plagues has dawned. Anyone who is baptized into or stays in that church as of October 17/18, 2015, and thus accepts or supports the falsified teachings of the SDA organization, is unfortunately lost. They are missing the light of the Fourth Angel of Revelation 18, which was described by Ellen White as follows:

I saw angels hurrying to and fro in heaven, descending to the earth, and again ascending to heaven, preparing for the fulfillment of some important event. Then I saw another mighty angel commissioned to descend to the earth, to unite his voice with the third angel, and give power and force to his message. Great power and glory were imparted to the angel, and as he descended, the earth was lightened with his glory. The light which attended this angel penetrated everywhere, as he cried mightily, with a strong voice, "Babylon the great is fallen, is fallen, and is become the habitation of devils, and the hold of every foul spirit, and a cage of every unclean and hateful bird." The message of the fall of Babylon, as given by the second angel, is repeated, with the additional mention of the corruptions which have been entering the churches since 1844. The work of this angel comes in at the right time to join in the last great work of the third angel's message as it swells to a loud cry. And the people of God are thus prepared to stand in the hour of temptation, which they are soon to meet. I saw a great light resting upon them, and they united to fearlessly proclaim the third angel's message.

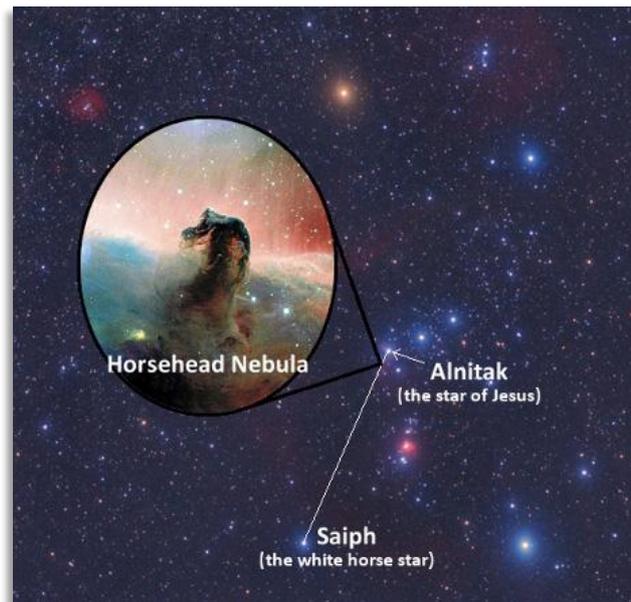

Angels were sent to aid the mighty angel from heaven, and I heard voices which seemed to sound everywhere, "Come out of her, My people, that ye be not partakers of her sins, and that ye receive not of her plagues. For her sins have reached unto heaven, and God hath remembered her iniquities." This message seemed to be an addition to the third message, joining it as the midnight cry joined the second angel's message in 1844. The glory of God rested upon the patient, waiting saints, and they fearlessly gave the last solemn warning, proclaiming the fall of Babylon and calling upon God's people to come out of her that they might escape her fearful doom. {EW 277.1-2}

We already explained in several articles that the SDA organization has become part of Babylon, so you should understand why a baptism into this church now involves eternal death. It didn't repent when there was time for repentance. Have you considered that it should have been careful not to reject the Fourth Angel, because without His message it is caught unprepared in the hour of temptation, just as Revelation 3:10 warned? You will be amazed when you read when that hour will be in the next article. It will surely come, because the preparations for it have already been made.

It is unfortunate that it has turned out like it has. Adventists should have noticed that the oft-quoted 14th chapter of Revelation does not end with the message of the third angel. Let us look at verses 14 to 20 now, and consider what they could mean today; we have certainly recognized from the previous section that the time of harvest has come.

And I looked, and behold a white cloud, and upon the cloud one sat like unto the Son of man, having on his head a golden crown, and in his hand a sharp sickle. (Revelation 14:14)

Those who have already read the Orion message know exactly which white cloud the Bible is talking about here. It is represented by the Horsehead Nebula, and it should be clear from the description of the person who has taken a seat on it that it is our Lord Jesus-Alnitak. Now perhaps the question will arise: What is it that shows us that Jesus is no longer in the sanctuary interceding for us so that we could still have the mercy of God the Father? The answer is: Does a high priest really wear a golden crown, or does that part of his attire correspond to that of a king? It is well known that after closing the door of mercy, Jesus lays aside His priestly garments, and puts on His royal robe. Therefore, we know for sure that these verses about the time of harvest are dealing with the time after the closing of the door of mercy. The sickle in his right hand, as we may learn from Ellen White,^[11] is a reference to the time when the ripe wheat, which corresponds to the yet-to-be-found righteous ones, is finally taken away from this earth. Remember what I mentioned earlier, that the right hand corresponds to the segment between Saiph and the throne line, when Jesus will return and finally receive all the redeemed up into the white cloud to take them on the journey to the Orion Nebula? We will prove it in the next article, just from the Bible. Is it clear now why He has the sickle in His right hand? Is it clear why “the right hand of the LORD doeth valiantly”?^[12]

What we have learned so far is that Jesus has left the heavenly temple as king and is now waiting on the white cloud until...

And another angel came out of the temple, crying with a loud voice to him that sat on the cloud, Thrust in thy sickle, and reap: for the time [Strong's: hour] is come for thee to reap; for the harvest of the earth is ripe. (Revelation 14:15)

It is getting interesting now. Another angel comes into the picture. This implies that the “one” from before was also an angel. Please note that Jesus is sometimes called “Michael the archangel.” So it is right to say that this picture is already talking about two angels: even Jesus Himself, and another angel who comes forth from the temple. Don't forget that he comes from the temple, because not all of the angels that we will see in following verses will come from the temple.

In this scene, it looks as if Jesus is waiting for the second angel to cry out with the command signaling the time to reap. Interestingly, here again is the precise time of the hour, like in the Bible verses we looked at earlier.

And he that sat on the cloud thrust in his sickle on the earth; and the earth was reaped. (Revelation 14:16)

It is clear that the first angel, Jesus Christ Himself or the 144,000 in His place, start harvesting the ripe grain (the righteous ones who will be called out by the 144,000) after the cry of the second angel. So if we were to know when this communication takes place in heaven, then we could also know when this process would begin. Well, does that give you any ideas?

It would be legitimate to inquire at this point whether the Orion message uses angels anywhere to represent clock hands that indicate the time...

What would it mean if the description here in Revelation 14 exactly matches the plague cycle, and what if God wants to give us a deeper understanding of the time of the plagues? Let's take a look at the picture to the right.

Even though there are seven plague angels, the construction plan for the Clock of God, as described in Revelation 4, describes four special "living creatures" (beasts) or angels to symbolize the four outer stars of Orion. Let us try to quickly recap what we learned in the context of the chart. Saiph is the "white horse" star and corresponds to the first angel, Jesus Christ. On October 17/18, 2015, Jesus threw down the censer in the Most Holy Place, ended the intercessory service and closed the door of mercy for mankind. He changed His robes and on October 25, 2015, He took His place on the white cloud, as it was expressed in verse 14 of chapter 14.

Next, the second angel, represented by Betelgeuse, comes into play. He cries to the first angel (Jesus), saying that the harvest is ripe and that He should thrust in the sickle and reap the earth. Now we see the date for when Jesus begins to harvest the "ripe, prepared but yet-uninformed righteous ones": from March 9, 2016 on.

But now we must consider Matthew 13:30 again, since it states that the bundling of the tares must take place before the wheat harvest begins. What we studied regarding the seven events in the previous section is clear now. From the first to the third plague, the tares are bundled. It begins with the sanctuary and continues throughout the world. Each one openly acknowledges which side he is on. It is the final test without mercy, which everyone in the harvest must pass. If Ted Wilson is publishing photos from the General Conference's annual Christmas party, showing off a costume from Medellin, Colombia, which is one of the Jesuit centers in Latin America,^[13] or if any of his employees are wearing Christmas reindeer costumes,^[14] or Christmas trees are flaunted in the background, and not for the simple purpose of receiving offerings as Ellen White allowed for,^[15] then polarization is the result, as part of the bundling process that we are talking about. If people welcome the Satan's Year of Divine Mercy and walk through the open door^[16] of any cathedral, they are adding themselves to the bundles of tares. If people still praise the false prophets and preachers and continue to stuff their pockets with money,^[17] then they are being bundled together with them. If people are happy about the canonization of “Mother Theresa”^[18] because they have another saint they can bring their prayers to, then they are being bundled with the idolaters. If people still think that anything and everything has to be tolerated, and that homosexuality^[19] is a step in the direction of modernization and is good, then they are bundling themselves with the unclean.

Do you understand? We are already in the time of the bundling of the tares, while Jesus is sitting on the white cloud waiting for the “command to harvest,” which is nothing other than the report that the bundling of the tares is complete. Those who don’t pass the final test that is brought to them will be uprooted forever, and later thrown into the fire, as we have already studied. On the one hand, they will be thrown into the fire of literal plagues that nobody will survive except the 144,000, but then again, on the other hand, after the thousand-year judgment of all the wicked from the beginning of time, Jesus will bring the last, all-consuming fire upon them. Their name will be blotted out, that it shall leave them neither root nor branch.

One question is still unanswered: When will the earth be completely harvested, as it says in verse 16? Please be patient, and soon we will discover more. Don’t you think that the light of God, which He sends in due season, is perfect and harmonious? Let us sit down and continue our study to see what Revelation 14 still has in store for us.

And another angel came out of the temple which is in heaven, he also having a sharp sickle. (Revelation 14:17)

This verse tells us that a third angel comes too, which also comes from the temple. Interestingly, he also has a sickle. We really need to ask the question of whether this angel intends to compete with our Lord Jesus. By this time, the tares have already been plucked, bundled and are ready for the fire. Let’s read on...

And another angel came out from the altar, which had power over fire; and cried with a loud cry to him that had the sharp sickle, saying, Thrust in thy sharp sickle, and gather the clusters of the vine of the earth; for her grapes are fully ripe. (Revelation 14:18)

Now it gets really interesting. There is a lot going on in heaven, don’t you think? A fourth angel comes on the scene—this time from the altar—with power over fire. Don’t forget that! We will talk about that in a moment.

This fourth angel tells the third angel with the sickle that he should cut the grapes of the earth. So here we see a parallel to the first two angels, because the third angel also waits for the fourth angel to give him the signal to begin harvesting the grapes. Please consider the chart again. Bellatrix symbolizes the third angel, which becomes “visible” on April 22, 2016. In other words, he comes out of the temple, but he has to wait until Rigel gives him the command to cut the grapes on August 1, 2016.

Let’s keep reading to see what happens next:

And the angel thrust in his sickle into the earth, and gathered the vine of the earth, and cast it into the great winepress of the wrath of God. And the winepress was trodden without the city, and blood came out of the winepress, even unto the horse bridles, by the space of a thousand and six hundred furlongs. (Revelation 14:19-20)

Uh oh, now it is unpleasant! When the fourth angel calls out to the third angel (August 1, 2016) that he should begin to cut, then the grapes will be thrown into the winepress of the wrath of God. This makes it very clear that the true wrath of God will not come before August 1, 2016, but should begin after that. Furthermore, the third angel must first do his job of filling the winepress from the beginning of August 2016 onward. Thus, it looks as if the sixth plague is the filling of the winepress. That means the full wrath of God must be the seventh plague, where the wine is trodden (read Revelation 19:10-16). There is perfect confirmation for this, which we will present to you in the next article!

Now it would also make sense to conclude that the first angel, Jesus, must complete the harvest of the good wheat by the sixth plague. One group will be blessed at that time, and for the other it will be a bloodbath.

The fact that the wine is trodden outside the city is yet another strong indication that the great multitude of righteous ones will actually be found and collected up until the beginning of the sixth plague. They are the ones who, together with the 144,000, will soon enter into the Holy City. In the eyes of God, they will be fully accounted for in the “heavenly inventory” beginning on August 1, 2016, since they will have been gathered into “the barn” by that time.

Now, someone might come along and say that Jesus is the vine, so how can it be that the grapes stand for something bad, a group who suffers the wrath of God? Let us read what Jesus Himself says about it:

*I am the true vine, and my Father is the husbandman. Every branch in me that beareth not fruit he taketh away: and every branch that beareth fruit, he purgeth it, that it may bring forth more fruit. Now ye are clean through the word which I have spoken unto you. Abide in me, and I in you. As the branch cannot bear fruit of itself, except it abide in the vine; no more can ye, except ye abide in me. I am the vine, ye are the branches: He that abideth in me, and I in him, the same bringeth forth much fruit: for without me ye can do nothing. If a man abide not in me, he is cast forth as a branch, and is withered; and men gather them, and cast them into the fire, and they are burned.
(John 15:1-6)

That sheds light on the matter and explains why there must be two angels with sickles. Namely, there is a true vine, and by implication there must also be a false vine. The grapes that are connected with Jesus and bring forth good fruit are the 144,000 who already left Babylon and are cleaned and purified. Their fruits—their character—is similar to that of Christ. They are the ones who are connected to Jesus and have accepted His message from Orion. Those are the ones who testify for the Father! But those who hear the loud cry of the 144,000 in the time of plagues will also bring their good fruits.

The others who had once grown on the true vine, Jesus, but bore bad fruit, are comparable to the tares, which are currently being bundled. Such rotten fruit and withered branches will be thrown into the fire right along with the other bundles of tares.

Where is the false vine, whose grapes the third angel should cut with the sickle and gather for the wrath of God? Is there a false vine on this earth, from whose grapes wine is also made? Don't you know who the mother of all false wine is, which all nations drink their false doctrines from?

And there came one of the seven angels which had the seven vials, and talked with me, saying unto me, Come hither; I will shew unto thee the judgment of the great whore that sitteth upon many waters: With whom the kings of the earth have committed fornication, and the inhabitants of the earth have been made drunk with the wine of her fornication. So he carried me away in the spirit into the wilderness: and I saw a woman sit upon a scarlet coloured beast, full of names of blasphemy, having seven heads and ten horns. And the woman was arrayed in purple and scarlet colour, and decked with gold and precious stones and pearls, having a golden cup in her hand full of abominations and filthiness of her fornication: And upon her forehead was a name written, MYSTERY, BABYLON THE GREAT, THE MOTHER OF HARLOTS AND ABOMINATIONS OF THE EARTH. (Revelation 17:1-5)

Oh, dear Catholics, Protestant and charismatic religious leaders, even you heads of the Eastern religions, you kings and presidents of the world, you who have elected this “woman” as your head... How long will it be till you understand who this really is? Is it so hard to accept that there is only one religious system where purple and scarlet are worn and its churches are full of pomp and where there is drinking from a golden goblet? Now do you know which plague angel describes the throne of the beast exactly? Now do you recognize the difference between the cup that Brother Robert described and that of Pope Francis?

Especially in these days, the world has accepted the representative of this church as their leader. All countries in the world accepted the UN climate agreement under the motivation of Pope Francis. He has even personally intervened to prevent the failure of the contract.^[20] Can't you see through him yet? He is the false Christ, Lucifer, and Satan himself as the angel of light.

He is definitely the wrong vine! Satan imitates God however he can, and you have chosen him as your king. Do you realize that the hour (Revelation 17:12) in which he will reign in full force is coming soon!? It is the "hour of temptation," which most of you will not be protected from (the same hour that Revelation 3:10 mentions). Would you like to know when it will be?

May I ask you a question? Why did Jesus say in Matthew 7:15-23, and in Luke, that it is not possible to gather grapes from a thorn bush?

For a good tree bringeth not forth corrupt fruit; neither doth a corrupt tree bring forth good fruit. For every tree is known by his own fruit. For of thorns men do not gather figs, nor of a bramble bush gather they grapes. A good man out of the good treasure of his heart bringeth forth that which is good; and an evil man out of the evil treasure of his heart bringeth forth that which is evil: for of the abundance of the heart his mouth speaketh. (Luke 6:43-45)

Have you thought about what the parable of Jotham means? We already touched on it in the article Trumpets with a Certain Sound. The trees, symbolizing the believers, finally ask the bramble if he wants to be king over them.

And when they told it to Jotham, he went and stood in the top of mount Gerizim, and lifted up his voice, and cried, and said unto them, Hearken unto me, ye men of Shechem, that God may hearken unto you. The trees went forth on a time to anoint a king over them; and they said unto the olive tree, Reign thou over us. But the olive tree said unto them, Should I leave my fatness, wherewith by me they honour God and man, and go to be promoted over the trees? And the trees said to the fig tree, Come thou, and reign over us. But the fig tree said unto them, Should I forsake my sweetness, and my good fruit, and go to be promoted over the trees? Then said the trees unto the vine, Come thou, and reign over us. And the vine said unto them, Should I leave my wine, which cheereth God and man, and go to be promoted over the trees? Then said all the trees unto the bramble, Come thou, and reign over us. And the bramble said unto the trees, If in truth ye anoint me king over you, then come and put your trust in my shadow: and if not, let fire come out of the bramble, and devour the cedars of Lebanon. (Judges 9:7-15)

I hope you know now who offers the false wine—meaning false doctrines—to the world, and whom you have chosen!

In this context, I can only counsel you to read Jeremiah 25, beginning with verse 12, so there is no longer any doubt that Babylon will surely be destroyed. Interestingly, the UN was also celebrating its 70th anniversary in 2015. We have truly come to the last months and days of this world, although most people still believe that the time of mercy is still ongoing, and that Jesus is still sitting back and watching the bad happenings on the earth.

Everyone who is not growing on the true vine and bearing good fruit will receive the full wrath of God. In any case, it is clear now that blood will begin to flow in the sixth plague, because even if you are careful in the grape harvest, some grapes will be crushed, and the fuller the winepress gets, the more grapes will be crushed under the additional weight. But will the angel with the sickle really be careful with the grapes when he knows that they are destined for the wrath of God? Surely not.

We still need to pursue the clue as to why the fourth angel (Rigel) is the only one that comes from the altar, and what it means that he has power over fire. There is a fitting passage from the Bible in the book of Ezekiel, "our" book, which tells us what is happening with the angel of the fire. Please remember that we have often referred to Ezekiel 9, where the Holy Spirit marks the sincere people and is then followed by five other “men” who accomplish a terrible slaughtering of those who were not marked. At the end of the trumpet cycle, the Holy Spirit brought the message to heaven that the marking was complete, which was the closing of the door of mercy for humanity. But the trumpet cycle took place during the time of mercy, and Jesus interposed with His blood four times and intervened four-times (crying “Hold!”) so that the threatening destruction would be deferred to the next cycle. The plague cycle is the only cycle left, and we are already in it. There are no other possibilities! Do you get it? The end of the world is here!

In the very next chapter of Ezekiel, we find the following:

Then I looked, and, behold, in the firmament that was above the head of the cherubims there appeared over them as it were a sapphire stone, as the appearance of the likeness of a throne. And he spake unto the man clothed with linen, and said, Go in between the wheels, even under the cherub, and fill thine hand with coals of fire from between the cherubims, and scatter them over the city. And he went in in my sight. Now the cherubims stood on the right side of the house, when the man went in; and the cloud filled the inner court. Then the glory of the LORD went up from the cherub, and stood over the threshold of the house; and the house was filled with the cloud, and the court was full of the brightness of the LORD's glory. And the sound of the cherubims' wings was heard even to the outer court, as the voice of the Almighty God when he speaketh. And it came to pass, that when he had commanded the man clothed with linen, saying, Take fire from between the wheels, from between the cherubims; then he went in, and stood beside the wheels. And one cherub stretched forth his hand from between the cherubims unto the fire that was between the cherubims, and took thereof, and put it into the hands of him that was clothed with linen: who took it, and went out. And there appeared in the cherubims the form of a man's hand under their wings. (Ezekiel 10:1-8)

In the Orion presentation, we explained exactly what these wheels are, and how this passage coincides with Revelation 4 and 5 and Ezekiel 1. Those who do not know those things are encouraged to re-read it, because it is basic knowledge that is needed just to understand the Clock of God in Orion. But for the purposes of continuing with this study, all you need to know is that the four outer stars of Orion together constitute the wheels of the clock, and in their midst is the temple of God with the altar—the three belt stars, together with the Orion Nebula.

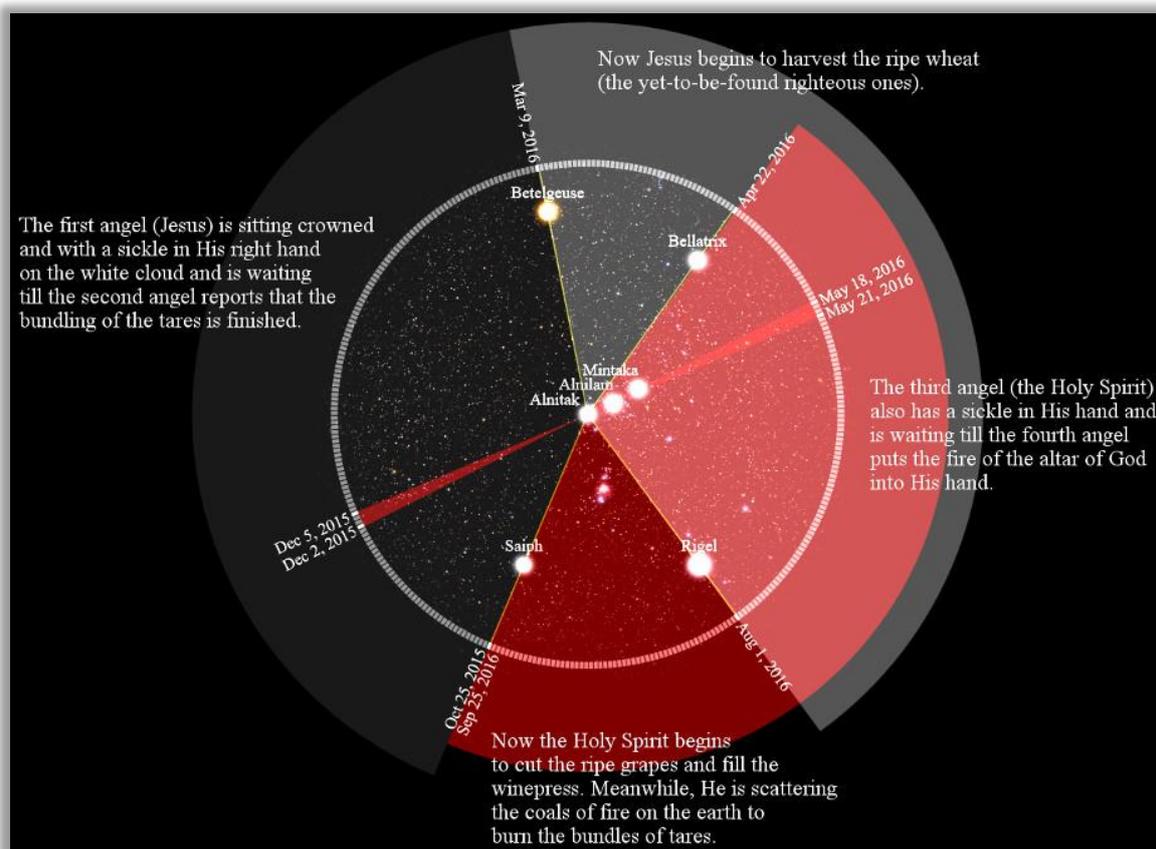

The sound of the cherubim, which are the four hands of the clock (or pointer stars), correspond to the voice of God Almighty when He speaks. Do you remember that Ellen White said in her first vision that God would proclaim the time when He would pour out the Holy Spirit in the latter rain?^[21] The Almighty did just that when He gave the understanding of His clock to one man who was permitted to see it and read it: John Scotram, the second Miller. No, it was not to Ted Wilson that God gave the understanding of the time, nor anyone from the BRI (Biblical Research Institute). It was not even Walter Veith or Steven Bohr. Neither was it “Uncle” David Gates or Doug Batchelor. It was not even Pastor Andrew Henriques, nor Hugo Gambetta, neither Kenneth Copeland, Rick Warren, Joel Osten, Benny Hin, nor Billy Graham, nor any other “star” in the religious world. It is high time that you yet-to-be-found righteous ones out there in the world finally recognize and accept the voice of God!

Can you identify the participants in this vision? Let's not get confused. The four hands of the clock of God which show us the time when something has to happen are one thing, but the real Persons who are holding judgment are God the Father, Jesus Christ who takes care of the wheat harvest, and the Holy Spirit who harvests the grapes. It is God the Father Himself who commands the Holy Spirit, the man with the linen clothes, to “go inside” the temple and take coals and scatter them over the city. One cherub stretched out his hand, which means that a clock hand is “pointing” to a date. He takes burning coals from the altar and puts them in the hand of the Holy Spirit, who then “goes” out of the temple to do His duty. So this scene points to exactly August 1, 2016, when the fourth angel (a cherub) puts the fire into the hand of the third angel (the Holy Spirit). Then the work which the Holy Spirit has to do becomes “visible”. Fascinating! What do you suppose is going to happen!?

Did you notice that the inner court and temple was filled with the cloud? That is immediately reminiscent of Revelation 15:8, where the temple is also filled with smoke from the glory of God. We know that it represents the time of the plagues, which we are living in. This also verifies where the Holy Spirit presently is, from a biblical perspective... Yes, He withdrew completely from the earth on October 17/18, 2015 after marking the 144,000 according to Ezekiel 9. The little flock is now subsisting on the 372 daily portions of “Holy Spirit” that He left for them especially for this time without intercession.

Here is a brief overview, so you can review what we already covered in our study thus far:

So, in Ezekiel 10, we have now found the angel who keeps the burning coals in his hands. Have you read what he should do with them? “Fill thine hand with coals of fire from between the cherubims, and scatter them over the city!” What will happen on August 1, 2016, when the third angel (the Holy Spirit) scatters His glowing coals over the city of Babylon? What have we warned you about so often, which God has delayed so long? Why did Ellen White especially say that we should study the plagues? Is a picture really necessary to imagine flying coals?

Yes, certainly, these are the fireballs! Did you hear? The fireballs!

How much biblical derivation do you still need to finally wake up and leave Babylon? Isn't this cry loud enough yet? This is the cutting of the grapes from Babylon and the filling of the winepress. It is the largest and most horrible event before the full wrath of God breaks out and the winepress is trodden. This is the event that was prophesied for the very hour:

And the sixth angel sounded, and I heard a voice from the four horns of the golden altar which is before God, Saying to the sixth angel which had the trumpet, Loose the four angels which are bound in the great river Euphrates. And the four angels were loosed, which were prepared for an hour, and a day, and a month, and a year, for to slay the third part of men. And the number of the army of the horsemen were two hundred thousand thousand: and I heard the number of them. (Revelation 9:13-16)

Now do you see how the sixth trumpet is connected to the sixth plague? The loosing of the four winds began with the end of mercy or the first plague, and this process will be completed on August 1, 2016 with the loosing of the fourth angel, when the last restriction on the four winds will be released. When speaking of "the hour" that corresponds to the sixth trumpet or second woe, we must also look at this verse for the sake of completion:

And the same hour was there a great earthquake, and the tenth part of the city fell, and in the earthquake were slain of men seven thousand: and the remnant were affrighted, and gave glory to the God of heaven. The second woe is past; and, behold, the third woe cometh quickly. (Revelation 11:13-14)

We can well imagine that a "fireball hail" would result in a massive earthquake. Nevertheless, the earthquake when Jesus opens the graves of the righteous dead will be the largest earthquake by far that has ever shaken the earth. We must not confuse the two. But still, what should we expect from this terrible judgment of God in the sixth plague? Ellen White saw the following in two different visions:

Last Friday morning, just before I awoke, a very impressive scene was presented before me. I seemed to awake from sleep but was not in my home. From the windows I could behold a terrible conflagration. Great balls of fire were falling upon houses, and from these balls fiery arrows were flying in every direction. It was impossible to check the fires that were kindled, and many places were being destroyed. The terror of the people was indescribable. After a time I awoke and found myself at home.—Evangelism, 29 (1906).

I saw an immense ball of fire fall among some beautiful mansions, causing their instant destruction. I heard someone say: “We knew that the judgments of God were coming upon the earth, but we did not know that they would come so soon.” Others, with agonized voices, said: “You knew! Why then did you not tell us? We did not know.”—Testimonies for the Church 9:28 (1909). {LDE 24.3-25.1}

This is still not talking about the complete destruction of the Earth, but it is an “indescribable” global disaster that we are dealing with. Do you see how terrible the gathering of the Babylonian grapes will be? And now you know when the bundles of tares, which are now being bound together, will catch fire! Listen up, Adventists! This is especially for you! And because we know that you will then turn to your pastors with great accusations against them, we tell you beforehand so you might at least believe it when it happens. There will come a time when you will fall down before the 144,000 and admit that we had the truth.^[22]

See that ye refuse not him that speaketh. For if they escaped not who refused him that spake on earth, much more shall not we escape, if we turn away from him that speaketh from heaven: Whose voice then shook the earth: but now he hath promised, saying, Yet once more I shake not the earth only, but also heaven. And this word, Yet once more, signifieth the removing of those things that are shaken, as of things that are made, that those things which cannot be shaken may remain. (Hebrews 12:25-27)

Many have rejected His voice from heaven (from Orion) and have thereby rejected the Holy Spirit. That is the unpardonable sin against the Holy Ghost, especially now that the door of mercy is closed and the Holy Spirit has withdrawn from the earth.

For we know him that hath said, Vengeance belongeth unto me, I will recompense, saith the Lord. And again, The Lord shall judge his people. It is a fearful thing to fall into the hands of the living God. (Hebrews 10:30-31)

God Himself will fight in that time for the sheep at the right hand of the Lord (the area between Saiph and the throne line) and they will be safe and secure and concealed in His right hand, but it will be a terrible ordeal for the goats, the tares and false grapes, when they fall into His hands.

Put ye in the sickle, for the harvest is ripe: come, get you down; for the press is full, the fats overflow; for their wickedness is great. (Joel 3:13)

One thing is more than sure: Jesus won't come in 2019, as some false prophets say. Not even in 2031 or any other time in the distant future. He will come on time on October 24, 2016 as the clock of God has been showing for years. Do you believe it too? Then leave Babylon quickly and endure the coming persecution with us.^[23]

Hopefully the shock which you received today penetrated deep and will keep you awake. I'll finish my article with a verse that will be the main theme of the next and final article of my friend John Scotram. Symbolic grapes are being trodden in the picture, but soon it will be literal blood!

And the winepress was trodden without the city, and blood came out of the winepress, even unto the horse bridles, by the space of a thousand and six hundred furlongs. (Revelation 14:20)

In that case, the multiplier of 1000 would mean "many" and the 12 x 12 would mean those who kept the two covenants, namely the great multitude. At the end we will know how many really were among the 144,000, but there is biblical evidence that it will be far less than the number 144,000 suggests.)

The Hour of Truth

I cannot deny my roots as a Seventh-day Adventist, for many reasons. I have been shaped by my deep interest in the Advent message and by over a decade of studying relevant Adventist literature (and by the influence of many sermons, which always go over the same topics in colorless monotony—an endless round of one GC-loyal pastor confirming the misleading assertions of another regarding Bible understanding). I have been shaped in such a way that it is often very hard for me to immediately understand new light in the right way and to leave the old patterns of thinking behind so I can distinguish the truth from the darkness that is in the current Advent message, which has been compromised, sadly. Woe, woe, woe to those who swallow everything unchecked that the oh-so-honorable pastors like Ted Wilson present as truth!

We still had a lot to learn in the years of the Orion message! We never discarded old doctrines, but we dusted them off, unearthed new jewels and today we are still working to grind and polish them so they will glisten with all their facets.

God has placed at man's feet His whole universe, with the most beautiful stars that bring to light the most colorful and awe-inspiring nebula stretching light-years across. He did this when He began to speak from Orion in 2010, but the people neither wanted to lift up their heads, as Jesus advised them,^[1] nor bow down to unearth the treasures that lay spread out before them. They behaved like the biblical swine before pearls: too stupid to recognize their value.

Even now that God had to slam the door of mercy shut in front of their snout, they continue to snort out their silly worn-out clichés, like the one—torn from all logical connection—that says that the Son of God does not even know the time. They do not understand that the Father has given everything to Jesus and that “everything” also includes the understanding of time.

For the Father loveth the Son, and sheweth him all things that himself doeth: and he will shew him greater works than these, that ye may marvel. (John 5:20)

Those greater works are the clocks in Orion and the Vessel of Time, which Jesus received when the books of the seven seals and the seven thunders were handed over to Him after His inauguration for special service in the sanctuary^[2] in the year 1844. Now that segment of Jesus' work has also reached its conclusion. Jesus has left the Most Holy Place and is sitting on the cloud, ready to thrust in the sickle.^[3]

No, there is no more mercy. Those who were oinking against time setting before October 17, 2015 will oink on till the seventh plague, and those who took the pearls of truth with the right attitude in advance, will continue to hold the truth. It's not my intention to lead anyone to repentance or to Jesus, who hasn't already yielded to Him with honest conviction, and that's not the reason why I commissioned this series of articles, probably the last, nor why all four authors of this website come once again to give their say.

Rather, it is out of respect for the ever-increasing splendor of God's light, which has once again strengthened us for this almost superhuman effort to address a lost world that is populated mainly by unclean animals, and to set the harmonies of God before their eyes, and declare His infinite wisdom. Thereby we emphasize that we—as I mentioned at the outset—do not count as the super smart ones who grasp everything immediately and correctly, "But God hath chosen the foolish things of the world to confound the wise; and God hath chosen the weak things of the world to confound the things which are mighty;" [4]

And... God still has people in the other flocks^[5] who must be called out, lest they receive the plagues of Babylon.^[6] They are the ones we want to reach with this last series, so they will understand the consequences of this message and stand for God by leaving Babylon—their churches—in protest: officially, and providing justification. They will form the great multitude,^[7] who will testify as the second army of God. Read what the fate of the Adventist Church was very carefully, so you don't make the same mistakes! God wrote the history of His lukewarm "judgment church"^[8] in the heavens so that you can learn from it.

The Big Trap

Probably the biggest mind-bender for an old-school Seventh-day Adventist was the realization that the long-awaited pre-plague Sunday Law did not come according to a literal interpretation of Ellen White's prophecies, but in the form of its twin, the pre-plague Sodomy Law in the US. In other words, it came with the UN tolerance laws, which have been manifested worldwide since their confirmation in September 2015 by "Pope" Francis, who is Satan in person. Now the result is that we can no longer "sell" the light of the Fourth Angel without restriction as we could before, because of Internet and Facebook censorship. The opportunity to "buy" is therefore also very limited. We have now been banned from more than 2000 groups, and Facebook hides our posts again and again for two weeks or more. Those issues were covered in detail in some of our recent articles!

Nevertheless, the fulfillment by the twin is not that difficult to comprehend. If you have ever taken a beginner's Bible course, you should know that different books of the Bible embody different literary genres, and each has to be read with a corresponding mindset. For example, there is history, like the books of Kings and Chronicles, as well as the books of Moses. They employ language at the literal level (even if they contain types for prophecy). A person reads the events of such books of the Bible literally.

Then, there are poetic books like Job or the Song of Solomon, and the books which contain especially prophecy, which have completely different linguistic features: they use symbol-rich prophetic language, which is in no wise allowed to be read literally!

If we are dealing with a prophetic book or a prophet who is speaking about a vision or dream, we encounter symbols that require interpretation. We are certainly on the wrong track if we take such symbols literally.

Yet to this day, most Christians almost always understand the verses about the plagues in Revelation literally, even though it should be evident that humanity would be completely wiped out before the fifth plague, or even during the trumpets, if a mountain were literally cast into the sea,^[9] or a star (a sun) were to fall upon the earth.^[10] That is why we have misconceptions about the plagues and think that the total destruction of the world should begin as early as the beginning of the first plague. Yes, there will be total destruction, but it will happen in seven phases of increasing intensity. We were warned that the world would misconceive the time of plagues:

The righteous and the wicked will still be living upon the earth in their mortal state—men will be planting and building, eating and drinking, all unconscious that the final, irrevocable decision has been pronounced in the sanctuary above.—The Great Controversy, 491 (1911).

When the irrevocable decision of the sanctuary has been pronounced, and the destiny of the world has been forever fixed, the inhabitants of the earth will know it not. The forms of religion will be continued by a people from whom the Spirit of God has been finally withdrawn, and the Satanic zeal with which the prince of evil will inspire them for the accomplishment of his malignant designs, will bear the semblance of zeal for God.—The Great Controversy, 615 (1911). {LDE 231.1-2}

Here is one quote about the time of trouble that is frequently overlooked:

The time of trouble, which is to increase until the end, is very near at hand...—The Review and Herald, November 24, 1904. {LDE 12.1}^[11]

It is talking about the plagues (the time of trouble) which is described as “increasing,” which explains why people do not notice at first that it has already begun.

That is why logical thinking is needed, along with a careful interpretation of the prophetic symbols. Although many Adventist courses teach these truths, and the Adventists have been given the Spirit of Prophecy in the form of Ellen White, they do not handle her statements logically. On the one hand she is (rightly) honored as the great prophetess of the Advent movement—and some Adventists stick to her word stronger than the Bible which she herself referred to as the “greater light”^[12]—while others prefer to see her in the “historical trash heap.”^[13]

Both groups, however, overlook that a clear distinction of literary genre has to be made in her writings too. In particular, Testimonies for the Church, which includes direct advice on specific issues in literal language, has to be understood literally. However, she also had more than 2000 visions and dreams throughout her lifetime, and those had a lot of influence on what she wrote. When she begins a section with “I saw...” then we must be on guard, because it is the beginning of a shift from literal language to prophetic or symbolic language.^[14]

All of Ellen White’s statements about the Sunday Law come from visions that the Lord had showed her, and therefore a literal fulfillment of a pre-plague Sunday Law should never have been expected; everyone should have always been looking for a fulfillment that the text could be pointing to in symbolic form. In plain English: if she was shown a Sunday Law in vision, which implies persecution, then it could mean anything other than a literal Sunday Law as long as it is in logical connection with the symbolism. We showed how Satan used the twin of the Sabbath to tempt the church, and God allowed it to test His church. Not one of the great Adventist theologians recognized this discrepancy in their understanding of Ellen White’s writings. Maybe none of them have ever taken an Adventist or Christian beginner’s Bible course—such as “The Bible for Dummies”!?

The Mark of the Beast

Through the constant fixation that almost verges on bigotry regarding a pre-plague Sunday Law, the professed Advent people numbed themselves to other despicable things that God calls abomination in His Word. That is how it was possible for the ordination of women, LGBT tolerance and a variety of false doctrines to enter the church unnoticed. God allowed that because He wanted to test His people. If the people had been sensitive to recognize God's holiness and the sinfulness of sin, then they would have been crying out at the entrance of the abomination in US national legislation and in the Protestant churches. Unfortunately, the Adventist "loud cry" bomb could have only been detonated by a highly specific trigger: the literal National Sunday Law in the US. Now, it is like a post-war dud buried somewhere beneath the ground, waiting for that one day after the Millennium when a clearing excavator accidentally happens to trigger the detonator. Regardless, the battle over the image of the beast^[15] has long since been fought, and the Adventist Church lost the battle and was overrun by the enemy. She signed her total surrender on July 8, 2015 when she refused to appear for the challenge at Mount Carmel.

As early as 2010 in the Orion study, I dug a little further into the question of who the group of people could be who do not have a clear understanding of what constitutes sin, and I followed the advice to study the fifth chapter of Revelation.

The fifth chapter of Revelation needs to be closely studied. It is of great importance to those who shall act a part in the work of God for these last days. There are some who are deceived. They do not realize what is coming on the earth. Those who have permitted their minds to become beclouded in regard to what constitutes sin are fearfully deceived. Unless they make a decided change they will be found wanting when God pronounces judgment upon the children of men. They have transgressed the law and broken the everlasting covenant, and they will receive according to their works. {9T 267.1}

The Adventist Church broke the commandments of God in a variety of ways (just not the Sabbath, because that would be too obvious). Thus they fell in line with the ranks of the fallen daughters of Babylon, who have "ecumenism" written on their forehead and faithfully shake hands with the pope. Today, there is no difference between the pope's publicly stated 2015 objectives and the current goals of the SDA Church.^[16]

They are still waiting for the mark of the beast, which they understand as the acceptance of Sunday sacredness under penalty of the law enforced by the state governments. But because they interpreted the prophecy that was given to them literally, they did not recognize that the beast of Revelation 17 is the New World Order of the UN. This "beast" (the biblical symbol for a world-dominating power) is being ridden (controlled) by the harlot (the Roman Church under Pope Francis).^[17] That which would have happened literally in the 1880s, if the church would have remained faithful, must now serve as a symbol for the events that we all experienced over the past few years in the judgment of the living from 2012 to 2015.

By understanding who this beast is, namely the United Nations, one also understands what the mark of the beast is. As Sunday is the mark of the legislative authority of the Roman Church, the laws of the United Nations are its mark. The law that was trumpeted everywhere on the 70th anniversary of the United Nations on October 24, 2015 was the tolerance law over the whole planet. That was the High Sabbath at the end of the Orion judgment cycle (the second possibility of the Day of Atonement in 2015, just like in 1844), which was also the beginning of the first day of the Orion plague cycle (October 24/25, 2015). Exactly one month earlier, “Pope” Francis had given his orders for the worldwide establishment of a false tolerance of everyone who is against God’s laws, while clearly advocating intolerance against those whom he designated as having the mental “disease of fundamentalism.”^[18] The new tolerance of human perversions is supported by the followers of the LGBT and women’s ordination movements and the advocates of the uncontrolled streams of “refugees” who are being welcomed with open arms. It is against God’s Word and thus against His law, and so this global legislation of the UN has become the mark of the beast. Anyone who condones those things takes the mark of the beast, and receives the plagues.^[19]

The Adventist Church lost no time with President Ted Wilson snuggling up to Ban Ki-Moon (and therefore also Satan Francis) to assure him of their loyalty. Nearly one hundred thousand Adventists read our report about the leadership’s betrayal of their own people, but almost no one—just a handful—made the church suffer the consequences by leaving it in protest, since it had clearly accepted the mark of the beast.

The Fatal Choice

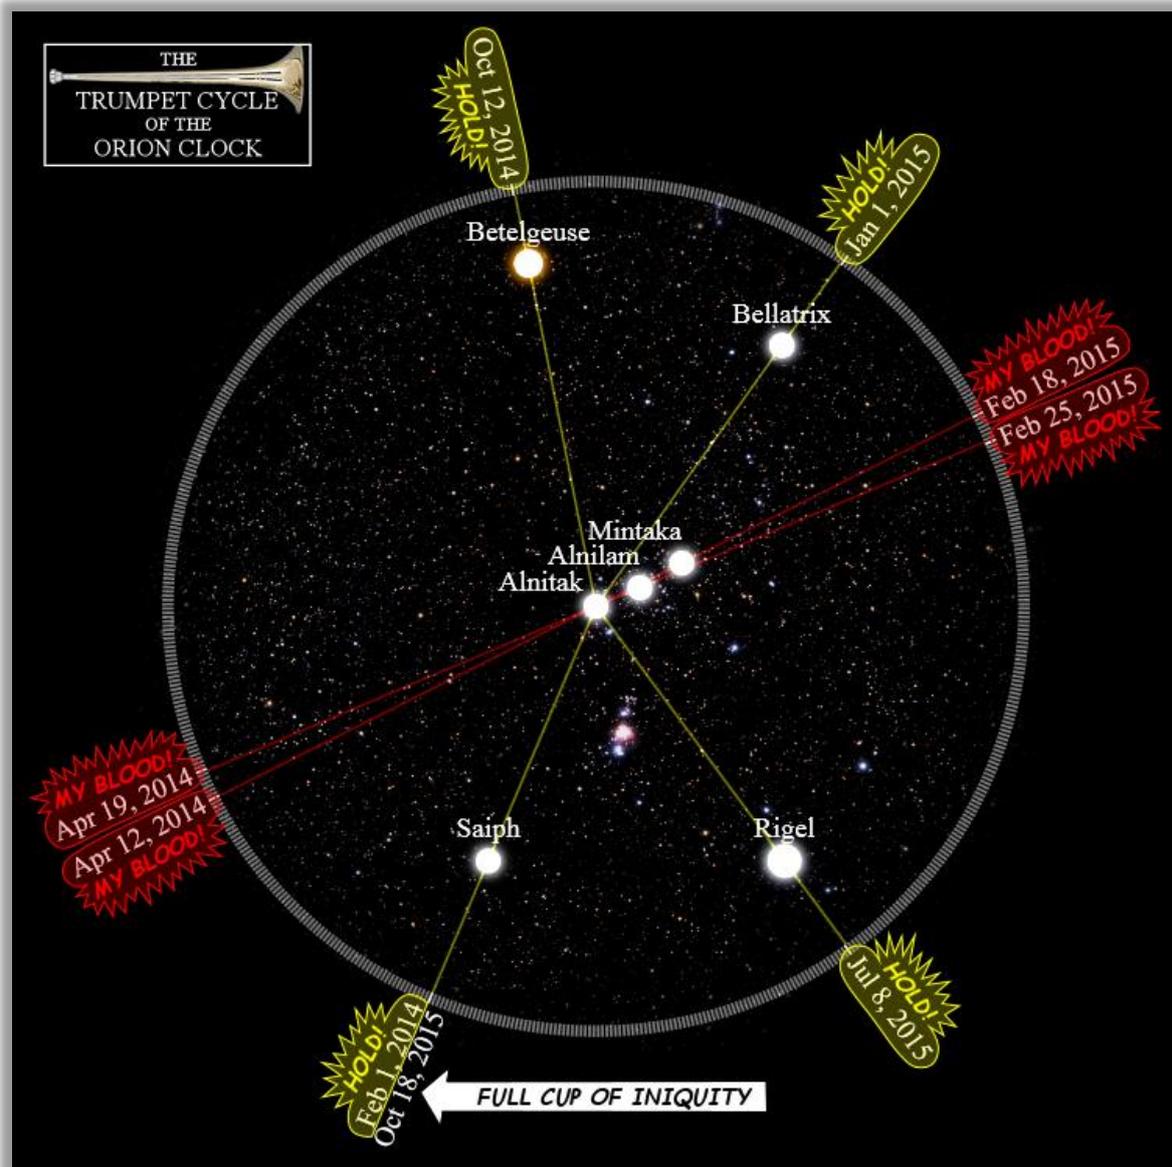

Unsanctified ministers are arraying themselves against God. They are praising Christ and the God of this world in the same breath. While professedly they receive Christ, they embrace Barabbas, and by their actions say, “Not this Man, but Barabbas.” Let all who read these lines, take heed. Satan has made his boast of what he can do. He thinks to dissolve the unity which Christ prayed might exist in His church. He says, “I will go forth and be a lying spirit to deceive those that I can, to criticize, and condemn, and falsify.” Let the son of deceit and false witness be entertained by a church that has had great light, great evidence, and that church will discard the message the Lord has sent, and receive the most unreasonable assertions and false suppositions and false theories. Satan laughs at their folly, for he knows what truth is.

Many will stand in our pulpits with the torch of false prophecy in their hands, kindled from the hellish torch of Satan. If doubts and unbelief are cherished, the faithful ministers will be removed from the people who think they know so much. “If thou hadst known,” said Christ, “even thou, at least in this thy day, the things which belong unto thy peace! but now they are hid from thine eyes.” {TM 409.2-3}

They have become the third rejected people of God. History repeated once more with her: first it was the Jews... then it was Christianity, with the Catholic Church and fallen Protestantism... and finally now the Adventist Church—the seventh church; the spat-out Laodicea.^[20]

We warned for more than five long years, together with the three angels of Revelation 14, about the nearing end of the time of mercy. Then we cried together with the angel of Revelation 18: “Come out of her, my people!” and explained that all the churches have fallen,^[21] as is made clear by the description of the special “144,000” residents of Philadelphia^[22] (which accommodates all the faithful from the beginning of the third angel’s message in 1846 until the second coming of Jesus), for they are virgins, and have not been defiled with women (symbolizing churches).^[23] The echo of our warnings died away unheeded.

We warned many times that the judgments of God could have begun, but we were delivered into the bleating of misguided sheep because Jesus put mercy before justice. Four times He cried “Hold!” and four times He called “My blood!” in the trumpet cycle, from February 2014 to October 2015.

How many times we have been urged to finally give up, but whenever our situation appeared hopeless, a new ray of light came from the throne of God and spurred us on with renewed courage. It fulfills the prophecy of The Shaking:

I saw some, with strong faith and agonizing cries, pleading with God. Their countenances were pale and marked with deep anxiety, expressive of their internal struggle. Firmness and great earnestness was expressed in their countenances; large drops of perspiration fell from their foreheads. Now and then their faces would light up with the marks of God’s approbation, and again the same solemn, earnest, anxious look would settle upon them.

Evil angels crowded around, pressing darkness upon them to shut out Jesus from their view, that their eyes might be drawn to the darkness that surrounded them, and thus they be led to distrust God and murmur against Him. Their only safety was in keeping their eyes directed upward [to Orion]. Angels of God had charge over His people, and as the poisonous atmosphere of evil angels was pressed around these anxious ones, the heavenly angels were continually wafting their wings over them to scatter the thick darkness.

As the praying ones continued their earnest cries, at times a ray of light from Jesus came to them, to encourage their hearts and light up their countenances. Some, I saw, did not participate in this work of agonizing and pleading. They seemed indifferent and careless. They were not resisting the darkness around them, and it shut them in like a thick cloud. The angels of God left these and went to the aid of the earnest, praying ones. I saw angels of God hasten to the assistance of all who were struggling with all their power to resist the evil angels and trying to help themselves by calling upon God with perseverance. But His angels left those who made no effort to help themselves, and I lost sight of them. {EW 269.1–270.1}

Open Questions

Like Elijah, we often ask ourselves: Where are the rest of the 144,000, who should fight with us? Where are they hiding? Are they too cowardly to come out and take their stand as God's witnesses? Or are other Bible students right, in saying that the majority of them are already dead, even though the Spirit of Prophecy^[24] says that they are from among the living who will go through the plagues?^[25]

Today, we know that 144,000 is a highly symbolic number which represents the 12 Adventist pioneers at the beginning of the judgment of the dead and the 12 pioneers of the High Sabbath Adventists at the beginning of the judgment of the living and doesn't indicate an actual number of people. However many they may be, they were all sealed with the Great Seal of God in Orion before the great time of trouble. Now at harvest time in the final phase of Earth's history, they will call out a multitude of people (biblically 1000) from the fallen churches (all of them are fallen!)—these will be people who have consecrated their hearts to God and thus belong to Him.^[26] That was already addressed in the previous article of this last series for the glory of God. How can they still receive the seal of the church of Philadelphia, and what exactly is their duty in these last days? How can they prove their "brotherly love" and thus live up to the name of Philadelphia?

We also asked ourselves: Why didn't God answer the Carmel challenge on July 8, 2015 with fire from heaven, as we expected? Why didn't He confirm the remnant of His people, like He did back then with Elijah? Why didn't He allow us to receive any confirmation of this date, except through the fallen "prophet" who is fiercely fighting against us, Ernie Knoll?^[27] He said clearly that Jesus was about to make things happen on that very day, but once again He gave grace. Why did God allow our "enemy" to confirm us, while our "brethren" were staggering because of their supposed victory and cutting themselves (like the priests of Baal) off from eternal life?

We waited in vain on that day for the earthquake of Revelation 11, which goes hand in hand with the sixth trumpet (the second woe) and should have cleansed the church:

And the same hour was there a great earthquake, and the tenth part of the city fell, and in the earthquake were slain of men seven thousand: and the remnant were affrighted, and gave glory to the God of heaven. (Revelation 11:13)

Why didn't any of this happen? Why didn't the roof of the Alamodome collapse and bury the unfaithful leaders under it? Then, many of the people could have been saved (and through them, many more people). Today we know that the church leadership pulled a trick for greed, to pull themselves out of the noose of their own loyalty to the UN. God responded in His own way: He inflicted the worst possible punishment that a people can receive—He abandoned them and completely gave up on giving the purifying and chastening rebukes that love would have given. There was simply nothing to cleanse anymore. The ship went down with mice and men, or sheep and pastors, respectively.

Did the Carmel Challenge fail, then? Did God also reject His little remnant people, the High Sabbath Adventists? Why didn't the fire fall from heaven? And what about the other Christians? Are they all lost since the door of mercy closed, or is there still hope for them that someone will bring a lifeline message to seal them into the church of Philadelphia?

Like Peter, we happily jumped up when Jesus appeared in the storm on the sea, walking on water and waving to us. We were confident that we could meet Him walking on water too, by showing the same willingness to sacrifice as He did. Like Moses, we willingly offered our eternal lives,^[28] if only the struggle could be won for the sake of the intelligent life in the universe,^[29] and that our Lord would not have died for mankind in vain.

And yet, as we neared the threshold of the plagues and no fire had fallen from the sky at the sixth trumpet, we also began to sink like Peter. We closed the web sites for two times three and a half days, and prayerfully sorted our thoughts. Then the two witnesses rose again. Jesus had taken us by the hand again, and He pulled us out of the darkness of the surrounding waters (peoples, nations, languages^[30]) while we heard the words that were addressed to Peter echoing in the night: "O thou of little faith, wherefore didst thou doubt?"^[31]

That warning prepared most of us for the beginning of the first plague on October 25, 2015, when the expected gamma-ray burst failed to materialize and instead "only" a hurricane (even if it was the greatest in history) blew and relented without causing a big disaster.

And when they [Jesus and Peter] were come into the ship, the wind ceased. (Matthew 14:32)

We could not allow ourselves to be confused by the roaring of the mockers; we had to show faith. This is a faith that has the patience to endure supposed delays, and it is of a quality that corresponds to Jesus' unshakable faith through trials:

Here is the patience of the saints: here are they that keep the commandments of God, and the faith of Jesus. (Revelation 14:12)

We were already in the time of plagues when the Holy Spirit guided us to realize that Jesus had brought us into this situation deliberately, to send us another one of His encouraging beams of light.

At the Fork in the Road

Biblical events which were given to us as types for the last days are not to be considered separately and without context. Jesus' walking on water and Peter's doubt took place between two important events: the feeding of the 5000 and the feeding of the 4000.

Few people know the differences between the two feedings, and therefore they overlook that they represent a fork in the road and a transition between two phases of the preaching of the Gospel.

In its additional comments to Matthew chapter 15, The SDA Bible Commentary analyzed how the feeding of the 5000 still pertained to the Jews, while the feeding of the 4000 was for non-Jews or Gentiles. The Spirit of Prophecy explains why the disciples did not understand that the 4000 would also be fed by a miracle, like the 5000 previously were:

Jesus went up into a mountain, and there the multitude flocked to Him, bringing their sick and lame, and laying them at His feet. He healed them all; and the people, heathen as they were, glorified the God of Israel. For three days they continued to throng about the Saviour, sleeping at night in the open air, and through the day pressing eagerly to hear the words of Christ, and to see His works. At the end of three days their food was spent. Jesus would not send them away hungry, and He called upon His disciples to give them food. Again the disciples revealed their unbelief. At Bethsaida they had seen how, with Christ's blessing, their little store availed for the feeding of the multitude; yet they did not now bring forward their all, trusting His power to multiply it for the hungry crowds. Moreover, those whom He fed at Bethsaida were Jews; these were Gentiles and heathen. Jewish prejudice was still strong in the hearts of the disciples, and they answered Jesus, "Whence can a man satisfy these men with bread here in the wilderness?" But obedient to His word they brought Him what they had,—seven loaves and two fishes. The multitude were fed, seven large baskets of fragments remaining. Four thousand men, besides women and children, were thus refreshed, and Jesus sent them away with glad and grateful hearts. {DA 404.3}

Between the two feedings, the big transition took place from Jesus' ministry in Galilee (the Jewish area) to that of the northern Phoenician region. It happened just one year before His death on the cross.

In the Bible Commentary for Matthew 15:21 we read as follows:

The following incident probably occurred in the late spring of A.D. 30, possibly about the month of May. With the feeding of the 5,000 and the Sermon on the Bread of Life in the synagogue at Capernaum (see on John 6:1, 25), the Galilean ministry reached its climax. The tide of popularity began to turn against Jesus as it had the year before in Judea (see DA 393), and the majority of those who had considered themselves His followers rejected Him (see on John 6:60–66). This had been but a few days before the Passover of that year, which Jesus did not attend (see on Mark 7:1).

The Third Galilean Tour had greatly alarmed the Jewish leaders (see DA 395; see on Mark 6:14). After the Passover a delegation from Jerusalem confronted Jesus with the charge that He was breaking down the religious requirements (see Mark 7:1–23). But He silenced them by revealing their hypocrisy, and they went away in great anger and rage (see DA 398). Their attitude and threats made clear that His life was in danger (DA 398, 401). So in harmony with the counsel He had previously given the disciples He retired from Galilee for a time (see on Matt. 10:14, 23), as He had from Judea the year before when rejected by the leaders there (see on ch. 4:12).

This retirement northward marks the opening of a new period in Christ's ministry, and the close of His ministry in Galilee, to which He had devoted approximately one year, from about the Passover of A.D. 29 to that of A.D. 30. It was now less than one year before His death.

Although the immediate circumstance that prompted Jesus' withdrawal to the region of Phoenicia was the encounter with the scribes and Pharisees from Jerusalem, the journey had positive objectives also. Jesus had a definite purpose not only in leaving Galilee but also in going to the general region of Phoenicia. Now that He had been rejected by the Jews both in Judea and in Galilee, Jesus sought an opportunity to instruct His disciples in laboring for non-Jews. The heathen needed the gospel, and He now began a series of lessons designed to lead the disciples to realize the needs of the heathen and the fact that they too were prospective candidates for the kingdom of heaven.

The withdrawal to Phoenicia provided an excellent opportunity for such instruction (see DA 400). Jesus performed but one miracle during the course of this visit to Phoenicia. This visit, however, was clearly not a missionary journey in the sense that the three tours of Galilee were, for upon arrival Jesus went into seclusion, and planned to keep His presence there a secret (see Mark 7:24).

Jesus' life and ministry are a type for the time of the 144,000. Even we, the High Sabbath Adventists, found ourselves at the crossroads on July 8, 2015, torn between preaching to Seventh-day Adventists, our own people with whom we have a common teaching basis, and preaching to a people that we would describe as the "modern heathens:" apostate Protestants, who are falling toward Catholicism, and the Catholics themselves, with whom faith in Jesus Christ is our only common base, if even that. (Most of them are now looking for a common doctrinal base in the faith of Abraham, to unite with other world religions such as Judaism and Islam.)

We realized that the apostate SDA church is no longer God's people and had become a daughter of Babylon. Ellen White warned that it could happen, even if people always bring quotes that apparently say the opposite.^[32] Therefore, we started to direct our preaching at that time especially to non-Adventist Christians, almost a year before the expected return of the Lord and just before the plagues, as Jesus had shown us by His preaching to the Phoenicians after the Jews had rejected Him and had begun to conspire against Him.

Like Jesus, we were abandoned by many of our professed followers when the Carmel Challenge apparently failed, and we had to bear a lot of accusations on the part of their leaders. Still, when they could not deny the truth of the High Sabbaths and we exposed their hypocrisy in some of our current World News, they removed us from nearly all SDA groups in Facebook and tried to silence us in that way. It had become impossible for us to offer the messages of God from heaven, as merchandise in the "world market."

It's also noteworthy how Jesus clearly indicates with His behavior that it really is about the time of plagues, when we were to call out the last of the people of God from the other churches: "...Jesus went into seclusion, and planned to keep His presence there a secret."

Come, my people, enter thou into thy chambers, and shut thy doors about thee: hide thyself as it were for a little moment, until the indignation be overpast. (Isaiah 26:20)

Now let's take a brief look at the biblical symbolism of the numbers associated with the feeding of the 5000 and 4000, and what they could mean.

In the feeding of the 5000, we have the numbers: 5 loaves and 2 fish = 7 units of nourishment with 12 baskets left over. The diligent student will immediately notice that we have figures from the Orion study in front of us. The number of Jesus (7) and the number of the covenant (12) are clearly present. If we multiply them, we will get $7 \times 12 = 84$, which represents half of the result of the Orion-formula, the 168-year duration of the judgment of the dead.

A logical and very nice hint comes out of this too. In His preaching to the Jews, Jesus only fulfilled the first part of the covenant, while the second part should be fulfilled by the High Sabbath Adventists during the time of judgment of the living from May 2012 to October 2015. The investigative judgment came to an end only through the straight testimony of the True Witness, when Jesus spoke from heaven (Orion), and all living Adventists were shaken and brought to the point of decision.

I asked the meaning of the shaking I had seen and was shown that it would be caused by the straight testimony called forth by the counsel of the True Witness to the Laodiceans. This will have its effect upon the heart of the receiver, and will lead him to exalt the standard and pour forth the straight truth. Some will not bear this straight testimony. They will rise up against it, and this is what will cause a shaking among God's people. {EW 270.2}

In the feeding of the 4000 heathens, we have the number of Jesus (7) again in the seven loaves. Interestingly, there is no mention of the number of fish in the biblical text. However, we get the number 7 again in the leftover baskets. Due to the fact that this feeding was for the heathen nations, it stands to reason that it is about the trumpet cycle^[33] with the seven trumpets, during which time we began to withdraw more and more from the Adventist Church because of their rejection of God's message. The seven baskets remaining would then stand for the time of the seven last plagues, where the remnants of the message can also reach the remnant of the people of God, and will provide spiritual nourishment in the time of spiritual hunger for them.^[34] In the previous article, Brother Gerhard explained when these days of the wheat harvest will begin.

There are some other significant differences between the two feedings which support such an interpretation. For example, the feeding of the 5000 was carried out in a green grassland, while the feeding of the 4000 happened in the dry desert—which symbolizes the time of plagues.

Which group of people received Jesus' teachings better? The Jews or the Gentiles? The number of leftover baskets indicates that the Jews, although they were greater in number, left over much more food (doctrines) than the group of heathens (only seven instead of twelve baskets). Thus history has repeated (or will repeat): The Adventists left 12 baskets over, which means that they have left or forsaken the covenant (12). However, those who accepted the truth during the trumpet cycle and those who will yet receive it in the plague cycle, will reach perfection in Jesus (7).

The loaves symbolize the Orion message in which Jesus shows His body with His wounds in Orion. The fish represent the blood of Christ or His DNA, which is replicated in His true followers who understand and accept the High Sabbath List.

Those who have no part in these final messages of Christ and His sacrifice^[35] have no part in His body (bread) and blood (fish = DNA), and will not inherit the kingdom of heaven. The only ones who truly keep the Last Supper are those who know how to interpret the signs in the heavens and are ready to give their (eternal) life for others.

December 16, 1848, the Lord gave me a view of the shaking of the powers of the heavens. I saw that when the Lord said “heaven,” in giving the signs recorded by Matthew, Mark, and Luke, He meant heaven, and when He said “earth” He meant earth. The powers of heaven are the sun, moon, and stars. They rule in the heavens. The powers of earth are those that rule on the earth. The powers of heaven will be shaken at the voice of God. Then the sun, moon, and stars will be moved out of their places. They will not pass away, but be shaken by the voice of God.

Dark, heavy clouds came up and clashed against each other. The atmosphere parted and rolled back; then we could look up through the open space in Orion, whence came the voice of God. The Holy City will come down through that open space.... {EW 41.1-2}

The courses of the sun and moon determined the table of the High Sabbaths in the Vessel of Time according to the specific instructions of the feast days of the Lord in the Bible.^[36] They taught us the history of Seventh-day Adventism and many of its important points of belief, which are necessary for salvation.

The stars of Orion unfurled the book of the seven seals and told us the history of mankind, from the beginning of the creation of man, across the time of the judgment and all the way to the end of the world. No, the heavenly bodies have not passed away nor been destroyed, but they did cause the shaking. God’s people were swept away when they should have trembled at His voice. Most people only heard thunder without understanding any meaning behind it. What a pity!

The living saints, 144,000 in number, knew and understood the voice, while the wicked thought it was thunder and an earthquake. When God spoke the time, He poured upon us the Holy Ghost, and our faces began to light up and shine with the glory of God, as Moses’ did when he came down from Mount Sinai. {EW 14.1}

We were at the crossroads and decided to continue going along the stony way that involves willingness to sacrifice.

Often we hesitate, unwilling to give all that we have, fearing to spend and to be spent for others. But Jesus has bidden us, “Give ye them to eat.” His command is a promise; and behind it is the same power that fed the multitude beside the sea.

In Christ’s act of supplying the temporal necessities of a hungry multitude is wrapped up a deep spiritual lesson for all His workers. Christ received from the Father; He imparted to the disciples; they imparted to the multitude; and the people to one another. So all who are united to Christ will receive from Him the bread of life, the heavenly food, and impart it to others. {DA 369.2-3}

Did you take the same path as we did, and were you wakefully watching with Jesus before the time of trouble came? Then you probably also received the Great Seal and belong to the “144,000” wise^[37] who will now feed the great multitude. If not, now you have the chance to eat the food that the unwise have left over.

The Night Watches

The new discoveries that are revealed in this final series of articles were given to us mainly at the commencement of the second plague (the first pair of throne lines marking December 2-5, 2015 on the plague cycle) and the feast of lights, Hanukkah, (from December 7-14, 2015^[38]). It came through the influence of the Holy Spirit, like the light that came through the miracle of the oil,^[39] so we think that it is still the Lord's will for us to pass it on to you.

If we are still too blind to recognize the full light of the sun Alnitak,^[40] then the Lord sends dreams that lighten our pathway to Bible truth. One such dream led us to the story of Jesus walking on water and to the understanding that it corresponds to July 8, 2015, when we and the SDA Church stood at the fork in the road like Peter. Still, it took a certain time till we were permitted to recognize that the Lord's precise timing is connected with that event.

And in the fourth watch of the night

Jesus went unto them, walking on the sea. (Matthew 14:25)

As we read that, we should remember that Ellen G. White made a clear statement about the night watches in relation to her time:

I saw that watch after watch was in the past. Because of this, should there be a lack of vigilance? Oh, no! There is the greater necessity of unceasing watchfulness, for now the moments are fewer than before the passing of the first watch. Now the period of waiting is necessarily shorter than at first. If we watched with unabated vigilance then, how much more need of double watchfulness in the second watch. The passing of the second watch has brought us to the third, and now it is inexcusable to abate our watchfulness. The third watch calls for threefold earnestness. To become impatient now would be to lose all our earnest, persevering watching heretofore. The long night of gloom is trying; but the morning is deferred in mercy, because if the Master should come, so many would be found unready. God's unwillingness to have His people perish has been the reason for so long delay. But the coming of the morning to the faithful, and of the night to the unfaithful, is right upon us. By waiting and watching, God's people are to manifest their peculiar character, their separation from the world. By our watching position we are to show that we are truly strangers and pilgrims upon the earth. The difference between those who love the world and those who love Christ is so plain as to be unmistakable. While worldlings are all earnestness and ambition to secure earthly treasure, God's people are not conformed to the world, but show by their earnest, watching, waiting position that they are transformed; that their home is not in this world, but that they are seeking a better country, even a heavenly. {2T 193.3}

The statement that the Adventists were already in the third watch, was according to a vision in 1868. Now we must harmonize all of the four night watches with this date and with the assurance that we were already in the fourth night watch on July 8, 2015.

In our toolbox, we need the knowledge that the Jews divided up the night watches into three shifts, while the gospels speak of four night watches according to the practice of the Romans. Since we were led to this study through the Bible verse with Peter, we should take four night watches—not to copy the Romans, but to stay with the biblical model. With four divisions, the night watches span the following times: sunset to 9 o'clock p.m., 9 o'clock p.m. until midnight, midnight to 3 o'clock a.m., and 3 o'clock a.m. until sunrise.

A Difficult Topic

While we were discussing this issue in our study forum, we noticed that the night watches are apparently oriented close to the Orion cycles. We saw, for example, good agreement with the events of the Great Orion Cycle that began with the creation of Adam and ended with the first coming of Jesus. Waiting for Jesus' first coming was certainly part of the "first watch." The second watch could have been the next period of waiting for the second coming of Jesus, which could have ended with William Miller's prediction regarding Jesus' return in 1844. That night watch would largely correspond to the Christian era, and thus the "outside" part of the Book of Seven Seals. The third night watch would then settle in at the beginning of the investigative judgment. Again, it would have begun and ended at the borders of an Orion cycle. The statement of Ellen White above, that the church was in the third watch in 1868, would harmonize with that. Therefore, we concluded that the dream that indicated to us that July 8, 2015 is a date within the fourth night watch must hint that the Orion trumpet cycle portrays the fourth night watch.

Although it will turn out that the last conclusion is in fact correct, there are some problems with the view that all night watches are aligned to the beginning and end of Orion cycles:

The Great Orion Cycle begins with the creation of Adam and ends with the birth of Jesus, but Adam and Eve did not begin to wait and watch for Jesus until they had fallen into sin. They still had perfect communion with Him prior to that time. Neither did the night watch end when Jesus was born, because His ministry did not begin until about 30 years later. The real purpose of waiting during the night watch was to see the establishment of His kingdom and the end of sin.

In the Christian era, we have a problem determining when the second night watch began. Was it with Jesus' death on the cross in the year 31?^[41] Was it at the closing of the door of mercy for the Jewish nation in the year 34 and the beginning of Paul's preaching to the non-Jews? Or was it even as late as the destruction of Jerusalem in A.D. 70? The end of this second night watch is not as clear as it might seem at first glance either. Could Jesus have really come in 1844, when Ellen White says that it was "only a test" for the faithful, and in truth it was the beginning of the investigative judgment in heaven? Or could Jesus have come even before 1844? We have no biblical evidence for any such scenario.

What about the judgment cycle of the Orion Clock, where the 1868 statement of Ellen White comes into play, saying that this year pertained already to the time of the third night watch? What should we do with the Sabbath question, which didn't really begin to be prominent until 1846? And in 1856, Ellen White said that the church had become Laodicea... is that something we need to consider too? In that vein, if the third night watch began in 1844 or 1846, why didn't the great Adventist prophetess receive the hint in vision until about 20 years later? In this cycle, we also have the definite possibility that Jesus could have come in 1890! Did the third night watch end with that, and the fourth begin? Then, the idea would be flawed that the next Orion cycle (the trumpet cycle) represents the fourth night watch, and the dream date of July 8, 2015 would be rather unimportant, or given very late as a hint.

Some brought up the idea that the night watches could be aligned to the messages of the angels of Revelation 14, but then the first and second night watches would come together at their end and would have lasted only a few years, while the third from 1846 (the Sabbath truth) would have lasted until 2010, when the Orion message began. Or should we take 1888 instead, the year that was mentioned by Ellen White as the beginning of the fourth angel's message? How could it be that she said that we are now (during the third night watch) much closer to the “morning” of His coming than as in the first or second night watch, since those ones were so brief and the third or fourth were many years longer?

All of those approaches pose difficulties and certainly come with more questions than answers. Nonetheless, the problem of the night watches is a very interesting topic for well-grounded time setters and those who are interested in biblical prophecy!

The Watchman's Signal

When I prayed about this topic, it became clear that we would need a sign to differentiate the night watches—a clear signal that would indicate that one night watch had ended, and another one had started. I instantly remembered that the night watchmen in old Europe gave signals to keep the people calm and show that they were on guard.^[42] Bells were sounded aboard ships too,^[43] which aligned with the watches of the guard.

Then I did some research and immediately found that both the Jews and the Romans announced their change of guard with trumpets or horns. In the Agape Bible Study course, we find a very interesting piece on the customs in Bible times. I quote:

The end of each watch, and the beginning of the next was signaled by a trumpet blast. The Third Watch was from Midnight to 3AM. At the close of the Third Watch a signal was given by the Roman guards—a trumpet was blown to signal the end of the Watch and the change of the guard. This trumpet blast at the end of the Third Watch was called the “gallicinium” or “the cockcrow”. If Jesus was identifying the time of Peter’s last denial as just before “the cock crows,” it could not mean a specific time—roosters are notoriously unpredictable in their crowing, and there was a rabbinic ordinance against keeping chickens within the walls of the Holy City because it was feared that their scratching would produce “unclean things,” thereby violating the purity laws (J. Jeremias, Jerusalem in the Time of Jesus, page 47, note 44). However, if Jesus was referring to the gallicinium, “the hour of the cockcrow” this was a precise military signal (Anchor Bible: The Gospel According to John, page 828). St. Mark’s Gospel includes an additional detail. In Mark 14:30 Jesus says: In truth I tell you, this day, this very night, before the cock crows twice, you will have disowned me three times. And then records the fulfillment of Jesus prophecy in Mark 14:71–72: But he started cursing and swearing, ‘I do not know the man you speak of.’ And at once the cock crowed for the second time... The Mishnah, the record of the oral traditions and Temple service, identify the “cockcrow” as a signal. In the Jerusalem Temple, it was at the signal of the cockcrow that the priest who was the superintendent for the morning service alerted the priests who were serving in the morning liturgical service to ritually bathe and dress in their liturgical garments (Mishnah: Tamid 1:2).

According to that study, the second crow of the cock that Jesus spoke about would have been the Roman signal that was to come from the watchman a little later. The more we understand the customs of that time, the clearer our view of Bible prophecy is. That is only natural since it uses the language of that era in its symbolism. God has given us clear signals to indicate the change of guard: the trumpets of Revelation.

In his book The Ends of Time, the Adventist author, Eugene Shubert, deals with the subject of the night watches, among other things, and connects them to the seals, trumpets, and plagues of Revelation. I agree with his basic idea, but I want to refine it with the additional knowledge that we have today from our many years of study. Anyone who wants to study the issue more deeply than it is possible to do in the context of an article should get that book.

The Start of a Long Night

The first night watch began exactly 66 years and 6 months (666) after the start of the Great Orion Cycle with God's promise to Adam and Eve that the Messiah would come.^[44] Mankind had to wait 4000 years until He actually came. If the Jews had recognized and believed Him, then all of the biblical prophecies concerning the Messiah and salvation would have been fulfilled at the time of Jesus' first advent.

But we speak the wisdom of God in a mystery, even the hidden wisdom, which God ordained before the world unto our glory: Which none of the princes of this world knew: for had they known it, they would not have crucified the Lord of glory. (1 Corinthians 2:7-8)

Since Jesus was rejected by his own people, given to crucifixion and killed, the waiting time had first of all to be extended about 1800 years. The people who rejected Him were condemned by God and had to go into the diaspora, a long arduous wandering in the "wilderness." The door of mercy was closed for those people in the year 34 A.D. in accordance with Daniel's 70-week prophecy, and God's judgments began later in 70 A.D. when Jerusalem was destroyed. That destruction is categorized by many interpreters as the first (classical) trumpet of Revelation. Ellen White even begins her greatest work, The Great Controversy, with that sad chapter about God's former people. The trumpets were thus a punishment for the apostate people, and at the same time they were the signal for the guard change from the first night watch to the second. Although other interpreters have the trumpets beginning later with the decline of the Roman Empire, I personally like the interpretation where the first trumpet goes with the destruction of Jerusalem...

For the time is come that judgment must begin at the house of God: and if it first begin at us, what shall the end be of them that obey not the gospel of God? (1 Peter 4:17)

Thus, the second watch started on the day of the first trumpet blast of the seven classical trumpets of Revelation, wherein the Jews were especially punished, and later the Romans (first the Empire and later the Church). We can even put a historically accurate date to the changing of the guard: it was at Passover in 70 A.D. with the siege of the city, including all people who were within its walls. It became a never-to-be-forgotten massacre.

The blind obstinacy of the Jewish leaders, and the detestable crimes perpetrated within the besieged city, excited the horror and indignation of the Romans, and Titus at last decided to take the temple by storm. He determined, however, that if possible it should be saved from destruction. But his commands were disregarded. After he had retired to his tent at night, the Jews, sallying from the temple, attacked the soldiers without. In the struggle, a firebrand was flung by a soldier through an opening in the porch, and immediately the cedar-lined chambers about the holy house were in a blaze. Titus rushed to the place, followed by his generals and legionaries, and commanded the soldiers to quench the flames. His words were unheeded. In their fury the soldiers hurled blazing brands into the chambers adjoining the temple, and then with their swords they slaughtered in great numbers those who had found shelter there. Blood flowed down the temple steps like water. Thousands upon thousands of Jews perished. Above the sound of battle, voices were heard shouting: "Ichabod!"—the glory is departed. {GC 33.1}

One should note that the first watch did not start with a trumpet blast. The first trumpet blast was for the change to the second watch. That corresponds to the biblical arrangement of the seven trumpets, which are preceded by the description of the seven churches and seven seals.

It is not surprising to us that at this point, Eugene Shubert gets into trouble with his theory. Based on the previously existing knowledge within Adventism, there are no other trumpets that could be used to indicate another change of guard. Thus, their interpretations wither away to the spiritual nirvana of an incomplete view of the truth.

We, by contrast, know that there are two other extremely important repetitions of the seven trumpets of Revelation: the repetition of the trumpets during the judgment cycle of the Orion Clock according to the model of Jericho, and the Orion Clock's trumpet cycle itself, which was given to us along with the plague cycle on the date of the coming down of the Fourth Angel. That makes it quite easy for us to accurately determine the dates of the next guard changes and to comprehend the resulting harmonies in all their prophetic beauty.

The Second Change of Guard

Let's recap what Eugene Shubert says about the second night watch:

The second cycle, the Seven Trumpets (shofars), articulate the idea that Christ could have come after the Protestant Reformation and its (conditional) culmination in the Millerite Movement, had the believers "after the great disappointment in 1844, held fast their faith, and followed on unitedly in the opening providence of God, receiving the message of the third angel and in the power of the Holy Spirit proclaiming it to the world..."^[45]

The condition was that the Millerite leadership, as well as those who had experienced the worldwide prophetic awakening, had to accept the Sabbath as a biblically-binding truth for salvation. If they had done so, then Christ would have actually come in the years after 1846. Instead, unfortunately, the Protestants rejected the prophetic light about the investigative judgment on the grounds of the supposed disappointment, and they henceforth condemned any and all time-setting. Shortly thereafter they rejected the Sabbath as well, and surrendered completely into the hands of Rome and the Roman Emperor, Satan.

Since Eugene Shubert ran out of trumpets, he had to reach deep into his bag of tricks to explain the end of the second prophetic night watch; he applied the seven plagues of Revelation to the time of the judgment, which is then his third night watch. There is no fourth night watch for him, and he also ignores the fact that Ellen White said that Christ would come "in the morning," i.e. after the fourth night watch.

In 2010, I was already saying the following in the Orion presentation, which is on slide 176 (of the current version):

For those who have not noticed it yet: We also had four trumpets (wars) in the four time periods of the first four seals. 1861 - The American Civil War, 1914 - First World War, 1939 - Second World War and since 1980, two Gulf Wars and since 2001 the war against terrorism.

Again we have a signal—a trumpet blast—which indicates when the change occurred from the second night watch to the third: the first trumpet of the repetition of the trumpets in the judgment cycle of the Orion Clock—the beginning of the Civil War in the United States.

As all Adventists know, the United States is the prophetic “wilderness” of Revelation 12:6, where the Protestants who had been pursued by the papacy in Europe fled to. The punishment began exactly “at the house” of another apostate people of God, who decided to keep the counterfeit Sabbath of Rome. Now it was the Protestants whose works had not been found perfect before God.^[46] God’s judgments, the following trumpets of that cycle, then extended over the whole world in two (or three) terrible world wars. That is all denied in the Adventist Church’s existing incomplete interpretation of prophecy.

But now, everything is very harmonious. We learned on slide 125 of the Orion presentation that Adventism in 1861, with its headquarters in the US, was already in the state of apostasy. I quoted directly from the White Estate:

In the early years after the 1844 experience, Sabbatarian Adventists identified themselves as the church of Philadelphia, other Adventists as Laodiceans, and non-Adventists as Sardis. However, by 1854 Ellen White was led to point out that “the remnant were not prepared for what is coming upon the earth. Stupidity, like lethargy, seemed to hang upon the minds of most of those who profess to believe that we are having the last message. . . . Ye suffer your minds to be diverted too readily from the work of preparation and the all-important truths for these last days.” By 1856 James White, Uriah Smith, and J. H. Waggoner were clearly telling the young Adventist groups that the Laodicean message applied to Sabbatarian Adventists as well as others who were “lukewarm” in their Christian experience. They, too, needed thorough repentance. Further, they combined in their conclusion that the third angel’s message was the final message to the “rebellious world,” and the Laodicean message was the final message to a “lukewarm church.”

So God responded again, according to His Word which says that the judgments of God begin at the house of God. He allowed Satan to instigate one of the bloodiest brother-against-brother wars of world history right in the heart of Protestantism. The trumpet blast at the beginning of the third night watch killed more than 620,000 Americans in the years 1861-1865, in the largest and most destructive conflict which the United States has ever experienced.^[47]

The judgment cycle of the Orion Clock shows the last year of the second guard change as a throne line, thus simultaneously referring to the God-ordained establishment of the SDA organization in the United States.

The Darkness after Midnight

Now it is clear that the hint Ellen White received from God about being in the third watch in 1868 was neither too early nor too late. Adventists had overlooked the changing of the guard, because they did not recognize the repetition of the seals and trumpets on the last day’s march around Jericho, which represents the time of the judgment. That is why God gave them the hint: so they could ponder it and discover the truth. Unfortunately, to this day they have not done so—more than 150 years later.

In 1890, Christ could have come during the third watch. That is shown clearly by the Vessel of Time, a.k.a. the High Sabbath List. However, the Adventist Church did not accept the light of the Fourth Angel (the Holy Spirit) in 1888 at the infamous General Conference Session in Minneapolis, and thus it missed the opportunity. God still did not shut their door of mercy till much later, though. Twice more they had the chance to appreciate the light. We refer to pastors Wieland and Short, who attempted to revive the message of 1888 in the 1950s,^[48] as well as M.L. Andreasen, who forged a large part of the Last Generation Theology.^[49] They were all silenced—like Waggoner and Jones in 1888—and such has been the case with us, too since 2010, in what has now been Jesus' third attempt to bestow the light of the Fourth Angel in all its splendor.

Over and over again, we contemplated to know when it was that God had finally rejected the Adventist Church organization as His church. The prolificacy of the church's offenses made the possibilities many, and we were always able to find new surprise dates that revealed abominations in the church. Each time, they were so bad that we were convinced that the church probably finally lost its favor with God, and their punishment would surely begin. However, the night watches clearly teach us that there is always some amount of time between God's rejection of the church and the actual punishment, which comes in the form of the following trumpets.

The trumpet cycle of the Orion Clock indicated the beginning of the fourth night watch. It began on February 1, 2014, the same day we received the light concerning it.^[50] That means that the door of mercy for the church organization must have closed beforehand.

In the article The End of the Seventh-day Adventist Church, we reported on the SDA organization's terrible violation of the Sabbath commandment on the day of the sevenfold-holy High Sabbath of October 27, 2012. That was mercy's limit for the SDA organization, as is indicated by the organization's matching triplets in the High Sabbath List (its foundation in 1861-1863 and its spiritual end 2010-2012).^[51]

Later, we realized that God gave yet an additional year of mercy according to Luke 13 (see the addendum to the same article). That means the door of mercy for the church had closed definitively on October 27, 2013, after Pope Francis had already reigned seven months in the Vatican. The Chelyabinsk meteor was not able to shake the Adventist people from their deep sleep, and neither was the takeover of the Vatican by a Jesuit General, who is even the leader of the hosts of evil in very person.

At that time, we knew nothing of how the night watches worked nor that the closing door of mercy must always be some amount of time before the punishment is meted out. Therefore, we kept looking for a visible sign of punishment upon the church to mark the closing of their door of mercy, as some of our articles reflect. Nevertheless, God had already given a clear sign on October 26/27, 2013. He visibly confirmed before the world that He had given the candlestick to a small group of loyal people. From that time on, not only should the voice of God issue forth from Paraguay, but also His authority in the form of the new leadership of His true church.

The people of the Seventh-day Adventist Church were rejected by God because of negligence in the selection of their leaders, like the Jews and professed Christians before them, and the little flock of High Sabbath Adventists was now to stand guard in the subsequent night watch.

The WAY to Daybreak

The question still remains, what was the terrible punishment for the SDA church? What befell her on January 31/February 1, 2014, which could compare to the change of guard in the other night watches? What was the terrible trumpet blast, which comes anywhere close to the carnage that was seen in the destruction of Jerusalem or the bloodshed of the American Civil War?

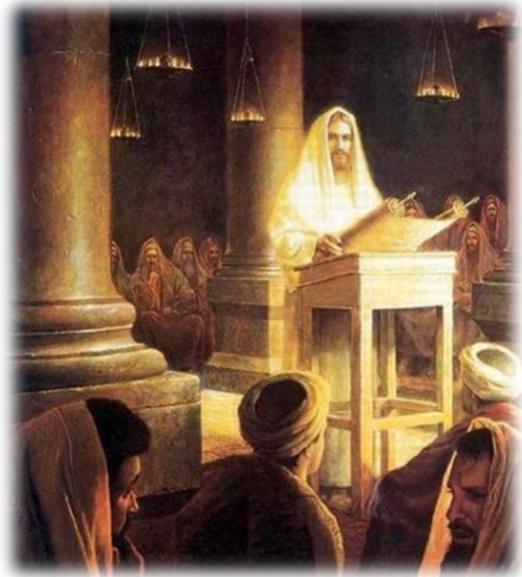

To understand this, one must consider the first two trumpet blasts on a spiritual level. The Jews were punished with the destruction of their sanctuary, the temple in Jerusalem, by the first trumpet blast of the second night watch. They were deprived of the thing they revered the most, which constituted the center of their religion and hope. Even today, the headlines are often full of fruitless endeavors of that people to rebuild the temple that was taken away from them nearly 2000 years ago.^[52] They will never succeed, because they rejected the One who made the temple shine more gloriously than even Solomon's:

The glory of this latter house shall be greater than of the former, saith the LORD of hosts: and in this place will I give peace, saith the LORD of hosts. (Haggai 2:9)

Jesus Christ came as the Messiah. He preached in the second temple which Haggai prophesied of. As the Son of God, His presence made the temple more glorious than the first, because all the glory of God, His incarnate Son, walked and taught in it. That was not the only prophecy that was fulfilled, however, but also the following one:

Behold, your house is left unto you desolate. For I say unto you, Ye shall not see me henceforth, till ye shall say, Blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord. (Matthew 23:38-39)

They had rejected Jesus as the Messiah, so also their symbol of Him was taken away. For centuries they had been praying for the coming of the Messiah to this temple, but then He came and they crucified Him, rather than receiving Him with all honor and letting Him establish His kingdom with their help.

The Christians did the same as the Jews. They built a worldwide church which was full of pomp and filthy lucre. They replaced spiritual teachings with material vacuum. Church after church of Revelation, seal after seal, they sank only deeper into spiritual darkness until the Reformation formed a silver glow on the horizon. But Luther failed on the Sabbath question at the Council of Trent,^[53] and they had not learned more by the time the investigative judgment began on October 22, 1844. Jesus went into the heavenly temple, which is not made by human hands, into the Most Holy Place as the High Priest for the heavenly Day of Atonement,^[54] and they still did not recognize Him. They had no spiritual eyesight to penetrate the haze of tradition and uninspired interpretations of prophecy. They recognized neither that the great final phase of human history had begun on schedule, nor that their disappointment in 1844 was only a test to divide the fearful of judgment from the lovers of truth.

Instead of searching for the cause of their disappointment by wrestling with God, as Hiram Edson and the Advent pioneers did,^[55] they gave themselves up to Satan's unholy influence and remained in the Holy Place of the heavenly sanctuary, spiritually, stuck in the time of Jesus' old ministry, which He had started in the year 31. The door to the Most Holy had closed for them, but it was wide open for those^[56] who were willing to follow Jesus—the WAY^[57]—whithersoever He goeth.^[58]

Thus, it became impossible for them to see the Ark with the Ten Commandments, before which Jesus was now standing and interceding for the investigative judgment. When it was opened and the fourth commandment about the Sabbath on the first table of stone shone with special brilliance,^[59] they were blind to God's radiant light and refused it. The Sabbath would have brought them into discord with the sun-worshipping "brethren", and thus the Sunday-keeping Catholic Church. To avoid a war between brothers, they kept on worshipping on a day that was never sanctified by God.^[60] They rejected Jesus in the Most Holy Place, and they rejected the Sabbath commandment^[61] along with the One who is the Lord of the Sabbath.^[62]

The Protestants of the United States, where God had prepared a "wilderness" for them to flee from 1260 years of papacy-inflicted carnage, had been spared from the bloodshed that they would have faced in Europe. But now, after God's waiting time of 17 years, they were deprived of what they loved most: peace and life. The test of 1844 revealed that most of them followed Jesus only because they were afraid to lose their (eternal) life. When the topic of the Sabbath came up, they denied Jesus their allegiance, because they had already been deprived of the Holy Spirit. Satan was free to exercise his unholy influence over them:

I saw the Father rise from the throne, and in a flaming chariot go into the holy of holies within the veil, and sit down. Then Jesus rose up from the throne, and the most of those who were bowed down arose with Him. I did not see one ray of light pass from Jesus to the careless multitude after He arose, and they were left in perfect darkness. Those who arose when Jesus did, kept their eyes fixed on Him as He left the throne and led them out a little way. Then He raised His right arm, and we heard His lovely voice saying, "Wait here; I am going to My Father to receive the kingdom; keep your garments spotless, and in a little while I will return from the wedding and receive you to Myself." Then a cloudy chariot, with wheels like flaming fire, surrounded by angels, came to where Jesus was. He stepped into the chariot and was borne to the holiest, where the Father sat. There I beheld Jesus, a great High Priest, standing before the Father. On the hem of His garment was a bell and a pomegranate, a bell and a pomegranate. Those who rose up with Jesus would send up their faith to Him in the holiest, and pray, "My Father, give us Thy Spirit." Then Jesus would breathe upon them the Holy Ghost. In that breath was light, power, and much love, joy, and peace.

I turned to look at the company who were still bowed before the throne; they did not know that Jesus had left it. Satan appeared to be by the throne, trying to carry on the work of God. I saw them look up to the throne, and pray, "Father, give us Thy Spirit." Satan would then breathe upon them an unholy influence; in it there was light and much power, but no sweet love, joy, and peace. Satan's object was to keep them deceived and to draw back and deceive God's children. {EW 55.1–56.1}

The temple that they built was also left unto them desolate, because the Holy Spirit had withdrawn from them. So they, too, followed Satan and still believe to this day that the time does not matter and should not be mentioned in the interpretation of prophecy. If they had recognized the time of their visitation,^[63] however, then they would have also seen that the commandments of God are binding, and that they were being judged by them since 1844. The headlines today are full of their fruitless attempts to build up complete unity through ecumenism with Satan's religion of sun-worship, which is Catholicism. Their cry for peace is: "We are all brothers!" But their call to unity with the world religions^[64] by the Christ-defying^[65] Lucifer "Francis" will be stifled in the streams of blood that will flow from the grape harvest very soon.^[66] There can be no peace between brothers at the expense of God's Law, and nobody who rejected His commandments could be a brother of Jesus, because that would have meant to reject Him as High Priest, who stood before the Ark of the Covenant in the Holy of Holies in the heavenly sanctuary.^[67]

Let's come back to the question about the punishment for the Adventist Church. What was it that the church was waiting on for 150 years, as Ted Wilson repeatedly stressed in his sermons?^[68] Which initiatives were pushed in recent years, which would have caused the promised and long-awaited "reformation" in the church? Yes, there were initiatives like "Operation Global Rain"^[69] and the prayer for the outpouring of the Holy Spirit in the latter rain, which became the dearest child of Adventists. They saw that the church had no strength, and that it could only come from the Holy Spirit, but they did not pray in truth.^[70] More and more, they adulterated the truth. Therefore, the Angel of Revelation 18, who is none other than the expected Holy Spirit in the latter rain, could not be poured out on them.

The messages that were to precede the outpouring of the latter rain were repeatedly rejected. The Orion message, the Vessel of Time and the message of our high calling should have paved the way for the coming down of the Holy Spirit according to Revelation 18:1, in the same way that John the Baptist and William Miller both paved the way to follow Christ whithersoever He goeth.

The church should be punished again now with exactly what they longed for the most. When God gave the trumpet blast, we High Sabbath Adventists were given the light of the trumpet and plague cycles from Orion on January 31, 2014. It was not given to the SDA church. Instead of the SDA church, we received the knowledge of the last major waymarks that should come before the end of the world. We received the Holy Spirit, who alone can bring this knowledge and keep it in the heart, because the milestones of these very last trumpets should test the faith at the same time; no one can please God without faith. Four times "Hold!" and four times "My blood!" kept the four winds from blowing till all of the 144,000 were sealed. Most Adventists would have given anything to see the proof of their faith! How much would the Global Rain prayer warriors have given to see the Sunday Law in the U.S.!? That is the event which they believed would start the latter rain, and all of a sudden, faithfulness to God would have sprung up out of nowhere!

No sign shall be given to a wicked and adulterous generation, so the greatest divine punishment upon this apostate LGBT- and women's-ordination-supportive church was a trumpet cycle wherein the trumpets were only audible to others, who would recognize Jesus at the end of the cycle as the King crowned in the seventh trumpet.^[71] Instead of the voice of God in the trumpets, most heard only the distant thundering of what was in their estimation an insignificant little group in a little-known country in South America. They denied the evidence and harmony and set a different king over them: Satan in person, namely Pope Francis.

They committed the unpardonable sin against the Holy Ghost,^[72] and were thus deprived of Him, like the other two former people of God before them. This One—the Person of the Holy Spirit—for whom they had prayed with all their strength, was given to others on the date of His coming down to the earth in the form of the great light of the Angel of Revelation 18. High Sabbath

Adventists were the only ones who started to sound the loud cry and call Adventists one last time to come out of their church that had become Babylon.

That was our great work till October 17, 2015. Then the door of grace for humanity closed. For those who had followed Jesus through the change of times as the Way through the darkness, the day began to dawn on October 24/25, 2015. Meanwhile, the painfully dark night began for those who had gone astray. God's tears testify of that.

The morning, which should usher in the harvest of God's remnant by the "144,000" harvest workers and the vintage of the wicked, has only just begun, but it will end with the coming of King Jesus. In the morning, in the light of the Sun of Righteousness,^[73] the people who will come in with their life for God the Father according to the example of the martyrs will finally have to emerge from their deep sleep.

The 12-Hour Riddle

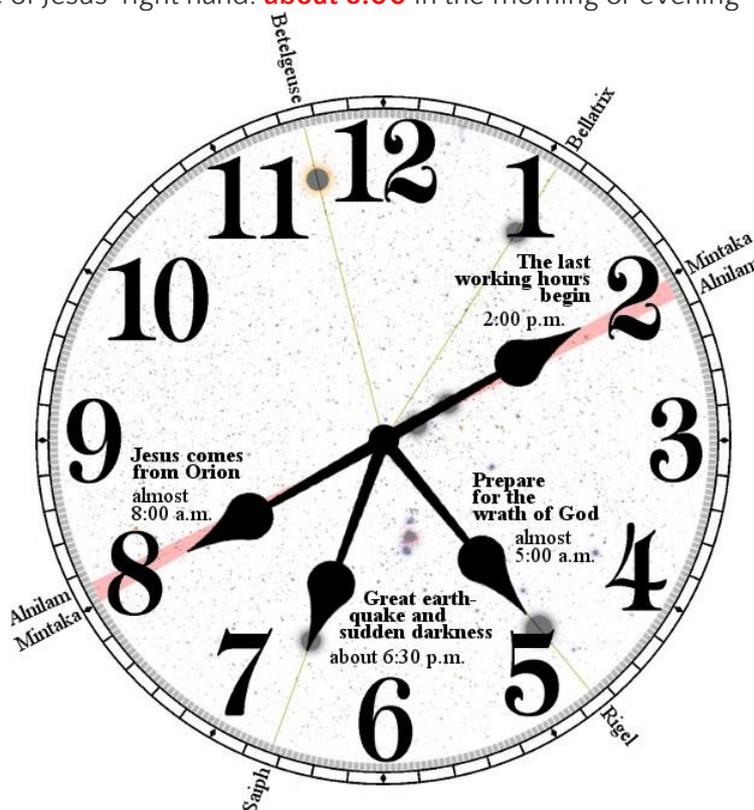

The Bible describes the outpouring of the Holy Spirit in the latter rain as follows:

And it shall come to pass in the last days, saith God, I will pour out of my Spirit upon all flesh: and your sons and your daughters shall prophesy, and your young men shall see visions, and your old men shall dream dreams: And on my servants and on my handmaidens I will pour out in those days of my Spirit; and they shall prophesy: (Acts 2:17-18)

A whole series of dreams came from several brothers and sisters, from among our own ranks as well as from the ranks of the “Adventist enemy” who denies Jesus’ time message like the apostate ex-Millerites did, although we agree on almost everything else we teach. The dreams gave us food for thought because they had something unusual in common. Over and over again, certain times of the day were mentioned in connection with specific end-time events, and they had an uncanny correlation to the clock hands of the Orion Clock. Mind you, these dreams span a period of about ten years to date. This time-of-day information has been about things such as... “The last few hours of work begin... It is 2 o’clock in the afternoon!” “Lunch is over and the Divine Chef will begin to prepare dinner at about 2 o’clock in the afternoon!” “Prepare yourselves for the wrath of God... It’s almost 5 o’clock in the morning!” “There will be an earthquake and sudden darkness... coming about 6:30 in the evening!” “Jesus will come to Earth from Orion... at about 8 o’clock in the morning!”

Do you see how it correlates? If you map the six clock hands of the Orion Clock^[74] to an ordinary 12-hour clock face, then you get the following times of day:

1. Alnitak–Saiph: about 6:30 in the morning or evening
2. Alnitak–Betelgeuse: about 11:30 in the morning or at night
3. Alnitak–Bellatrix: about 1:00 in the afternoon or at night
4. Alnitak–Rigel: about 5:00 in the afternoon or early morning
5. Throne line of Jesus’ left hand: about 2:00 in the afternoon or at night
6. Throne line of Jesus’ right hand: about 8:00 in the morning or evening

Except for the 11:30 and 1 o'clock pointers (Betelgeuse and Bellatrix, respectively) all of the other Orion times were named in these prophetic dreams—sometimes even more than once. Contrary to what the Adventist leadership does (and probably also the leadership of other denominations) we carefully test every dream we get, because the Bible tells us to expect them as special assistance from God, especially in the time of the latter rain.

These times of day were truly remarkable because of their unmistakable correspondence to the hands of the Orion Clock, especially when you consider that the Orion Clock was only first published in early 2010, but many dreams originated in years prior to that when the dreamer couldn't have had any idea about our studies. One must also note that in dreams that we didn't consider to be against the Bible and could thus recognize as truly coming from God, no other times of day were given! The times of day always corresponded with one of the hands of our Orion Clock on a 12-hour face.

We recognized this fact almost halfway through the trumpet cycle of the Orion Clock, sometime in early 2015, and we tried to apply the information in the dreams to that cycle. We were disappointed, however, because the great events that the times pointed to failed to materialize. Today we know that the events of the trumpet cycle were postponed till the plague cycle through the great mercy of God, and the loosing of the four winds was delayed until the sealing of the 144,000 could be completed.^[75] Therefore, the events that were foretold by the dreams will probably come to pass at their respective "times of day" in the plague cycle. Let us now carefully examine whether this, too, can be founded on the Bible.

Ellen G. White, the great prophetess of the Advent movement, who herself received more than 2000 dreams and visions from God during her 70-year ministry, clearly said again and again:

The Lord has sent His people much instruction, line upon line, precept upon precept, here a little, and there a little. Little heed is given to the Bible, and the Lord has given a lesser light [her visions and dreams] to lead men and women to the greater light [the Bible]. {YRP 232.4}

In her biography, she speaks to another important point of her work:

I took the precious Bible, and surrounded it with the several "Testimonies for the Church," given for the people of God. "Here," said I, "the cases of nearly all are met. The sins they are to shun are pointed out. The counsel that they desire can be found here, given for other cases situated similarly to themselves. God has been pleased to give you line upon line and precept upon precept. But there are not many of you that really know what is contained in the Testimonies. You are not familiar with the Scriptures. If you had made God's word your study, with a desire to reach the Bible standard and attain to Christian perfection, you would not have needed the Testimonies. It is because you have neglected to acquaint yourselves with God's inspired book that He has sought to reach you by simple, direct testimonies, calling your attention to the words of inspiration which you had neglected to obey, and urging you to fashion your lives in accordance with its pure and elevated teachings. {LS 198.1}

In other words, she says that if we would study the Bible as we should, then the dreams, visions, and other instruction and explanation from God that were given through her would not have been necessary. We could have found everything in the Bible itself.

That is why we do not consider dreams as if they stand alone, or as binding or infallible light. For us, they are only guideposts pointing to the great light of the Bible, which we so easily overlook because we often do not study and consider deeply enough the compressed information that is in the Bible. Dreams and visions are also mostly symbolic in nature, which means we need to analyze them carefully. Sometimes we have to deal with Satan's well-made traps and dreamers mixing error with truth. (In the case of Ernie Knoll, we take the dreams into account anyway because although he wants to curse us as in the case of Balaam, he often unintentionally pronounces blessings instead.)

The dreams in question come from different brethren, some of whom we can identify as true followers of Jesus. They point out that God's last warnings, before the last great earth-shaking events, take place at a certain time according to a 12-hour clock. When such is the case, we should pursue the hints in the Bible to find out where the transition took place to a 12-hour clock from the judgment clock, which was surely still a 24-hour clock with the thrones of the 24 elders.^[76]

During the span of the investigative judgment of the dead and living, there were 12 elders representing the judgment of the dead, and 12 elders representing the judgment of the living.^[77] The carillons of the holy, heavenly clock also always have 24 elders falling down in worship before the Lamb. The plague cycle itself is framed by two carillons: October 24/25, 2015, which is the beginning of the first plague, and September 24/25, 2016, which is the destruction of Babylon at the beginning of the seventh plague. We will come back to that again soon.

Still, where can we derive a 12-hour clock from, to establish that the dreams really do refer to times on the Orion Clock?

First of all, let's be clear that we did not calculate dates based on the hour marks of the 24 elders in any of the Orion cycles. The 24 elders in the blueprint of the Orion Clock in Chapters 4 and 5 of Revelation served only to show that the blueprint is about a clock that represents a heavenly judgment DAY of 24 heavenly hours. We already knew from the oath of Jesus in Daniel 12 that this heavenly day lasts 168 years of earthly time. A heavenly hour is therefore 7 earthly years, but even without the knowledge of the earthly duration of a heavenly hour, our calculations would have resulted in the same earthly dates, because we used a scale of 168 years, and not 24 hours.^[78]

The same principle applies to the Great Orion Cycle with a scale of 4032 years,^[79] the trumpet cycle with a scale of 624 days, and the plague cycle with a scale of 336 days. We have never used a scale of 24 hours for calculating dates or years, but just for the spiritual knowledge that a heavenly hour in the time of the judgment corresponds to the sabbatical (seven year) cycle here on Earth.

The 12-hour times in the dreams, which can be read with the naked eye like a familiar wall clock and then perfectly match the clock hands of the Orion Clock, must have been given by God in this way for a reason, and the reason is obvious!

We have four Orion cycles, two of which are very similar and apply to the end of time: the trumpet and plague cycles. God gives us 12-hour times of day for only one of these two, so that we can distinguish which of the two cycles He speaks about, and which cycle the events of the dreams will come in.

When I was given to see the Clock of God in Orion at the end of 2009, it happened through intensive study of the book of Revelation in connection with the desire to understand why the Advent people, who were chosen by God, were in such a bad state of apostasy.^[80] God directed my thoughts to the realization that Revelation 4 and 5 is about the blueprint of His clock wheels, which He had shown to the prophet Ezekiel many centuries earlier,^[81] and that this clockwork contained much important information about the development of His church and admonition for repentance.

It would be natural to suppose that the change from the 24-hour clock to the 12-hour one would also be shown in the book of Revelation. Of course, we see the number twelve many times in this prophetic book:

And had a wall great and high, and had twelve gates, and at the gates twelve angels, and names written thereon, which are the names of the twelve tribes of the children of Israel: (Revelation 21:12)

And the wall of the city had twelve foundations, and in them the names of the twelve apostles of the Lamb. (Revelation 21:14)

And the twelve gates were twelve pearls; every several gate was of one pearl: and the street of the city was pure gold, as it were transparent glass. (Revelation 21:21)

Those texts are mainly describing features of the Holy City, which is not circular like a clock, but square. That information brings us to the number of the twelve tribes of the children of Israel, and thus to the number of the 144,000:

And I heard the number of them which were sealed: and there were sealed an hundred and forty and four thousand of all the [twelve] tribes of the children of Israel. (Revelation 7:4)

In the following verses, we see that 12,000 are sealed from each of the 12 tribes, which adds up to 144,000. Through Ellen White, however, we are also informed of the geometric shape of their formation, and that they will one day stand on the sea of glass in a square and not in a circle.

On the sea of glass the 144,000 stood in a perfect square. Some of them had very bright crowns, others not so bright. Some crowns appeared heavy with stars, while others had but few. All were perfectly satisfied with their crowns.—Early Writings, 16, 17 (1851). {LDE 282.1}

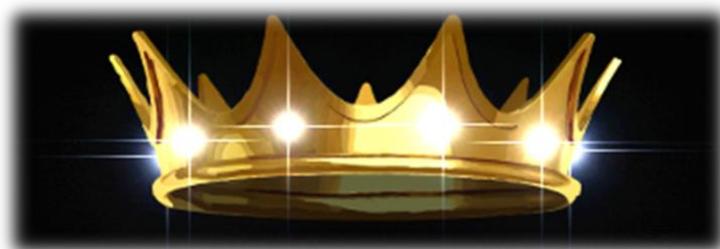

Still, this is unfortunately not a shape which we could recognize as a clock. A clock face should be round or circular, like how the arrangement of the thrones of the 24 elders was previously described in Revelation 4. It would also be difficult to determine from the foregoing information which of the last two cycles God would be speaking about with the 12-hour times, because the last of the 144,000 were sealed in the trumpet cycle, while they are brought into action as harvest workers only in the plague cycle. Both cycles deal with the 144,000 in one way or another.

The Crown of Time

Yet, there is one more verse in Revelation where the number twelve occurs:

And there appeared a great wonder in heaven; a woman clothed with the sun, and the moon under her feet, and upon her head a crown of twelve stars: (Revelation 12:1)

When we look at the crown from the front or the side, it is not immediately obvious what the vision really suggests:

If we look at the crown from the top, however, then we see it: a crown is usually circular, and if it is sectioned into twelve equal intervals with diamonds or “stars,” then we have in front of us the face of a valuable, decorated 12-hour clock.

What does this crown of the pure woman in Revelation 12 symbolize? In the article The End of the Seventh-day Adventist Church, I described the symbolism of that picture in detail. From the moon, which represented the Jews, to the feet of the pure church (the woman), to her white dress depicting the Christian era, we came to the crown. It corresponded to the judgment time and Seventh-day Adventism, but according to my interpretation only the stars in the crown were the remnant of the remnant, the High Sabbath Adventists. Please compare that interpretation of the woman of Revelation 12 with this article’s findings regarding the four night watches.

Now, we suddenly realized that the twelve stars in the crown are the hour markers of a clock. In this wonderful way, the revelation of God makes it clear that the High Sabbath Adventists are the only church in all the 6000 years of world history who know the HOUR! They complete the clock-crown of the Adventist pioneers, having joyfully accepted the revelation of the time from God the Father before the time of mercy ended. Now the 144,000 have the authority to let others enter the city of Philadelphia with the seal of the knowledge of time, thus making the same crown available to them.

Upon reaching the 1335 days, only the 144,000 received the special blessing to continue to the coming of Jesus without seeing physical death. Now, in the time of trouble, whoever would still like to receive the crown of life, must die the first death for it. Nevertheless, a great consolation awaits them, which I will discuss later.

Only two churches of Revelation are found without blemish (the martyrs of Smyrna and the sealed of Philadelphia). After I discovered that only they get crowns, I wrote:

The second crown in Revelation given to the church of Philadelphia, represents the 144,000 who had understood the voice of God with a time message and will not see death. They will be saved from the hour of temptation, which is the time of plagues, because they are the patient saints who will not have denied the name of Jesus during the great test of the Sunday Laws.

Now we know that the test before the plagues was the twin of the Sunday law, of course, so the text is still accurate.

Because thou hast kept the word of my patience, I also will keep thee from the hour of temptation, which shall come upon all the world, to try them that dwell upon the earth. Behold, I come quickly: hold that fast which thou hast, that no man take thy crown. (Revelation 3:10-11)*

Isn't it interesting that the text says that the Philadelphian church already has the crown in the time of plagues (the hour of temptation for the whole world)? Why else should they be careful not to let it be taken from them?

The crown of time is the knowledge of the time, and therefore the text also teaches us that it is possible to lose faith in the time of Jesus' coming during the time of plagues, so "hold that fast which thou hast!" In other words: "Don't deny the knowledge of the time and the clocks of God, even if things don't happen exactly as you expect! Perhaps you have a lot of misconceptions!?"

The text clearly says that the knowledge about the hour of Jesus' return is given BEFORE the plagues in the form of a 12-hour crown. There is only one cycle—often mentioned in dreams—that includes the timing of the final events in combination with the wrath of God and continues all the way to the coming of Jesus: the plagues cycle.

In the quote in the introduction of this article, Ellen White said that Jesus would come for the faithful during the day, and that it would simultaneously be nighttime for the infidels; i.e. it's the time of the seven last plagues:

The long night of gloom is trying; but the morning is deferred in mercy, because if the Master should come, so many would be found unready. God's unwillingness to have His people perish has been the reason for so long delay. But the coming of the morning to the faithful, and of the night to the unfaithful, is right upon us. {2T 193.3}

In the Bible, Jesus furthermore teaches us how many hours the day had for Him:

Jesus answered, Are there not twelve hours in the day? If any man walk in the day, he stumbleth not, because he seeth the light of this world. But if a man walk in the night, he stumbleth, because there is no light in him. (John 11:9-10)

This prophetic day of twelve hours, or the literal year of the plagues, began on October 24/25, 2015 with the hurricane Patricia. That was God's sign that the four angels would then begin to let go of the four winds—in four stages. My brother and friend, Gerhard, described those four stages in detail in the previous article.

The High Sabbath Adventists had already received the 12-hour plague clock when the Holy Spirit descended on January 31, 2014,^[82] but God let a year and ten months of mercy pass with the four winds completely retained so that this light with the dates of the commencement of the year of plagues and the return of His Son could be announced to the whole world, especially to the rest of the yet-to-be-sealed 144,000.

John [\[the Baptist\]](#) came in the spirit and power of Elijah to proclaim the first advent of Jesus. I was pointed down to the last days and saw that John represented those who should go forth in the spirit and power of Elijah to herald the day of wrath and the second advent of Jesus. {EW 155.1}

The Seventh Trumpet and the Coronation

Once the investigative judgment in the heavenly sanctuary ended, God's door of mercy closed for the world. God refers to that with a very specific event that could only be seen with spiritual eyesight, like it was at the beginning of the day of judgment on October 22/23, 1844. That is because it is only possible to please God through faith.^[83]

*And the seventh angel sounded; and there were great voices in heaven, saying, The kingdoms of this world are become the kingdoms of our Lord, and of his Christ; and he shall reign for ever and ever. And the four and twenty elders, which sat before God on their seats, fell upon their faces, and worshipped God, Saying, We give thee thanks, O Lord God Almighty, which art, and wast, and art to come; because thou hast taken to thee thy great power, and hast reigned. (Revelation 11:15-17)

The Orion trumpet cycle indicates that the seventh trumpet sounded on October 17/18, 2015, and with it came the announcement of the end of the fourth night watch, and of mercy. That corresponds to the sign in Noah's day of the closing door of mercy seven days before the rain began.^[84] On October 24/25, 2015, the most powerful hurricane of all time^[85] transformed into heavy rains because not all of the four winds are yet released.

God did not choose this date arbitrarily, for it coincides with the 70th anniversary of the United Nations.^[86] Therefore, with His plague clock, He clearly announced that from that time on, He would no longer offer mercy for those who accept the laws of the UN (the mark of the beast). Read and understand the prophecy of Jeremiah^[87] regarding this! Whoever "sustainably" conforms to the UN, has already received the mark of the beast, and will also receive the plagues.

Nevertheless, the third woe, or seventh trumpet, announces loud and clear that the kingdom of the Lord (God the Father) and His Anointed (Jesus) has already been established and He has taken His great power and has begun to reign! Since we cannot see it on the earth because Jesus hasn't come back yet, we need to apply it to an event in heaven at the seventh trumpet. God also showed this to Ellen White in vision, and I want to present that vision in all its beauty once again with a few added comments:

I was pointed down to the time when the third angel's message was closing. The power of God had rested upon His people; they had accomplished their work and were prepared for the trying hour before them. They had received the latter rain, or refreshing from the presence of the Lord, and the living testimony had been revived. The last great warning had sounded everywhere, and it had stirred up and enraged the inhabitants of the earth who would not receive the message. {EW 279.1}

We felt that rage in most of our conversations more and more as we approached the end of the time of mercy. That paragraph also tells us that our work of preparing and sealing the 144,000 is finished, and that is why we write this series of articles for the glory of God alone. It is our hope that by so doing, a great multitude will come to their senses, follow their inclination, and leave Babylon—not just spiritually, but physically. The hour of trial—the time of plagues—has unfortunately already begun.

I saw angels hurrying to and fro in heaven. An angel with a writer's inkhorn by his side returned from the earth and reported to Jesus that his work was done, and the saints were numbered and sealed. [This refers to Ezekiel 9. Due to the grace of God, the killing was postponed from the trumpet cycle to the plague cycle.] Then I saw Jesus, who had been ministering before the ark containing the ten commandments, throw down the censer. He raised His hands, and with a loud voice said, "It is done". And all the angelic host laid off their crowns as Jesus made the solemn declaration, "He that is unjust, let him be unjust still: and he which is filthy, let him be filthy still: and he that is righteous, let him be righteous still: and he that is holy, let him be holy still." {EW 279.2}

Here it clearly speaks about the end of mercy—and please note that the hour of trial comes only in the plagues, as we described in The Tears of God.

Every case had been decided for life or death. While Jesus had been ministering in the sanctuary, the judgment had been going on for the righteous dead, and then for the righteous living. Christ had received His kingdom, having made the atonement for His people and blotted out their sins. The subjects of the kingdom were made up. The marriage of the Lamb was consummated. And the kingdom, and the greatness of the kingdom under the whole heaven, was given to Jesus and the heirs of salvation, and Jesus was to reign as King of kings and Lord of lords. {EW 280.1}

A closer reading reveals that Jesus receives His kingdom precisely at the end of the investigative judgment of the dead AND living, because that is when all the faithful have been accounted for, that is, their sins are blotted out and they have thus been sealed with special protection for the great test. That process was completed on October 17/18, 2015 at the sounding of the seventh trumpet. When was Jesus crowned in heaven? On that same day? The time when Jesus was awarded the 12-hour crown is explained in the following paragraph with breathtaking precision:

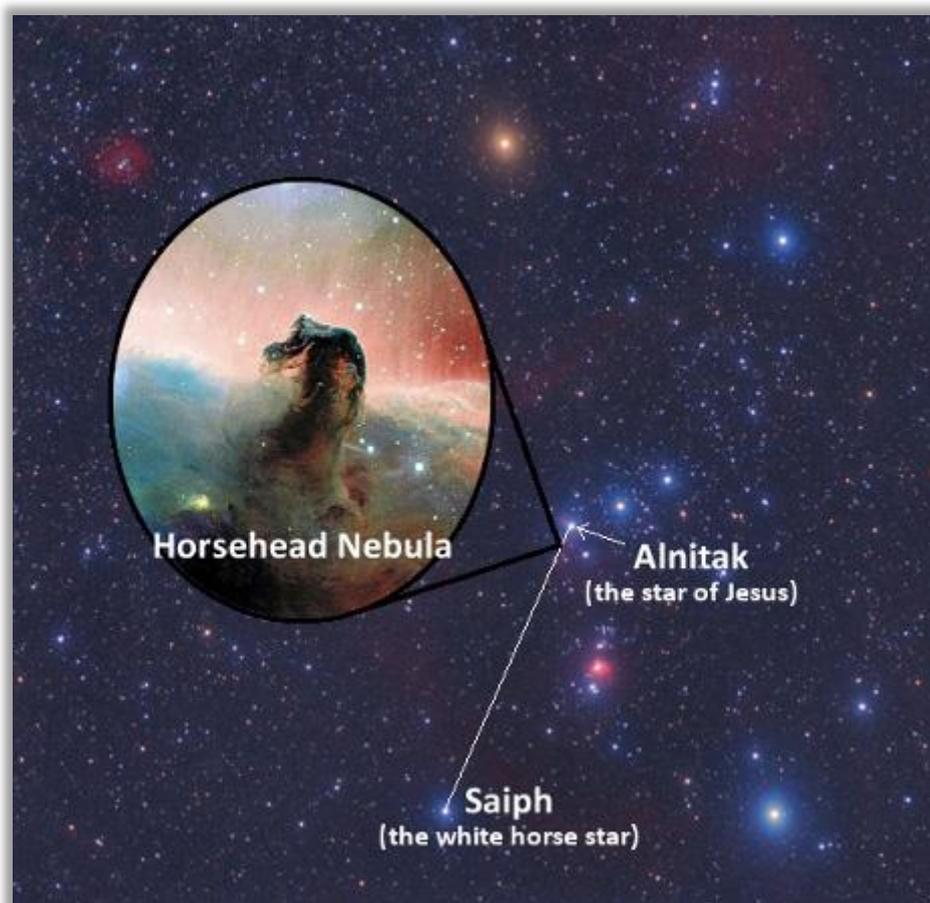

As Jesus moved out of the most holy place, I heard the tinkling of the bells upon His garment [which is still the robe of the High Priest in the heavenly Day of Atonement, which includes the October 17/18, 2015]; and as He left, a cloud of darkness covered the inhabitants of the earth. [The approaching hurricane, "Patricia," was a symbol for this "cloud" and also pointed to the beginning of the validity of the mark of the beast a few days later.] There was then no mediator between guilty man and an offended God. While Jesus had been standing between God and guilty man, a restraint was upon the people; but when He stepped out from between man and the Father, the restraint was removed and Satan had entire control of the finally impenitent. It was impossible for the plagues to be poured out while Jesus officiated in the sanctuary; but as His work there is finished, and His intercession closes, there is nothing to stay the wrath of God, and it breaks with fury upon the shelterless head of the guilty sinner, who has slighted salvation and hated reproof. In that fearful time, after the close of Jesus' mediation, the saints were living in the sight of a holy God without an intercessor. Every case was decided, every jewel numbered. Jesus tarried a moment [the seven days between the end of mercy on October 17/18, 2015 and the beginning of the first plague on October 24/25, 2015] in the outer apartment of the heavenly sanctuary, and the sins which had been confessed while He was in the most holy place were placed upon Satan, the originator of sin, who must suffer their punishment. {EW 280.2}

Every single detail of God's instructions for the Day of Atonement^[88] was followed by Jesus, the heavenly High Priest, at the end of the investigative judgment. The seven days between the sounding of the seventh trumpet, when Jesus left the Most Holy Place, and the beginning of the plague cycle, served for laying the sins of the world upon Azazel (Satan). Only then was His service as High Priest completed, so the coronation could take place... on the same day—on October 24/25, 2015—when the plagues began to fall upon the inhabitants of the earth:

Then I saw Jesus lay off His priestly attire and clothe Himself with His most kingly robes. Upon His head were many crowns, a crown within a crown. Surrounded by the angelic host, He left heaven. The plagues were falling upon the inhabitants of the earth. [Jesus is now symbolically sitting on the "cloud" of the Horsehead Nebula, the clock hand of the white horse, waiting for the harvest command on March 9, 2016.] Some were denouncing God and cursing Him. Others rushed to the people of God and begged to be taught how they might escape His judgments. But the saints had nothing for them. The last tear for sinners had been shed, the last agonizing prayer offered, the last burden borne, the last warning given. The sweet voice of mercy was no more to invite them. When the saints, and all heaven, were interested for their salvation, they had no interest for themselves. Life and death had been set before them. Many desired life, but made no effort to obtain it. They did not choose life, and now there was no atoning blood to cleanse the guilty, no compassionate Saviour to plead for them, and cry, "Spare, spare the sinner a little longer." All heaven had united with Jesus, as they heard the fearful words, "It is done. It is finished." The plan of salvation had been accomplished, but few had chosen to accept it. And as mercy's sweet voice died away, fear and horror seized the wicked. With terrible distinctness they heard the words, "Too late! too late!" {EW 281.1}

Yes, those are terrible words, and we long pondered whether we should talk about them again. Basically, we have nothing more for sinners or those who have rejected the messages of the past six years. Jesus is now wearing His royal robes, waiting for the moment when the plague clock shows that He can come. He is already sitting on the "cloud of the Horsehead Nebula," which is on a line connecting Alnitak and Saiph. Again, that points to a specific date, namely the seventh plague on September 25, 2016, which will be a major topic of this article.

Do you see now why the carillon sounds in heaven with 24 elders on the day of the first plague and on the day of the seventh plague, in a sense framing the plague cycle?

The coronation of Jesus in heaven as Lord of the kingdoms of the earth was on the day of the first plague. It was a great feast day at the end of the 24-hour clock of the investigative judgment, which ended with Jesus' victory over Satan. In the week after the door of mercy closed, Satan received all the sins of the world, and after the last year of plagues, he will be led into the desert where he is bound for a thousand years on the ruined earth. The day of the first plague was the day when the 24-hour clock of the Orion judgment and trumpet cycles ended, when it transitioned to the 12-hour clock of "the morning of Jesus' coming."

Something extraordinary will happen again on the day of the seventh plague.

The Seventh Plague and the Special Resurrection

There is a mighty earthquake, "such as was not since men were upon the earth, so mighty an earthquake, and so great" (Revelation 16:17, 18). The firmament appears to open and shut. The glory from the throne of God seems flashing through. The mountains shake like a reed in the wind, and ragged rocks are scattered on every side.... The whole earth heaves and swells like the waves of the sea. Its surface is breaking up. Its very foundations seem to be giving way. Mountain chains are sinking. Inhabited islands disappear. The seaports that have become like Sodom for wickedness are swallowed up by the angry waters.... Great hailstones, every one "about the weight of a talent," are doing their work of destruction (verses 19, 21)....

Graves are opened, and “many of them that sleep in the dust of the earth ... awake, some to everlasting life, and some to shame and everlasting contempt” (Daniel 12:2). All who have died in the faith of the third angel’s message come forth from the tomb glorified to hear God’s covenant of peace with those who have kept His law. “They also which pierced Him” (Revelation 1:7), those that mocked and derided Christ’s dying agonies, and the most violent opposers of His truth and His people, are raised to behold Him in His glory, and to see the honor placed upon the loyal and obedient.—The Great Controversy, 636, 637 (1911). {LDE 271.1–2}

So this special resurrection takes place BEFORE the coming of Jesus. It takes place at the commencement of the seventh plague on September 24/25, 2016, which God again especially marked with a carillon in heaven—as we’ve shown. The carillon involves 24 elders again, which makes a lot of sense because it is no longer just the 12 elders of the High Sabbath Adventists along with the 144,000 living on earth, but from then on, the 12 elders of the Adventist pioneers are also with them, as well as all the faithful who had died under the third angel’s message since 1846.^[89] This resurrection includes all those who were called out by the 144,000 and died in the time of plagues. Now together, they form the living church of Philadelphia. In that way, our interpretation of the 24 elders is confirmed once again.

However, the 12-hour clock is valid for the plagues from the first to the seventh, and even a little bit further as we shall see. Jesus changed His priestly garments in the heavenly coronation ceremony on the first day of the plagues. He put on His royal robes, which naturally includes the crown that Ellen White saw in her vision. He wears the crown already, even though He is still near heaven (the Orion Nebula) and has not yet begun His journey to Earth. Jesus’ symbolic marriage to the pure woman finds its fulfillment in the heavenly coronation ceremony. With Him, the numbered saints have also received the symbolic crown of time studded with 12 stars of Revelation 12. Now it’s upon them to hold this crown until Jesus comes, and then they will be presented with literal crowns!

The Sevenfold Crown of Jesus

In a different vision about the executive judgment at the end of the millennium, Ellen G. White was shown another detail of Jesus’ crown, which is very interesting:

While Satan was rallying his army, the saints were in the city, beholding the beauty and glory of the Paradise of God. Jesus was at their head, leading them. All at once the lovely Saviour was gone from our company; but soon we heard His lovely voice, saying, “Come, ye blessed of My Father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world.” We gathered about Jesus, and just as He closed the gates of the city, the curse was pronounced upon the wicked. The gates were shut. Then the saints used their wings and mounted to the top of the wall of the city. Jesus was also with them; His crown looked brilliant and glorious. It was a crown within a crown, seven in number. The crowns of the saints were of the most pure gold, decked with stars. Their faces shone with glory, for they were in the express image of Jesus; and as they arose and moved all together to the top of the city, I was enraptured with the sight. {EW 53.1}

The vision about the end of mercy also mentioned “many crowns, a crown within a crown,” so we may assume that it refers to the same crown. Thus we are dealing with a total of seven crowns, the outermost of which is studded with 12 stars.

Where do we find that in the Bible? We’ve studied the biblical prophecies in detail together in our articles and have discovered seven clocks of God:

We found the four cycles of the Book of Seven Seals, immortalized by the stars of Orion (clocks 1–4). We have the Book of Seven Thunders, written by the motions of the sun and moon, which we called the Vessel of Time, or the High Sabbath List (clock 5). We recognized the Reformation

Clock (clock 6), which led us to the understanding of 666, the number of a man and that showed us how the 7000-year week of human history (clock 7) has been shortened.^[90]

We did what Ellen White counseled: “If you had studied the Bible, then my Testimonies would not have been needed.” We discovered the sevenfold crown of time, one within the other, which may well mean that Jesus will reign as King of kings over the entire universe with a crown of time. What does that mean for anti-time-setters and those who degrade Jesus as being ignorant of the time? What does it mean that the outer crown with 12 stars adorns the pure woman of Revelation 12? If the Holy Spirit is still with you, think about it for yourself!

The crown of time also includes the figures of the Orion time formula: 7 in the sevenfold nesting of the crowns, and 12 in the twelve hour markers. Considering the crown from the outside to the inside, the hour markers also apply to the inner crowns. That clearly indicates a multiplication of 7×12 which yields half of the Orion formula.

There are two such crowns in Revelation, however! Jesus is crowned with one of them in Revelation 11, and the other one rests on the head of the pure woman of Revelation 12. We received the information about the number twelve directly from the Bible through the crown of the pure church, and the number seven was given to us through Ellen White’s hint about the crown of Jesus. We can also derive the number of seven crowns directly from the Bible, because when Jesus closed the door of mercy, He conquered the dragon, Satan, who also had seven crowns:

And there appeared another wonder in heaven; and behold a great red dragon, having seven heads and ten horns, and seven crowns upon his heads. (Revelation 12:3)

When Jesus took dominion over the earth in the seventh trumpet, in a figurative sense Satan lost his seven crowns to Jesus, who received them. The seven crowns of Satan were the seven world empires,^[91] through which he exercised his dominion over the earth, and which each had their predetermined time. They, too, were “crowns of time”—the time allotted by God.

When we put the pieces together, we get 2 crowns \times 12 stars \times 7 clocks = 168—the number of the Orion formula and the number of the old and new covenant from the oath of Jesus in Daniel 12.^[92]

But how can the pure woman receive the same crown as Jesus? Isn’t that an exaggeration, or even blasphemous? Not at all, because Jesus Himself revealed that...

To him that overcometh will I grant to sit with me in my throne, even as I also overcame, and am set down with my Father in his throne. (Revelation 3:21)

The saints will even judge angels during the millennium in heaven:

Know ye not that we shall judge angels? how much more things that pertain to this life? (1 Corinthians 6:3)

The overcoming that is necessary to obtain this time-crown refers to the “greater works”^[93] that the saints must do in the time of temptation. The 144,000 must be willing to stand as Jesus did, through the second death^[94] (the loss of eternal life, i.e. timelessness) on behalf of other created beings and for God Himself. The rest of His church, who have yet to be called out, must be willing to give their physical lives for the salvation of others. Soon we will see for whom, exactly. Only those who are willing to lay down their lives for their friends^[95] have acquired the character of Christ. He was the Forerunner^[96] for those who follow Him whithersoever He goeth^[97] in terms of willingness to sacrifice. It was the sacrificial Lamb who paved the narrow way for the saints of the last-day, who can only do it by following the Way of the Cross.^[98] Like the Millerites, who were tested by time, those who follow Jesus only out of fear of losing their life will lose it. Those who are wholeheartedly willing to forego life for the sake of the universe will probably keep it.^[99] Jesus looks into the heart of the individual,^[100] and I am convinced that only a few will really withstand His all-penetrating gaze.^[101]

Therefore, there are two time-crowns: one for the Forerunner, Jesus, and one that the pure woman of Revelation 12 wears, which represents the church of Philadelphia at the end. Together, they adorn the faithful witnesses who obtained the victory for God the Father in the judgment.

Everyone who belongs to Philadelphia receives the crown of time with the 12 stars, but not at the same time:

1. First were the High Sabbath Adventists in the sealing of the 144,000 from February 1, 2014 to October 17, 2015. They go through without seeing death, because they are ready to give even their eternal lives, which they offered at a time when not much evidence was visible. In this article, we will discover even when it is decided whether their lives will be required or not.
2. Next to receive the crown of time-knowledge are those who are called out from October 17, 2015 until the beginning of the seventh plague, but especially during the harvest period. During that time, they all must suffer the physical, first death, but their eternal lives are not required, even though they have a similar disposition to the 144,000. This is their great consolation that I mentioned above. Their eternal life in heaven is sure, and because they know the time of their resurrection, they also have the certainty that their rest in the grave will be merely a few months, weeks, or days. They also make their sacrifice, but in a time when the evidences are continually increasing.
3. Another vision of Ellen White^[102] tells us that God will proclaim the time again in the period after the special resurrection of Adventists who died under the third angel's message since 1846. This is the time when they (including Ellen White herself) will also receive the time-crown of Philadelphia, one month before the return of their beloved Lord. Their resurrection is itself the final and ultimate proof that Jesus is coming.

The Morning of the Seventh Trumpet

Many thought we would have to close our ministry on October 17/18, 2015, or no later than October 25, 2015, because the rest of the prophecies of the seventh trumpet supposedly didn't come to pass.

And the nations were angry, and thy wrath is come, and the time of the dead, that they should be judged, and that thou shouldst give reward unto thy servants the prophets, and to the saints, and them that fear thy name, small and great; and shouldst destroy them which destroy the earth. And the temple of God was opened in heaven, and there was seen in his temple the ark of his testament: and there were lightnings, and voices, and thunderings, and an earthquake, and great hail. (Revelation 11:18-19)

Their error arises from a mistaken view of the duration of the seventh trumpet. They believe that it should take only a short time, even a single day. In the preceding chapters of this article, however, we already treated verses 15 to 17 of Chapter 11 of Revelation regarding the seventh trumpet, and have seen that the events span one week already. Two carillons sounded (at the beginning of the seventh trumpet and at the beginning of the first plague), two coronations took place (those of Jesus and the woman), Jesus finished the intercessory service, laid the sins of the world upon Azazel, put on His royal robes, left heaven and got ready to travel to Earth as soon as the hand of the great clock of time points to the date.

We find that those many events are yet followed by a great number of others in verses 18 and 19, all of which still belong to the seventh trumpet. I emphasized them in the text above.

If you read it carefully, you can see that it is a rough outline or summary of the events leading up to the second coming of Jesus.

That “the nations were angry, and thy wrath is come,” means that the plagues began.

The phrase “the time of the dead, that they might be judged” cannot refer to the investigative judgment of the dead, because at the seventh trumpet, that was already completed. Consequently, the biblical text must speak of the time of the judgment in heaven, which is carried out by the saints. That is where the sentence will be determined for the unjust dead, which will be executed after the millennium.^[103] So this is a view of the beginning of the millennium itself, i.e. the return of the Lord.

“That thou shouldest give reward unto thy servants” also indicates the end of the plagues or the time of the return of Jesus.

That Jesus destroys “them which destroy the earth” is a brief description of all the plagues together and points to the destruction of the earth’s inhabitants during the time of plagues.

The part that talks about the opening of the temple and the appearance of the Ark of the Covenant with the two stone tables of the law, Ellen White also puts at the very end of world history. In her masterpiece, The Great Controversy, she writes about the date of the liberation of God’s people in Chapter 40:

Said the prophets of old, as they beheld in holy vision the day of God: “Howl ye; for the day of the Lord is at hand; it shall come as a destruction from the Almighty.” Isaiah 13:6. ...

Through a rift in the clouds there beams a star [Alnitak of Orion] whose brilliancy is increased fourfold [the four clock hands of the Orion Clock] in contrast with the darkness. It speaks hope and joy to the faithful, but severity and wrath to the transgressors of God’s law. Those who have sacrificed all for Christ are now secure, hidden as in the secret of the Lord’s pavilion. They have been tested, and before the world and the despisers of truth they have evinced their fidelity to Him who died for them. A marvelous change has come over those who have held fast their integrity in the very face of death. They have been suddenly delivered from the dark and terrible tyranny of men transformed to demons. Their faces, so lately pale, anxious, and haggard, are now aglow with wonder, faith, and love. Their voices rise in triumphant song: “God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble. Therefore will not we fear, though the earth be removed, and though the mountains be carried into the midst of the sea; though the waters thereof roar and be troubled, though the mountains shake with the swelling thereof.” Psalm 46:1-3.

While these words of holy trust ascend to God, the clouds sweep back, and the starry heavens are seen, unspeakably glorious in contrast with the black and angry firmament on either side. The glory of the celestial city streams from the gates ajar. Then there appears against the sky a hand holding two tables of stone folded together. Says the prophet: "The heavens shall declare His righteousness: for God is judge Himself." Psalm 50:6. That holy law, God's righteousness, that amid thunder and flame was proclaimed from Sinai as the guide of life, is now revealed to men as the rule of judgment. The hand opens the tables, and there are seen the precepts of the Decalogue, traced as with a pen of fire. The words are so plain that all can read them. Memory is aroused, the darkness of superstition and heresy is swept from every mind, and God's ten words, brief, comprehensive, and authoritative, are presented to the view of all the inhabitants of the earth.

It is impossible to describe the horror and despair of those who have trampled upon God's holy requirements. The Lord gave them His law; they might have compared their characters with it and learned their defects while there was yet opportunity for repentance and reform; but in order to secure the favor of the world, they set aside its precepts and taught others to transgress. ... {GC 638.1-639.2}

Now we come to the last descriptive part of the verses of the seventh trumpet:

*...and there were lightnings, and voices, and thunders, and an earthquake, and great hail. (Revelation 11:19)

That corresponds in every detail to the description of the seventh plague:

*And the seventh angel poured out his vial into the air; and there came a great voice out of the temple of heaven, from the throne, saying, It is done. And there were voices, and thunders, and lightnings; and there was a great earthquake, such as was not since men were upon the earth, so mighty an earthquake, and so great. . . . And there fell upon men a great hail out of heaven, every stone about the weight of a talent: and men blasphemed God because of the plague of the hail; for the plague thereof was exceeding great. (Revelation 16:17-18,21)

Thus, it is biblically substantiated that the seventh trumpet does not end at the beginning of the plagues, but on the contrary, it includes the plagues themselves. The seventh trumpet has always been a special trumpet—just as the seventh seal was with the judgment of the living. It is not heard in any other cycle before; it sounds only with "the great day of God," which is the year of plagues. Therefore, it must also extend from the closing of the door of grace for humanity to the second coming of Christ.

The Hour of the Beast

But why does God take the trouble to point us to a 12-hour clock for the plagues in so many dreams? We found the crown of the time with its 12 hours—now also in the Bible—but is that all?

As I have already repeatedly emphasized, there is "prophetic" timing in the book of Revelation that reaches far beyond what Adventists have generally accepted as the end of all "definite time." They take the following verses from Revelation 10 and turn them into a strict ban against time-setting after the Miller disappointment of 1844, and they are also apparently supported by their own prophetess:

*And the angel which I saw stand upon the sea and upon the earth lifted up his hand to heaven, And swore by him that liveth for ever and ever, who created heaven, and the things that therein are, and the earth, and the things that therein are, and the sea, and the things which are therein, that there should be time no longer: (Revelation 10:5-6)

...the Lord had been pleased to show me that there would be no definite time in the message given of God since 1844.—Selected Messages 2:73 (1885). {LDE 35.3}

Friends, if this statement of the prophetess should stand as it is, then without having a reasonable explanation for it, we would have to take the Bible in hand and test her with it. Then amongst other things, we would come to Revelation 17:12 where it speaks of the “prophetic” hour with the beast, which is unequivocally a “definite time”:

And the ten horns which thou sawest are ten kings, which have received no kingdom as yet; but receive power as kings one hour with the beast. These have one mind, and shall give their power and strength unto the beast. These shall make war with the Lamb, and the Lamb shall overcome them; for he is Lord of lords, and King of kings: and they that are with him are called, and chosen, and faithful. (Revelation 17:12-14)

We would have to ask ourselves whether those ten kings already received their power before 1844 and whether the Lamb has already overcome them, and we would be horrified to learn that we must still do future “time setting,” even today as I write this article. That would mean in plain language that either Ellen G. White is exposed as a false prophet, or Jesus contradicts Himself in His revelation to John. Moreover, that is not the only unfulfilled time prophecy in the book of Revelation, as we shall soon see!

Please engage brain before opening mouth, dear anti-time-setters! Read what Jesus says to you—the church of Sardis—in Revelation 3:1-5. Understand that your works have not been found perfect, and your name will be blotted out of the book of life because you did not know the hour Jesus would come upon you.^[104] Furthermore, the only reason why He comes upon you as a thief is because you were unfaithful householders.^[105] You are on the 8-lane highway of the opponents of God’s time, and the rising sun of the east is blinding you this early morning so that without braking, you speed toward a head-on collision with Jesus’ huge cloud, escorted by all His angels, ending in a massive pileup which takes away all your lives.

To defend Ellen White’s honor, we wrote a whole article that explains why she made such statements in her time. We also devoted an extensive article to the power of the Father to give a logically correct biblical interpretation of Revelation 10. I will not repeat all of that here.

In the series of articles about the Jesuit General, “Pope” Francis, we exposed who the “eighth head” or “the beast itself” is, which is ridden in the last days by “Babylon,” the mother of harlots (the Catholic Church and all Protestants and World Religions that united with her): it is the New (Jesuit) World Order under Satan himself. The election of Satan to the office of the papacy, and thus his public appearance as “an angel of light,” took place at the beginning of the visible timeline of the 1290 days of Daniel.

The beast of Revelation 17 has ten horns: the ten administrative districts that the Jesuits divide the world into. The election of their “generals” fell on the beginning of the visible timeline of the 1260 days of Daniel.

On September 24/25, 2016, the day of the commencement of the seventh plague, the time of the whore will end. Rome will be destroyed, and the New Jesuit World Order with it. Thirty days later, the history of the world will end with the coming of Jesus. That will also be the end of the 1335 days, which began with Pope Benedict's resignation to make way for the commencement of Satan's world dominion.

Here you can see it again in overview:

As we have all witnessed since the papal election nearly three years ago, Francis' power over the world has apparently become greater and greater. No pope before him—not even John Paul II—has ever been the cause of so much sensationalism. The press was and still is full of “sensational” and “unprecedented” events and actions connected with this “pope.” Almost every month there has been a headline about something he said or did that no pope has said or done before him.

In September 2015, he was the first pope to speak in front of both houses of the US Congress, and he opened the UN General Assembly.^[106] No pope has ever received such power. After he blasphemously opened a door of mercy^[107] when God had already announced the end of His mercy, his quest for power reached a new height with his intervention at the UN Climate Change Conference.^[108] Now in the first video of a series for his “year of mercy,” he made it quite clear what his ultimate goal is: the union of all religions of the world under him and his religion of “love,” in which it is irrelevant what you believe as long as you just follow him—Satan. Jesus Christ, the only name through which we can be saved,^[109] is degraded to a little crying baby among the insignias of the other world religions. Yet people from all of the world religions follow him and his glamorous tolerance of God-despising self-love, as it is written:

And I saw one of his heads as it were wounded to death; and his deadly wound was healed: and all the world wondered after the beast. And they worshipped the dragon which gave power unto the beast: and they worshipped the beast, saying, Who is like unto the beast? who is able to make war with him? (Revelation 13:3-4)

He is the chosen host of Satan's parasitic spirit through which the deadly wound that the papacy received in 1798 will finally be completely healed, and among the prophesied “kings” who have reigned since 1929, he will be the one to go into perdition when Christ will save His saints from him at the last moment.^[110]

And the beast that was, and is not, even he is the eighth [king], and is of the seven, and goeth into perdition. (Revelation 17:11)

He will receive total power over the planet from the nations for one hour, and then Christ will begin to exercise His power, so that the nations themselves will finally conquer and destroy him when they realize that he deceived them.

And the ten horns [the nations of the earth] which thou sawest upon the beast [the New World Order under the UN], these shall hate the whore [Rome], and shall make her desolate and naked, and shall eat her flesh, and burn her with fire. (Revelation 17:16)

WHEN will he obtain that power for one hour? We can be sure that it must be within the 1260 days, because we know that the destruction of the papacy and the power of Rome will come at the end of the 1260 days—at the beginning or during the seventh plague. The “hour” must therefore be before September 24/25, 2016.

The introductory verse of Revelation 17 gives us yet another clue, namely that the “hour” of Revelation 17 must find its fulfillment in the plagues:

And there came one of the seven angels which had the seven vials, and talked with me, saying unto me, Come hither; I will shew unto thee the judgment of the great whore that sitteth upon many waters: (Revelation 17:1)

The following report in its entirety therefore refers to the plagues, since one of the angels of the plagues delivered it. The unfulfilled time prophecy of the hour therefore belongs in the time between the first plague and the beginning of the seventh plague.

In the interpretation of prophecy, especially when it comes to time prophecy, one must be very careful to distinguish whether the biblical text is speaking of a moment in time or a period of time. “The hour of His coming” refers to a moment in time, whereas “for one hour” indicates the duration of an hour.

The riddle of Revelation 17:12 speaks clearly about a period: the nations receive power “for one hour” with the New World Order. Interestingly enough, the New World Order passes that very same power back. Soon we will see how that apparent contradiction dissolves—when we find out when the hour occurs.

Those who have carefully thought about the graphic above understand that the power of the pope, and therefore Satan, is increasing more and more and will reach its peak in the hour in question. History repeats, so God will intervene and destroy Satan’s power only when he has reached the height of it. At the end of the hour, Jesus will act! That is why it is so important for us to know when that “hour” is.

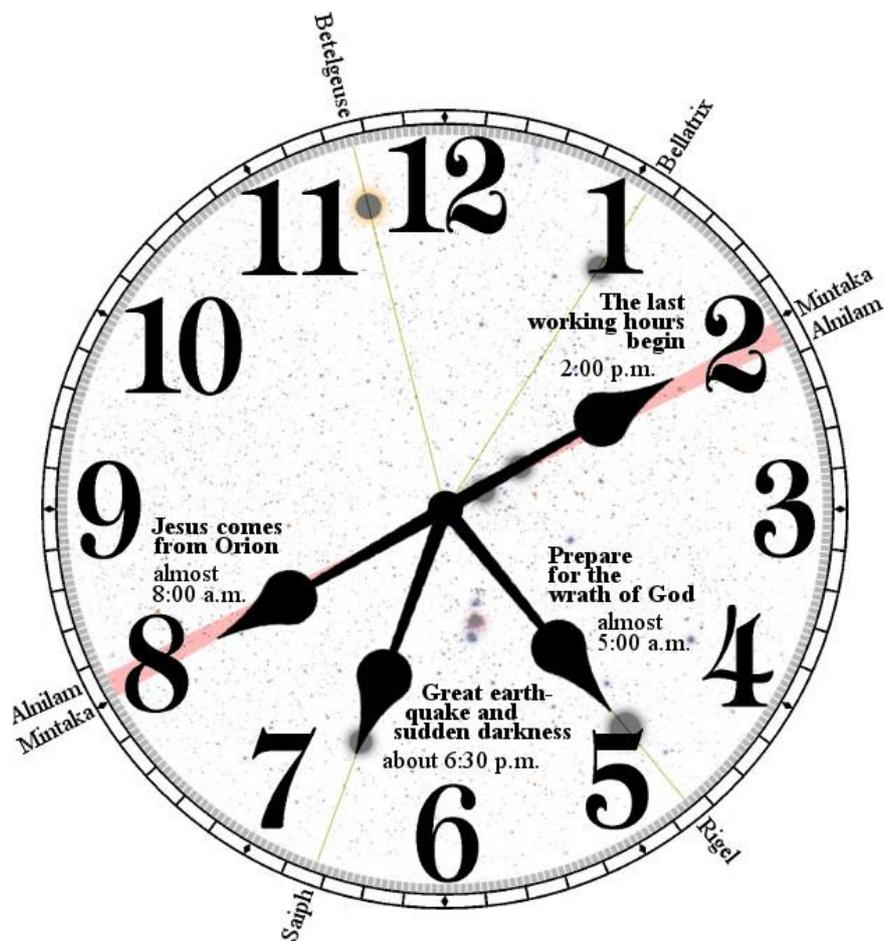

What does the duration of an “hour” mean in this prophecy?

Of course, it cannot be merely a literal hour. That would hardly be impressive. If that were the case, we could sit out the plagues in a “day,” as so many highly respected Adventist theologians have been preaching for years in their so-called Bible studies, which often talk about the “day of the Lord.”

I have to smile when they convert the duration of this “hour” to 15 days using the prophetic day-year principle,^[111] because they contradict the testimony of their own prophetess again, Ellen White, who said that there is no more “prophetic” time after 1844. At the same time, they deny that the “day” of God is really a “year,” as we were able to confirm in the sacrifice studies.

This “hour” creates so many difficulties, yet it stands out in the biblical prophecies of Revelation along with another hour that we will also discuss later. Wouldn’t it be wonderful if we could have a “clock” that would mark the beginning AND end of this hour for us?

Let’s consider the Orion plague clock again in the way that God showed us in so many dreams: as a clock with a 12-hour face, which divides the “morning” of the coming of His Son into different periods of time. Now can you find the “hour”?

Yes, the 1 o'clock pointer of Bellatrix, the fourth plague, together with the 2 o'clock throne line makes a segment that can be seen as an hour with the unaided eye!

But how precise is this reading, really? Without getting lost in astronomical angle calculations, a simple consideration will lead us to an amazing result.

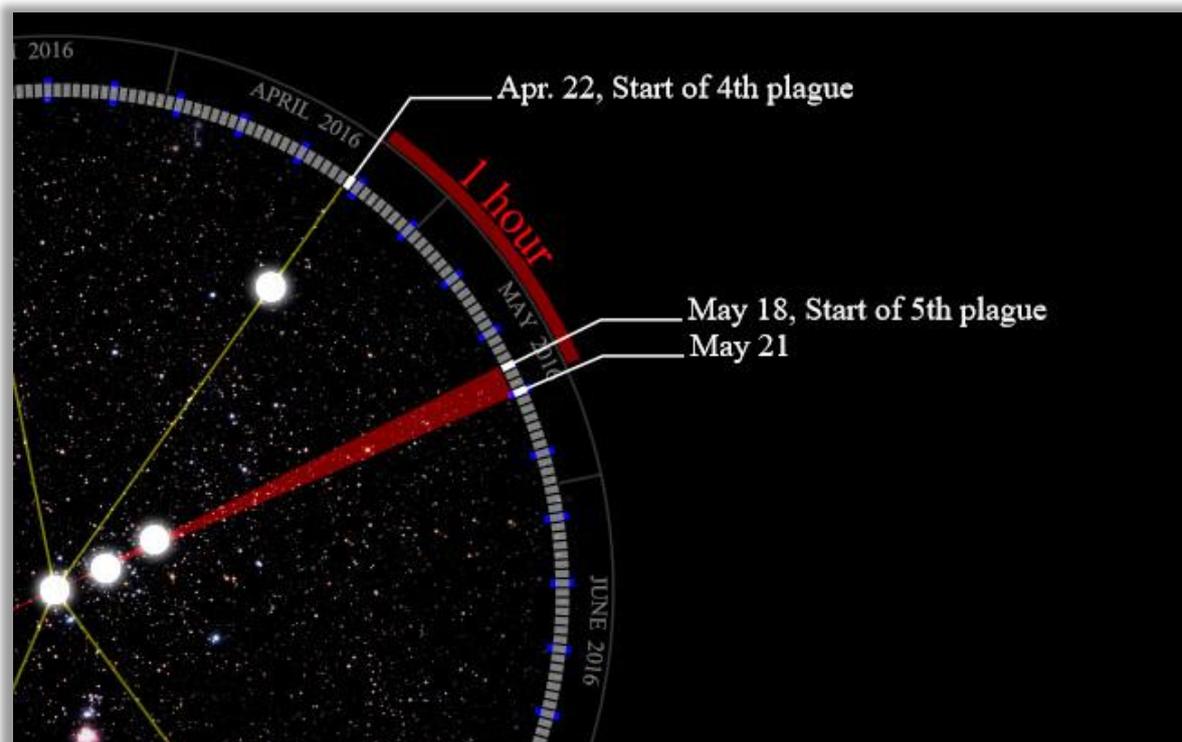

The Orion plague cycle spans exactly 336 days from October 25, 2015 to September 24, 2016 (inclusive), at which time the seventh plague will start. God divided the period of 336 days into 12 hours, as we developed in the previous sections. So, all we have to do is calculate the length of an hour on the plague clock:

$$336 \text{ days} \div 12 \text{ hours} = \mathbf{28 \text{ days per hour (with no remainder!)}$$

Now let's take a simple day-calculator and see where we come when we add 28 days (an hour on the plague clock) to the beginning of the fourth plague (April 22, 2016):

$$\text{April 22, 2016} + 28 \text{ days} = \mathbf{\text{May 20, 2016!}}$$

Thus the hour with the beast ends precisely with the beginning of the fifth plague or the 2 o'clock throne line that is formed by the central star (Alnitak) and the star of God the Father (Alnilam).

We've had this "clock" since January 31, 2014, but only now have we realized that it gives us the resolution of the last biblical time prophecy. God's light is an increasing light, and He wanted to give all of this to Adventists, but they rejected it.

And now we understand better what it means when God says that the nations will receive power with the beast, specifically the fact that they will give all of their power to the beast. My friend and brother Robert wrote about that topic! On April 22, 2016, the nations will sign the global climate treaty and thus cede all their power to the New World Order of the UN. All branches of political structure and plans will thenceforth be under the control of the UN, but the UN itself is under the control of the pope, and thus under the control of Satan himself. Having the control, he will pass the power back, enabling the nations to persecute the faithful of God with sanctions based on their false tolerance and climate goals. Anyone who doesn't cooperate will be imprisoned or killed.

It is a good thing that we know now that the hand of God the Father, together with the King of kings, will intervene to thwart the plans of Satan from May 21, 2016 on. It should also be noted that the fifth plague corresponds to the fifth trumpet, which in turn represents the first woe. The three woes in the trumpet cycle were held, and in the plague cycle they will break forth with full force upon the enemies of God. That "hour" will be Satan's last undisturbed hour on this planet, when the world population is still unaware that anything is wrong and that they have been deceived by the father of lies.

Look at the feast day list from time to time, too. It is based on God's true calendar, which we have had available to you for years! On April 22, 2016, the fourth plague will begin with God's Passover.^[112] The Passover has always represented the angel of death passing over the houses of God's people, and the death of the "firstborn" of His enemies. In the previous article, you saw that the reaper for the vintage comes out of the temple on that day, but will still wait until the sixth plague to receive the command from the angel with power over fire.

The fifth plague begins with feast days—yes, even with a High Sabbath. May 21, the first day after the hour with the beast, is the fourth Omer Sabbath, which represents the waiting for “fire” to come down at Pentecost. That will initiate the segment of the plague clock that will end with fireballs falling on August 1, 2016.

Also, the second possibility for Passover will begin on the evening of May 21. Being that we expect a repetition of the fifth trumpet, which predicts torment but not death, we are anxious to see what God has planned for that date. In any case, we consider these multiple feast-day concurrences with the dates of the plagues to be quite remarkable, and soon we will see how all of this will come to pass.

The Five Men with Slaughter Weapons

In The Mystery of Ezekiel, I presented a possible interpretation for the men in Ezekiel 9 with the slaughter weapons. It was very harmonious, and even now, I am convinced that it was a conditional prophecy that could have been fulfilled exactly, if it weren't for the fourfold “Hold!” and Jesus' fourfold “My blood!” that mitigated the visible punishment of the entire trumpet cycle, postponing it until the plagues cycle.

Let me emphasize again that there are a total of six men—one of whom may be identified as the Holy Spirit, who has the writer's inkhorn, while the other five^[113] have a slaughter weapon. At the end of the trumpet cycle, though, the Holy Spirit withdrew from the earth and reported that His sealing work was finished. As for the others, no “Hold!” remains, nor does Jesus intercede with “My blood!” anymore.

We would expect, then, to see five successive waves of the “slaughter” of Ezekiel 9, so why haven't they started yet? Consider when the harvesting sickles are in position, as brother Gerhard showed in his article. The harvest time when the wheat will be gathered comes with the third plague, while the sixth plague (reflecting the second woe of the trumpet cycle), is when the winepress of God will be filled and trodden, which is the literal killing of the wicked.

By “killing,” I do not refer to the Christian martyrs, who for a long time have been giving their lives all over the world, especially under ISIS during the trumpet cycle. Nor do I refer to the relatively few people who have been laid to rest before they would fall into sin during the plagues. Rather, I speak of the apocalyptic numbers of the wicked that we can expect, based on the passages where the trumpets and plagues depict God's punishments upon them. Almost all of humanity must eventually be wiped out, since only the 144,000 remain in the end from those living today.

The short timeframe is not the problem. God created the earth and the life on it in six days, so surely He can also destroy it in six days. An ELE (extinction-level event)^[114] like a single, large asteroid, could destroy humanity in an “hour.” We should ponder, though, what God wants to show us by prophesying five death angels with slaughter weapons in Ezekiel 9. Even if the five stages of possible destruction were held in the trumpet cycle, there must be another interpretation, for although God's Word may indeed contain conditional prophecy, every prophecy must also be fulfilled in one way or another.

As any theologian would freely admit, Ezekiel 9 was once fulfilled naturally in the prophet's own time. Ezekiel, as well as his contemporaries like Daniel, Isaiah, and some others, prophesied the end of Jerusalem and the captivity of the Jews by Nebuchadnezzar. In addition, we know that these scenes must be repeated in the last days, because the prophets prophesied less for their own time than for ours.^[115]

Let's take a close look at when exactly Ellen White puts the repetition of Ezekiel 9:

“He cried also in mine ears with a loud voice, saying, Cause them that have charge over the city to draw near, even every man with his destroying weapon in his hand.”

“And he called to the man clothed with linen, which had the writer’s inkhorn by his side; and the Lord said unto him, Go through the midst of the city, through the midst of Jerusalem, and set a mark upon the foreheads of the men that sigh and that cry for all the abominations that be done in the midst thereof. And to the others he said in mine hearing, Go ye after him through the city, and smite: let not your eye spare, neither have ye pity: slay utterly old and young, both maids, and little children, and women: but come not near any man upon whom is the mark; and begin at My sanctuary. Then they began at the ancient men which were before the house.” Ezekiel 9:1, 3–6.

Jesus is about to leave the mercy seat of the heavenly sanctuary to put on garments of vengeance and pour out His wrath in judgments upon those who have not responded to the light God has given them. “Because sentence against an evil work is not executed speedily, therefore the heart of the sons of men is fully set in them to do evil.” Ecclesiastes 8:11. Instead of being softened by the patience and long forbearance that the Lord has exercised toward them, those who fear not God and love not the truth strengthen their hearts in their evil course. But there are limits even to the forbearance of God, and many are exceeding these boundaries. They have overrun the limits of grace, and therefore God must interfere and vindicate His own honor. {2TT 62.1–3}

Consequently, the terrible bloodbath that was in the city of Jerusalem, is repeated after Jesus leaves the heavenly Holy of Holies—and that’s the time of plagues!

Yet we must ask why there are exactly five men whom God sees as angels of death. Let’s see how many the prophetess sees in action during the plagues. Pay close attention to the context! When will the people notice that they have been deceived?

The people see that they have been deluded. They accuse one another of having led them to destruction; but all unite in heaping their bitterest condemnation upon the ministers. Unfaithful pastors have prophesied smooth things; they have led their hearers to make void the law of God and to persecute those who would keep it holy. Now, in their despair, these teachers confess before the world their work of deception. The multitudes are filled with fury. “We are lost!” they cry, “and you are the cause of our ruin;” and they turn upon the false shepherds. The very ones that once admired them most will pronounce the most dreadful curses upon them. The very hands that once crowned them with laurels will be raised for their destruction. The swords which were to slay God’s people are now employed to destroy their enemies. Everywhere there is strife and bloodshed.

“A noise shall come even to the ends of the earth; for the Lord hath a controversy with the nations, He will plead with all flesh; He will give them that are wicked to the sword.” Jeremiah 25:31. For six thousand years the great controversy has been in progress; the Son of God and His heavenly messengers have been in conflict with the power of the evil one, to warn, enlighten, and save the children of men. Now all have made their decisions; the wicked have fully united with Satan in his warfare against God. The time has come for God to vindicate the authority of His downtrodden law. Now the controversy is not alone with Satan, but with men. “The Lord hath a controversy with the nations;” “He will give them that are wicked to the sword.”

The mark of deliverance has been set upon those “that sigh and that cry for all the abominations that be done.” Now the angel of death goes forth, represented in Ezekiel’s vision by the men with the slaughtering weapons, to whom the command is given: “Slay utterly old and young, both maids, and little children, and women: but come not near any man upon whom is the mark; and begin at My sanctuary.” Says the prophet: “They began at the ancient men which were before the house.” Ezekiel 9:1–6. The work of destruction begins among those who have professed to be the spiritual guardians of the people. The false watchmen are the first to fall. There are none to pity or to spare. Men, women, maidens, and little children perish together. {GC 655.4–656.2}

In these paragraphs, it is clearly about the time of the last plagues. It's even a time when people have already realized that they were deceived. According to our understanding, this would be after the fifth plague begins, when the throne of the beast will be darkened.

Yet how many angels of death does Ellen White see? Only one! That's quite remarkable. A single death angel goes out to do the entire job of the destruction of humanity, even though he is represented by FIVE men.

With this, we begin to understand that God points to five different executions, each in its own era, thereby indicating when the final judgment will have come. If you've read this article attentively, you should know now which eras and times are actually intended.

During the first watch of the night, the first angel of death found food for his slaughter weapon in pre-Christian Jerusalem, when the Jews had become so abominable that God had to send the Babylonians to lead them into the 70-year captivity. At that time, the first temple was destroyed.

The destruction of Jerusalem and the second temple in AD 70 served as a call bell to summon the second night-watch. The second death angel brought about the terrible carnage that Ellen White described in the beginning of The Great Controversy.

The trumpet at the beginning of the third night-watch awoke the third death angel, who destroyed the Protestant "city" in the American Civil War, making the blood flow down the temple steps in its US headquarters.

The fourth angel of death was held back in accordance with its ranking number by the fourfold "Hold!" and Jesus' fourfold plea, "My blood!" This favored the sealing of the 144,000 before the end of mercy in the trumpet cycle—the fourth watch of the night. It's no wonder then, that the Adventist Church could apparently do whatever it wanted without being punished. Since they united with the world, they will be punished with the world.

With the terrible appearance of the fifth angel of death, the sentence upon the whole world will be executed. There is no further delay, and the prophecy of the five death angels of Ezekiel 9 will conclude.

One question remains open. Was the fourth death angel held indefinitely, or will he work together with the fifth, to bring total destruction upon the impenitent during the plagues?

I have a supposition. According to Revelation 14, two angels are called, and each have a sickle (slaughter weapon) so they can accomplish their work.^[116] (Jesus is sometimes depicted in the Bible as the Angel of Death of the Lord.^[117]) The harvest season begins with the cutting of wheat, which implies a separation of the wheat from the tares. This could be the slaughter, beginning at the house of God with the third plague, which is completed during the vintage of the 6th plague, when the grapes of the rest of humanity are cut. Time will tell if my view of things is correct.

The End is Near

This brings us to the end of the world. We've learned a lot in this article—things that everyone who has followed our studies could have discovered on their own. So far, however, we have only partially followed some important counsel from God's messenger:

We need to study the pouring out of the seventh vial [Revelation 16:17-21]. The powers of evil will not yield up the conflict without a struggle. But Providence has a part to act in the battle of Armageddon. When the earth is lighted with the glory of the angel of Revelation eighteen, the religious elements, good and evil, will awake from slumber, and the armies of the living God will take the field.—The S.D.A. Bible Commentary 7:983 (1899). {LDE 251.3}

This statement contains an awful lot of information that seems to have completely eluded most Adventists. They expected (as did we at the beginning) a horrible bloodbath at the very beginning of the plagues—October 25, 2015—not understanding that the first six plagues are only preparations for the great battle of Armageddon. Only in that last massacre, will the great struggle between light and darkness, Jesus and Satan, finally be decided.

The prophetess also predicted that the long-awaited, direct intervention by God would only come with this final plague.

The most surprising part of the quote, however, is that she gives the reason for this great, final battle. It is the light of the fourth angel of Revelation 18 that motivated the armies of both the evil and the good! This reminds us of the last two verses of Daniel 11, which we have often applied to the Orion message from the throne of God:

But tidings out of the east and out of the north shall trouble him: therefore he shall go forth with great fury to destroy, and utterly to make away many. And he [Satan—the papacy] shall plant the tabernacles of his palace between the seas in the glorious holy mountain; yet he shall come to his end, and none shall help him. (Daniel 11:44-45)

They have been fundamentally deceived, who thought that the light of the Fourth Angel would lighten the whole earth before the time of plagues. If this light is the reason for Armageddon, then we must even practice patience all the way until the last three plagues, before we will see its effect.

Ellen White therefore counsels us to study the seventh plague in particular. However, you can't understand the seventh plague without studying the sixth, because the Bible describes the sixth as a very special preparation for the seventh—the Battle of Armageddon:

And the sixth angel poured out his vial upon the great river Euphrates; and the water thereof was dried up, that the way of the kings of the east [Jesus and His hosts from Orion] might be prepared. And I saw three unclean spirits like frogs come out of the mouth of the dragon, and out of the mouth of the beast, and out of the mouth of the false prophet. For they are the spirits of devils, working miracles, which go forth unto the kings of the earth and of the whole world, to gather them to the battle of that great day of God Almighty. Behold, I come as a thief. Blessed is he that watcheth, and keepeth his garments, lest he walk naked, and they see his shame. And he gathered them together into a place called in the Hebrew tongue Armageddon. (Revelation 16:12-16)

If it is to be the reason for Armageddon, the light of the Fourth Angel must be completely confirmed no later than the sixth plague. In the section titled, The Rivers of Eden, of The Mystery of Ezekiel, I described how the four angels are bound at the river Euphrates, representing this last era of human history in the flow of time. It is the movement of the water of life, which was offered by those who had received it—the High Sabbath Adventists. The loosening of the four angels began with the command to release them, given on the day of the sixth trumpet. After that command, one angel after another is releasing his wind during the plagues cycle; at the first, third, fourth, and sixth plagues, respectively.

The seventh plague, Armageddon, can only come after the last of the four angels has finally released the fourth wind. The death decree will then be imposed on God's faithful, and the living water of the Euphrates, representing the voice of God from Paraguay, will dry up. That is the signal for Jesus to come and save His people from the hand of the enemy.

What is it that, once the fourth angel has released the fourth wind, leads people to give us the blame for all the disasters, as predicted? My brother, Gerhard explained it in his article—the fourth angel of Revelation 14 has power over fire!

Many who have been waiting for the fireballs to confirm their weak faith, will lose their (first) lives in the catastrophe. They never stood in God's defense, nor demonstrated the faith that Jesus requested. When the last of the four angels, who are represented by the outer stars of Orion, lets go (the sixth plague), the destruction will come upon the people, and that ultimately leads to the battle of Armageddon, beginning at the seventh plague.

We have often said that the events of the trumpet cycle have been postponed to the plagues cycle. Do you still remember that I had invited the Adventist Church and the whole of Christendom to Mount Carmel on July 8, 2015 for a decision? Long before I gave the invitation, the Holy Spirit had disclosed the plagues cycle on January 31, 2014. It was also a long time before we could know that a fateful vote that threatened to split the church, would take place on July 8, 2015, at the General Assembly of the General Conference of Adventists, which recurs only quinquennially.

After years of controversy, when the day had come for the vote on the ordination of women, and therefore a decision on the basic attitude toward LGBT acceptance, the few in the church who were faithful to God, were confounded by a trick of the leadership. The vote was not on the expected topic, but only the question of who should have the competence to decide on these issues. Everything remained as it was in the apostate church, but at least the trick had prevented division. Today, we find not only women in the highest levels of leadership, but transgender elders happily and openly proclaim that this church makes no distinction between nationality, skin color, or religious beliefs!^[118] Today it does not matter what you believe, you are all welcome in a multi-cultural, believe-what-you-want-just-pay-your-tithe church! It is all in perfect harmony with Pope Francis' love gospel of the United World Religions!

We had asked ourselves why the fireballs didn't fall on the day of the Carmel challenge. That this was the date when the Lord would have brought punishment on the church, was even confirmed by dreams. Today, after the analysis of Revelation 14 in the previous article, we understand that the fireballs will not fall before the fourth angel (Rigel) releases at the beginning of the sixth plague—the vintage of bad grapes.

The leaders of the Adventist Church did not appear on "Mount Carmel," nor accept the challenge, but tried to avoid the confrontation with God by a trick. This sin was registered against them, so that from then on, they were regarded as a part of Babylon. It was permanently recorded in the Orion trumpet cycle with the exact date, to the day, and thus, reached unto heaven like the sins of Babylon. Their “reward” will also come with the judgment of fireballs over the other Babylonian religions. Together with the others, they are all reaped as bad grapes and pressed out in the winepress of God during the plagues cycle at the day exactly corresponding to the sixth trumpet, August 1, 2016 (Rigel).

The fire from heaven will then dry up the water of the Euphrates, just like the water in the trench around Elijah’s altar, which represented the circle of elders in the Orion Clock.

*Hear me, O LORD, hear me, that this people may know that thou art the LORD God, and that thou hast turned their heart back again. Then the fire of the LORD fell, and consumed the burnt sacrifice, and the wood, and the stones, and the dust, and licked up the water that was in the trench. (1 Kings 18:37-38)

For Elijah and the 7000 who were faithful to God, the fire from heaven was on time and led to the slaughter of the priests of Baal shortly thereafter. In the time of the 144,000 faithful to God, it will also arrive on time. Because He could not give any more signs to an adulterous and apostate church,^[119] God just postponed it one cycle and He will confirm the High Sabbath Adventists at the time He has chosen. God is not mocked: If the church plays a trick, He plays a better one! He cradled them into a false security, but fire from heaven shall devour them as expected. They weren’t God’s people anymore, even in the trumpet cycle. With the sixth plague, the second woe is past, and in the third woe, the modern priests of Baal (sun worshipers, or Sunday worshipers) along with the UN-tolerant perversion-supporters and all those who follow them, fall into perdition.

*The second woe is past; behold, the third woe cometh quickly. (Revelation 11:14)

The Hour of Perdition

The book, The Great Controversy, describes in detail much of what will happen in the seventh plague (and even earlier). It is not my intention to repeat those things here. My purpose is to enhance the light that was given by Ellen White with some extraordinary insights that we were able to acquire.

Do not be deceived! Armageddon is not “only” the persecution of the saints by the death decree, but in addition, a horrific (atomic) war will break out across the globe. If we aren’t blinded by an evil spirit, we can see the preparations for it everywhere.

Four mighty angels hold back the powers of this earth till the servants of God are sealed in their foreheads. [\[That was applicable until the end of the trumpet cycle.\]](#) The nations of the world are eager for conflict, but they are held in check by the angels. When this restraining power is removed there will come a time of trouble and anguish. [\[Here, the releasing of the four winds in the plagues cycle is described as a process.\]](#) Deadly instruments of warfare will be invented. Vessels with their living cargo will be entombed in the great deep. All who have not the spirit of truth will unite under the leadership of Satanic agencies [\[see the sixth plague\]](#), but they are to be kept under control till the time shall come for the great battle of Armageddon [\[i.e. until the seventh plague\]](#).—The S.D.A. Bible Commentary 7:967 (1900). {LDE 238.3}

Earlier, I mentioned how the Adventist Church thinks they will only be tested on the fourth commandment and have become blind to other sins. Now examine the following text carefully for the sin that is highlighted in the end:

The whole earth heaves and swells like the waves of the sea. Its surface is breaking up. Its very foundations seem to be giving way. Mountain chains are sinking. Inhabited islands disappear. The seaports that have become like Sodom for wickedness, are swallowed up by the angry waters.... The proudest cities of the earth are laid low. The lordly palaces, upon which the world's great men have lavished their wealth in order to glorify themselves, are crumbling to ruin before their eyes. Prison walls are rent asunder, and God's people, who have been held in bondage for their faith, are set free.—The Great Controversy, 637 (1911). {LDE 251.5}

The penetration of the LGBT movement into the churches has sealed the fate of the planet. And the Adventist church merrily swung the hammer to nail Christ to the cross again. They only followed the voice of their master—Satan Francis.

Ellen White clearly and unambiguously connects the seventh plague with Revelation 19, where it describes the Lord's journey to the earth with all His hosts of angels on the cloud:

The battle of Armageddon is soon to be fought. He on whose vesture is written the name, King of kings and Lord of lords, leads forth the armies of heaven on white horses, clothed in fine linen, clean and white [Revelation 19:11-16].—The S.D.A. Bible Commentary 7:982 (1899). {LDE 251.4}

Why is Jesus' white horse mentioned at this point in the revelation?

And I saw heaven opened, and behold a white horse; and he that sat upon him was called Faithful and True, and in righteousness he doth judge and make war. His eyes were as a flame of fire, and on his head were many crowns; and he had a name written, that no man knew, but he himself. And he was clothed with a vesture dipped in blood: and his name is called The Word of God. And the armies which were in heaven followed him upon white horses, clothed in fine linen, white and clean. (Revelation 19:11-14)

Yes, in the Orion plague clock, the seventh plague begins at the star of the white horse: Saiph. This star, together with Alnitak (the star with Jesus' new name), indicates a date: September 24/25, 2016. Thus, we can know when Jesus begins His journey to the earth with the cloud. On the day when the special resurrection takes place, something becomes visible in the sky: the small dark cloud which will give us the hope that we will soon be delivered.

How long will this journey last until the Lord arrives and resurrects the rest of the righteous dead? From our studies, we know that Jesus will arrive on October 23/24, 2016. This emerged from the Vessel of Time study with its list of High Sabbaths; it is the Last Great Day (Shemini Atzeret) in 2016. It is also the end of the 1335-day timeline of Daniel 12, which began with the resignation of Pope Benedict XVI. The travel time of Jesus with His angel hosts arises from the difference between the start of travel at the seventh plague and the date of arrival:

September 25, 2016 + 28 days = October 23/24, 2016

Recall that we calculated the duration of one hour on the 12-hour clock face of the plagues cycle and the result was also 28 days! Jesus' journey, beginning with the battle of Armageddon until His coming when He gains the final victory, is therefore exactly one hour on the plagues clock in the eyes of Jesus.

He also used repetition to emphasize it in His Revelation to His beloved disciple John. Read for yourself what the fourth angel of Revelation 18 says about the destruction of the New World Order and the Whore of Babylon:

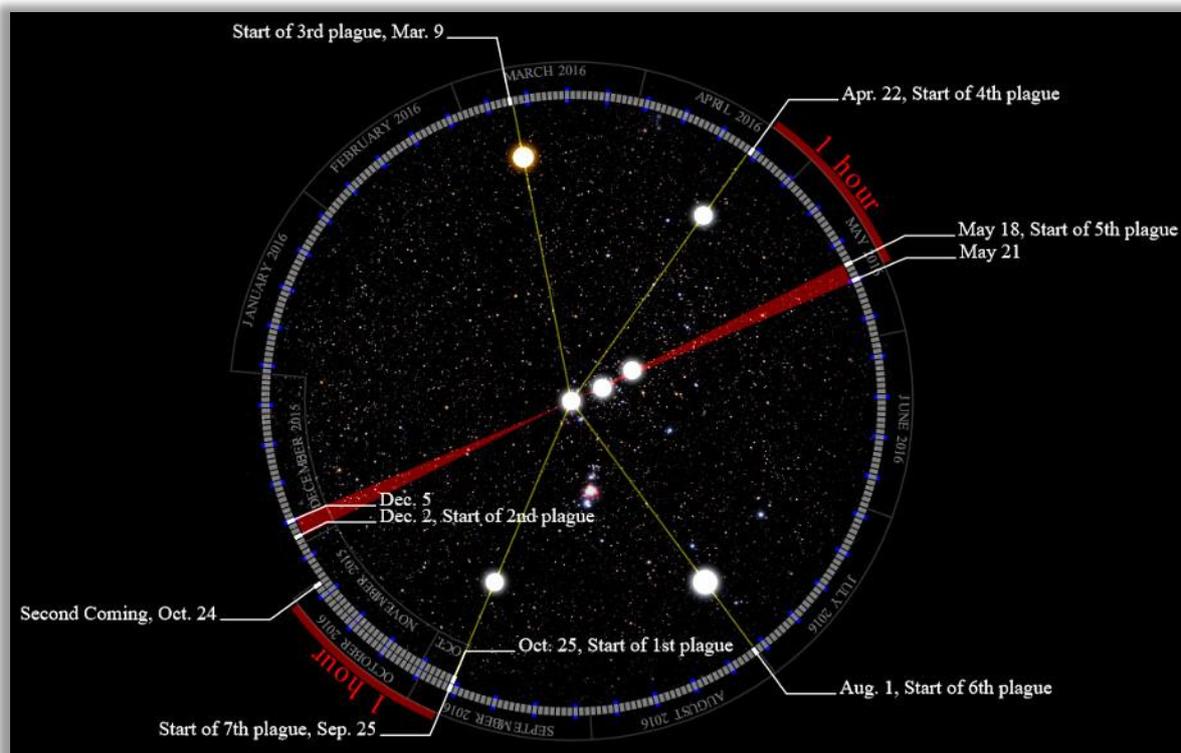

And the woman which thou sawest is that great city, which reigneth over the kings of the earth. (Revelation 17:18)

And after these things I saw another angel come down from heaven [the fourth angel], having great power; and the earth was lightened with his glory [increasingly until the sixth plague]. And he cried mightily with a strong voice, saying, Babylon the great is fallen, is fallen.... And I heard another voice from heaven, saying, Come out of her, my people, that ye be not partakers of her sins, and that ye receive not of her plagues. [This warning is over, because the plagues have already begun!] For her sins have reached unto heaven [recorded in Orion], and God hath remembered her iniquities.... Therefore shall her plagues come in one day [12-hour period/timeframe of the “morning”], death, and mourning, and famine; and she shall be utterly burned with fire: for strong is the Lord God who judgeth her. And the kings of the earth, who have committed fornication and lived deliciously with her, shall bewail her, and lament for her, when they shall see the smoke of her burning, Standing afar off for the fear of her torment, saying, Alas, alas, that great city Babylon, that mighty city! for in one hour is thy judgment come. [28-day period of the Battle of Armageddon.] And the merchants of the earth shall weep and mourn over her.... Alas, alas, that great city, that was clothed in fine linen, and purple, and scarlet, and decked with gold, and precious stones, and pearls! For in one hour so great riches is come to nought.... And they cast dust on their heads, and cried, weeping and wailing, saying, Alas, alas, that great city, wherein were made rich all that had ships in the sea by reason of her costliness! for in one hour is she made desolate. (from Revelation 18:1-19)

A threefold repetition in Biblical Literature is a threefold emphasis. God highlights the importance of understanding what this “hour” means, giving to the fourth angel, who stands for our movement, the honor of relating it.

Twice the Lord gave a period of an “hour” in the book of Revelation, and only in the Orion Clock, are these two “hours” found, providing a final confirmation for its accuracy and the precision of its indication.

Only those who understood and studied the Orion cycles could solve the riddle that God gave us as a brainteaser. Only those who have not dismissed the Holy Spirit and whom the Spirit has not left, are now able to appreciate these last wonderful harmonies in God’s Word—in the Bible and in Orion, the Book of Seven Seals. Praise be to God, who gave so much marvelous light that the whole globe could shine with joy! But...

...this is the condemnation, that light is come into the world, and men loved darkness rather than light, because their deeds were evil. (John 3:19)

Blind Doubters

Despite all the evidence from God that we brought to the people, most wanted to remain in darkness. The time of investigative judgment has already ended for the dead and even for the living, yet still today, supposedly faithful Adventist pastors preach about the approaching Sunday law and the forthcoming plagues. Satan's every move is thereby targeted in the sights like a trained drug dog sniffing for the dangerous, hidden charge in Pope Francis' travel bags. Likewise, his gay handbag is searched when he conjures up one of his sensational new ideas from a little cheat sheet, but no one really finds anything. The dogs have been trained to the wrong drug, and the true explosives, they smell only vaguely. Satan laughs up his sleeve at this, because he has long since changed his tactics.

Before I give to God's faithful the itinerary of their seven-day trip to Orion, I want to explain why the Adventists were so blind and still are. This should not be taken as an apology for them, but I noticed that even many High Sabbath Adventists have trouble explaining when and where some events have taken place, because they were lumped into the little time of trouble by the compilers of the Ellen White Estate, especially in the book, Last Day Events.

Read for yourself, what and how many of her statements are allegedly packed into that time just before the plagues in Chapter 10, The Little Time of Trouble. The idea of a "little time of trouble" stems from a single statement found in a comment in the book Early Writings, where Ellen White was defending herself against her critics.

Let's look briefly at that section, with which the chapter starts:

A Time of Trouble Before Probation Closes

On page 33 [of Early Writings] is given the following: "... At the commencement of the time of trouble, we were filled with the Holy Ghost as we went forth and proclaimed the Sabbath more fully."

This view was given in 1847 when there were but very few of the Advent brethren observing the Sabbath, and of these but few supposed that its observance was of sufficient importance to draw a line between the people of God and unbelievers. Now the fulfillment of that view is beginning to be seen. "The commencement of that time of trouble," here mentioned, does not refer to the time when the plagues shall begin to be poured out, but to a short period just before they are poured out, while Christ is in the sanctuary. At that time, while the work of salvation is closing, trouble will be coming on the earth, and the nations will be angry, yet held in check so as not to prevent the work of the third angel.—Early Writings, 85, 86 (1854). {LDE 143.1-2}

The 1847 vision of Ellen White was attacked because putatively, she said that the plagues would have already begun, since she was shown in vision that "the Sabbath was proclaimed more fully" in the time of trouble. As we have often pointed out, the Sabbath truth was accepted by the Whites in 1846 (the white horse star at the beginning of the Orion judgment cycle). Of course, it was clear that the plagues had not yet begun and therefore the author defended it with this clarification and stated that it concerns a time represented as the latter rain season before the outpouring of the plagues.

The true meaning of this statement is actually fulfilled in the High Sabbath Adventist movement, since we received the light of the Fourth Angel in 2010 as well as the additional light of the High Sabbaths, by which we deciphered the complete timetable of God. After the election of Pope Francis in 2013, we proclaimed the beginning of the time of trouble and the Sabbath more fully (than the Adventist pioneers), because visible events began to accompany our message. The light of the Fourth Angel was the true latter rain message and the vision of Ellen White and her declaration was thus literally confirmed.

The inaccurate understanding of the Adventist Church stemming from that explanation, led them to relocate almost all of the major prophetic statements of God's messenger into the "little time of trouble" that should come SHORTLY before the great time of trouble (the plagues). And this period was understood as SHORT, because that is what the prophetess herself declared.

In the attempt to classify the events she prophesied, both extremes were combined. Some things that would happen only in the great tribulation were filed in the period before the plagues, while things that must happen LONG before the plagues were transported directly to the plagues.

Therefore, readers of the compilations should carefully consider the honest advice of the authors in the book's preface:

We have attempted to present Ellen White's teachings on end-time events in a logical arrangement. However, we do not claim that we have listed all future events in the exact order of their occurrence. {LDE 7.4}

It is no wonder that mistakes happen while sorting, since Ellen White's lifework with some 2000 visions and about 100,000 pages of material is virtually unmanageable. Sometimes we need to beware of Satan's cunning, because many have lost their eternal lives to some of these Adventist myths. One of them is the expected fulfillment of the Sunday law problems that the prophetess repeatedly foretold. We have shown that it did not come in the expected form SHORTLY BEFORE the plagues, because God allowed Satan to replace it with its twin to test His church, because it had lost its nose for sin in general.

However, many of her statements regarding the persecution would then not have been fulfilled—or not yet! Could she have been mistaken? Should we not leave the cities, because famine and chaos are supposed to reign, especially for the Sabbath-keepers? Should we not live in the country in order to supply ourselves with food for YEARS in the "little" time of trouble?

It would go beyond the present scope if I address every single quote, but I will put a tool in your hand that may be useful for classification, when you read Ellen White on your own.

Ellen White died in 1915 and her work had recently ended in 1914. Her prophetic statements concerning the future must be understood from this frame of reference. Time and time again, it is forgotten that she herself did not witness the age of the great world wars that began around the time of her death.

God tested the Adventist church for their faithfulness in those times. In Orion, two eras are specifically listed, in which the Adventist Church didn't pass their tests:

1914 – The First World War with the church split over the military service question. Many Adventists recognized the incompatibility of the Sabbath and military service, and there were martyrs in the ranks of the faithful. Meanwhile, the global church leadership failed by accepting compromise with the government.

1936 – The Sabbath question had returned to the checklist as Nazism came to power in Europe and the exercise of various religions was banned—including Adventism. Children had to go to school on Sabbath, and if parents refused to let them, they were threatened with state sanctions. After a week, the Adventist church again cooperated with the state and got back their property that had been confiscated. The organization fell again, while many members preserved their individual faithfulness to God.

If someone awaits a future test from God due to “government regulations” that complicate the keeping of the Sabbath and bring persecution to His faithful, they have overlooked the fact that such tests have already come to the people of the third night watch and were not passed.

During the world wars—especially the second—those who lived in the country had huge advantages. The hunger in the bombed cities was unimaginable. City residents scrambled for a way to do manual labor on the land, because food was available there that could not be accessed in the cities. I recommend everyone read the book by Susi Hasel Mundy, A Thousand Shall Fall,^[120] in which she impressively portrays how an Adventist family survived the turmoil of World War II and found a way to escape starvation, despite the sanctions of the state.

So what about the US? Hadn't the messenger of God always spoken of problems, particularly in the US? One must not overlook the fact that in the judgment cycle, the Orion clock marker points to 1936 and not to the beginning of World War II itself. The war was actually a consequence of the Great Depression—the global economic crisis that afflicted the United States from 1929 to 1941. Even those who had work, could barely feed their family. Unemployment led to hunger, and hunger to death. If a worker refused to work on Saturdays, ten others were ready to take his place. This is a suppressed chapter in the history of Adventism as well. Still today, it is hard to find a word about the reaction of the church leadership. I wonder why!

It is the ignorance of the average pew-warmer that made it possible for the Adventist leaders to hide all these fulfilled prophecies of the prophetess from the people, and push forward a Jesuit Sunday-law-futurism. Therefore, the disgraceful reaction of the church leadership had to be recorded by God in Orion. When it was brought to light in 2010, it was shamelessly suppressed and extinguished in the manner of the Pharisees by those responsible, whom God actually wanted to lead to repentance.^[121]

Also, don't forget about the tool that I gave you at the beginning of the article: prophecy is written in prophetic language and uses SYMBOLS. The reality usually looks very different, such that the spiritual eye must be enlightened by the Holy Spirit in order to recognize the fulfillment in the real world.

Country Living or Flight

Time and time again, I get the question, “When should we leave the cities?”

Of course there's no way I can know exactly where God wants you in the last days, but the signal to leave the cities and live on the countryside was the forthcoming Sunday law in the US, back in the 1880s. As soon as someone converted to Adventism, he should have asked God to open a door that would enable him and his family to live in the country to escape the harmful influences of the city.

Today—less than nine months before Jesus returns—it's probably too late for preparations like purchasing a farm or planting things that still need many months to mature. The only thing left for you now, is flight.

As the decree issued by the various rulers of Christendom against commandment keepers shall withdraw the protection of government, and abandon them to those who desire their destruction, the people of God will flee from the cities and villages and associate together in companies, dwelling in the most desolate and solitary places. Many will find refuge in the strongholds of the mountains.... But many of all nations and of all classes, high and low, rich and poor, black and white, will be cast into the most unjust and cruel bondage. The beloved of God pass weary days bound in chains, shut in by prison bars, sentenced to be slain, some apparently left to die of starvation in dark and loathsome dungeons.—The Great Controversy, 626 (1911).

Though a general decree has fixed the time when commandment keepers may be put to death, their enemies will in some cases anticipate the decree, and before the time specified, will endeavor to take their lives. But none can pass the mighty guardians stationed about every faithful soul. Some are assailed in their flight from the cities and villages; but the swords raised against them break and fall powerless as a straw. Others are defended by angels in the form of men of war.—The Great Controversy, 631 (1911).

The people of God are not at this time all in one place. They are in different companies and in all parts of the earth; and they will be tried singly, not in groups. Every one must stand the test for himself.—The S.D.A. Bible Commentary 4:1143 (1908). {LDE 259.4–260.2}

There was another clear signal to flee in modern times, which corresponds exactly to the three-and-a-half-year signal before the destruction of Jerusalem at the transition from the first to the second watch of the night. Jesus said:

When ye therefore shall see the abomination of desolation, spoken of by Daniel the prophet, stand in the holy place, (whoso readeth, let him understand:) Then let them which be in Judaea flee into the mountains: Let him which is on the housetop not come down to take any thing out of his house: Neither let him which is in the field return back to take his clothes. And woe unto them that are with child, and to them that give suck in those days! (Matthew 24:15–19)

This warning from Jesus has nothing to do with Ellen White's recommendation of a country life, which God gave her for the people's long desert wandering from 1888–2010. Here, there is no mention of "moving to the country," but only of sudden FLIGHT! Run for your lives!

It is important to understand or learn what the "abomination of desolation" is, of which Daniel spoke, otherwise one overlooks Jesus' signal to flee. The events surrounding the destruction of Jerusalem in the Christian era are now about to repeat:

Not one Christian perished in the destruction of Jerusalem. Christ had given His disciples warning, and all who believed His words watched for the promised sign. "When ye shall see Jerusalem compassed with armies," said Jesus, "then know that the desolation thereof is nigh. Then let them which are in Judea flee to the mountains; and let them which are in the midst of it depart out." Luke 21:20, 21. After the Romans under Cestius had surrounded the city, they unexpectedly abandoned the siege when everything seemed favorable for an immediate attack. The besieged, despairing of successful resistance, were on the point of surrender, when the Roman general withdrew his forces without the least apparent reason. {GC 30.2}

Today's signal was the election of the Roman Jesuit General, Pope Francis on March 13, 2013, who now unites the world religions under himself. We had also expected an immediate and bloody assault, but even though the time of trouble had already begun, Francis smiled lovingly as he withdrew into his allegedly cuddly Gospel. He wooed the world with his deceitful, satanic character, so that even the Adventists were deceived. But we were awake, and many fled to the mountain fortresses of the true faith, and accepted the light of the Fourth Angel.

But God's merciful providence was directing events for the good of His own people. The promised sign had been given to the waiting Christians, and now an opportunity was offered for all who would, to obey the Saviour's warning. Events were so overruled that neither Jews nor Romans should hinder the flight of the Christians. Upon the retreat of Cestius, the Jews, sallying from Jerusalem, pursued after his retiring army; and while both forces were thus fully engaged, the Christians had an opportunity to leave the city. At this time the country also had been cleared of enemies who might have endeavored to intercept them. At the time of the siege, the Jews were assembled at Jerusalem to keep the Feast of Tabernacles, and thus the Christians throughout the land were able to make their escape unmolested. Without delay they fled to a place of safety—the city of Pella, in the land of Perea, beyond Jordan. {GC 30.2}

Then, after three and a half years, the Romans came back and surrounded the city again. This time no one could escape.

Terrible were the calamities that fell upon Jerusalem when the siege was resumed by Titus. The city was invested at the time of the Passover, when millions of Jews were assembled within its walls. Their stores of provision, which if carefully preserved would have supplied the inhabitants for years, had previously been destroyed through the jealousy and revenge of the contending factions, and now all the horrors of starvation were experienced. A measure of wheat was sold for a talent. So fierce were the pangs of hunger that men would gnaw the leather of their belts and sandals and the covering of their shields. Great numbers of the people would steal out at night to gather wild plants growing outside the city walls, though many were seized and put to death with cruel torture, and often those who returned in safety were robbed of what they had gleaned at so great peril. The most inhuman tortures were inflicted by those in power, to force from the want-stricken people the last scanty supplies which they might have concealed. And these cruelties were not infrequently practiced by men who were themselves well fed, and who were merely desirous of laying up a store of provision for the future.

Thousands perished from famine and pestilence. Natural affection seemed to have been destroyed. Husbands robbed their wives, and wives their husbands. Children would be seen snatching the food from the mouths of their aged parents. The question of the prophet, "Can a woman forget her sucking child?" received the answer within the walls of that doomed city: "The hands of the pitiful women have sodden their own children: they were their meat in the destruction of the daughter of my people." Isaiah 49:15; Lamentations 4:10. Again was fulfilled the warning prophecy given fourteen centuries before: "The tender and delicate woman among you, which would not adventure to set the sole of her foot upon the ground for delicateness and tenderness, her eye shall be evil toward the husband of her bosom, and toward her son, and toward her daughter, ... and toward her children which she shall bear: for she shall eat them for want of all things secretly in the siege and straitness, wherewith thine enemy shall distress thee in thy gates." Deuteronomy 28:56, 57. {GC 31.2–32.1}

It's the end of the world that is described here. In the seventh plague—on time to the day, after three and a half years from the opportunity to escape—God Himself will bring the cities of the nations to an end, and the whore of Babylon and those who are physically or spiritually still with her, will taste His wrath. The "sudden darkness" that some have dreamed about will come over humanity as a great earthquake at about 6:30 (September 24/25, 2016).

Since God is love, He must also ensure that there is a sinless universe again for the rest of His creation. Only through the destruction of the wicked and the completion of the great controversy can He achieve this. He gained the right to do so in the investigative judgment and the “144,000” witnesses have shown that they both want to and can, live without sin without an intercessor until the end of the sixth plague, and by so doing have justified the Father.

The Rapture

Only then will it be about time that Jesus can take His beloved church.

Is there a rapture? Yes, of course:

And at that time shall Michael stand up, the great prince which standeth for the children of thy people: and there shall be a time of trouble, such as never was since there was a nation even to that same time: and at that time thy people shall be delivered, every one that shall be found written in the book. (Daniel 12:1)

In my Father's house are many mansions: if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you. And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you unto myself; that where I am, there ye may be also. (John 14:2-3)

Is there a pre-tribulation rapture before persecution? Of course not:

And one of the elders answered, saying unto me, What are these which are arrayed in white robes? and whence came they? And I said unto him, Sir, thou knowest. And he said to me, These are they which came out of great tribulation, and have washed their robes, and made them white in the blood of the Lamb. (Revelation 7:13-14)

For then shall be great tribulation, such as was not since the beginning of the world to this time, no, nor ever shall be. And except those days should be shortened, there should no flesh be saved: but for the elect's sake those days shall be shortened. (Matthew 24:21-22)

Even the elect (the 144,000) will stay on the earth when the great tribulation comes, but the time of tribulation was shortened by a whole 15 years for their sake.

First, the righteous dead will be resurrected on the day of Jesus' return, and then they, the 144,000, and those of the special resurrection (of September 24/25, 2016) will be caught up together.

For this we say unto you by the word of the Lord, that we which are alive and remain unto the coming of the Lord shall not prevent [not preempt or precede] them which are asleep. For the Lord himself shall descend from heaven [Orion] with a shout, with the voice of the archangel, and with the trump of God: and the dead in Christ shall rise first: Then we which are alive and remain [the 144,000] shall be caught up together with them in the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air: and so shall we ever be with the Lord. Wherefore comfort one another with these words. (1 Thessalonians 4:15-18)

Those who are asleep will be raised on the Last Great Day^[122] of the history of this old world, and we who are living will not be raptured before them. That is what the apostle Paul says in the Bible, which is God's Word. Anyone who claims the contrary is a liar or a false prophet. The Bible must be our principal guide. All of the people living on the earth who will not be laid to rest, must stand through the final test on the earth. It will be difficult, but God will help us.

Where will the rapture take us? The apostle says it clearly: “in the air”! How will we go? “In clouds”! That is plural, pointing to vehicles with which the angels will pick up certain groups of people. They will be collected from the four winds, which means from the whole world.^[123]

Please don't take this too allegorically. Paul is describing here the greatest event in human history: the return of Jesus and the rapture of the saints of all the ages. Jesus showed him this. Naturally there are symbols in a case like this, but their interpretation must be logically consistent with what the apostle has seen.

Jesus will come back in one cloud, as it was promised, however. It is singular and indicates one big cloud into which the small cloud-vehicles bring the saints. The big cloud is positioned above the earth.

And when he had spoken these things, while they beheld, he was taken up; and a cloud received him out of their sight. And while they looked stedfastly toward heaven as he went up, behold, two men stood by them in white apparel; Which also said, Ye men of Galilee, why stand ye gazing up into heaven? this same Jesus, which is taken up from you into heaven, shall so come in like manner as ye have seen him go into heaven. (Acts 1:9-11)

The messenger of God sees it the same way, with a few more details:

All heaven was waiting the hour of triumph when Jesus should ascend to His Father. Angels came to receive the King of glory and to escort Him triumphantly to heaven. After Jesus had blessed His disciples, He was parted from them and taken up. And as He led the way upward, the multitude of captives who were raised at His resurrection followed. A multitude of the heavenly host were in attendance, while in heaven an innumerable company of angels awaited His coming. As they ascended to the Holy City, the angels who escorted Jesus cried out, "Lift up your heads, O ye gates; and be ye lift up, ye everlasting doors; and the King of glory shall come in." The angels in the city cried out with rapture, "Who is this King of glory?" The escorting angels answered in triumph, "The Lord strong and mighty, the Lord mighty in battle! Lift up your heads, O ye gates; even lift them up, ye everlasting doors; and the King of glory shall come in!" Again the waiting angels asked, "Who is this King of glory?" and the escorting angels answered in melodious strains, "The Lord of hosts, He is the King of glory." And the heavenly train passed into the city of God. Then all the heavenly host surrounded their majestic Commander, and with the deepest adoration bowed before Him and cast their glittering crowns at His feet. And then they touched their golden harps, and in sweet, melodious strains filled all heaven with rich music and songs to the Lamb who was slain, yet lives again in majesty and glory.

As the disciples gazed sorrowfully toward heaven to catch the last glimpse of their ascending Lord, two angels clothed in white apparel stood by them and said to them, "Ye men of Galilee, why stand ye gazing up into heaven? this same Jesus, which is taken up from you into heaven, shall so come in like manner as ye have seen Him go into heaven." The disciples and the mother of Jesus, who with them had witnessed the ascension of the Son of God, spent the following night in talking over His wonderful acts and the strange and glorious events which had taken place within a short time. {EW 190.2-191.1}

If the disciples could see Jesus ride up to "heaven" and His entrance into the "Holy City" is described as the same moment, then where was the Holy City at the time of this event? It must have been very close to the earth for the apostles to follow the event with the naked eye, even if the Holy City was veiled by a cloud. Therefore, the Holy City could not have been in the Orion Nebula, where it currently is, as we know through another vision of the prophetess, which says in the context of Jesus' return:

Dark, heavy clouds came up and clashed against each other. The atmosphere parted and rolled back; then we could look up through the open space in Orion, whence came the voice of God. The Holy City will come down through that open space. {EW 41.2}

Spaceship “New Jerusalem”

Therefore, the Holy City is not a stationary place in some fixed location in the universe. It is movable and can transport itself and its inhabitants from one place to another, depending on the situation. In modern terms, we would call the Holy City a giant spaceship. It makes sense because we know that Jesus assumed human form FOREVER, and thus He, too, ALWAYS needs air and oxygen to breathe. That could only be accomplished if the Holy City provides a closed ecosystem for billions of beings who live there.

By His life and His death, Christ has achieved even more than recovery from the ruin wrought through sin. It was Satan’s purpose to bring about an eternal separation between God and man; but in Christ we become more closely united to God than if we had never fallen. In taking our nature, the Saviour has bound Himself to humanity by a tie that is never to be broken. Through the eternal ages He is linked with us. “God so loved the world, that He gave His only-begotten Son.” John 3:16. He gave Him not only to bear our sins, and to die as our sacrifice; He gave Him to the fallen race. To assure us of His immutable counsel of peace, God gave His only-begotten Son to become one of the human family, forever to retain His human nature. This is the pledge that God will fulfill His word. “Unto us a child is born, unto us a son is given: and the government shall be upon His shoulder.” God has adopted human nature in the person of His Son, and has carried the same into the highest heaven. It is the “Son of man” who shares the throne of the universe. It is the “Son of man” whose name shall be called, “Wonderful, Counselor, The mighty God, The everlasting Father, The Prince of Peace.” Isaiah 9:6. The I AM is the Daysman between God and humanity, laying His hand upon both. He who is “holy, harmless, undefiled, separate from sinners,” is not ashamed to call us brethren. Hebrews 7:26; 2:11. In Christ the family of earth and the family of heaven are bound together. Christ glorified is our brother. Heaven is enshrined in humanity, and humanity is enfolded in the bosom of Infinite Love. {DA 25.3}

Now you can easily accuse me of writing here like a science fiction writer, because you have always imagined heaven some other way. In His Word, in Revelation 22, God even gives us the dimensions of the “New Jerusalem” spaceship:

*And the city lieth foursquare, and the length is as large as the breadth: and he measured the city with the reed, twelve thousand furlongs. The length and the breadth and the height of it are equal. (Revelation 21:16)

Anyone who has ever really given thought to the dimensions of the Holy City, with its 12,000 furlongs or approximately 2218 km (1378 mi), will probably have to admit that we are dealing with a grand marvel of God’s creation. The city is just as wide as long and high. The highest mountain in the world, with an altitude of almost 9 km (5½ mi), is a dwarf compared to the Holy City!

The description of the Holy City’s layout only allows two geometric forms: a cube or a pyramid. Satan loves pyramids to draw to himself worship that actually belongs to God. Consequently, I believe that the Holy City could be a huge pyramid. Jesus has often been seen standing at the “top” of the Holy City in dreams and visions of the coronation ceremony as King of the universe after the millennium, which again indicates a pyramidal shape, but it’s not that important.

Modern science fiction films also like to use the pyramid shape for large spaceships, but those always come from the enemy of mankind. Even the Death Star of the latest Disney production^[124] wants to bump off mankind again. We get programmed so that when we see something, we should assume that the enemy of humanity is inside it. So please exercise discernment!

Imagine the Holy City for a moment, with a length of 2218 km on a side, when it is standing on the earth. That's a third of the United States!^[125] If it is not just in orbit around the earth, as in the second coming, but actually lands on the earth after the millennium,^[126] then it will occupy a vast area. Therefore, many also speak of a "Holy Nation."

However, that's not the most amazing thing about these dimensions. The city is as high as it is wide! Our breathable atmosphere is only about 9000 meters (30,000 feet) high, maximum, and the tallest structures are about 1000 m (3280 ft.). How many decks would such a spaceship have, assuming it is not just full of 2000 km of "air" alone, but that each deck would be as high as Mt. Everest?

$$2218 \text{ km} \div 9 \text{ km} \approx 250 \text{ decks!}$$

If you were to convert these decks into square kilometers of habitat, then it would be many times the area of the earth's surface, including all of its oceans. Therefore, there would be a hundredfold more area in the Holy City than on Earth, indeed enough for billions of intelligent beings.

The inhabitants of heaven or the Holy City are simply called "angels." How many of them are there? We have only a vague idea, but it approaches a huge number:

And I beheld, and I heard the voice of many angels round about the throne and the beasts and the elders: and the number of them was ten thousand times ten thousand, and thousands of thousands; (Revelation 5:11)

When the rebellion took place in heaven, a third part of the angels fell and were exiled along with Satan to Earth. A legion of demons can be in one man,^[127] again suggesting that even a third of the angels must number billions.

Humans were created to replace the fallen angels.

16, 17 (Genesis 1:26; Isaiah 43:6, 7). To Re-populate Heaven After Test—God created man for His own glory, that after test and trial the human family might become one with the heavenly family. It was God's purpose to re-populate heaven with the human family, if they would show themselves obedient to His every word. Adam was to be tested, to see whether he would be obedient, as the loyal angels, or disobedient. If he stood the test, his instruction to his children would have been only of loyalty. His mind and thoughts would have been as the mind and thoughts of God. He would have been taught by God as His husbandry and building. His character would have been moulded in accordance with the character of God (Letter 91, 1900). {1BC 1082.4}

Despite the huge dimensions of the Holy City, it does have a fixed size and therefore a limited number of residents, assuming it doesn't want to burst at the seams someday; death won't exist there, after all. That is why we will no longer marry or beget children in heaven. Even eternal life has a price, and all those who have made sex and the desire for it into their idol, would not enjoy heaven.

In heaven, there is a rural area and an urban area. That means there is a city within the city. How do I know that? Well, the Garden of Eden was a miniature form of heaven:

Adam had themes for contemplation in the works of God in Eden, which was heaven in miniature. God did not form man merely to contemplate His glorious works; therefore, He gave him hands for labor as well as a mind and heart for contemplation. If the happiness of man consisted in doing nothing, the Creator would not have given Adam his appointed work. Man was to find happiness in labor as well as in meditation.—The Review and Herald, February 24, 1874. (The S.D.A. Bible Commentary 1:1082.) {2MCP 602.2}

Where is the Garden of Eden today?

The Garden of Eden remained upon the earth long after man had become an outcast from its pleasant paths. The fallen race were long permitted to gaze upon the home of innocence, their entrance barred only by the watching angels. At the cherubim-guarded gate of Paradise the divine glory was revealed. Hither came Adam and his sons to worship God. Here they renewed their vows of obedience to that law the transgression of which had banished them from Eden. When the tide of iniquity overspread the world, and the wickedness of men determined their destruction by a flood of waters, the hand that had planted Eden withdrew it from the earth. But in the final restitution, when there shall be "a new heaven and a new earth" (Revelation 21:1), it is to be restored more gloriously adorned than at the beginning. {PP 62.2}

It was taken up, and it is reasonable to conclude that it is back where it was at the beginning... in heaven, as a part of the landscape that is "around" the inner Holy City. Perhaps that land area also forms the first deck of the spaceship. Some of us will soon know for sure.

The Kingdom of Heaven Is at Hand!

The Holy City is thus a giant spaceship for billions of creatures that need air, warmth, and a habitat. For a long time, it was the only kingdom of God! Now I hear an outcry from the ranks of ignorant Christians again. Friends, what do you think happened in heaven or in the Holy City when the angels rebelled? Of course, heaven or the Holy City is the center of the power of God. It is the seat of His government. When dispute arose in heaven over the righteousness of God, the rebellion was witnessed by the entire universe with all its created beings. Satan sowed his poison not only among the inhabitants of heaven, but also in the hearts of other intelligent beings on every inhabited planet in the universe.

God does not force anyone to submit to Him, but He desires His subjects to give their loyalty to Him through free will. Therefore, the earth was chosen as a spectacle, as the venue for the judgment, to ensure that all of the inhabitants of the universe could witness the verdict. Sin per se was only allowed on Earth. It is the only planet whose beings have eaten from the tree of knowledge, but such a tree exists on all of the other inhabited planets of the universe too.

The Lord has given me a view of other worlds. Wings were given me, and an angel attended me from the city to a place that was bright and glorious. The grass of the place was living green, and the birds there warbled a sweet song. The inhabitants of the place were of all sizes; they were noble, majestic, and lovely. They bore the express image of Jesus, and their countenances beamed with holy joy, expressive of the freedom and happiness of the place. I asked one of them why they were so much more lovely than those on the earth. The reply was, "We have lived in strict obedience to the commandments of God, and have not fallen by disobedience, like those on the earth." Then I saw two trees, one looked much like the tree of life in the city. The fruit of both looked beautiful, but of one they could not eat. They had power to eat of both, but were forbidden to eat of one. Then my attending angel said to me, "None in this place have tasted of the forbidden tree; but if they should eat, they would fall." Then I was taken to a world which had seven moons. There I saw good old Enoch, who had been translated. On his right arm he bore a glorious palm, and on each leaf was written "Victory." Around his head was a dazzling white wreath, and leaves on the wreath, and in the middle of each leaf was written "Purity," and around the wreath were stones of various colors, that shone brighter than the stars, and cast a reflection upon the letters and magnified them. On the back part of his head was a bow that confined the wreath, and upon the bow was written "Holiness." Above the wreath was a lovely crown that shone brighter than the sun. I asked him if this was the place he was taken to from the earth. He said, "It is not; the city is my home, and I have come to visit this place." He moved about the place as if perfectly at home. I begged of my attending angel to let me remain in that place. I could not bear the thought of coming back to this dark world again. Then the angel said, "You must go back, and if you are faithful, you, with the 144,000, shall have the privilege of visiting all the worlds and viewing the handiwork of God." {EW 39.3}

The entire universe is intently looking forward to the outcome of the proceedings against God. That means the decision of the conflict will also have implications for the other worlds too. They will have to abide by the decision of the court, and either follow Satan or God, depending on who is able to show that his government is better.^[128]

When Satan and his angels were banished to Earth, only heaven was cleansed of sin and doubt. Jesus kept His heavenly kingdom and sovereignty over the newly created Earth until the fall, but the rest of the universe was divided on the issue. Only when the dispute is finally decided will Jesus be crowned as the King of the universe—and that will be after the millennial judgment.

Nevertheless, He has already regained control of the planet Earth itself, as I explained in the chapters about the crown of time. The "144,000" witnesses were found, and the hearts of the great multitude, which still needed to be purified for their coming sacrifice and which should be fulfilled,^[129] were already found good in the investigative judgment before the door of mercy closed.

From the fall of Adam to the crucifixion of Jesus, the only kingdom that was ruled by Jesus was the kingdom of heaven, the Holy City. First you have to wrap your mind around that! Yes, God is almighty, but He is not a tyrant; therefore His kingdom is still limited.

So what does it mean when the Bible speaks of the kingdom of heaven being at hand?

It was first said by John the Baptist:

In those days came John the Baptist, preaching in the wilderness of Judaea, And saying, Repent ye: for the kingdom of heaven is at hand. (Matthew 3:1-2)

Then Jesus reiterated it:

From that time Jesus began to preach, and to say, Repent: for the kingdom of heaven is at hand. (Matthew 4:17)

And now we should preach it like the twelve apostles:

And as ye go, preach, saying, The kingdom of heaven is at hand. (Matthew 10:7)

Where was the kingdom of heaven, the Holy City, when Jesus was on Earth?

Of course God would never have presented His power so blatantly that people would no longer need any faith. If the Holy City, which no human language can describe, had been shown to them openly, that would have been equivalent to a tyrant's show of force, and everyone would have fallen before Him in fear. It had to be hidden from the eyes of men. What "ordinary celestial phenomenon" could hide such a huge spaceship in the earth's orbit in front of the eyes of the people in that pre-technological era?

When Jesus was born on Earth, there was a celestial phenomenon whose astronomical basis is still sought in vain: the Star of Bethlehem. Although the Internet is full of speculation about which constellation or unregistered supernova it might have been, they are all looking in vain for the origin of the biblical report about this extraordinary moving star that indicated Jesus' birthplace, even leading the wise men from the east.

It's a good thing that we have Ellen White, who provides us with divine guidance:

The wise men had seen a mysterious light in the heavens upon that night when the glory of God flooded the hills of Bethlehem. As the light faded, a luminous star appeared, and lingered in the sky. It was not a fixed star nor a planet, and the phenomenon excited the keenest interest. That star was a distant company of shining angels, but of this the wise men were ignorant. Yet they were impressed that the star was of special import to them. They consulted priests and philosophers, and searched the scrolls of the ancient records. The prophecy of Balaam had declared, "There shall come a Star out of Jacob, and a Scepter shall rise out of Israel." Numbers 24:17. Could this strange star have been sent as a harbinger of the Promised One? The magi had welcomed the light of heaven-sent truth; now it was shed upon them in brighter rays. Through dreams they were instructed to go in search of the newborn Prince. {DA 60.1}

Angels of God, in the appearance of a star, conducted the wise men on their mission in search of Jesus. They came with gifts and costly offerings of frankincense and myrrh, to pay their oblation to the infant King foretold in prophecy. They followed the brilliant messengers with assurance and great joy.—The Review and Herald, December 9, 1884. {TA 162.2}

There we see a company of angels appearing to be a star in the night sky.

What about the daytime?

Christ was taken up into heaven in a cloud composed of living angels.—Manuscript Releases 17:2. {TA 221.3}

All heaven waited with eager earnestness for the end of the tarrying of the Son of God in a world all seared and marred with the curse of transgression. He ascended from the Mount of Olives in a cloud of angels, who triumphantly escorted Him to the City of God.... {CTr 293.5}

At night the angels disguised the Holy City as a star, and as a cloud during the day, which came close to the ground to be at hand for Jesus' birth. (Does that remind you of something?) His wonderful city remained close to the earth through His whole earthly life. It stayed until after His ascension and triumphal entry into His kingdom, then it went back to the Orion Nebula from where it will come down again, just to pick us up to take us with Him on the day of Jesus' return...

Soon our eyes were drawn to the east, for a small black cloud had appeared, about half as large as a man's hand, which we all knew was the sign of the Son of man. In solemn silence we all gazed on the cloud as it drew nearer, and became lighter, glorious, and still more glorious, till it was a great white cloud. The bottom appeared like fire; a rainbow was over the cloud, while around it were ten thousand angels, singing a most lovely song; and upon it sat the Son of Man.—Testimonies for the Church 1:60. {TA 277.3}

When Jesus is close to Earth, His city is also close to it or in its orbit. That understanding solves an important apparent contradiction between the Bible and a statement of Ellen White.

Suppose that the Holy City was in the Orion Nebula on the day of Jesus' resurrection. Jesus rose and said to Mary Magdalene that she could not touch Him because He had not yet ascended to His Father in heaven. Later, on the same day, His disciples were allowed to hug and welcome Him. That means He had visited His Father in heaven in the meantime, and had received from the Father the confirmation of the success of His mission. More importantly, He had done His duty as High Priest and had briefly entered the Holy Place in the heavenly sanctuary to put onto the veil the sins of humanity, which He had taken upon Himself in the garden of Gethsemane. His blood had been sprinkled on the veil in the Holy Place to make atonement for human sins.^[130]

As she turned from the sepulcher, she [Mary Magdalene] saw Jesus standing near, but knew Him not. He spoke to her tenderly, inquiring the cause of her sorrow and asking whom she was seeking. Supposing that He was the gardener, she begged Him, if He had borne away her Lord, to tell her where He had laid Him, that she might take Him away. Jesus spoke to her with His own heavenly voice, saying, "Mary!" She was acquainted with the tones of that dear voice, and quickly answered, "Master!" and in her joy was about to embrace Him; but Jesus said, "Touch Me not; for I am not yet ascended to My Father: but go to My brethren, and say unto them, I ascend unto My Father, and your Father; and to My God, and your God.” Joyfully she hastened to the disciples with the good news. Jesus quickly ascended to His Father to hear from His lips that He accepted the sacrifice, and to receive all power in heaven and upon earth.

Angels like a cloud surrounded the Son of God and bade the everlasting gates be lifted up, that the King of glory might come in. I saw that while Jesus was with that bright heavenly host, in the presence of God, and surrounded by His glory, He did not forget His disciples upon the earth, but received power from His Father, that He might return and impart power to them. The same day He returned and showed Himself to His disciples. He suffered them then to touch Him; for He had ascended to His Father and had received power. {EW 187.1-2}

His journey to the Holy City and back had taken less than half a day. If the Holy City had been in the Orion Nebula, then the round trip would have needed at least two weeks, because Ellen White says:

The 144,000 shouted, “Alleluia!” as they recognized their friends who had been torn from them by death, and in the same moment we were changed and caught up together with them to meet the Lord in the air.

We all entered the cloud together, and were seven days ascending to the sea of glass... {EW 16.1-2}

Of course, God can travel as fast as He wants... but God gives us clues that we should study in order to find harmonies of truth. Jesus became human forever as we covered earlier, and therefore His travel time is not infinitely fast. It is comparable to the time we will need as a people to travel in the Holy City to the Orion Nebula (approximately 78,000 times the speed of light).

However, if the Holy City were in orbit around our planet at the resurrection of Jesus, then there would be no problem at all for the angels to take Jesus quickly there and back. Knowledge resolves apparent contradictions. All you have to do is study with an open heart.

Beacons in Space

There is a lot that will happen on the day of the Second Coming. Billions of the redeemed will need to gather into “the cloud,” namely the Holy City, which will come down to us again from the Orion Nebula to Earth orbit.

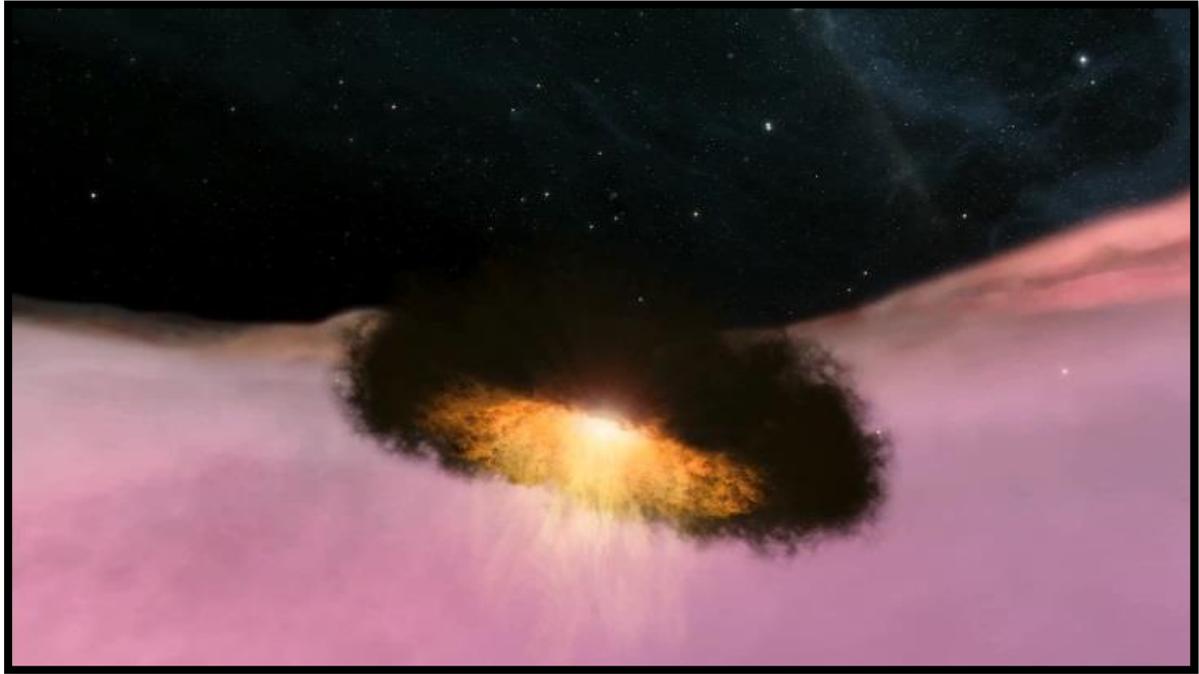

In the context of the events of the seventh plague, Ellen White saw in vision:

Dark, heavy clouds came up and clashed against each other. The atmosphere parted and rolled back; then we could look up through the open space in Orion, whence came the voice of God. The Holy City will come down through that open space. {EW 41.2}

As we saw just previously, the messenger of the Lord also spoke of our trip to the Holy City as follows:

We all entered the cloud together, and were seven days ascending to the sea of glass... {EW 16.2}

The destination is the sea of glass, the Orion Nebula, as we all know from the Orion study. The Orion Nebula is an “open space.” It has a cavity, which in turn is the womb for entire star systems—a wonderful place for the city of the Creator of the universe. Let us travel to it together now...

Video: Travel to the Orion Nebula

There, we will reign with Jesus—some forever, some for the 1000 years, as my brother Robert already explained. Do you think that the date of our inauguration and the beginning of the millennium is important enough to God that it could be found on one of His clocks?

As we talked about the “hour” of the destruction of Babylon in the seventh plague, did anyone notice that we let the plague cycle run beyond the star of the white horse (Saiph)? Did anyone notice that the hour of Babylon’s destruction can be seen only from that point on—which, in a sense, is the second round of the plague cycle?

We asserted that the date of Jesus' return, which we already knew from previous studies, was determined by God to be exactly one "hour" after the start of the seventh plague. However, no star-marker points to that date! Isn't that a bit strange or unfortunate?

There are seven clocks of God which all indicate important events in the history of humanity and the apostate Adventist church, but not a single one points directly to the grandest event—not only for us but for the entire universe—namely, the Second Coming of Christ and the reign of His redeemed. Can that be?

Let's take a closer look! There are only a few days between the date of Christ's return and the next mark on the plague clock. The clock hand that comes after the Second Coming is even a throne line, which represents a higher authority. In fact, no higher importance than that could be displayed on an Orion clock! The scepters of God the Father, the Holy Spirit and Jesus Christ together point to one date: November 1/2, 2016. That date has even been listed in our feast day list for years as the second possible Feast of Trumpets in 2016!

Is it possible that it is the date of the inauguration of the reign of the redeemed in the Orion Nebula? Let us read the job description for our work during the heavenly millennium:

At the general conference of believers in the present truth, held at Sutton, Vermont, September, 1850, I was shown that the seven last plagues will be poured out after Jesus leaves the sanctuary. Said the angel, "It is the wrath of God and the Lamb that causes the destruction or death of the wicked. At the voice of God the saints will be mighty and terrible as an army with banners, but they will not then execute the judgment written. The execution of the judgment will be at the close of the one thousand years."

After the saints are changed to immortality and caught up together with Jesus, after they receive their harps, their robes, and their crowns, and enter the city, Jesus and the saints sit in judgment. The books are opened—the book of life and the book of death. The book of life contains the good deeds of the saints; and the book of death contains the evil deeds of the wicked. These books are compared with the statute book, the Bible, and according to that men are judged. The saints, in unison with Jesus, pass their judgment upon the wicked dead. "Behold ye," said the angel, "the saints, in unison with Jesus, sit in judgment, and mete out to the wicked according to the deeds done in the body, and that which they must receive at the execution of the judgment is set off against their names." This, I saw, was the work of the saints with Jesus through the one thousand years in the Holy City before it descends to the earth. Then at the close of the one thousand years, Jesus, with the angels and all the saints, leaves the Holy City, and while He is descending to the earth with them, the wicked dead are raised, and then the very men that "pierced Him," being raised, will see Him afar off in all His glory, the angels and saints with Him, and will wail because of Him. They will see the prints of the nails in His hands and in His feet, and where they thrust the spear into His side. The prints of the nails and the spear will then be His glory. It is at the close of the one thousand years that Jesus stands upon the Mount of Olives, and the mount parts asunder and becomes a mighty plain. Those who flee at that time are the wicked, who have just been raised. Then the Holy City comes down and settles on the plain. Satan then imbues the wicked with his spirit. He flatters them that the army in the city is small, and that his army is large, and that they can overcome the saints and take the city.

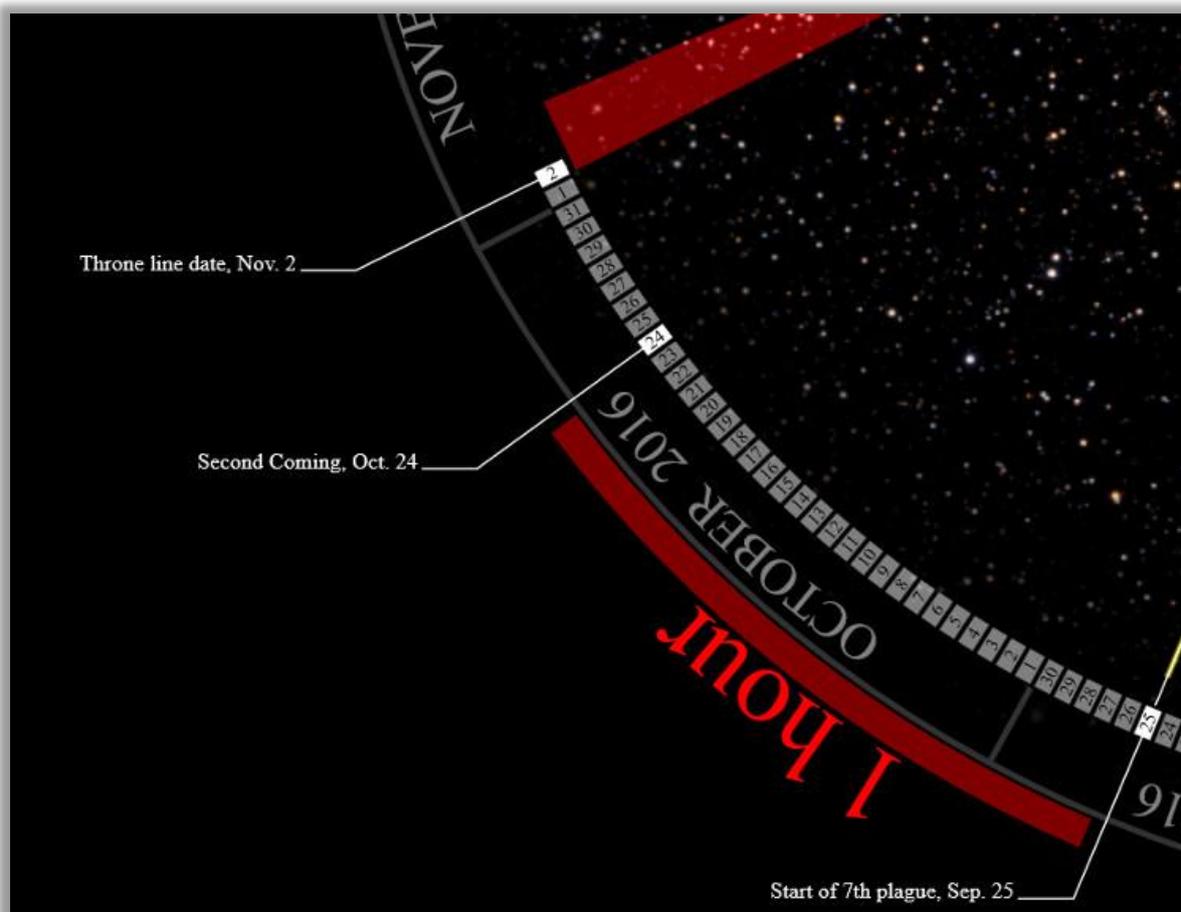

While Satan was rallying his army, the saints were in the city, beholding the beauty and glory of the Paradise of God. Jesus was at their head, leading them. All at once the lovely Saviour was gone from our company; but soon we heard His lovely voice, saying, "Come, ye blessed of My Father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world." We gathered about Jesus, and just as He closed the gates of the city, the curse was pronounced upon the wicked. The gates were shut. Then the saints used their wings and mounted to the top of the wall of the city. Jesus was also with them; His crown looked brilliant and glorious. It was a crown within a crown, seven in number.

The crowns of the saints were of the most pure gold, decked with stars. Their faces shone with glory, for they were in the express image of Jesus; and as they arose and moved all together to the top of the city, I was enraptured with the sight.

Then the wicked saw what they had lost; and fire was breathed from God upon them and consumed them. This was the execution of the judgment. The wicked then received according as the saints, in unison with Jesus, had meted out to them during the one thousand years. The same fire from God that consumed the wicked purified the whole earth. The broken, ragged mountains melted with fervent heat, the atmosphere also, and all the stubble was consumed. Then our inheritance opened before us, glorious and beautiful, and we inherited the whole earth made new. We all shouted with a loud voice, "Glory; Alleluia!" {EW 52.1-54.1}

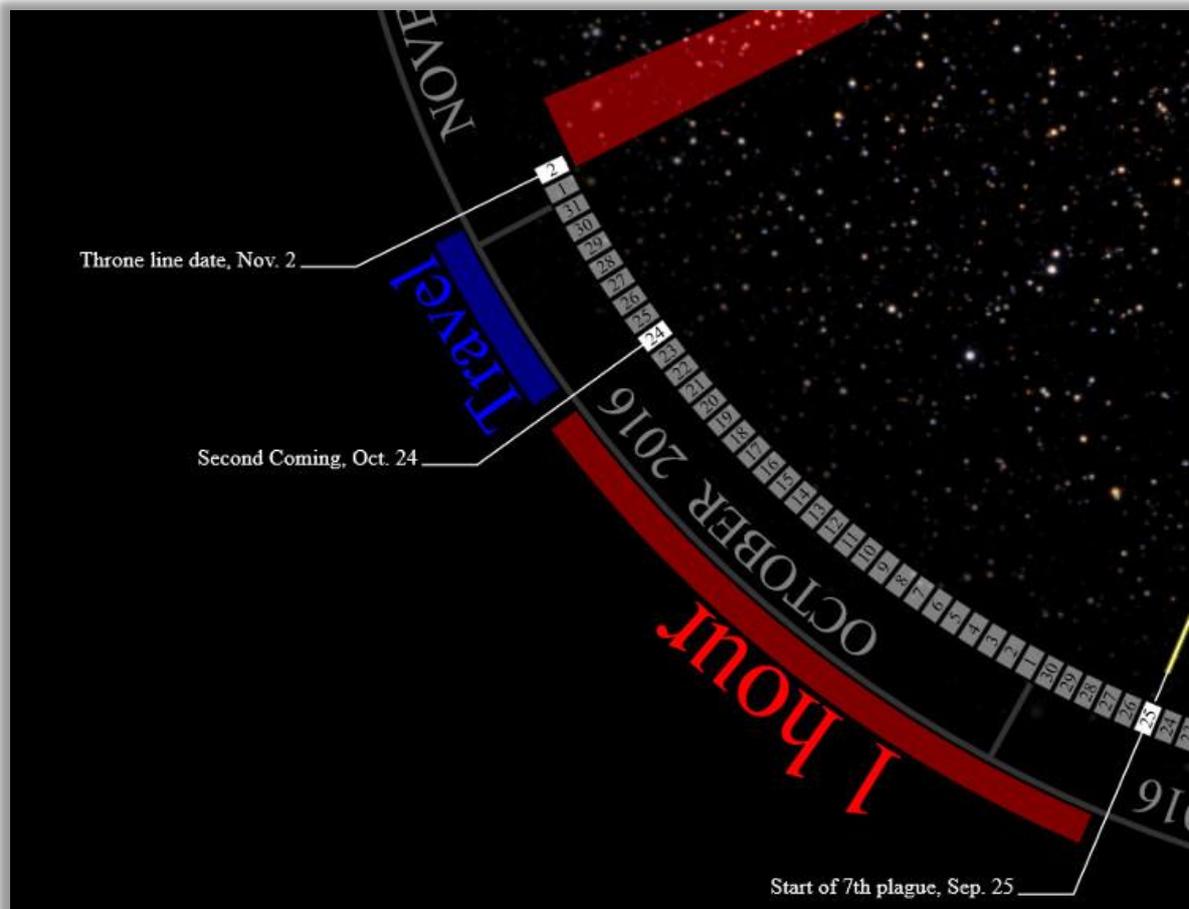

The beginning of the judgment in heaven to determine the severity of each sentence is thus a very important date for the entire universe, if not the most important date ever. With the sentencing hearing, the great controversy has actually ended. God the Father will be acquitted as of the seventh plague, but the last major meeting for the sentencing hearing will begin in heaven on November 1/2, 2016, and it will be opened by Jesus Christ and the Father.

Let's count the days! Jesus will come to Earth on October 23/24, 2016. The throne line indicates that the Millennium judgment will begin on November 1/2. In between, there are exactly eight days.

However, the prophetess indicates that the duration of our travel to the Orion Nebula will be seven days. There is an extreme amount to be done on the great resurrection day, since all of the redeemed will need to be taken up into the Holy City. If we assume that our journey starts at the end of that day, then we only have a difference of a single day in reaching the target date.

Nonetheless, it needs explanation, and we will see that the apparent contradiction leads us into glorious daylight again.

First, let’s consider why the journey is planned for seven days. As always, we should search for a biblical basis, because the Bible is the foundation for all our knowledge. We mentioned that the book of Ezekiel is “our” book, the book of the 144,000, because it contains many prophecies that relate to the judgment of the living and the last days.

In it, we find the purifying of the altar and the consecration of the priests, which must take place prior to the commencement of their service in the temple, as has been the case since the time of Aaron.^[131]

Seven days shall they purge the altar and purify it; and they shall consecrate themselves. And when these days are expired, it shall be, that upon the eighth day, and so forward, the priests shall make your burnt offerings upon the altar, and your peace offerings; and I will accept you, saith the Lord GOD. (Ezekiel 43:26-27)

The book of Ezekiel is not about any of the earthly temples, but about the sanctuary in the heavenly city,^[132] which will need to be inaugurated by the new priestly order of Zadok^[133] (the 144,000) during our seven-day trip to the Orion Nebula.

God already elected a holy nation of priests, but the seven-day consecration will take place in the Holy City itself.

Now therefore, if ye will obey my voice indeed, and keep my covenant, then ye shall be a peculiar treasure unto me above all people: for all the earth is mine: And ye shall be unto me a kingdom of priests, and an holy nation. These are the words which thou shalt speak unto the children of Israel. (Exodus 19:5-6)

And the holy garments of Aaron shall be his sons' after him, to be anointed therein, and to be consecrated in them. And that son that is priest in his stead shall put them on seven days, when he cometh into the tabernacle of the congregation to minister in the holy place. (Exodus 29:29-30)

The problem is that November 1/2 should be the eighth day when we should start our service, but it is in fact the ninth day. A similar discrepancy is revealed by another aspect of the journey to the Orion Nebula.

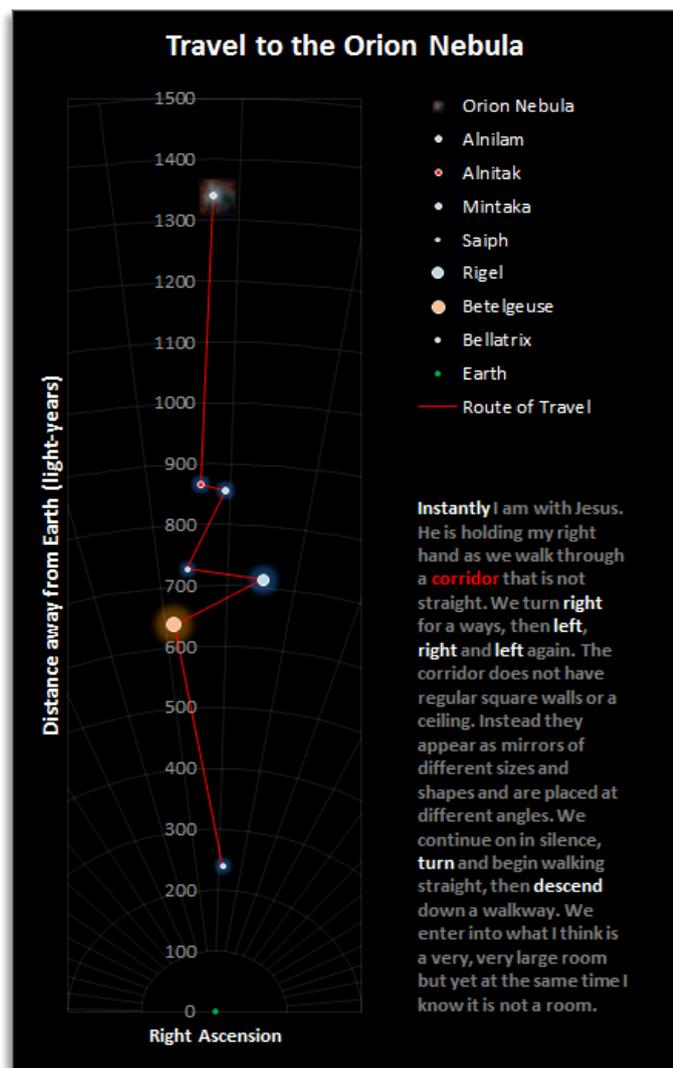

Orion—as we see it—has seven stars. If you understand that God always combines symbols with a real story, you might recognize that our itinerary is based on the seven stars of Orion, because we need to fly past them on our way to the Orion Nebula anyway. The stars are all at different distances from Earth, and they are the beacons in three-dimensional space that show us the way to the Orion Nebula. Thus, each day of the trip would be devoted to one star. For the newly resurrected—who have no idea about the many lessons that are included in the Orion message—Jesus could tell the various stories that each respective star in conjunction with Alnitak points to, and what happened at those times in the respective Orion cycles. Each star will have its own theme, and the saints would learn the whole message during the flight. Isn't that idea beautiful and easy to see?

Let's take another close look at the itinerary, which we derived in the dream interpretation At the Hand of Jesus...

Notice that we really have seven beacons (stars) and one destination, the Orion Nebula. In the graph, you can see that the Orion Nebula is so close to the star Alnilam, which stands for the throne of God the Father, that Alnilam and the Orion Nebula overlap. Both are roughly the same distance from Earth.

If every star were to have a day of travel devoted to it, we would not arrive at the Orion Nebula until the eighth day, and our journey would last eight days. That would be a nice explanation for the eight-day difference that we are looking for, but Ellen White says that the "travel time" ascending (moving) will be seven days. Now we have to proceed with analytical and logical thinking, and not with wishful thinking.

If we want to harmonize everything and get rid of contradictions, then we have to conclude that one star is not visited, which would reduce our actual flying time to seven days. Nevertheless, in order to span a total of eight days duration for travel to the Orion Nebula, we must deduce that there will be a break: there must be a one-day layover at one of the stars.

Is there an explanation for having an itinerary with a layover?

First, we need to be clear about which star will not be visited. We wrote a whole three-part series about it: Betelgeuse, which plays the main role in the wrath of God. We even saw the sign of Jonah, which confirmed that the explosion of Betelgeuse will come at the time of God's wrath and bring the destruction of the earth with it. What we overlooked was that the destruction will only happen once Jesus will have already come and His church will have been saved from the burning of the earth caused by the gamma-ray burst. We had applied our knowledge to the first plague, but Jesus planned the catastrophe for the final annihilation of mankind, when we will already be in the Holy City. Sometimes we simply have to wait and see if things fulfill as we understand them, and sometimes a different kind of fulfillment is possible. If you will, this is the "pre"-rapture that so many talk about, but it will occur only after the seven plagues and the great tribulation!

We already explained in the articles about Betelgeuse that it exploded as a super- or hypernova long ago (about five or six hundred years ago). That means it no longer exists as a red supergiant star. Its matter is expanding in a cloud propelled by its cataclysmic explosion, which is a great spectacle that we can only see when we pass the space-time barrier and reach that part of the Milky Way, as we travel at velocities far greater than lightspeed.

The gamma-ray burst from Betelgeuse will not arrive until after our departure from earth. Then it will turn it into a desert, where Azazel and his evil angels must wander for "a thousand years" without any living creature to tempt.

In the typical service the high priest, having made the atonement for Israel, came forth and blessed the congregation. So Christ, at the close of His work as mediator, will appear, "without sin unto salvation" (Hebrews 9:28), to bless His waiting people with eternal life. As the priest, in removing the sins from the sanctuary, confessed them upon the head of the scapegoat, so Christ will place all these sins upon Satan, the originator and instigator of sin. The scapegoat, bearing the sins of Israel, was sent away "unto a land not inhabited" (Leviticus 16:22); so Satan, bearing the guilt of all the sins which he has caused God's people to commit, will be for a thousand years confined to the earth, which will then be desolate, without inhabitant, and he will at last suffer the full penalty of sin in the fires that shall destroy all the wicked. Thus the great plan of redemption will reach its accomplishment in the final eradication of sin and the deliverance of all who have been willing to renounce evil. {CC 485.3}

After the millennium, we will come back to earth with Jesus. The newly-created matter from the hypernova explosion, which moves much slower than the gamma-ray burst, could arrive during that time in order to resupply the earth with the raw materials that were plundered from it before. The "re-creation" of the earth, exploited by people and scorched by the gamma-ray burst, could be accomplished that way.^[134]

And he that sat upon the throne said, Behold, I make all things new. And he said unto me, Write: for these words are true and faithful. (Revelation 21:5)

Although the “New Jerusalem” spaceship is huge, it doesn’t make any sense for it to approach a star that has already exploded. We will get to see the luminous cloud on our flyby. We will probably even experience the effect that after closest approach to Betelgeuse, when we move away from it and approach the Orion Nebula on our journey, it will appear to collapse back into a star again because the light of its explosion will not yet have reached the Orion Nebula or the belt stars. When we approach and then move away from Betelgeuse, we will in a sense travel into the relative future and past, respectively. Thus, our journey will include “time travel.”

An Unexpected Layover

We explained why the actual travel time is only seven days and not eight, but when and where will we stop for a whole day?

Anyone who indeed keeps the Sabbath knows that a person should not travel on the Sabbath. It is a day for communion with God, for the worship service, and also for rest. Travel detracts from those things, and we should not do it on the Sabbath, and surely not for worldly pursuits. On the Sabbath, Jesus simultaneously visited all of the worlds He created; He could still be omnipresent prior to His incarnation.^[135] He always walked with Adam and Eve on the Sabbath in Eden.

If we desire the blessing promised to the obedient, we must observe the Sabbath more strictly. I fear that we often travel on this day when it might be avoided. In harmony with the light which the Lord has given in regard to the observance of the Sabbath, we should be more careful about traveling on the boats [or ships or spaceships] or cars on this day. In these matters we should set a right example before our children and youth. In order to reach the churches that need our help, and to give them the message that God desires them to hear, it may be necessary for us to travel on the Sabbath; but so far as possible we should secure our tickets and make all necessary arrangements on some other day. When starting on a journey we should make every possible effort to plan so as to avoid reaching our destination on the Sabbath. {3TT 26.1}

Of course, one Sabbath also falls within the timeframe of the seven- or eight-day journey to the Orion Nebula, namely on the fifth day of travel, October 28/29, 2016. That would certainly be the designated day for a rest or layover and a special worship service. Pay special attention to the fact that we should not arrive at our destination on the Sabbath, but before it!

In her first vision, the messenger of God already gave us many details about what should happen “in heaven” or in the heavenly city, and it would be easy to see those things as telling us what should happen during our travel, especially on the Sabbath of the trip.

Unfortunately, there is a problem with that idea. That is why I quoted only a short part with the duration of seven days, but now we need to read it completely and very carefully. Pay attention to the main events that I’ve numbered, and also to where and when all of this will happen:

We all entered the cloud together, and were seven days ascending to the sea of glass, when 1. [The coronation of the redeemed:] Jesus brought the crowns, and with His own right hand placed them on our heads. He gave us harps of gold and palms of victory. Here on the sea of glass the 144,000 stood in a perfect square. Some of them had very bright crowns, others not so bright. Some crowns appeared heavy with stars, while others had but few. All were perfectly satisfied with their crowns. And they were all clothed with a glorious white mantle from their shoulders to their feet. 2. [The entrance into the city CENTER within the “New Jerusalem”:] Angels were all about us as we marched over the sea of glass to the gate of the city. Jesus raised His mighty, glorious arm, laid hold of the pearly gate, swung it back on its glittering hinges, and said to us, “You have washed your robes in My blood, stood stiffly for My truth, enter in.” We all marched in and felt that we had a perfect right in the city.

Here we saw the tree of life and the throne of God. Out of the throne came a pure river of water, and on either side of the river was the tree of life. On one side of the river was a trunk of a tree, and a trunk on the other side of the river, both of pure, transparent gold... {EW 16.2-17.1}

We see that the ceremony for the coronation of the saints and the entry into the city should take place in the Orion Nebula after the seven-day voyage. Unfortunately, there is no mention of a previous stay, or a Sabbath.

It is fairly easy to explain that the travelling from Earth to the Orion Nebula will be done in the Holy City one way or another, and not in a literal “cloud.” The entire “New Jerusalem” spaceship is referred to as the Holy City, but there is a special city center inside it, which is also called a city. It is quite possible that we would not be admitted into the city center proper until the day of our arrival at the Orion Nebula. Remember, there are several decks including a country portion and a city portion, so there is no problem with that.

At first I thought I saw two trees. I looked again, and saw that they were united at the top in one tree. So it was the tree of life on either side of the river of life. Its branches bowed to the place where we stood, and the fruit was glorious; it looked like gold mixed with silver.

We all went under the tree and sat down to look at the glory of the place, when Brethren Fitch and Stockman, who had preached the gospel of the kingdom, and whom God had laid in the grave to save them, came up to us and asked us what we had passed through while they were sleeping. We tried to call up our greatest trials, but they looked so small compared with the far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory that surrounded us that we could not speak them out, and we all cried out, “Alleluia, heaven is cheap enough!” and we touched our glorious harps and made heaven’s arches ring. {EW 17.1-2}

The part about the brethren Fitch and Stockman has been omitted in almost all compilations of her material. There is a reason for that, but this detail confirms our solution to an apparent contradiction. We will come to that soon.

[3. The landing of the Holy City:] With Jesus at our head we all descended from the city down to this earth, on a great and mighty mountain, which could not bear Jesus up, and it parted asunder, and there was a mighty plain. Then we looked up and saw the great city, with twelve foundations, and twelve gates, three on each side, and an angel at each gate. We all cried out, “The city, the great city, it’s coming, it’s coming down from God out of heaven,” and it came and settled on the place where we stood. Then we began to look at the glorious things outside of the city. There I saw most glorious houses, that had the appearance of silver, supported by four pillars set with pearls most glorious to behold. These were to be inhabited by the saints. In each was a golden shelf. I saw many of the saints go into the houses, take off their glittering crowns and lay them on the shelf, then go out into the field by the houses to do something with the earth; not as we have to do with the earth here; no, no. A glorious light shone all about their heads, and they were continually shouting and offering praises to God. {EW 17.3}

Now it gets confusing. The Holy City will land on our planet, Earth, after the millennium. We looked at a detailed quote about that just a little earlier. Yet, there is no doubt that Ellen White, as she confirmed in letters, understood this part of her vision as a vision of the New Earth. So the vision would now have made an abrupt jump of more than 1000 years in time. If we continue reading, however, we will find that it soon comes back to events that could in no wise happen after the millennium, but must occur soon after our arrival to the Holy City. Why then would we see the New Earth at this point, when it is going to be re-created again much later—after a thousand years, after the lost are eradicated, after the second resurrection?^[136]

Please notice from the previous quote that the day of the landing of the Holy City will not be a Sabbath, because people are seen working!

I saw another field full of all kinds of flowers, and as I plucked them, I cried out, “They will never fade.” Next I saw a field of tall grass, most glorious to behold; it was living green and had a reflection of silver and gold, as it waved proudly to the glory of King Jesus. Then we entered a field full of all kinds of beasts—the lion, the lamb, the leopard, and the wolf, all together in perfect union. We passed through the midst of them, and they followed on peaceably after. Then we entered a wood, not like the dark woods we have here; no, no; but light, and all over glorious; the branches of the trees moved to and fro, and we all cried out, “We will dwell safely in the wilderness and sleep in the woods.” We passed through the woods, for we were on our way to Mount Zion.

As we were traveling along, we met a company who also were gazing at the glories of the place. [So they’ve also just arrived.] I noticed red as a border on their garments; their crowns were brilliant; their robes were pure white. As we greeted them, I asked Jesus who they were. He said they were martyrs that had been slain for Him. With them was an innumerable company of little ones; they also had a hem of red on their garments... {EW 18.1–2}

Yes, we will raise children in heaven. Our own, if God permits, which were either brought alive or returned to us in the case that God in His mercy laid them to rest before or during the plagues. We will also have children of the lost in our custody, who are under the age of spiritual accountability, to educate them in a godly way in heaven. But wait!—If that is the New Earth, are these children still not grown up even after 1000 years?

[4. Visiting the temple and the meeting for the 144,000:] Mount Zion was just before us, and on the mount was a glorious temple, and about it were seven other mountains, on which grew roses and lilies. And I saw the little ones climb, or, if they chose, use their little wings and fly, to the top of the mountains and pluck the never-fading flowers. There were all kinds of trees around the temple to beautify the place: the box, the pine, the fir, the oil, the myrtle, the pomegranate, and the fig tree bowed down with the weight of its timely figs—these made the place all over glorious. And as we were about to enter the holy temple, Jesus raised His lovely voice and said, “Only the 144,000 enter this place,” and we shouted, “Alleluia.” {EW 18.2}

The temple is located in the Holy City and therefore also Mount Zion. There are seven other mountains around it. It is another allegory for the Holy City’s deck structure. What stands out, however, is that the temple visit is now mentioned and described in detail. This ultimately means that the vision switches to a Sabbath, because the faithful of God keep the Sabbath and that is the day they go into the temple.

In a handout that was later published,^[137] Ellen White added an explanatory sentence at this point: “Well, bless the Lord, dear brethren and sisters, it is an extra meeting for those who have the seal of the living God.” That remark should catch our attention for two reasons.

First, I want to emphasize that they are the only ones who have a certain special seal. The great multitude that they called out and the other saints also have the seal of God, but just not the special seal of the 144,000!

That means the special seal cannot be the seal of Philadelphia, because Philadelphia includes the great multitude from the time of the judgment and the time of the plagues. Hence, the special seal that the messenger of the Lord refers to here must be something that only the 144,000 receive due to their readiness to sacrifice, which Moses and Christ had previously epitomized.^[138] They were ready to give their eternal life for God Himself and other intelligent beings in the universe, while the great multitude “only” give their physical life. It is because they were supplied with all 372 portions of the Holy Spirit, which enabled them to endure without sin through all of the plagues, until the coming of Jesus. The Holy Spirit “sealed” them with that special blessing, which also represents that special seal that only the 144,000 have.

The second reason why Ellen White’s remark should draw our attention is the question: How can it be, that the 144,000 are summoned to their special worship in the temple only after the millennium?

The confusion will become total in the next paragraph, because the prophetess describes the end of the visit to the temple, and then Jesus calls the 144,000 to the marriage supper for all the redeemed. No, that cannot take place after the millennium! Keep reading carefully:

This temple was supported by seven pillars, all of transparent gold, set with pearls most glorious. The wonderful things I there saw I cannot describe. Oh, that I could talk in the language of Canaan, then could I tell a little of the glory of the better world. I saw there [in the temple] tables of stone^[139] in which the names of the 144,000 were engraved in letters of gold. [5. The wedding banquet of the redeemed:] After we beheld the glory of the temple, we went out, and Jesus left us and went to the city. Soon we heard His lovely voice again, saying, "Come, My people, you have come out of great tribulation, and done My will; suffered for Me; come in to supper, for I will gird Myself, and serve you." We shouted, "Alleluia! glory!" and entered into the city. And I saw a table of pure silver; it was many miles in length, yet our eyes could extend over it. I saw the fruit of the tree of life, the manna, almonds, figs, pomegranates, grapes, and many other kinds of fruit. I asked Jesus to let me eat of the fruit. He said, "Not now. Those who eat of the fruit of this land go back to earth no more. But in a little while, if faithful, you shall both eat of the fruit of the tree of life and drink of the water of the fountain." And He said, "You must go back to the earth again and relate to others what I have revealed to you." Then an angel bore me gently down to this dark world. Sometimes I think I can stay here no longer; all things of earth look so dreary. I feel very lonely here, for I have seen a better land. Oh, that I had wings like a dove, then would I fly away and be at rest! {EW 19.1}

Did you see the many (apparent) contradictions? There were children even after a thousand years, the first big Sabbath service for the 144,000 was only after a thousand years, and the worst part for me—who enjoys eating—is... the marriage meal isn't until after a thousand years of a starvation diet? Well, we will have a new body that can withstand quite a bit, but after all the suffering here on earth, don't we deserve at least a snack before our thousand-year work of judging begins? Will Jesus really be so hard on us?

What we read in the Bible paints a different picture:

And he saith unto me, Write, Blessed are they which are called unto the marriage supper of the Lamb. And he saith unto me, These are the true sayings of God. (Revelation 19:9)

Revelation 19 speaks of Christ's return and the invitation to the wedding feast during, or at the end of, the seventh plague. That means it won't be after the re-creation of the earth.

Ellen White also combines a special promise that Jesus made about His return, and it is not only for the New Earth:

At the first feast He attended with His disciples, Jesus gave them the cup that symbolized His work for their salvation. At the last supper He gave it again, in the institution of that sacred rite by which His death was to be shown forth "till He come." 1 Corinthians 11:26. And the sorrow of the disciples at parting from their Lord was comforted with the promise of reunion, as He said, "I will not drink henceforth of this fruit of the vine, until that day when I drink it new with you in My Father's kingdom." Matthew 26:29. {DA 149.2}

We will finally be reunited with the Lord in the Holy City, on our journey to the Orion Nebula. That is when we will enjoy the "first supper" with Him.

One Giant Leap for Mankind

If we want to understand the first vision of Ellen White correctly and we do not believe that there are confusing jumps in time, then there is only one solution to the problem. The landing of the Holy City, which was seen there in the vision, cannot be happening on the New Earth. There must be another planet that is very similar to what the earth will be like after its re-creation and which shows no signs of degeneration through death. It will be the first exoplanet that we as humans are allowed to step foot on! It will not be a desolate moon, like from which Neil Armstrong uttered the famous words: “That’s one small step for man, one giant leap for mankind.” Rather, it will be a planet overflowing with life and undestroyed nature, where the Lord will show us for the first time all of the beauty of His creation, unspoiled by sin. It is a view of the New Earth, but not the New Earth itself. The prophetess herself even gives us a hint that clearly confirms it, but please be patient for a moment.

Oh, if only you wouldn’t stubbornly controvert our findings again! If you could accept the beauty of all that the Lord would show us, you could appreciate it in all its glory! What would your first words be, if you would step foot onto another “earth” for the first time?

There is still a problem, however: the Sabbath problem! Ellen White saw all those things happening in the Orion Nebula at the end of the seven-day journey, but we will have already landed on this planet on the fourth day of travel—i.e. before the Sabbath of the fifth day—because we must arrive before the Sabbath, and people were seen working on the planet on the day of the landing.

How can we solve this dilemma?

Again, the principle applies here: Don’t give up! Think logically and find a solution! Once we’ve found the solution with prayer, a sunbeam from Alnitak will again make our faces shine like that of Moses when he came down from Mt. Sinai.

Try it on your own first... and take a reading break here! Perhaps we’ve already presented the solution elsewhere, and all you have to do is reapply existing knowledge!?

In the article A Word of Advice, I explained in detail that for a long time, Ellen White lived in legitimate expectation of Jesus’ return in her lifetime. That is why many of her anti-time-setting quotes are explained by “the great catastrophe of 1888,” when the Adventist church rejected the light of the Fourth Angel as brought to them by Waggoner & Jones. Yes, Jesus would have come in 1890 with no further time message and even without the year of plagues. Instead of Azazel being sent into the wilderness in 1890, however, it was the Adventist Church that had to wander again for 120 years, waiting and watching until the light of the Orion message should have awakened them. The third night watch saw the worst defeat ever in any battle against Satan.

In the High Sabbath List, the Rosetta-stone triplet^[140] of 1888–1890 ended with the beginning of a jubilee on the High Sabbath of October 24/25, 1890, which was the second possible Yom Kippur that year. Another vision of Ellen G. White foretold the beginning of the jubilee year at the Second Coming:

Then commenced the jubilee, when the land should rest. I saw the pious slave rise in triumph and victory and shake off the chains that bound him, while his wicked master was in confusion and knew not what to do; for the wicked could not understand the words of the voice of God. Soon appeared the great white cloud. It looked more lovely than ever before. On it sat the Son of man. At first we did not see Jesus on the cloud, but as it drew near the earth we could behold His lovely person. This cloud, when it first appeared, was the sign of the Son of man in heaven. The voice of the Son of God called forth the sleeping saints, clothed with glorious immortality. The living saints were changed in a moment and were caught up with them into the cloudy chariot. It looked all over glorious as it rolled upward. On either side of the chariot were wings, and beneath it wheels. And as the chariot rolled upward, the wheels cried, "Holy," and the wings, as they moved, cried, "Holy," and the retinue of holy angels around the cloud cried, "Holy, holy, holy, Lord God Almighty!" And the saints in the cloud cried, "Glory! Alleluia!" And the chariot rolled upward to the Holy City. Jesus threw open the gates of the golden city and led us in. Here we were made welcome, for we had kept the "commandments of God," and had a "right to the tree of life." {EW 35.1}

This vision dates back to 1847, so it was still a good while before 1888, when the church missed their golden opportunity to fulfill the prophecy. This vision and the first vision, which both describe the Second Coming scenario, must be seen in the context of the possible Second Coming in 1890. The travel dates and associated plans changed slightly for the 2016 coming, because it will take place on different weekdays.

In 1890, Jesus would have returned on the Sabbath—even the High Sabbath of the Day of Atonement. The saints would have been gathered into the "cloud" on that Sabbath and would have started their seven-day voyage to the Orion Nebula. Because they would have started to travel late on the Sabbath, which would count as one day according to Jewish inclusive reckoning, they would have arrived at the Orion Nebula on the following Friday, and would have landed on a planet very similar to the New Earth. There would have been no Sabbath during those days, and thus no interruption to their journey, and everything would have taken place "on the sea of glass." The 144,000 would have had their special worship service in the temple at evening at the beginning of the Sabbath of October 31/November 1, 1890. Later, all the redeemed would have dined with Jesus at the marriage supper. One date remains the same, interestingly: the sentencing judgment would have begun on November 1/2, 1890.

Earlier, I pointed out that the mention of the brothers Fitch and Stockman in Ellen White's first vision is a confirmation of this understanding. However, it is omitted almost everywhere because the normal Adventist can't explain that Ellen White could have seen something "wrong." She referred to them as the "brothers Fitch and Stockman, who had preached the gospel of the kingdom, and whom God had laid in the grave to save them." We know that God only lays to rest those who would not have survived the plagues without sin and without falling forever. That means the time of plagues should have come, according to that vision, within the life expectancy of the brothers Fitch and Stockman. That would only have been possible if the vision was actually referring to the possible coming of Jesus in the year 1890.

In the true Second Coming of 2016, however, travel begins just before sunset on Monday, October 24, 2016. On the first day of the voyage we stand toward Bellatrix, and Jesus tells us the story of the black horse and the false teachings that undermined the Adventist faith. The steadfast from the tribulation of the Great Depression of the 1930s and the time of World War II are on the edge of their seats as they listen, and Ellen White begins to weep.

On Wednesday, we will experience a wondrous spectacle. The new Betelgeuse Nebula is portside of us while we pitch down toward Rigel. We could see the explosion of the hypernova from afar, which tells the story of the division in the church and the sufferings of the martyrs in World War I. Meanwhile, the blue giant rises in front of our bow, and speaks to us of how the unfaithful in regards to ecumenism became melded together with the papacy instead of remaining steadfast on the narrow path of the Advent people to the Orion Nebula.

After passing the left foot of the giant that trampled the serpent's head, on Wednesday evening we lay a course for Saiph, the star of the white horse. Now we are ready to tell all the redeemed of all the ages about the Sabbath and the High Sabbath, the beginning of the third angel's message and the restoration of the pure gospel, the descent of the Holy Spirit at the beginning of 2014 and the terrible seventh plague that finally destroyed the earth. It is a special honor on this Thursday to fly by the star that symbolizes the Lion of the tribe of Judah, which always marked the beginning and end of an Orion cycle. Adam and Eve will now know that their creation is also sketched in Orion.

Well, on Thursday night we leave the outer stars of Orion and observe how the navigator steers the bow of our spaceship toward the belt stars and lays a course toward Mintaka, the multiple star system of the omnipresent Holy Spirit. The preparation day for the Sabbath has begun, and in the course of this Friday we reach the first star system that constitutes the throne of God. During this segment of our voyage, the coronation ceremony [1] takes place, and Jesus Himself bestows on us the crowns. Then we are allowed to enter the city center of the Holy City and marvel at its wonders. [2] We catch a glimpse of the Tree of Life with its joined trunks on either side of the eternally flowing River, which expresses a certain character trait of God the Father Himself. Then the sirens sound for us to prepare ourselves to climb into the tenders because landing on a planet is imminent.

[3] Together with Jesus we step foot on the wonderful planet, and from its surface we behold a grand sight which will be repeated on the old Earth in exactly a thousand years. The cloud cover rolls open and in the glittering light of the suns of the Mintaka system, we see our colossal spacecraft in all its splendid glory land on this planet, which was prepared long in advance to receive us on this day. This wonderful sight even finds prophetic confirmation...

After Ellen White pulled through the biggest disappointment of her life^[141] and overcame her shock while in exile in Australia, her only consolation was that she could one day visit foreign worlds together with the 144,000. Now—on this Friday of the voyage—the moment finally comes, that she was allowed to see in a correcting vision after 1890. She only shared this vision with the most loyal of her friends, because the leaders of the Adventist Church did not deserve this light anymore. Sister Sarah Peck, who served Ellen White in Australia for approximately 10 years after 1890, learned about the visit to a planet on the journey to the Orion Nebula, and that the unfallen worlds line the way to witness the coronation ceremony during the procession. She also assisted in developing the indexing system of the White Estate. Among other things, she taught at Union College and worked for the Education Department in the California Conference and the General Conference. She also helped in the preparation of Ellen White's book, Education.

Please note the following quote from the book, The Path to the Throne of God: The Sanctuary by Sarah Elizabeth Peck, p. 176.

As a sort of telescopic side light; we are told on good authority that as the victorious procession of the redeemed, accompanied by all the inhabitants of heaven, journeys forward, "representatives from all over God's universe will line the way on either side of the procession, eager to catch glimpses of the triumphant throng."

I believe that the "good authority" that is mentioned in the above quote is the same source which the quote below comes from. The Lord showed Ellen White that the representatives of other worlds lined up to see the redeemed. Likewise, she was shown that fruits were prepared on that particular planet. Although Ellen White's statement was never officially released, she told others about it too, including her stenographer, Jennie Ireland, and Elder McClure at a dinner shortly before her death in 1915. Elder McClure wrote it down and Jennie Ireland reported it. Here is what she reported from shorthand:

“All heaven is astir making preparations for the coming of the Lord.”

“When Jesus comes, not only the angels come with Him, but representatives from all over God’s universe will line the way on either side from earth to the planet where they are to be entertained. They are lined up on either side, each one anxious to catch the first glimpse of the triumphant throng which Jesus is leading upward.

“The representatives from all over God’s universe who are to witness this triumphant march are now making preparation for their entertainment on a planet where they will spend the Sabbath.

“They are now bringing fruit from all parts of the universe, from all other worlds, and are storing it on this one for the Sabbath day’s entertainment of the redeemed.”^[142]

Naturally, the Adventist Church denied the veracity of that statement and prefers to open the “mercy-door of grace” wide to perdition, together with Pope Francis. Please, understand clearly that what the Index to the Writings of E.G. White, Vol. 3, Appendix C, p. 3189 has to say about the fruits, was not inspired by the Holy Spirit, but is based on purely human ignorance.

Those people will not be there when we go on our first excursion through sinless nature on this Friday afternoon. What wonders we will behold! The 2000 km high golden City towers over everything. What a sight! If Ellen White, having seen it, could not put it into words, how could I accomplish it? Things that no human eye has ever seen are awaiting those who can believe it!

[4] Too soon on this still-unknown planet, we see our first sunset of multiple suns. The Sabbath of October 28/29, 2016 is approaching. We return to the city and ascend Mt. Zion. While the great multitude of the redeemed remain in front of the temple, only the 144,000 are admitted. They go inside to hear from God the Father personally, whether their sacrifice will result in the fact that they must give their eternal life and have only the engravings of their names in the tables and pillars of the temple as a memorial, or whether they may continue traveling with the other saints to eternity. Up to this time, so few witnesses for God the Father could be called out by the 144,000 that in our estimation it would be likely that the 144,000 will probably not leave the temple. Furthermore, we question with a great deal of concern: where are God’s remaining witnesses hiding!?

How much we desire to be permitted to participate in the marriage supper of the Lamb [5], which takes place now on the eve of the Sabbath. We, too, would like to behold and study the wonders of His creation throughout all eternity! Don’t let the shadow of death hang over the marriage supper. Don’t let “144,000” empty places bear witness that when all was said and done, there were not enough saints in the pure church of Philadelphia, which includes both the 144,000 and the great multitude that they collect, and that those great sacrifices were necessary, though it was not God’s will.

Nevertheless, our wonderful travel itinerary is now fully explained, and it is recorded perfectly in the Orion Clock.

Mirror Mirror on the Wall...

Do you really belong to the church of brotherly love, “Philadelphia”? Are you as willing to give your physical life for us in appreciation for the love of Christ and your brothers and sisters, as we are to give our eternal life for you? After all that we have shared with you in this series of articles, do you see how God let us 144,000 experience exactly what He experienced when He entrusted His vindication, and even His existence, entirely into the hands of unreliable humans?

Our eternal life does not depend on whether the number 144,000 is reached. As it turned out at the beginning of the plagues, it is not literal as we thought for a long time.^[143] It is rather symbolic in reality, and represents our duty. The only number that is mentioned in the Bible as needing to be completed is the number of those in the fifth seal of Revelation who still have to die.^[144] That means you, who still need to be called out by the 144,000 and to receive the seal of Philadelphia. Our eternal lives are in your hand. If you will be faithful and fulfill your mission, then we can praise God for all eternity together with you. If not, we will give up our existence so that God, His creation, and you can be together in a sinless universe with perfect love for ceaseless ages.

It’s up to you what mood will prevail on the continuing journey, on Sunday and Monday at the star with the new name of Jesus (Alnitak) and the star of God the Father (Alnilam). Will Jesus have to wipe away many tears when the redeemed reach the many waters of the sea of glass—which we told you about so often—on Tuesday, November 1, or will we shout “Hallelujah!” in unison with you and enjoy heaven together? Will you also receive the seal of Philadelphia, like those who believed in the message before October 17/18, 2015, which most of you will only understand in the gathering time of the harvest, or will you eventually belong to those who continue to take Matthew 24:36 out of context while the evidence piles up higher and higher on every side?

The Feast of Trumpets symbolizes William Miller's midnight cry. He trumpeted the announcement of the beginning of the investigative judgment of the dead and living. His midnight cry was ushering in the beginning of the path to the Orion Nebula, and the Orion message began with a study of the first vision of Ellen White:

While I was praying at the family altar, the Holy Ghost fell upon me, and I seemed to be rising higher and higher, far above the dark world. I turned to look for the Advent people in the world, but could not find them, when a voice said to me, "Look again, and look a little higher." At this I raised my eyes, and saw a straight and narrow path, cast up high above the world. On this path the Advent people were traveling to the city, which was at the farther end of the path. They had a bright light set up behind them at the beginning of the path, which an angel told me was the midnight cry. This light shone all along the path and gave light for their feet so that they might not stumble. If they kept their eyes fixed on Jesus, who was just before them, leading them to the city, they were safe. But soon some grew weary, and said the city was a great way off, and they expected to have entered it before. Then Jesus would encourage them by raising His glorious right arm, and from His arm came a light which waved over the Advent band, and they shouted, "Alleluia!" Others rashly denied the light behind them and said that it was not God that had led them out so far. The light behind them went out, leaving their feet in perfect darkness, and they stumbled and lost sight of the mark and of Jesus, and fell off the path down into the dark and wicked world below. Soon we heard the voice of God like many waters, which gave us the day and hour of Jesus' coming. The living saints, 144,000 in number, knew and understood the voice, while the wicked thought it was thunder and an earthquake. When God spoke the time, He poured upon us the Holy Ghost, and our faces began to light up and shine with the glory of God, as Moses' did when he came down from Mount Sinai. {EW 14.1}

At the end of the path, Jesus stands with His wounds in Orion and calls you through the voice of the second Miller saying that the trumpet is ready to resound through the many waters of the Orion Nebula, marking the beginning of the sentencing judgment on the Feast of Trumpets on the new moon of November 1/2, 2016.

Soon we heard the voice of God like many waters, which gave us the day and hour of Jesus' coming. The living saints, 144,000 in number, knew and understood the voice, while the wicked thought it was thunder and an earthquake. When God spoke the time, He poured upon us the Holy Ghost, and our faces began to light up and shine with the glory of God, as Moses' did when he came down from Mount Sinai. {EW 14.1}

With this, the final article that you will receive from my quill, I bid you farewell, until—hopefully—we reunite in the Holy City. You can find out whether you yourself will be there and counted with the church of Philadelphia. If you studied this article, look into the mirror and see if on your forehead is written the simple three-part sentence that results from solving the riddle of Revelation 3:12. Did you find the holy grail of life, and the great seal of God with the help of these last four articles, before the time of the harvest for the good wheat?

Him that overcometh will I make a pillar in the temple of my God, and he shall go no more out: and I will write upon him the name of my God, and the name of the city of my God, which is new Jerusalem, which cometh down out of heaven from my God: and I will write upon him my new name. (Revelation 3:12)

12. Ellen G. White, Ye Shall Receive Power – The Lord has sent His people much instruction, line upon line, precept upon precept, here a little, and there a little. Little heed is given to the Bible, and the Lord has given a lesser light to lead men and women to the greater light. Oh, how much good would be accomplished if the books containing this light were read with a determination to carry out the principles they contain! There would be a thousandfold greater vigilance, a thousandfold more self-denial and resolute effort. And many more would now be rejoicing in the light of present truth. {YRP 232.4}

25. Ellen G. White, The Great Conflict – "These are they which follow the Lamb whithersoever He goeth." These, having been translated from the earth, from among the living, are counted as "the first fruits unto God and to the Lamb." Revelation 15:2, 3; 14:1-5. "These are they which came out of great tribulation;" they have passed through the time of trouble such as never was since there was a nation; they have endured the anguish of the time of Jacob's trouble; they have stood without an intercessor through the final outpouring of God's judgments. But they have been delivered, for they have "washed their robes, and made them white in the blood of the Lamb." "In their mouth was found no guile: for they are without fault" before God. "Therefore are they before the throne of God, and serve Him day and night in His temple: and He that sitteth on the throne shall dwell among them." They have seen the earth wasted with famine and pestilence, the sun having power to scorch men with great heat, and they themselves have endured suffering, hunger, and thirst. But "they shall hunger no more, neither thirst any more; neither shall the sun light on them, nor any heat. For the Lamb which is in the midst of the throne shall feed them, and shall lead them unto living fountains of waters: and God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes.”

26. The calculation of the number 144,000 (12 × 12 × 1000) is consequently a description of the work of the 144,000: 12 pioneers received the light of the Sabbath truth in 1846, which the 12 pioneers of the High Sabbath Adventists would later take up to "proclaim the Sabbath more fully." {EW 33.2} This latter proclamation is the loud cry in the time of plagues and will call out a great multitude of God's people (represented by 1000) from the fallen churches and will seal them into the church of Philadelphia (Brotherly Love).

134. For the "scientists" among you, we want to point out that according to the Orion Clock, time on Earth passes much slower than time in heaven. One day in heaven is 168 years on Earth. So if we dwell in heaven for 1000 years, then more than 60 million years would pass on the earth. While a gamma-ray burst travels at close to the speed of light, the cloud of matter from a hypernova explosion is significantly slower. It moves outward at some 46,000 km/h (see article on Space.com). At Betelgeuse's distance of 650 light years, the matter cloud would arrive at Earth after about 15 million years and would have an additional 45 millions of years to re-enrich the earth with valuable material such as gold and heavy elements that were destroyed by the gamma-ray burst.

Addendum to “The End of the World” Article Series

The Spirit of truth guides us into all truth.^[1] We want Him to continue guiding you into all truth too, which is why we share this update to our four-author article series. It is not important who the writers are, but that it testifies of Jesus Christ. This addendum will show you a multifaceted picture of Jesus that has never been seen before. It is like a time-lapse photograph of Him in prophetic language!

Thrust in thy sickle!

He who knows our need before we ask^[2] already had an answer when the harvest of souls did not commence at the third plague as we expected. Plenty of other things did commence at the beginning of the third plague on March 9, however. The mighty nations of the world launched a firestorm of threats: North Korea announced possession of miniature nuclear bombs capable of being delivered to the U.S. via long-range ballistic missiles.^[3] Iran test-launched two missiles with a range that reaches Israel, with strong indications that the missiles could carry nuclear weapons.^[4] China raised its voice as it was roused into taking action because of the developments on the Korean peninsula.^[5] The U.S. relocated bombers to the South China Sea to balance the power in that region.^[6] All of that contention among nations sprang up on the very day when the third vial of wrath was poured out. Within days, Israel called for help.^[7] Then, Russia baffled the world by announcing the withdrawal of troops from Syria (but not from the region).^[8] All of this shifting and fidgeting of world powers points to the coming conflagration at the seventh plague, as we’ve written. It also sounds a lot like a plea to thrust in the sickle, because the good grain must be ripe now. We will see later that that is exactly the case.

The third trumpet warned of that. As we showed in Babylon Is Fallen! – Part I, the alignment of the churches with Rome was their downfall. The fall of Protestantism was complete at the third trumpet, when the Seventh-day Adventist Church (the last protesting church) aligned itself with Rome and joined the ranks of Satan’s army. Now at the third plague, the Adventist church is visibly splitting as its Inter-European Division insists on “regional autonomy” in outright rebellion against the General Conference and its voice in Session on the question of authority to decide women’s ordination.^[9] It is a 100% fulfillment of the Orion Message, on the exact date prophesied. That house—which was once the house of God—is breaking; its structural integrity is compromised, and it is condemned by the heavenly Building Authority. Mark well: there are no good parties involved. Ted Wilson will take one part of the church down the road to perdition by inconspicuously following the pope,^[10] while the other part travels down the same wide road to destruction with the UN. The pope and the UN are working together, but one is against women clergy while the other is pushing tolerance and equality. The SDA Church’s agenda nowadays is based entirely on the pope’s agenda (of saving the planet, marriage in God’s image, etc.), while the side ordaining women is simply acting out the UN policy of tolerance, which includes equal ministerial rights for not only women but also lesbians, gays, bisexuals, transgenders... and the filthy list goes on. Yes, ALL OF THAT is allowed in Ted Wilson’s SDA Church, and the ostriches who say “not in my local church” forget that clinging to the GC organization means that they are guilty by association for what the Hollywood church does,^[11] since their shared leadership allows it. In contrast, we uphold the truth of Adventism, but we are not members of any organized churches; we resigned our church affiliations in protest. And NO, you CANNOT be saved in a church ship that tacitly allows public abomination^[12] in the dark corners of its lower decks. Ted Wilson’s church, the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists, is now 100% compatible with Catholicism, as demonstrated by a teacher in Adventist schools having dual membership!^[13] The sins we warned of in Babylon Is Fallen! – Part I have borne their fruit, and by the fruit the tree is judged. Isn’t it time for a loud voice in heaven to call for the sickle to take the good wheat out of the dirty field and into the protective garner?

That example in the SDA Church is playing out on a larger scale in the whole world. Just days before the third plague started, Europe started to fall apart. Individual countries closed their borders—an act that went against the EU’s collective open-border policy. We can now print it like this: EU, or European Union, because the “Union” is no longer in union. This sign was foretold in the book of Daniel:

And whereas thou sawest iron mixed with miry clay, they shall mingle themselves with the seed of men: but they shall not cleave one to another, even as iron is not mixed with clay. And in the days of these kings shall the God of heaven set up a kingdom, which shall never be destroyed: and the kingdom shall not be left to other people, but it shall break in pieces and consume all these kingdoms, and it shall stand for ever. (Daniel 2:43-44)

In the days of these kings—which shall not cleave one to another—in the days of Merkel, Hollande, Pope Francis—in the days of these kings shall the God of heaven set up a kingdom, which shall never be destroyed, but all the kingdoms of the world will be broken in pieces.

So, the third plague clearly started, but we didn’t see any harvest of souls like we had expected. We prophesied the date when the events of the day would cry out loud, “The hour has come for the harvest!” but there was no harvest yet. The Lord instructed us by sending a bright and beautiful unbroken rainbow over the eastern sky of our farm as the day closed. We relished the sight, as such a rainbow is not a common occurrence here. The rainbow is a reminder of God’s covenant:

While the earth remaineth, seedtime and harvest, and cold and heat, and summer and winter, and day and night shall not cease. (Genesis 8:22)

The key point here is that God has a determined TIME for harvest every year, and it is promised to continue till this day. The time of harvest is integral to God’s calendar. It is not mere coincidence that the true date for Passover on the calendar of God—the beginning of the grain harvest season—falls on the same date as the fourth plague on His clock, April 22! In other words, the harvest should begin during the fourth plague, so the last call to get ready for the harvest should come with the third. Thus, God’s true calendar for this year shows the correct timing of Revelation 14:13-20.

Wonderful harmonies emerge when the verses are correctly aligned to the plague clock. The first part of the chapter is about the three angels’ messages, which every Adventist worthy of the name knows very well. Those messages warned of the investigative judgment, the fall of the churches, and the mark of the beast which leads to the plagues and eternal death. Those messages have now been completely fulfilled. The investigative judgment ended, the last protestant church fell, and the mark of the beast was set up.^[14]

Brother John said it well in his article:

They [\[Adventists\]](#) are still waiting for the mark of the beast, which they understand as the acceptance of Sunday sacredness under penalty of the law enforced by the state governments. But because they interpreted the prophecy that was given to them literally, they did not recognize that the beast of Revelation 17 is the New World Order of the UN. This “beast” (the biblical symbol for a world-dominating power) is being ridden (controlled) by the harlot (the Roman Church under Pope Francis).^[15] That which would have happened literally in the 1880s, if the church would have remained faithful, must now serve as a symbol for the events that we all experienced over the past few years in the judgment of the living from 2012 to 2015.

By understanding who this beast is, namely the United Nations, one also understands what the mark of the beast is. As Sunday is the mark of the legislative authority of the Roman Church, the laws of the United Nations are its mark. The law that was trumpeted everywhere on the 70th anniversary of the United Nations on October 24, 2015 was the tolerance law over the whole planet. That was the High Sabbath at the end of the Orion judgment cycle (the second possibility of the Day of Atonement in 2015, just like in 1844), which was also the beginning of the first day of the Orion plague cycle (October 24/25, 2015). Exactly one month earlier, “Pope” Francis had given his orders for the worldwide establishment of a false tolerance of everyone who is against God’s laws, while clearly advocating intolerance against those whom he designated as having the mental “disease of fundamentalism.”^[16] The new tolerance of human perversions is supported by the followers of the LGBT and women’s ordination movements and the advocates of the uncontrolled streams of “refugees” who are being welcomed with open arms. It is against God’s Word and thus against His law, and so this global legislation of the UN has become the mark of the beast. Anyone who condones those things takes the mark of the beast, and receives the plagues.^[17]

Now we are living during the message of the Fourth Angel, with the mark of the beast (LGBT tolerance) as the law of all lands. The three angels’ messages closed when mercy ended on October 17, 2015, but the loud cry of the Fourth Angel’s message did not close, and it repeats the previous messages in a new light.

Verse 13 comes at the close of the third angel’s message, and reaches back over its entire span from 1846 to October, 2015:

And I heard a voice from heaven saying unto me, Write, Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth: Yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labours; and their works do follow them. (Revelation 14:13)

This verse is connected to another passage of Revelation:

He that is unjust, let him be unjust still: and he which is filthy, let him be filthy still: and he that is righteous, let him be righteous still [or from henceforth]: and he that is holy, let him be holy still [or from henceforth]. And, behold, I come quickly; and my reward [or blessing] is with me, to give every man according as his work [or labor] shall be. I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end, the first and the last. (Revelation 22:11-13)

The latter passage is understood to refer to the commencement of the plagues, when Jesus no longer intercedes for man and the case of every person has been decided.^[18] Thus, by association, Revelation 14:13 must refer to that same moment in time.

Ellen White also makes this connection by referring to Revelation 14:13 as “the words of the first and the last, the Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end:”

Speak Not of Mistakes of Living or Dead—God has inspired no man to reproduce their mistakes, and to present their errors to a world that is lying in wickedness, and to a church composed of many who are weak in faith. The Lord has not laid the burden upon men to revive the mistakes and errors of the living or the dead. He would have His laborers present the truth for this time. Speak not of the errors of your brethren who are living, and be silent as to the mistakes of the dead.

Let their mistakes and errors remain where God has put them—cast into the depths of the sea. The less that is said by those who profess to believe present truth, in regard to the past mistakes and errors of the servants of God, the better it will be for their own souls, and for the souls of those whom Christ has purchased with His own blood. Let every voice proclaim the words of the first and the last, the Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end. John heard a voice saying, “Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth: Yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labours; and their works do follow them” (Revelation 14:13).—The Review and Herald, November 30, 1897. [This counsel was written to a worker who had published two articles in the The Review and Herald, April 3 and 10, 1894 under the title “Danger of Adopting Extreme Views.”—Compilers.] {3SM 346.4–347.1}

There are several verses in the Bible where Jesus is called the Alpha and Omega, but there is only one place where all of those names appear together, and that is in 22:13. Thus, Ellen White also confirmed the link between 14:13 and the beginning of the plagues, and adds the pertinent counsel to refrain from mentioning the mistakes and errors of God’s chosen workers.

Ellen White saw the blessing of Revelation 14:13 applicable to the period of the third angel’s message from its beginning in 1846 till 2015 when it meets the parallel verse of 22:11 at the close of probation. In addition to referring to the same moment in time as we saw above, those verses span from the first to the last points on the judgment cycle of the Orion clock, both indicated by the star Saiph. (The trumpet cycle, as the final warning of the three angels’ messages, functions as an extension of the judgment cycle in this context, and the intervening Saiph crossings are muted by the silence in heaven of verse 8:1.^[19]) It is only on a circular clock that the first and the last can be one and the same point! That is why the text speaks of the voice being in heaven, meaning that it is to be understood in connection with the Clock of God in Orion (in the heavens) as the central hub of the book of Revelation, as symbolized by the throne room scene in chapters 4 & 5.^[20]

Elder Haskell also saw that verse 14:13 would have another application at the close of the work, when the message was to be given with the power of the Holy Spirit. Speaking at the funeral of Ellen White, and applying Revelation 14:13 to her as she herself wished,^[21] he said:

In one of the glorious visions given John the beloved on the isle of Patmos, the prophet’s attention was arrested by “a voice from heaven” bidding him write: “Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth: Yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labors; and their works do follow them.” Revelation 14:13. Wonderful words these, and especially when considered in the light of their setting at the close of the prophecy concerning a threefold message to be sounded preparatory to the end of the world and the second advent of Christ.

Heaven seemed desirous of helping us to understand that at the time of the end, when these messages are proclaimed in the power of the Holy Spirit, some of those engaged in this work will be permitted to rest from their labors. All such, we are assured, are accounted blessed of God. Nor are their unceasing efforts to bear aloft the banner of truth, without result; “their works do follow them.” Today, in the light of this assurance direct from heaven to the children of men, we can say of our dear sister who now sleeps, that she “being dead yet speaketh.” Hebrews 11:4. {LS 476.2–3}

Although we do not consider his words as directly inspired, we can validate them easily enough. The inspired record states that many will be laid to rest prior to the plagues, and that the message will then go out with power, so Elder Haskell's words are indeed accurate. In 1890, after the opportunity to finish the work and go to heaven was missed, Ellen White admonished some who were discounting the three angels' messages, and said:

The Lord's ways and plans were given to His people [referring to the three angels' messages]. They were to gather up memorials, and to lay them up where they would be in sight. Special pains were taken to preserve them, that when their children should inquire of their parents what these things meant, the whole story might be repeated. Thus the providential dealing, and the marked goodness and mercy of God in His care and deliverance of His people, would be kept a live subject. {9MR 135.1}

The message of the Fourth Angel as we have been presenting it is the fulfillment of that purpose! It is the "whole story...repeated," but with additional light.^[22] Thus, Elder Haskell was completely correct to infer that there would be a repeated application of Revelation 14:13 when the power of the Holy Spirit accompanies the message, and that applies now to the first mark on the plague cycle of the Orion clock, indicated by Saiph (just like in the judgment cycle).

This understanding also affirms that God has two armies during the plagues: the 144,000 who do not taste death, and the other righteous people who do, but are heirs of the promise of Revelation 14:13, who will be blessed to see the second coming of Jesus:

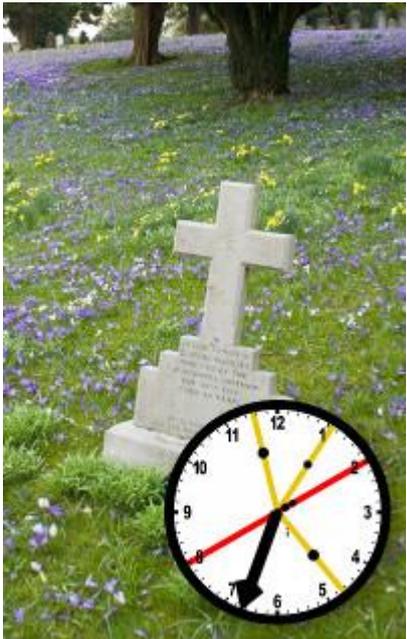

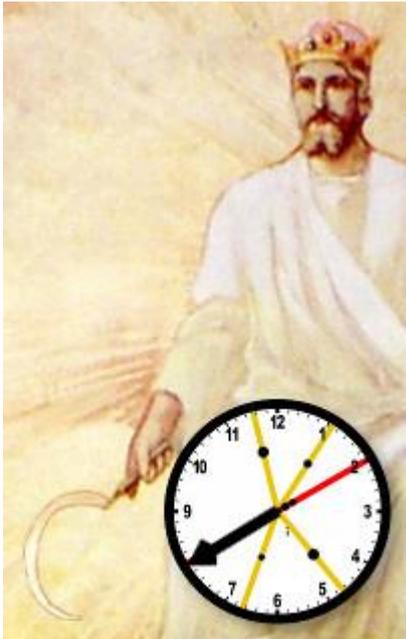

It was at midnight that God chose to deliver His people. As the wicked were mocking around them, suddenly the sun appeared, shining in his strength, and the moon stood still. The wicked looked upon the scene with amazement, while the saints beheld with solemn joy the tokens of their deliverance. Signs and wonders followed in quick succession. Everything seemed turned out of its natural course. The streams ceased to flow. Dark, heavy clouds came up and clashed against each other. But there was one clear place of settled glory, whence came the voice of God like many waters, shaking the heavens and the earth. There was a mighty earthquake. The graves were opened, and those who had died in faith under the third angel's message, keeping the Sabbath, came forth from their dusty beds, glorified, to hear the covenant of peace that God was to make with those who had kept His law. {EW 285.1}

Part of the reward for those who die in the faith during this critical phase leading up to the second coming is that they will rise to witness the event that they believed in and labored toward! This so-called "special" resurrection that she speaks of will take place right at the beginning of the seventh plague, marked by the star Saiph coming full circle again in the plague cycle. Four times, Saiph emphasizes the promise of the resurrection to those who labored and died in the faith.

The next verse reminds us of the One who has the authority to make such a promise...

And I looked, and behold a white cloud, and upon the cloud one sat like unto the Son of man, having on his head a golden crown, and in his hand a sharp sickle. (Revelation 14:14)

Here, Jesus is brought to the view of John. We can see that He already has a crown, so this must be a depiction of Him at some point in time after His coronation. His wearing of the symbolic sevenfold crown of time means that the plague cycle is already in progress, and the clock must have "ticked" to the next point on the Orion clock: the second plague. Now we might get the idea to make a table with the verses alongside the clock stations, to see if they match up:

Revelation 14	Aligns to...
13. And I heard a voice from heaven saying unto me, Write, Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth: Yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labours; and their works do follow them.	1st plague, starting Oct. 25, 2015. Already explained above: the promise is made that those who die in faith during the following time will be rewarded at the end of the cycle.
14. And I looked, and behold a white cloud, and upon the cloud one sat like unto the Son of man, having on his head a golden crown, and in his hand a sharp sickle.	2nd plague, starting Dec. 2-5, 2015. In the second plague, we received the understanding about the sevenfold crown of Jesus, as Brother John wrote in his article. This station on the clock is formed by the throne lines, which represent the hands of Jesus in a lowered position (as Betelgeuse and Bellatrix represent His hands in a raised position). The throne lines also mark a pair of dates on the clock circle. That short "arc" on the clock circle indicates the shape of a sickle, which is in the lowered hand of Jesus. The fact that Jesus is mentioned here as "having on his head a golden crown" perfectly matches the location of the mark emanating from the throne of God and center of the clock.

15. *And another angel came out of the temple, crying with a loud voice to him that sat on the cloud, Thrust in thy sickle, and reap: for the time [hour] is come for thee to reap; for the harvest of the earth is ripe.

3rd plague, starting Mar. 9, 2016. We expected the harvest to begin at the third plague, as we said in Brother Gerhard's article. Thus, according to our knowledge at that time, we literally said "the time is come for thee, Lord, to reap." Note that the word time in this verse means "hour" according to the Strong's concordance. Therefore, this angel is actually speaking about the "hour" of Satan, explained in Brother John's article, which begins at the very next tick of the clock (the fourth plague). Therefore, this angel is the warning messenger who announces the hour in the next segment. The events that ushered in the third plague (mentioned in the beginning of this addendum) resemble the loud voice.

16. And he that sat on the cloud thrust in his sickle on the earth; and the earth was reaped.

4th plague, starting Apr. 22, 2016. This is the hour of Satan, and when it comes, it will bring persecution as the means by which the harvest of the good grain will take place.^[23] This is the date of the signing of the climate deal (more on that later).

17. And another angel came out of the temple which is in heaven, he also having a sharp sickle.

5th plague, starting May 18–21, 2016. All of these angels represent the work of Jesus, and now we see Him with a sharp sickle again, and as before, we are at a station on the clock which is defined by the throne lines, corresponding to the hand of Jesus with a sickle.

18. And another angel came out from the altar, which had power over fire; and cried with a loud cry to him that had the sharp sickle, saying, Thrust in thy sharp sickle, and gather the clusters of the vine of the earth; for her grapes are fully ripe.

6th plague, starting Aug. 1, 2016. Similarly to verse 15, this angel indicates that the next tick of the clock should begin the harvest—this time of grapes—representing the wicked to be killed. As Brother Gerhard explained in his article, this angel with power over fire symbolizes the (upcoming) fireball event combined with the Carmel Challenge of the sixth trumpet. Like Elijah’s petition for fire at the altar on Mt. Carmel, this loud cry petitions Jesus, the Man with the sickle, to gather the wicked for destruction.

19. And the angel thrust in his sickle into the earth, and gathered the vine of the earth, and cast it into the great winepress of the wrath of God.	7th plague, starting Sep. 25, 2016. This is the Hour of Truth that Brother John wrote about in his article by that name. This is when Armageddon breaks out, and the fireballs (nuclear war) gather the wicked in preparation for their destruction in the gamma-ray burst of Betelgeuse.
20. And the winepress was trodden without the city, and blood came out of the winepress, even unto the horse bridles, by the space of a thousand and six hundred furlongs.	Second Coming, Oct. 24, 2016. This perfectly aligns with the grape harvest of ancient Israel, with the Feast of Tabernacles and the Last Great Day (detailed in the next section).

The above table only scratches the surface of the harmonies that unfold from this interpretation. There was some time from the invisible crowning ceremony in heaven at the start of the plagues to the time when we recognized it at the second plague and received the blessing of the 1335 days. Thus, John the Revelator hears the blessing at the first plague, but does not see the cloud with our crowned and triumphant Lord until the next verse, 14:14, which fits perfectly with the second plague on the clock after He was already crowned and seated (40 days as explained in Brother Robert's article). Faith comes by hearing,^[24] because faith is evidence of things NOT seen,^[25] seeing is no longer faith, but sight.^[26] Those who believe through faith are blessed:

Jesus saith unto him, Thomas, because thou hast seen me, thou hast believed: blessed are they that have not seen, and yet have believed. (John 20:29)

The blessing for those who believed through faith during the first plague became sight in the second plague. It is appropriate that the throne lines, which emanate from the symbolic “throne stars” at the center of the clock, point to the time when the saints first see His Majesty seated on the throne! These harmonies strengthen our faith and confidence that Jesus is leading us through this time of plagues.

Now you can begin to see the time-lapse photograph of our Lord and Savior. It is Jesus who sits on the cloud, and Jesus who says when it’s time to harvest, and Jesus who harvests the righteous for redemption and the wicked for vengeance.

This progression of time is also symbolized by the sign of the coming of the Son of Man, hinted at in verse 14 through the mention of both the white cloud and the Son of Man. Jesus said:

And then shall appear the sign of the Son of man in heaven: and then shall all the tribes of the earth mourn, and they shall see the Son of man coming in the clouds of heaven with power and great glory. (Matthew 24:30)

Besides the clouds of angels that will attend Jesus when He returns, the clouds of the heavens can also refer to the beautiful nebulae that can be seen through telescopes. Ellen White gives a very detailed account of the transition into the plagues and the time until the sign of the Son of Man appeared:

...And I saw a flaming cloud come where Jesus stood and he laid off his priestly garment and put on his kingly robe, took his place on the cloud which carried him to the east where it first appeared to the saints on earth, a small black cloud, which was the sign of the Son of Man. While the cloud was passing from the Holiest to the east which took a number of days, the Synagogue of Satan worshiped at the saints feet. {DS March 14, 1846, par. 2}

This little paragraph is packed with information. First, a flaming cloud is described as coming where Jesus stood, which she later identifies as the “small black cloud, which was the sign of the Son of Man.” Did you notice that Ellen White described it with apparently contradictory expressions in the very same sentence!? She said that the “flaming cloud” is also the “small black cloud.” Normally a flame is bright, not black! The only way to harmonize that discrepancy is to fully grasp the fact that she speaks in symbols.

Look, the National Sunday Law was symbolically fulfilled with the National Sodomy Law on June 26, 2015, and the warning was given to flee from the cities—symbolic of churches—shortly after the last protestant church (the SDA Church) fell on July 8, 2015, and now the plagues are well under way. Much of prophecy has already fulfilled, but you can only see it if you understand that it was symbolic!

Knowing that we are dealing with symbols, we should look for the flaming cloud or small black cloud where Jesus symbolically stands. Jesus symbolically stands at the center of the Orion clock, symbolized by the star Alnitak! Let’s take a telescopic look at the star Alnitak and see if we can see a flaming cloud next to it:

There it is, the Flame Nebula. The center of the flame itself even appears black, in accordance with its description as a small black cloud. But that is not all! The “small black cloud” is also described elsewhere^[27] as approaching closer and getting brighter and brighter.

In December of 2009, the first image from the brand-new VISTA infrared telescope was published: it was the Flame Nebula, in new color:^[28]

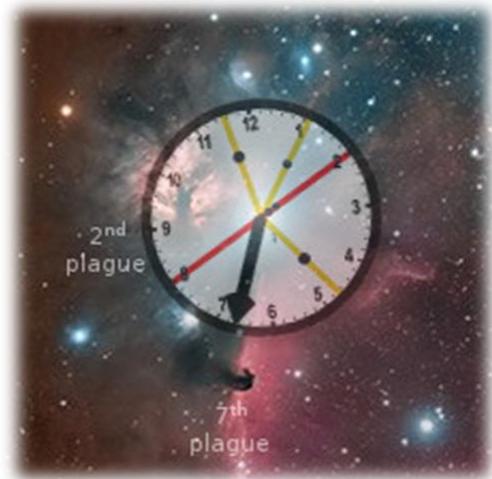

Although the nebula itself has not changed, the new technology allowed us to see it in a new light and with a higher resolution (as if it is closer), just in time for the last seven years of earth's history before Jesus comes again. Adventists always thought that the small black cloud would appear seven days before the Second Coming, but symbolically it was actually seven years before! It is fitting that the release of these images coincides with the development of the Orion message, which is the real increasing "light" that they point to. It is the presence of Jesus that brightens anything!

Notice how the black part of the cloud appears to be dissipating, and the cloud seems brighter. Then, in 2014 as the judgment cycle ended, NASA released another stunning high-resolution image of the Flame Nebula, this time from the Spitzer telescope, also captured in the infrared spectrum and presented in dazzling color:^[29]

Wow! Do you see it? Do you see how the black flame has virtually disappeared and instead the bright shining fire of the throne of God lightens the entire cloud? Even the symmetry in the cloud? The nebula’s shape evokes mental images of the Second Coming, with Jesus at the center and a cloud of angels around Him.

However, please note that this particular nebula does not represent the actual second coming—it is a waiting time just before it. Remember, the sign of the Son of Man involves “clouds”—meaning more than one cloud! The flame nebula is just the cloud mentioned in connection with the second plague, which is exactly the pie-slice where the cloud is situated on God’s clock in Orion.

The movement and travel, however, is symbolized by a different nebula pointed to by the seventh plague, which will be explained in the next section. Right at the heart of the clock, surrounding Alnitak, is where these symbols are depicted. As the great hand of time moves around the clock, it points to the scenes of special interest in Revelation that are unfolding before our eyes.

There is a dense cluster of stars in the flame nebula that make the symbolic throne so bright, reflecting the biblical description of the throne of God:

I beheld till the thrones were cast down, and the Ancient of days did sit, whose garment was white as snow, and the hair of his head like the pure wool: his throne was like the fiery flame, and his wheels as burning fire. (Daniel 7:9)

On Earth’s celestial dome, the Master Artist has painted the promise of His coming on the vaults of heaven! It is a public love message on a billboard tens of light years wide!

In the words of the wise men, “We have seen His star in the east”^[30]—but only symbolically. These prophetic scenes are just symbols to point to the real events that are soon to come. The Flame Nebula visually tells the story of how Jesus, after being crowned, sat down on the cloud with the harvest sickle in His hand.

Ellen White also indicated the size of the small black cloud as an identifying characteristic:

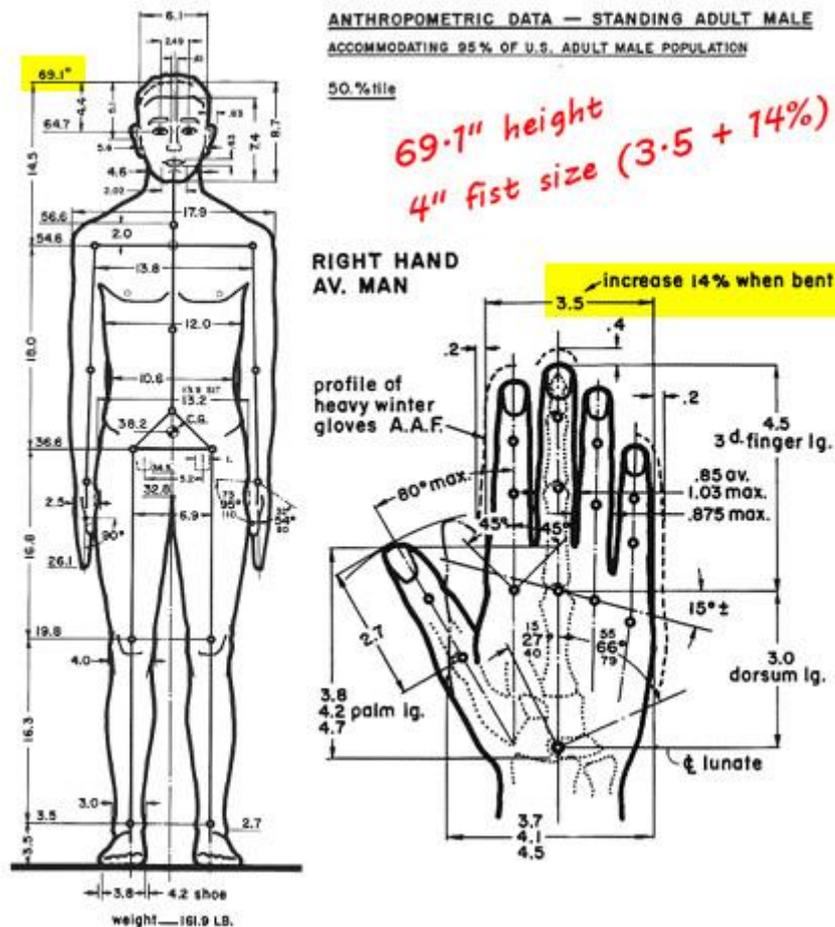

Soon our eyes were drawn to the east, for a small black cloud had appeared, about half as large as a man's hand, which we all knew was the sign of the Son of man. We all in solemn silence gazed on the cloud as it drew nearer and became lighter, glorious, and still more glorious, till it was a great white cloud. The bottom appeared like fire; a rainbow was over the cloud, while around it were ten thousand angels, singing a most lovely song; and upon it sat the Son of man. His hair was white and curly and lay on His shoulders; and upon His head were many crowns. His feet had the appearance of fire; in His right hand was a sharp sickle; in His left, a silver trumpet. His eyes were as a flame of fire, which searched His children through and through. Then all faces gathered paleness, and those that God had rejected gathered blackness. Then we all cried out, "Who shall be able to stand? Is my robe spotless?" Then the angels ceased to sing, and there was some time of awful silence, when Jesus spoke: "Those who have clean hands and pure hearts shall be able to stand; My grace is sufficient for you." At this our faces lighted up, and joy filled every heart. And the angels struck a note higher and sang again, while the cloud drew still nearer the earth. {EW 15.2}

How should we understand the size of a man's hand? Does it mean that we can measure the cloud by holding up our own fist to measure it, like astronomers do for a rough estimate? Or is Jesus our standard of measure?^[31] Certainly Jesus is our standard, and the seven stars of Orion are the measuring stick that reveals His stature to us. They represent the portal to heaven, the Door, Jesus Christ, which has the dimensions of the flying roll of Zechariah.^[32] The exact height of the seven stars is simply the angle of arc between Betelgeuse and Saiph, which calculates to 17.176 degrees.^[33] That is the symbolic height of the only Man worthy to serve as the standard of measure.

To determine the size of the hand, or fist in this case since we are comparing it to the shape of a cloud, we need some basic data regarding human proportions:^[34]

The width of the fist of a 50 percentile (median sized) man is 4 inches, compared to a height of 69.1 inches. That gives us the relevant body proportions of a man, so all we have to do to find Orion’s fist size is use that ratio to solve the following problem:

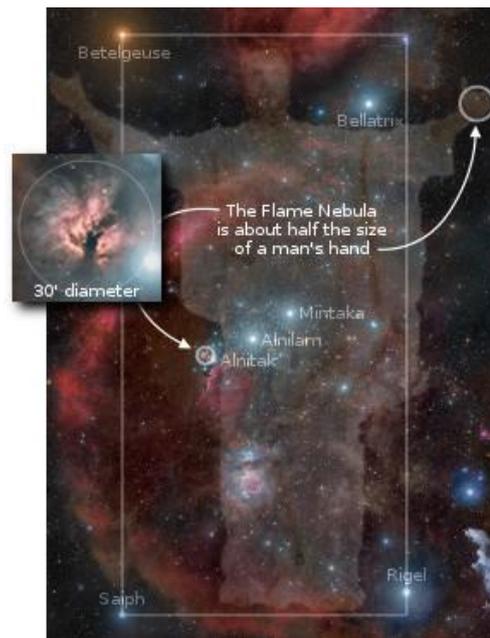

69.1 inches is to 4 inches as 17.176 degrees is to ____ degrees.

Calculating:

$$17.176 \text{ degrees} \div 69.1 \text{ inches} \times 4 \text{ inches} = \mathbf{0.994 \text{ degrees}}$$

The fist of Orion would be almost exactly 1 degree wide. That means the small black cloud should be half of that, or half a degree. Since one degree is equal to 60 arcminutes, half a degree is equal to 30 arcminutes (written as 30'). Does the Flame Nebula fit the criteria of being “about” half the size of a man’s hand...? Indeed!

The prophecy of the small black cloud, which is about half the size of a man’s hand, shines beautifully in the light of Orion. Jesus is coming! We can see the sign of the Son of Man symbolically in the east, and soon we will see it for real! He is sitting on the white cloud, crowned with authority. From this position of authority, Jesus/Alnitak is leading His people and conducting the harvest.

Since the third plague began, it has been announcing the hour for the grain harvest and we can see that it points to the climate deal that will be signed at the beginning of the fourth plague on April 22, 2016.^[35] The recent terrorist attacks in Belgium on March 22,^[36] exactly one month beforehand, are pressing the world to unite against terrorism, and the signing on April 22 will accomplish that unity. Unfortunately, that spells persecution for all fundamentalists, including those whose only crime is to believe the Word of God and speak out in its defense.

Taking care of God's creation is a perfectly good thing in itself, and if anyone were against maintaining a healthy planet with thriving nature, we would surely think they are crazy. Therein lies the trap: the United Nations, led by Pope Francis, is using this good ideal as a tool to unify the entire world on this common project, like how building the Tower of Babel unified the rebellious people of the ancient world. The initiative to take care of the planet is not the problem; unity with the principles of the UN is the problem, because the UN (godless as it is) also demands equality and tolerance for abomination in the form of LGBT rights and LGBT tolerance. No God-fearing person can unite with those who practice or condone abomination, no matter how lofty a project might be. We should do our part as individuals or groups to help the environment, but we cannot unite with others who practice or condone abomination.

Once the climate deal is signed, then the UN will have the authority to coerce all nations (all peoples) to do anything in the name of "the common good of the planet and humanity." All manner of evil can be justified in the name of "the common good."

And one of them, named Caiaphas, being the high priest that same year, said unto them, Ye know nothing at all, Nor consider that it is expedient for us, that one man should die for the people, and that the whole nation perish not. And this spake he not of himself; but being high priest that year, he prophesied that Jesus should die for that nation; And not for that nation only, but that also he should gather together in one the children of God that were scattered abroad. (John 11:45-52)

As quickly as prophecy is fulfilling, things still will not change overnight. The spring feasts of the Lord include seven weeks to Pentecost. During that time, the harvest will progress. The seven Omer Sabbaths (as well as the First Day of Unleavened Bread) are all High Sabbaths this year (they fall on Saturday, the Sabbath) which makes that period of time especially significant in terms of the spiritual harvest of God's good grain.

Similarly to the spring harvest of grains, the autumn harvest of grapes should also align to the feasts of the Lord. As in spring, so in autumn. The autumn feasts begin with the Day of Trumpets on October 3, 2016, eight days into the seventh plague. God's festal calendar indicates that the grape harvest should take place during the Hour of Truth in the seventh plague, harmonizing beautifully with the more perfect interpretation of Revelation 14 presented in this addendum.

The Great River of Blood

Herein, we want to examine more closely the last verse of Revelation 14, which has posed great difficulties for many scholars for centuries.

And the winepress was trodden without the city, and blood came out of the winepress, even unto the horse bridles, by the space of a thousand and six hundred furlongs. (Revelation 14:20)

We are searching for answers to the following questions:

1. What does it mean that the winepress is trodden outside the city?
2. What is behind the symbol of the stream of blood that stretches 1600 "furlongs" and reaches up to the horses' bridles?

In the previous section, we learned how to align the eight verses of Revelation 14:13–20 perfectly to the clock hands of the plague cycle including the end of the seventh plague at the coming of Jesus.

Revelation 14:20 tells us some more details about the events at the end of the seventh plague. The various components of this verse, hence, have to be considered in the context of the end of the seventh plague or the coming of Jesus and our travel to the Orion Nebula. In his article in this series, Brother John has already shown these events in great detail.

It should be noted again that the symbols can only be properly understood and interpreted if we can determine their temporal relation to the other events of Revelation, which is only possible if we understand the plague cycle of the Orion clock ever more accurately.

Question 1: What does it mean that the winepress is trodden outside the city?

Because “city” has many meanings in prophecy, we had to understand which event in the flow of time is being mentioned here in order to find the meaning of the “city” as a symbol. Without that knowledge, it could be the literal city of Jerusalem, or the “city” of Judaism or Christianity. Even Babylon as the “city of nations” would be a possibility; does the verse refer to the “city of seven hills,” mentioned elsewhere in Revelation?

Even in the normal context, we can exclude some of those ideas from the outset, since it is about the grape harvest, when the blood flows from the winepress, which is the harvest or the killing of all the rest of humanity at (or after) the coming of the Son of Man.

Even the SDA Bible Commentary is not wrong here, when it says:

Without the city. The picture is probably drawn from OT prophecies describing the destruction of God’s enemies outside Jerusalem (see on Joel 3:12, 13).^[37]

Nevertheless, Joel 3:12–13 does not directly relate to the coming of Jesus, but to events shortly beforehand, which will take place on the earth:

Let the heathen be wakened, and come up to the valley of Jehoshaphat: for there will I sit to judge all the heathen round about. Put ye in the sickle, for the harvest is ripe: come, get you down; for the press is full, the fats overflow; for their wickedness is great. (Joel 3:12–13)

“Let the heathen be wakened,” refers to the sixth plague, where the final preparations are made for the battle of Armageddon. Joel continues accordingly, stating the same words as the angel who has power over the fire,^[38] and thus repeats the Carmel Challenge: “Put ye in the sickle, for the harvest is ripe.”

Therefore, in his article, Brother Gerhard interpreted the “city” according to the light that we had at that recent time, as follows:

Now it would also make sense to conclude that the first angel, Jesus, must complete the harvest of the good wheat by the sixth plague. One group will be blessed at that time, and for the other it will be a bloodbath.

The fact that the wine is trodden outside the city is yet another strong indication that the great multitude of righteous ones will actually be found and collected up until the beginning of the sixth plague. They are the ones who, together with the 144,000, will soon enter into the Holy City. In the eyes of God, they will be fully accounted for in the “heavenly inventory” beginning on August 1, 2016, since they will have been gathered into “the barn” by that time.

As shown by the newly discovered exact arrangement of the verses of Revelation 14, and also by a further section of this addendum about the 153 fish of Jesus, the harvest of the good wheat will continue until the last day of the sixth plague. The “fireballs” will not fall until the beginning of the seventh plague, and from then on it will no longer be possible to exercise faith, because the evidence will then be completely visible, and without faith, salvation is impossible.

The prompts of the “angel” of the sixth plague and Joel to thrust in the sickle are just the signal that the cutting of the grapes from the bad vine will take place in the next segment of the plague cycle. That corresponds to Elijah’s petition at the altar for fire to come down from heaven, and the seventh plague is the fire itself.

This fire comes in two parts! At the beginning of the seventh plague, humanity will usher in their own self-destruction with atomic fireballs—the battle of Armageddon begins. Then after an “hour” (of 28 days), Jesus will come (on October 23/24 on the Last Great Day, which ends the harvest time in Israel) and He will begin the destruction of everyone who does not follow Him. On that day, the “first” resurrection will take place, and all the redeemed of all ages will be gathered into the Holy City. That giant spaceship will depart on the same day towards the Orion Nebula and leave behind all those who are destined for the fire of God—the gamma-ray burst that is coming from Betelgeuse.

Since Revelation 14:20 points exactly to these last events, the meaning of the “city” becomes clear: without doubt it is the Holy City, the New Jerusalem, Jesus’ spaceship with all the redeemed. That “the winepress was trodden without the city” therefore means that destruction comes over those who will be left behind on the earth without having been gathered up into the city.

We reiterate that those who believe in a pre-rapture should please study very carefully. Yes, there will be a pre-rapture, but not before the persecution and the great test (the hour of temptation) that has to come over all mankind.^[39]

The “pre-rapture” will take place before the earth is completely burned into a lifeless desert, otherwise no flesh would be saved. The gamma-ray burst is the ultimate destruction of all life on Earth, but the decision as to who will perish in it has already been made (since October 17/18, 2015). In these articles and messages, we are just trying to help preserve the faith of those whom Satan wants to bring to fall, because he does not understand that their cases have already been decided in Heaven.^[40] The more we know about the details and harmonies of the prophecies of God with respect to the clock of God, the harder it is for Satan to seduce one of the 144,000 or the great multitude to fall away from the present truth.

Question 2: What is behind the symbolism of the stream of blood that stretches 1600 “furlongs” and reaches up to the horses’ bridles?

In His prophecies, especially in the book of Revelation, God likes to use the symbol of the horse quite frequently. Most well-known are probably the four horsemen on their four horses, which we already identified as of 2010 as the four outer stars of Orion, themselves representing four character traits of Jesus through the faces of the four living creatures.

In the context of the vintage of the bad grapes, the coming of Jesus, and our travel to the Orion Nebula, the symbolism in Revelation 19 is striking, with a fivefold occurrence of “horses.”

And I saw heaven opened, and behold a white horse; [Saiph—beginning of the seventh plague] and he that sat upon him was called Faithful and True, and in righteousness he doth judge and make war. His eyes were as a flame of fire, and on his head were many crowns [the sevenfold crown of time]; and he had a name written, that no man knew, but he himself. [At the time when the prophecy was given, only Jesus knew His new name. Today we know it too—Alnitak.] And he was clothed with a vesture dipped in blood: and his name is called The Word of God. [This is, of course, a description of Jesus Himself.] And the armies which were in heaven [the angels that form a cloud around the Holy City] followed him upon white horses, clothed in fine linen, white and clean [description of the travel of the Holy City from the Orion Nebula to Earth]. And out of his mouth goeth a sharp sword, that with it he should smite the nations: and he shall rule them with a rod of iron: and he treadeth the winepress of the fierceness and wrath of Almighty God. [The winepress is trodden just when we are already traveling back with Jesus to the Orion Nebula. Only “the nations”—heathen—will be left behind.] And he hath on his vesture and on his thigh a name written, KING OF KINGS, AND LORD OF LORDS. And I saw an angel standing in the sun [either our own sun or the gamma-ray burst of Betelgeuse will burn the earth]; and he cried with a loud voice, saying to all the fowls that fly in the midst of heaven, Come and gather yourselves together unto the supper of the great God; That ye may eat the flesh of kings, and the flesh of captains, and the flesh of mighty men, and the flesh of horses, and of them that sit on them, and the flesh of all men, both free and bond, both small and great. And I saw the beast, and the kings of the earth, and their armies, gathered together to make war against him that sat on the horse, and against his army. And the beast was taken, and with him the false prophet that wrought miracles before him, with which he deceived them that had received the mark of the beast, and them that worshipped his image. These both were cast alive into a lake of fire burning with brimstone. And the remnant were slain with the sword of him that sat upon the horse, which sword proceeded out of his mouth: and all the fowls were filled with their flesh. (Revelation 19:11-21)

While the redeemed enjoy the marriage supper with Jesus in the Holy City on their journey to the Orion Nebula, as Brother John has described, the “feast for the fowls” takes place, on the bones of the annihilated. We probably don’t need to ask which feast you would rather attend!

Three times, Jesus is described in these verses as He “that sat upon the horse.” This is a threefold emphasis in the manner of Jewish literature, and the events are clearly connected to the day of the coming of Jesus and the following carnage of the trodden winepress, after the grape harvest that will take place on the earth.

But where is this horse, on which Jesus sits?

Three times, Jesus is represented in Revelation 14 as sitting on a cloud:

And I looked, and behold a white cloud, and upon the cloud one sat like unto the Son of man, having on his head a golden crown, and in his hand a sharp sickle. (Revelation 14:14)

And another angel came out of the temple, crying with a loud voice to him that sat on the cloud, Thrust in thy sickle, and reap: for the time is come for thee to reap; for the harvest of the earth is ripe. (Revelation 14:15)

And he that sat on the cloud thrust in his sickle on the earth; and the earth was reaped. (Revelation 14:16)

Of course, this refers to the cloud that filled the sanctuary (in Orion), as Jesus’ intercessory service ended in the Most Holy Place. The type for this was the events at the dedication of the Temple of Solomon:

And it came to pass, when the priests were come out of the holy place, that the cloud filled the house of the LORD, So that the priests could not stand to minister because of the cloud: for the glory of the LORD had filled the house of the LORD. (1 Kings 8:10-11)

Compare:

*And after that I looked, and, behold, the temple of the tabernacle of the testimony in heaven was opened: And the seven angels came out of the temple, having the seven plagues, [this means at the end of probation and at the end of Jesus’ intercessory service] clothed in pure and white linen, and having their breasts girded with golden girdles. And one of the four beasts [Saiph at the beginning of the first and seventh plague] gave unto the seven angels seven golden vials full of the wrath of God, who liveth for ever and ever. And the temple was filled with smoke from the glory of God, and from his power; and no man was able to enter into the temple, till the seven plagues of the seven angels were fulfilled. (Revelation 15:5-8)

Ellen White once again confirms what the Bible has always taught. In 1846, at the beginning of the Orion judgment cycle, she had a vision that she mentions in the same year in the Day-Star and the Broadside:

And I saw a flaming cloud come where Jesus stood and he laid off his priestly garment and put on his kingly robe [end of Jesus' intercessory service, His coronation in Heaven], took his place on the cloud which carried him to the east where it first appeared to the saints on earth, a small black cloud, which was the sign of the Son of Man. While the cloud was passing from the Holiest to the east which took a number of days, the Synagogue of Satan worshiped at the saints feet. {DS March 14, 1846, par. 2}

The coming of the Son of man she describes as follows with more details:

Soon our eyes were drawn to the east, for a small black cloud had appeared, about half as large as a man's hand, which we all knew was the sign of the Son of man. We all in solemn silence gazed on the cloud as it drew nearer and became lighter, glorious, and still more glorious, till it was a great white cloud. The bottom appeared like fire; a rainbow was over the cloud, while around it were ten thousand angels, singing a most lovely song; and upon it sat the Son of man. His hair was white and curly and lay on His shoulders; and upon His head were many crowns. His feet had the appearance of fire; in His right hand was a sharp sickle; in His left, a silver trumpet. His eyes were as a flame of fire, which searched His children through and through. Then all faces gathered paleness, and those that God had rejected gathered blackness. Then we all cried out, "Who shall be able to stand? Is my robe spotless?" Then the angels ceased to sing, and there was some time of awful silence, when Jesus spoke: "Those who have clean hands and pure hearts shall be able to stand; My grace is sufficient for you." At this our faces lighted up, and joy filled every heart. And the angels struck a note higher and sang again, while the cloud drew still nearer the earth.

Then Jesus' silver trumpet sounded, as He descended on the cloud, wrapped in flames of fire. He gazed on the graves of the sleeping saints, then raised His eyes and hands to heaven, and cried, "Awake! awake! awake! ye that sleep in the dust, and arise." Then there was a mighty earthquake. The graves opened, and the dead came up clothed with immortality. The 144,000 shouted, "Alleluia!" as they recognized their friends who had been torn from them by death, and in the same moment we were changed and caught up together with them to meet the Lord in the air. {EW 15.2-16.1}

So we are looking for something that

1. resembles a "horse" (three times emphasized)
2. can be characterized by a "cloud" (three times emphasized)
3. can be described by "smoke"
4. is in the vicinity of a "flaming cloud"
5. can change its appearance from a "small black cloud" to a "great white cloud".

Few have read through the Orion presentation completely and come to the section about the "Amazing Discoveries" from slide 161 onward. It's too bad, because these are indeed the most amazing discoveries we could make in connection with our Bible studies.

So, let's review some of the slides of the Orion presentation, as Brother John provided them in 2010. Those who didn't reject the doctrine of the Three-Person Deity that is confirmed by the three belt stars of Orion (also called Jacob's Ladder), have already been blessed with the knowledge of one of the three components of the seal of Philadelphia, as prophesied in Revelation 3:12^[41]...

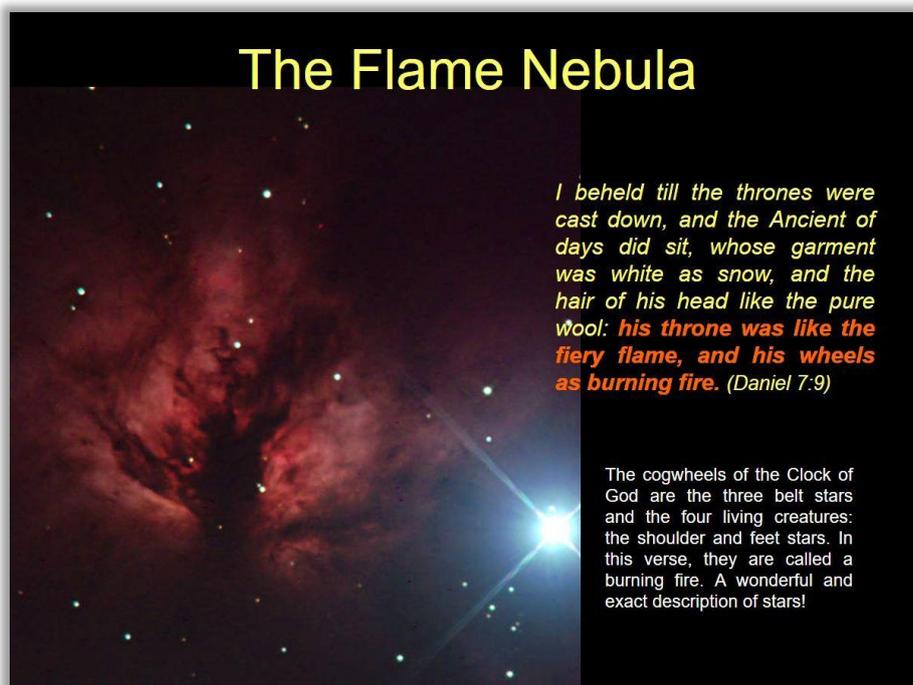

The star Alnitak stands for Jesus—the one who was wounded. He, JESUS, is the center of our faith, and His death on the cross is the center of salvation. No other name is of any importance, and “Alnitak” contains the information as to WHY that is so. Without His sacrifice, we could neither be saved nor have the strength to overcome, and we would not even know what our duty is during the last breaths of our dying world—namely, to be willing to sacrifice our own eternal lives for the continued existence of the universe.

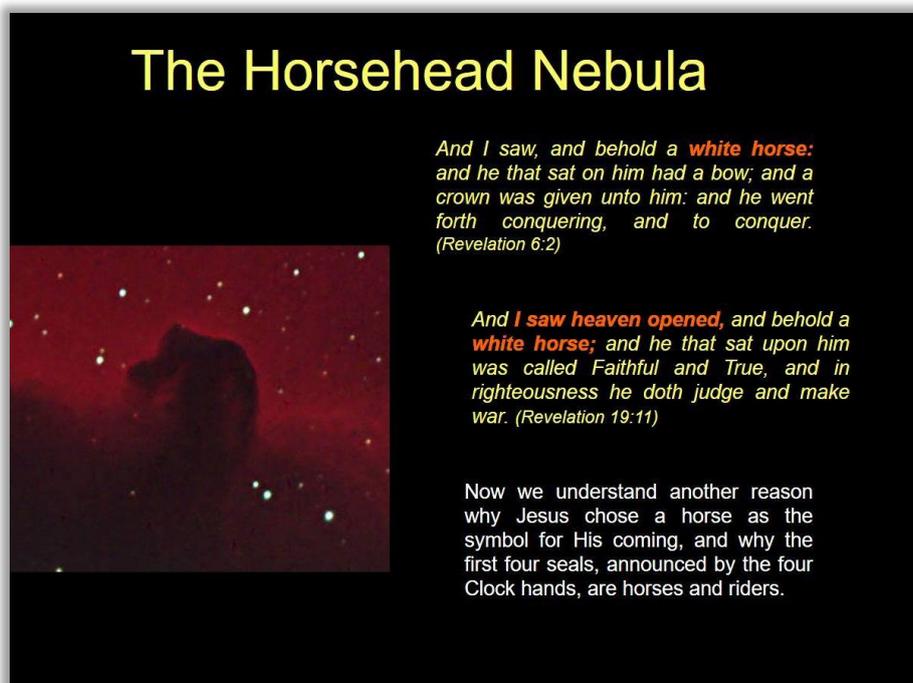

Zooming in to the center of the clock of God, and the symbol for the center of our faith in the Book of the Seven Seals:

We find there a “flaming cloud” in the vicinity of “where Jesus stands” (see Day-Star quote above):

And just below Alnitak we will find what we were searching for and see in the starry sky the symbol that fulfills all characteristics that have been previously described in the list—the HORSEHEAD Nebula, discovered in 1888:

The Orion presentation was the beginning of the Fourth Angel’s Message, when Jesus began to give it in 2010 for the third time. Jesus tried to convey this message the first time in 1888 in Minneapolis,^[42] where it was rejected by the Seventh-day Adventist Church, which was already in the process of terrible apostasy.^[43] The opening heavens were then shown to just one astronomer,^[44] and not until 2010 should a man be able to combine the symbolism of the Bible with the third heaven of the apostle Paul.^[45]

Williamina Flemming, an American astronomer, took a picture of the region in 1887, but the Horsehead Nebula was discovered on it later, in the year 1888. Therefore, the discovery in the English Wikipedia (1888)^[46] and in the German Wikipedia (1887)^[47] make different statements regarding the year. But the fact is that before 1888, nobody on earth knew anything about the existence of this “small black cloud.”

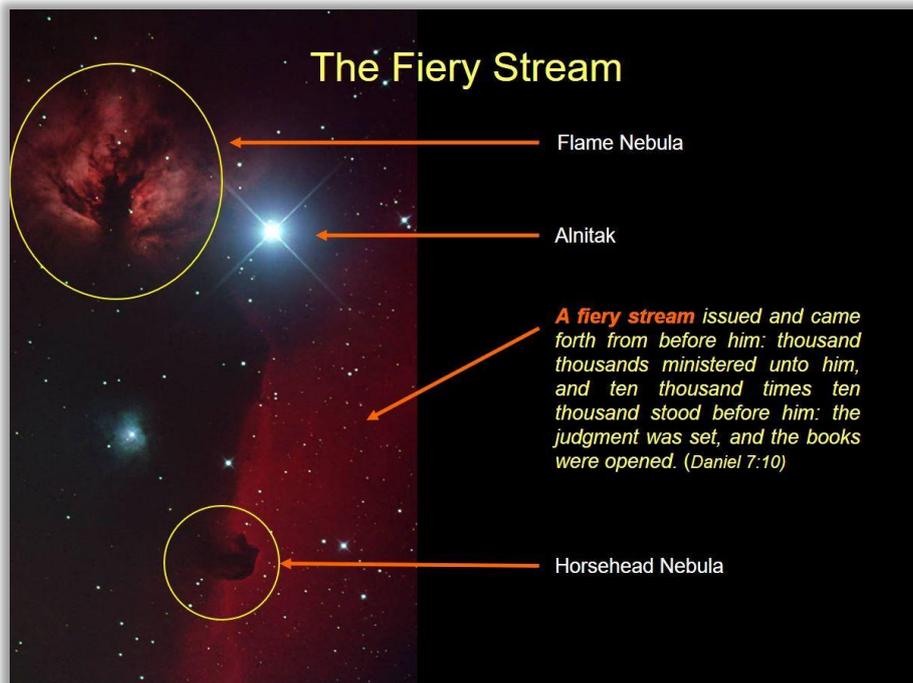

Thus, because of the simultaneity of its discovery with the beginning of the light of the Fourth Angel, the Horsehead Nebula is closely connected to this final warning message of God. Ellen White makes it clear that it was in 1888 when the light of the Fourth Angel began to shine with the message of righteousness by faith given by Waggoner and Jones:

The Lord in His great mercy sent a most precious message to His people through Elders [E.] Waggoner and [A. T.] Jones. [\[That was at the General Conference Session of Minneapolis in 1888.\]](#) This message was to bring more prominently before the world the uplifted Saviour, the sacrifice for the sins of the whole world. It presented justification through faith in the Surety; it invited the people to receive the righteousness of Christ, which is made manifest in obedience to all the commandments of God. {LDE 200.1}

Search for the truth as for hidden treasures, and disappoint the enemy. The time of test is just upon us, for the loud cry of the third angel has already begun in the revelation of the righteousness of Christ, the sin-pardoning Redeemer. This is the beginning [\[1888\]](#) of the light of the angel whose glory shall fill the whole earth [\[the Fourth Angel of Revelation 18\]](#). For it is the work of every one to whom the message of warning has come, to lift up Jesus, to present Him to the world as revealed in types, as shadowed in symbols, as manifested in the revelations of the prophets, as unveiled in the lessons given to His disciples and in the wonderful miracles wrought for the sons of men. Search the Scriptures; for they are they that testify of Him. {1SM 362.4}

The Horsehead Nebula is a cosmic “cloud,” which could also be described as “smoke” coming from a super- or hyper-nova explosion that occurred eons ago. From our point of view, it is in the vicinity of the star of Jesus, Alnitak, and thus at the center of the Orion Clock. This nebula is the “cloud in the form of a horse”, where Jesus will symbolically take His place as King when He comes—from the seventh plague on. As He finished His intercessory service in October 2015, He took His place on the “throne” of the Flame Nebula, where He is waiting until the self-destruction of humanity has begun. The Horsehead Nebula, as a “horse,” symbolizes the movement of the Holy City together with the King of the Universe and all His hosts toward earth.

Now pay close attention to the next slide, which Brother John presented in 2010:

Note the color of this “fiery stream”... It is blood red! It covers the body of the horse, which is why we see only its “head.”

Regarding the crimson stream, which consists primarily of hydrogen lit from neighboring stars and forced by gravitational waves into its typical flowing shape: just how far does the crimson stream cover the rest of the horse’s body?^[48] How would you specify the amount, if you had to describe it in words? How high does the stream of blood reach?

We do not know how you would describe it, but we agree with the description of the apostle John, to whom Jesus Christ in His revelation showed the height of the stream of blood from the winepress of God:

And the winepress was trodden without the city, and blood came out of the winepress, even unto the horse bridles, by the space of a thousand and six hundred furlongs. (Revelation 14:20)

Now the only thing remaining is to solve the mystery of the 1600 furlongs. Bible commentators have been nibbling on it for ages without really solving it. That means it is about something that could only be found, even by us, when the time had come to apply the verse directly to the last tick on the clock of God in Orion—the journey to the Orion Nebula in the direction of the Horsehead Nebula, both of which are connected by the same river of blood.

The specification of “1600 furlongs” clearly gives a measure of distance! Where should we begin to calculate the measurement? Where the bloodstream originates, of course. It springs from the earth, where the winepress of God will be trodden, as has already been sufficiently explained. But where does the measure of distance end? At the Horsehead Nebula’s location in the universe. So we are dealing with the distance from Earth to the Horsehead Nebula.

God gives the number 1600. The unit is “furlongs.” The SDA Bible Commentary says only:

Furlongs. Sixteen hundred furlongs would be about 184 mi. (see Vol. V, p. 50). No satisfactory explanation can be found for the particular number (1,600). Jerome thought it to be an allusion to the length of Palestine. This, however, is speculation, and adds little to the understanding of the passage. The main thought is that the enemies of the church of God are to be completely and finally overthrown. Therefore the church can look forward to full and complete deliverance from all her enemies, and to joyful triumph in the kingdom of God.^[49]

Different distances are mentioned for the Horsehead Nebula in the relevant literature. While some sources give 1500 light years distance from Earth, the official Hubble Site (and many others) specify the distance as 1600 light years.

We believe God, and that He knows the true distances. God says that the distance of the Horsehead Nebula from Earth is a thousand and six hundred furlongs because the apostle John wouldn’t have been able to write down nor understand the term “light years.” We have come to the end of Chapter 14 and of sin. May it be that your blood is not symbolized in the great fiery stream, above which only the head of Jesus’ horse with its bridle extends.

Fishers of Men

Our Savior had a way of relating spiritual themes to everyday experiences, which served to direct the minds of His audience from earthly and temporal scenes, to heavenly and eternal realities. When Peter and his brother Andrew first met Jesus, they were occupied with their livelihood on the Sea of Galilee, also known as the lake of Gennesaret, catching fish. From this work, Jesus called them to follow Him, saying that He would make them fishers of men.^[50] From the time they first joined His ministry, therefore, they were taught to associate their lifework of catching fish, with bringing men into His company and making them disciples of Jesus.

Furthermore, everything He did was invested with meaning, such that lessons abound in the details of every story. The Gospel of Luke gives more detail about the call of Peter and Andrew, relating an incident that accompanied it, which He thereby linked with the process of collecting disciples. Peter and his companions must have been discouraged, having labored all night with nothing to show for it, but Jesus revealed His power to provide for their needs:

*And it came to pass, that, as the people pressed upon him to hear the word of God, he stood by the lake of Gennesaret, And saw two ships standing by the lake: but the fishermen were gone out of them, and were washing their nets. And he entered into one of the ships, which was Simon’s, and prayed him that he would thrust out a little from the land. And he sat down, and taught the people out of the ship.

Now when he had left speaking, he said unto Simon, Launch out into the deep, and let down your nets for a draught. And Simon answering said unto him, Master, we have toiled all the night, and have taken nothing: nevertheless at thy word I will let down the net. And when they had this done, they inclosed a great multitude of fishes: and their net brake. And they beckoned unto their partners, which were in the other ship, that they should come and help them. And they came, and filled both the ships, so that they began to sink. (Luke 5:1-7)

Do you see the scene in your mind? Because there were so many people, Jesus wanted to separate from them a bit to more effectively speak to them, so He got in an available boat and He taught the people from the boat, a little space away from the shore. When He finished, He drew an illustration that the fishermen would understand, showing the effect of teaching the pure word of God: they went to the deep water, put out their net from the boat, and caught a staggering amount of fish—by a method (daytime fishing) that was not expected to catch anything!

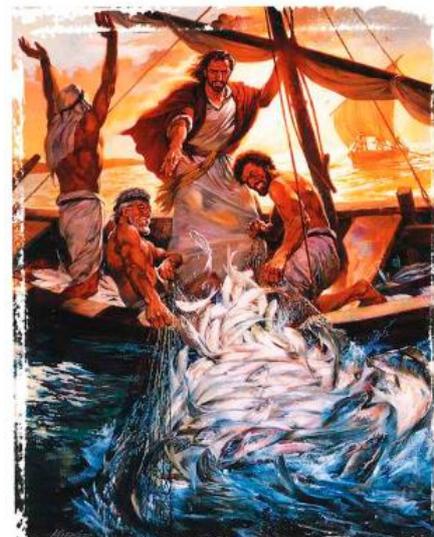

As the astonished fishermen are trying to lift the squirming catch aboard, they hear the alarming sound of the tearing net, because there were too many fish for it! But the problems didn't end there! As they frantically call their partners for help, so as not to lose the fish, they fill both boats so full that they begin to sink! The impression that this care for the discouraged fishermen made on them was deep and lasting, and they felt unclean in the presence of a holy God.

When Simon Peter saw it, he fell down at Jesus' knees, saying, Depart from me; for I am a sinful man, O Lord. For he was astonished, and all that were with him, at the draught of the fishes which they had taken: And so was also James, and John, the sons of Zebedee, which were partners with Simon. And Jesus said unto Simon, Fear not; from henceforth thou shalt catch men. And when they had brought their ships to land, they forsook all, and followed him. (Luke 5:8-11)

After calming their fears, they came to the shore, and left the boats there, full of fish, which surely must have been appreciated by Zebedee, the father of James and John!^[51] They had found a higher calling, and they loved Jesus who called them, more than any successful business or ministry, or even family. Jesus' blessing may prove to be a test in the end, to be sure our love for Him is greater than our love for the blessings He gives us, even if the blessing is success in ministry (catching fish)!

The story paints a vivid picture of the church and what would become of it. Jesus taught from the boat. This represents the organization. As Christianity grew, organization was required, and the people heard the word of God from the Christian "ship." The catch of fish was not by the effort of the fishermen, but it was God who caused the fish to be caught in the net! During the day, when the fish can see the net, they normally swim away immediately upon the first sight of it moving toward them, making even a small catch very difficult. Likewise, the catch of men in the Christian net was the work of the Holy Spirit, and not man. For generations, they have been brought aboard the church vessel by His network of Christians.

However, there was a decline in the Church from its initial purity, which is depicted in the concerns and warnings that Jesus gives in His messages in the Revelation, to seven churches along a mail route.^[52] In this story, we see this decline depicted in the tearing net. Christians had accepted compromise, and this hindered their ability to gather the people that God wanted to give them. The sinking of the vessels represents the failing churches; the organizations are not safe anymore. Once they brought the boats ashore, Jesus and His newly-made disciples left them. In these last days, His disciples will leave their churches and follow Him individually as well.

In this experience, Jesus gave them a valuable lesson that they surely pondered over many times during the course of their association with His ministry, especially when they found themselves in the same area where it happened. When Jesus died, His disciples were unprepared because of their mental block, and they became very discouraged as they faced the reality that their hopes of Jesus establishing a temporal kingdom and overthrowing the Romans were shattered, but they didn't yet understand what His true purpose was.

Christianity was about to be blessed with power, but not the kind of power they were hoping for. Jesus needed to spend some time with them to show them how the Scriptures foretold His experience in suffering and death and to give them a new appreciation for His ministry. Even before He died, He had said that He would go before them to Galilee,^[53] and they were promptly reminded of their appointment after He had risen from the dead as well, when the women met the angel at the grave:

And the angel answered and said unto the women, Fear not ye: for I know that ye seek Jesus, which was crucified. He is not here: for he is risen, as he said. Come, see the place where the Lord lay. And go quickly, and tell his disciples that he is risen from the dead; and, behold, he goeth before you into Galilee; there shall ye see him: lo, I have told you. And they departed quickly from the sepulchre with fear and great joy; and did run to bring his disciples word. And as they went to tell his disciples, behold, Jesus met them, saying, All hail. And they came and held him by the feet, and worshipped him. Then said Jesus unto them, Be not afraid: go tell my brethren that they go into Galilee, and there shall they see me. (Matthew 28:5-10)

It was the day of the wave sheaf offering, and Jesus ascended to the city of God and received the Father's assurance that His sacrifice was sufficient and accepted at the same time that the Jews below were performing the rituals of the wave sheaf offering that pointed to this blessed heavenly event. The Father's approbation and the consequent lifting of the burden that had been upon Jesus for three days and three nights, was an important part of the plan of salvation, and was represented in the types and symbols of the wave sheaf offering, which had been prescribed and performed over many centuries.

Jesus appeared to His disciples once more that night, before heading up, unseen, to Galilee, where He waited for them to arrive later. There were still several days remaining of the Passover week, but at their earliest opportunity thereafter, the disciples headed up to Galilee to meet Jesus. Meanwhile, Jesus prepared to bring to the disciples' recollection, the miracle He had performed when He first called Peter and his companions.

After having been without Jesus for the remaining days of the feast, they must have become sad as they contemplated their future on the way to Galilee.

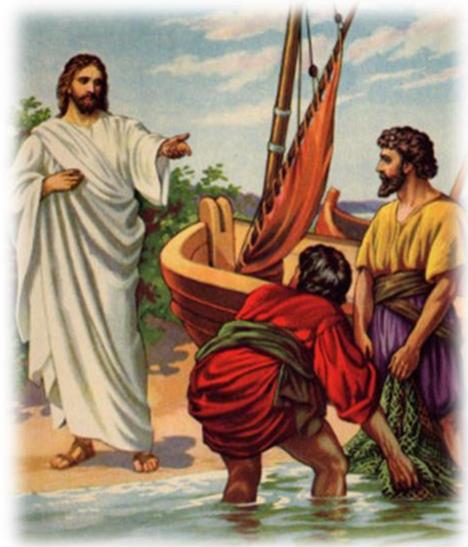

After these things Jesus shewed himself again to the disciples at the sea of Tiberias [a.k.a. the Sea of Galilee]; and on this wise shewed he himself. There were together Simon Peter, and Thomas called Didymus, and Nathanael of Cana in Galilee, and the sons of Zebedee, and two other of his disciples. Simon Peter saith unto them, I go a fishing. They say unto him, We also go with thee.

They went forth, and entered into a ship immediately; and that night they caught nothing. (John 21:1-3)

Having arrived at the same body of water where Jesus had once performed the miracle that started to sink their two boats, from the weight of fish, their minds would have been pondering on those things, and wondering what would become of His promise that He would make them fishers of men. This is as Jesus wanted it. He was about to remind them even more directly of that promise. Although the disciples did not recognize Jesus in His glorified form, they were soon to recognize Him by His deeds:

But when the morning was now come, Jesus stood on the shore: but the disciples knew not that it was Jesus. Then Jesus saith unto them, Children, have ye any meat? They answered him, No. And he said unto them, Cast the net on the right side of the ship, and ye shall find. They cast therefore, and now they were not able to draw it for the multitude of fishes. Therefore that disciple whom Jesus loved saith unto Peter, It is the Lord. Now when Simon Peter heard that it was the Lord, he girt his fisher's coat unto him, (for he was naked,) and did cast himself into the sea. (John 21:4)

The circumstances were very similar to the earlier experience. Both times, they had been working all night, trying to catch fish, but they were completely unsuccessful. In the morning, someone on the shore calls out to them and suggests that they cast the net on the other side of the boat, as though that would improve their chances. What they didn't know, is that the One who made the suggestion, was the same One who had brought the fish that they were to catch! This time, however, despite it being such a heavy load of fish that they couldn't even draw it into the boat, their net didn't tear!

Jesus was giving them another illustration to compliment the first one, and it points to the last gathering of men from the earth, while the former points to the catch beginning at the time of the early church. In both cases, the fish were brought to the net by the Holy Spirit and not man. In vain the fishermen sought to secure a catch, though trained and skilled at catching fish, but when they followed Jesus' instructions, they immediately had more than they could have ever hoped to catch on their own. Jesus knew where He had brought the fish, and the disciples needed to cast their net on His side, in cooperation with His own effort.

As the disciples struggled with the net teeming with fish, they abandoned the idea of bringing them into the boat, even though their net was uncompromised. It was not because the fish weighed less that the net didn't tear, for they were unable to even lift it into the boat! Instead, they brought the catch of fish through the water, dragging the heavy net with its flopping contents to Jesus on the shore. The whole lot were trophy fish, and deserved to be counted individually:

And the other disciples came in a little ship; (for they were not far from land, but as it were two hundred cubits,) dragging the net with fishes. As soon then as they were come to land, they saw a fire of coals there, and fish laid thereon, and bread. Jesus saith unto them, Bring of the fish which ye have now caught. Simon Peter went up, and drew the net to land full of great fishes, an hundred and fifty and three: and for all there were so many, yet was not the net broken. Jesus saith unto them, Come and dine. And none of the disciples durst ask him, Who art thou? knowing that it was the Lord. (John 21:8-12)

This scene is packed with symbolism of the final gathering of the great multitude of the last generation on earth. It is a fitting complement to their experience when Jesus called them to be fishers of men. The early experience points to the work of the Holy Spirit in the Early Rain, when He came down at Pentecost. The work went forward with power, but compromise crept in and eventually nearly rendered the church useless. The later experience, however, represents the Holy Spirit in the Latter Rain, and just as the net surprisingly remained intact, compromise is not tolerated among the brethren of that one-generation movement.

These 153 fish are another symbol representing the combined harvest of the Lord's crops, which was the theme of the Jewish festivities in the spring and autumn. Considering this symbolism, we can learn some additional details about the final harvest of souls.

Note that whether considering the harvests or the fish, the gathering does not represent a conversion of heart from serving the devil to serving Christ. No, the time for baptism—the death to sin, burial of the old ways, and rising up in the newness of Christ's life—has passed. This process of re-creation has been done for all who desired it. There are no others remaining who want to be freed from their sin, and therefore Jesus closed the door of mercy to those who would not repent, while character refinement continues for those who would. While many may not have even realized that they had decided to follow Jesus, as they simply sought to do what was right, they walked by faith in the light that they had. These and all others who by faith, followed the Light that enlightens every man^[54]— whether they received great light as the sun, or minimal rays like the stars—are the ones who are ripe for the harvest—the well-matured trophy fish that will be gathered in the net of the Fourth Angel.

They will be gathered in the “net,” but they will not be put into a church “boat.” No, but as trophy fish are held up for display by their catcher, Jesus will uphold His people of this last generation as witnesses, and they will stand alone with Him. Once they were brought to shore, the fish could see Jesus, who was there preparing bread and fish on coals of fire, before they expired at His feet. The bread and fish represent the Orion message as Brother John explained^[55] when he addressed the feeding of the multitudes. His people will see Him in Orion before they die, safely at His feet in full expectation of their reward.

Trophy fish are held up for display

The sight of the fire and meal was startling to the disciples, as they had not seen it before arrival to the shore. For the fish, the arrival to shore is not a pleasant experience, but foreshadows their death. It represents persecution, which often has a way of bringing things into a proper focus. In the pain of persecution, their eyes are opened, and they suddenly recognize Jesus in Orion, where previously, they had no idea that such a repast existed. All seven disciples who went fishing were now on the shore with Jesus, marveling at Him and all that He had done. These seven men represent the seven stars of Orion, which together represent Jesus and highlight the marvels that He has done with His foreknowledge of time.

This scene also serves to connect the catch of fish to the harvest of wheat, from which bread is made. When Jesus ended His intercessory service, He symbolically threw a censer full of coals from the altar down to the earth, and then the time of plagues began. As Jesus prepared the lakeside meal, He would have first gotten the fire of coals ready, and then laid the fish and bread on it. Thus, it confirms that this imagery points to the final gathering of earth, which takes place in the time of plagues (represented by the fire of coals).

There is a message of comfort here as well, for it was Jesus who received the fish from the disciples. “Jesus saith unto them, Bring of the fish which ye have now caught.” God’s people are in His care, and nothing happens to them except He allows it. He prepared their spiritual nourishment, He prepared their hearts and calls them to Himself, and we saw earlier how at each point on the plague clock, He is the One taking action in heaven in preparation for our deliverance, while He allows those who rejected Him to advance one step at a time, toward self-annihilation on earth. He is our crowned King, “Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end, the first and the last.”^[56]

The Lord does not desire that His children be taken by surprise when He finally allows the nations to take the last horrible step toward the destruction of the earth in Armageddon. The world witnessed a preview of the power of nuclear weaponry when Hiroshima and Nagasaki were destroyed seventy years ago. The Japanese emperor clearly recognized where war with such weapons would lead, when he stated in his capitulation announcement,

Should we continue to fight, not only would it result in an ultimate collapse and obliteration of the Japanese nation, but also it would lead to the total extinction of human civilization.

And that was in 1945! If you think that a modern nuclear war would resemble the city-destroying effect seen at that time, when the weaponry was in its infancy, think again. Less than 2% of the material in the bomb over Hiroshima even contributed to the explosion, due to very poor efficiency, yet even so, it was sufficient to immediately and completely destroy about 8 square kilometers (3 square miles) from the blast alone, plus extensive fires outside that zone,^[57] not to mention the extended damaging effects on life and the ecosystem due to the high levels of radiation and fallout.

Today, the nuclear arsenal in the hands of various countries, even after many nuclear weapons have begun to be decommissioned in response to arms agreements over the years, are still easily enough to pave the way to extinction. Advances in nuclear warhead technology have created weapons that are orders of magnitude more powerful than what was used in World War II! The total nuclear destructive potential of existing nuclear weapons is simply staggering.

The plague cycle of the Orion clock is something like a countdown to Armageddon. As bowl after bowl are poured out, we see steps taken by the angry nations as they advance toward the final conflagration. The Lord would have His children know the time of earth's visitation, and He has laid out the schedule for the major steps leading to it.

Do you know the time? Or are you trapped in the anti-time-setting net? How many people much more intelligent and knowledgeable than we, could have contributed their talents and become a great blessing to God's cause, had they not been ensnared by the evil net that the wise man poignantly referred to:

I returned, and saw under the sun, that the race is not to the swift, nor the battle to the strong, neither yet bread to the wise, nor yet riches to men of understanding, nor yet favour to men of skill; but time and chance happeneth to them all. For man also knoweth not his time: as the fishes that are taken in an evil net, and as the birds that are caught in the snare; so are the sons of men snared in an evil time, when it falleth suddenly upon them. (Ecclesiastes 9:11-12)

Solomon lamented that man doesn't know his time, and for this reason, men are snared like fish taken in an evil net. Time and chance, or circumstance, are able to skew the outcome of life far more dramatically than good abilities and endowments alone! Gain an advantage in a knowledge of time, and it will have a greater impact than any natural endowments of strength or even wisdom! If man would know his time, he could avoid the snare laid for him in the evil net.

These words of the wise are deep with significance. Consider the illustration Jesus gave with the catch of fish. Was it an evil net that caught those large fish that were brought to His feet? No, certainly not! They represent His children, and the untorn net represents that message by which He drew them to Himself. It is a holy net, and is not comparable to the evil net of which Solomon spoke!

Nevertheless, Solomon refers especially to the end of the world, for it is the evil time of the seventh plague that falls suddenly and unexpectedly on the "sons of men" who know not God.^[58] The unclean birds caught in the snare of legalized sodomy are also a mark of the last days. So the net that he refers to is contemporaneous with the Lord's net, but those caught in this net are all the men who do not know their time, and therefore it comes upon them suddenly. This tells us something of the nature of Jesus' net, for if the devil's net catches those who don't know the time, then those caught in Jesus' net must be the others, who do know the time!

Remember therefore how thou hast received and heard, and hold fast, and repent. If therefore thou shalt not watch, I will come on thee as a thief, and thou shalt not know what hour I will come upon thee. (Revelation 3:3)

They are the watching ones of Sardis, who capitulate to the true gospel of freedom from sin that they have received, holding their love of the truth securely, as a gift from the Lord, turning from every exposed falsehood in their lives regardless of how unpopular and eccentric the truth may be. These will receive that knowledge of time—the hour that the Lord is to come upon them, and because of their watchfulness, He does not fall upon them suddenly as a thief, like He comes upon those caught in the net Solomon speaks of! The receiving of the knowledge of the time is represented in a fitting place: God’s feast-day calendar!

The autumn feasts that God instituted for Israel relate to the fulfillments in the last days, just as the spring feasts related to the fulfillments in Christ’s time. They began with the Feast of Trumpets on the first day of the month. This day was accompanied by a degree of uncertainty, for its commencement was dependent on the sighting of the first crescent of the moon in the sky. If the watchman was unable to see the moon at sunset, then the people would wait until the next day to begin the new month! This is representative of the watching that Jesus so often admonished that we do. They knew about when to expect that the moon would be sighted again, but the exact day would only be announced when it was sighted by the temple watchman. But take note: it was announced, just like the messenger that announced that the bridegroom was coming in the parable of the ten virgins before He actually came!

This was important information, because the feast days and holy convocations were counted from the day of the sighting of the new moon. Once they knew when the new moon was seen, they knew when they were to come before their God at the Day of Atonement, and when the end-of-harvest festivities would begin! The Last Great Day, Shemini Atzeret, was the highest day, and represents the Second Coming of Jesus—the great ingathering of souls into the physical kingdom of heaven.^[59]

In Israel, when the harvest began with Passover, they began counting the days until the Feast of Weeks, when the harvesting would transition from grain to fruit. It was at the time of this feast, when God poured out the Holy Spirit on the disciples. Although the feast itself was no longer to be kept, due to the sacrifice of Jesus, God still respected the significance of its timing, just as He had done by fulfilling the prophesied events at the exact time specified by the feasts. So it is with the autumn feasts as well.

The autumn feast of Tabernacles was the happiest time of the year. There was peace with God, gratitude for His provision in the past harvest, and joyous celebration with family and friends. It marked the end of the fruit harvest—the last harvest of the year, and was punctuated with the treading of the grapes. The fulfillment of the autumn feasts represents a time when God’s children, the good “wheat,” have been gathered and winnowed in the winds of trial and persecution, and the fruit of the Spirit has matured in His people and offered its sweetness to the world. It is the time when the darkness of the night of sinfulness gives way to the morning of righteousness.

This is also depicted in the story of the disciples on the lake, for all through the four watches of the night, the fishermen were toiling on the water in the hopes of finding a catch, but they caught nothing. Only in the morning did Jesus present Himself to them and give them the mature fish that He had prepared for them. Likewise, as we saw before in The Hour of Truth, the long watches of the historical night were passed without seeing the fruit of faith that Jesus was seeking, and therefore the morning of His presence was deferred for the righteous, but for the wicked, the darkness continues.

The long night of gloom is trying; but the morning is deferred in mercy, because if the Master should come, so many would be found unready. God’s unwillingness to have His people perish has been the reason for so long delay. But the coming of the morning to the faithful, and of the night to the unfaithful, is right upon us. {2T 193.3}^[60]

There is another important element in the scene with the fish by the Sea of Galilee that remains uninterpreted. The disciples were so astonished at the remarkable catch of large fish, that they counted them! One hundred fifty-three fish were gathered into Jesus' net. What could this mean? It is a question that has puzzled Bible scholars for centuries, and like many other enigmatic gems, its solution has never been clear, because the prerequisite knowledge of the time was not available before this message. We discern from Solomon that the net has to do with the knowledge of time, and Jesus brought the fish to the net to illustrate the final catch of souls from the earth—the final harvest. Could it be that the quantity of fish tells us something about the duration of the harvest? The harvest is the work of Christ, and so is the catch of fish—beginning when Jesus began to gather the fish together, even before the disciples came on the scene—until the time they were brought to Him in the net, is depicted in the 153 fish.

To understand when this period would fit during the plague cycle, we need to know the day when Jesus began to gather the fish together. After His resurrection, He had last shown Himself to the disciples on Sunday night, before heading up to Galilee, while the disciples stayed behind for the remainder of the feast. Therefore, given that transportation was not a hindrance with His glorified body, He would have been available to start gathering the fish the following day.

The important thing to know is not how exactly Jesus collected the fish together, but simply that He was at the lakeside the day after He received the authority from the Father to gather. Jesus was the Wave Sheaf that ascended to heaven and returned on Sunday, and with the Father's acceptance of the sacrifice, He was permitted to begin His harvest of souls. The final harvest must follow the same pattern.

Thus, we begin counting the fish with the day after the wave sheaf offering during the year of plagues. This year, Passover falls exactly on the first day of the fourth plague, April 22, and the wave sheaf offering would be two days later on April 24. Thus, the counting of the catch of mature fish—the last generation on earth—begins on April 25, 2016, and concludes on the 153rd day, September 24, 2016. It is the harvest-time countdown to the battle of Armageddon, for it so happens that this day is the last day before the seventh plague begins and all restraint on the angry nations is completely withdrawn. This year, September 24 marks the twentieth anniversary of the signing of the Comprehensive Nuclear-Test-Ban Treaty,^[61] and the following day, what they learned from their nuclear testing will begin to be demonstrated in battle.

At that time, the net is filled and faith becomes sight as we begin to see the visible tokens of our Lord's return. The resurrection of those who were blessed to have died in the Lord since the beginning of the third angel's message^[62] and the star coming out of Jacob,^[63] will give unmistakable proof to all, that Jesus is King! While the righteous rejoice, saying "Lo, this is our God; we have waited for him, and he will save us:"^[64] the wicked cry out "to the mountains and rocks, Fall on us, and hide us from the face of him that sitteth on the throne, and from the wrath of the Lamb: For the great day of his wrath is come; and who shall be able to stand?"^[65]

What a contrast is then seen between those peaceful ones, who received knowledge and instruction,^[66] and those who rejected that knowledge as “fear-mongering” and therefore know not their time, like fish caught in an evil net! The Holy Spirit is completely withdrawn and all restraint lifted from those who would not heed God’s counsel, but despised His every reproof. Their madness spreads utter destruction throughout the earth as atomic, biological, and chemical weapons of mass destruction demonstrate the self-destructive end to a race governed by the law of self-interest.^[67]

At the next milestone of the countdown, in the heat of the scorching sun of the fourth plague (persecution against the “fundamentalist extremists” who stand against the UN’s equality and tolerance laws), it will be revealed who has grown up into the fullness of the stature of Christ, and is willing to surrender all for Jesus, who gave all for us. Therefore, they are represented by large, well-matured fish.

When the disciples caught the fish, John records that “they were not far from land, but as it were two hundred cubits.”^[68] Even this estimation of the distance bears significance, for the distance that the fish were brought before they came to the land where Jesus was standing, represents the time from the beginning of the harvest until the landing in the Orion nebula, when they will be with Jesus on that Holy Land, which is close to 200 days later.^[69]

There are 153 days for the final ingathering of the earth (while faith may still be exercised), and by association, Jesus reminds us that those “fish” will be multiplied into a great multitude. When He invited the still-astonished disciples to eat with Him, He repeated something He had done when He multiplied the bread and fish for the multitudes listening to Him on the hillside:

Jesus then cometh, and taketh bread, and giveth them, and fish likewise. (John 21:13)

When He fed the multitudes, Jesus broke the bread and gave it to His disciples to give to the people, just like He did here, and this served as a reminder that each fish represented a large number of people. As the multitude came out to hear His word, and He would not send them away hungry, so likewise will many come to hear His word from Orion in the end, and He has “bread and fish” enough for all, so that none need go away hungering for Him. It is our prayer that you will receive the bread and fish of Orion and finding them palatable, will have nothing left over. It is the body and blood of Him who was wounded for you.

21. Ellen G. White, Selected Messages, Book 1 – Abundant light has been given to our people in these last days. Whether or not my life is spared, my writings will constantly speak, and their work will go forward as long as time shall last. My writings are kept on file in the office, and even though I should not live, these words that have been given to me by the Lord will still have life and will speak to the people. But my strength is yet spared, and I hope to continue to do much useful work. I may live until the coming of the Lord; but if I should not, I trust it may be said of me, "Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth: Yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labours; and their works do follow them" (Revelation 14:13) {1SM 55.5}
22. Ellen G. White, Early Writings – The light which attended this angel penetrated everywhere, as he cried mightily, with a strong voice, "Babylon the great is fallen, is fallen, and is become the habitation of devils, and the hold of every foul spirit, and a cage of every unclean and hateful bird.” [Revelation 18:2] The message of the fall of Babylon, as given by the second angel, is repeated, with the additional mention of the corruptions which have been entering the churches since 1844. The work of this angel comes in at the right time to join in the last great work of the third angel’s message as it swells to a loud cry. And the people of God are thus prepared to stand in the hour of temptation, which they are soon to meet. I saw a great light resting upon them, and they united to fearlessly proclaim the third angel’s message. {EW 277.1}

23. Ellen G. White, Early Writings – I saw that God had children who do not see and keep the Sabbath. They have not rejected the light upon it. And at the commencement of the time of trouble, we were filled with the Holy Ghost as we went forth and proclaimed the Sabbath more fully. This enraged the churches and nominal Adventists, as they could not refute the Sabbath truth. And at this time God’s chosen all saw clearly that we had the truth, and they came out and endured the persecution with us. I saw the sword, famine, pestilence, and great confusion in the land. 40. Ellen G. White, The Great Conflict – As Satan influenced Esau to march against Jacob, so he will stir up the wicked to destroy God’s people in the time of trouble. And as he accused Jacob, he will urge his accusations against the people of God. He numbers the world as his subjects; but the little company who keep the commandments of God are resisting his supremacy. If he could blot them from the earth, his triumph would be complete. He sees that holy angels are guarding them, and he infers that their sins have been pardoned; but he does not know that their cases have been decided in the sanctuary above. He has an accurate knowledge of the sins which he has tempted them to commit, and he presents these before God in the most exaggerated light, representing this people to be just as deserving as himself of exclusion from the favor of God. He declares that the Lord cannot in justice forgive their sins and yet destroy him and his angels. He claims them as his prey and demands that they be given into his hands to destroy.

As Satan accuses the people of God on account of their sins, the Lord permits him to try them to the uttermost. Their confidence in God, their faith and firmness, will be severely tested. As they review the past, their hopes sink; for in their whole lives they can see little good. They are fully conscious of their weakness and unworthiness. Satan endeavors to terrify them with the thought that their cases are hopeless, that the stain of their defilement will never be washed away. He hopes so to destroy their faith that they will yield to his temptations and turn from their allegiance to God.

Though God's people will be surrounded by enemies who are bent upon their destruction, yet the anguish which they suffer is not a dread of persecution for the truth's sake; they fear that every sin has not been repented of, and that through some fault in themselves they will fail to realize the fulfillment of the Saviour's promise: I "will keep thee from the hour of temptation, which shall come upon all the world." Revelation 3:10. If they could have the assurance of pardon they would not shrink from torture or death; but should they prove unworthy, and lose their lives because of their own defects of character, then God's holy name would be reproached. {GC 618.2-619.1}

Anchored in Time

The Revelation of Jesus Christ, which God gave unto him, to shew unto his servants things which must shortly come to pass; and he sent and signified it by his angel unto his servant John: (Revelation 1:1)

It is the Revelation of Jesus Christ. It was given first to Jesus from the Father, and then sent in symbolic form to John by a messenger. John gives his greetings and then Jesus begins in verse 8:

I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the ending, saith the Lord, which is, and which was, and which is to come, the Almighty. (Revelation 1:8)

Jesus Christ can declare the end from the beginning, because He is, and was, and is to come. For His disciples, the revelation of Time is especially about the time of His Second Coming, and His assurance is repeated as He appears to John in vision:

I am Alpha and Omega, the first and the last: and, What thou seest, write in a book... (Revelation 1:11)

Then John turned around and saw a vision of symbols! There is one symbol that draws our attention more than the others. Imagine yourself in the place of John, seeing this vision. You see the lampstands, you see Jesus with His white hair and garment, you see Him standing with glowing feet and face, but something else grabs your attention.

If someone comes to you to give you something, they hold it in their hand, and begin speaking about it, and as they do, your attention is automatically drawn to what they are holding! This is exactly what John saw. The sharp sword coming out of Jesus' mouth is the word of God. And God's word speaks (divisively, one would understand) about what He holds in His right hand:

the seven stars. And that is the subject and focus of the vision. Jesus even called the seven stars a “mystery.”

So what are these seven stars? Jesus tells us that they are the angels to the seven churches. That is, they bear a message to His people, and they are inseparably linked with that message. Its sweet influences are bound up with them. The message of Orion would not exist without those seven stars!

But “the seven stars” is the meaning of a Hebrew word that refers to Orion. Everywhere it is found in the Bible, it is in poetic parallel with Orion. In other words, the Bible says that Jesus had Orion in His right hand!

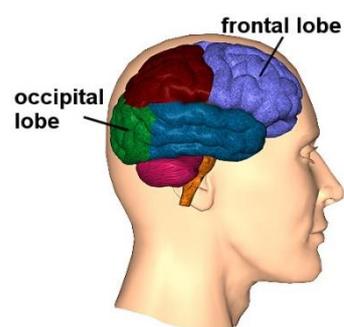

In addition, Ellen White tells us that the seven stars represent God’s ministers (See CW 13.3, etc.). What were those ministers to relate to the church? The leaders of the church had the responsibility to forward the light of this message to the people! Had they done so, they would have been counted among those messengers, and would have been as inseparable from the message as the seven stars themselves! Indeed, where the seven stars are found, there is Orion.

What Jesus does with the seven stars in His right hand may catch you by surprise, even though you have read it many times before!

And he had in his right hand seven stars: and out of his mouth went a sharp twoedged sword: and his countenance was as the sun shineth in his strength. And when I saw him, I fell at his feet as dead. And he laid his right hand upon me, saying unto me, Fear not; I am the first and the last: (Revelation 1:16-17)

Did you catch it? The same hand that held the seven stars, He laid on John, saying, “Fear not,” with the comforting reiteration of His oneness with Time. What did He do? He laid on John, the seven stars—Orion! Remember that this is all the introductory scene of the Revelation of Jesus Christ that John was shown and told to distribute to His people! What He saw in the subsequent chapters is nothing other than the message of Orion! Orion is the Revelation! So the blessing in verse 3 to those who read and hear “the words of this prophecy” refers to those who understand and heed the message of Orion! And yes, the time is “at hand,” or should we say, “in hand.”

It is interesting to note that John received a vision of Orion; he did not receive understanding of it. When Jesus laid His hand with the stars on him, he was lying at His feet as dead. In this position, Jesus would have laid His hand on the back of John’s head... where the occipital lobe of the brain is, where vision is processed! He did not press it into his forehead, as He has with us, where our frontal lobe makes understanding possible!

From the beginning in John’s day, the Lord declared the time of the end of the world, according to His identifying trademark as given in Isaiah 46:10 (declaring the end from the beginning). That He is later seen to receive the book of seven seals (Orion) is simply representative of the fact that He is the only One worthy to “loose the bands of Orion” (Job 38:31) and reveal the contents of that heavenly book! It does not speak to the specific moment when Jesus received the understanding Himself, for once He ascended to His Father, the closeness of Their unity would not allow that a secret be kept from Him any longer.

Jesus is the Creator, so naturally He holds Orion in His hand because He created it with His hand. But then He became a man, and laid aside His divinity. Having ascended back to the Father, the Father put all things into His hand, including Orion and the knowledge of time, naturally. Three times, Jesus repeated that He is Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end. It is as if He is saying, “Forget that nonsense that I don’t know the time!”

How Light is Distributed

While the disciples were gathered with Him for the last time before His death, Jesus prayed to His Father for the glory of Their unity to be manifest, and that all His disciples—including those of us today, who believe on Him through their word—would experience the glory of that unity.

And now, O Father, glorify thou me with thine own self with the glory which I had with thee before the world was. (John 17:5)

Neither pray I for these alone, but for them also which shall believe on me through their word; That they all may be one; as thou, Father, art in me, and I in thee, that they also may be one in us: that the world may believe that thou hast sent me. And the glory which thou gavest me I have given them; that they may be one, even as we are one: I in them, and thou in me, that they may be made perfect in one; and that the world may know that thou hast sent me, and hast loved them, as thou hast loved me. (John 17:20-23)

The Father is light. It was His presence that was called forth on the first day of Creation, and all glory and wisdom finds its source in Him. The glory that Jesus received from the Father was a bond of unity, and that unity is what He prayed that His disciples would also have—unity of faith with Himself. This is the glory that He continues to bestow on us today.

In the first line of the book, John describes how the light of revelation makes its way to us. First the Father gives it to Jesus, then Jesus sends it via His angel to His servants. In the case of John, the light came in the form of a vision. In our case, the path is no different. The Holy Spirit brings the light from heaven and gives it to Brother John as he studies. It is not that the Spirit does not reveal anything to the rest of us, but the message of the Fourth Angel clearly comes through John's study, and not ours.

A brother in the faith recently had a dream (called The Fixed Generator) where John's role in the dissemination of light was confirmed. We will not go through all the details of the dream here, but it begins with someone assembling two mechanical parts. Then he sees that they become incorporated into a person, who is himself a kind of generator that is being re-assembled. A man takes an electrical cable and carefully tests the assembly to make sure there isn't a short circuit that would damage the generator. Once satisfied that it is safe, he assembles it completely and the several people there are happy to have electricity again. In addition, the surrounding homes also have light now, and it is seen that each home has enough electricity.

This dream reflects the two mechanical parts that comprise the artificial hip that brother John has incorporated into his body now. This was the required step in order to get the generator working again. Before the operation, brother John was unable to function enough to study and receive new light, due to the constant and extreme pain he was in. Now, he is not debilitated by his hip, and with the aid of a lamp set up so he can read where he lies down, he is able to study again. He functions as the generator that takes fuel (God's word) and with the daily maintenance oil of the Holy Spirit, transforms it into electricity (the light of present truth).

In this way, we are able to share the light with you that the Spirit reveals from Jesus and the Father. The prayer of Jesus is that we "be made perfect in one." This wording implies a process. We are made one, as the Holy Spirit guides us into more and more truth. As our understanding is refined, He leads us at times to break free of some ideas, just as the disciples had to break free from their preconception that Jesus was going to establish an earthly kingdom. They wrongly applied some of His statements to fit their own ideas. But as they continued with their Lord, He brought them to understand His purposes. He brought them into closer unity with Himself, and therefore the Father.

That which we have seen and heard declare we unto you, that ye also may have fellowship with us: and truly our fellowship is with the Father, and with his Son Jesus Christ. And these things write we unto you, that your joy may be full. (1 John 1:3-4)

There is no greater joy than being united in faith with the Father and Son! That is our desire, and that is Jesus' desire for you. This is why we seek to strengthen your faith: that you might not lose sight of the value of the gift that the Father has given us in the knowledge of time, but cherish it more than any other thing—more than your possessions and money, more than your own ideas, more than your reputation and relationships, even more than life and health. If you cherish the bond of unity of faith—i.e. if you love the truth supremely—then the prayer of Jesus will be answered for you.

Yea, if thou criest after knowledge, and liftest up thy voice for understanding; If thou seekest her as silver, and searchest for her as for hid treasures; Then shalt thou understand the fear of the LORD, and find the knowledge of God. (Proverbs 2:3-5)

Jesus must have His rightful place above EVERY OTHER THING in our heart, but if you insist on being independent, rather than humbly receiving the light that comes from the Holy Spirit, you pick and choose what you want to accept, then you put yourself in the place of the Holy Spirit and show yourself unwilling to let Him guide you in His own way. You break the flow of light.

It is easy to see this as a loss of individuality, where we all have to be like robots, but it is not so (this false perception is from the devil, who paints the humble, law-abiding people of God as robots, while the proud have apparent “liberty” and “freedom” to do their own thing). In reality, it is simply an acknowledgement that the Holy Spirit is guiding us into all truth. We may raise questions, just as the disciples asked Jesus questions. But they didn't say, “No, Jesus, you're wrong. I believe everything you said except this one point.” They didn't independently follow their own judgment. Rather, they humbly accepted His answers and sought to understand them better.

This was a big issue in Jesus' day, for when He told His followers that they needed to drink His blood and eat His flesh, most of them were sifted out, because even though they liked most of what He said, they didn't believe that He was sent from the Father, therefore, they used His difficult-to-understand words as “evidence” against Him. But His true disciples believed that the Father had sent Him, so they accepted His words and sought to understand their deeper meaning.

In our case, it is similar. If you believe the Holy Spirit is leading this movement, then you will receive difficult-to-understand aspects and ponder over them, and bring questions to the Holy Spirit from a desire to understand, rather than independently making your own judgment, and then perhaps “asking” after having made up your mind, so that the “question” becomes an attack, like “If we're in the time of plagues, how come I don't see anyone complaining from boils on their skin?”

The Holy Spirit sent the message, and we share as we learn, but He always leaves room for doubt (to test the heart) and questions (to keep us humble). We pray that your heart would sooner respond with words like, “Lord, help us to understand the first plague better” or to us, “Do you have any further light regarding the first plague?” Then we can share or clarify our understanding of the symbolic nature of the plagues, etc.

Pride goeth before destruction, and an haughty spirit before a fall. (Proverbs 16:18)

Therefore, be humble, that you do not fall, and get understanding rather than silver or gold. It is painful to see these things claim some of our followers, as they have. We don't want that to happen to any of you. We trust you see the truth of this and understand.

It is the seven stars—the messenger-leaders who are inseparably united with the message—that are in the hand of Jesus, and as He said of those sheep that are in His hand, no one can pluck them out. This does not mean that they have no need to be vigilant! Paul’s counsel is for all to heed:

Wherefore let him that thinketh he standeth take heed lest he fall. There hath no temptation taken you but such as is common to man: but God is faithful, who will not suffer you to be tempted above that ye are able; but will with the temptation also make a way to escape, that ye may be able to bear it. (1 Corinthians 10:12-13)

These words are both a solemn warning against complacency and a comforting realization that in every trial, we are able to overcome, for He makes a way to escape. He is our dependence.

Jesus regards every one of you who hear His voice in Orion as the apple of His eye! You are following Him and believe that the Father sent the Holy Spirit with this message. Nevertheless, not all of you are equally close to the Father, just as Jesus had a few disciples who were closer to Him than the others. Therefore, don’t let your vigilance wane! Don’t let the doubts creep in! We all need to remind ourselves regularly of the reasons why we believe this message (and there are many!). Look out for each other and strengthen the weaker among you. Be your brother’s keeper. In this way, you will grow in faith and spiritual preparation, for it is a spiritual war we are engaged in, some important details of which you will discover as we continue.

Will the Real “Francis” Please Stand Up

Let’s get the names straight: we’ll refer to Francis of Assisi (c. 1181 – 1226) as “St. Francis” and the current pope as “Pope Francis” for this topic. That makes it clear, because you can’t be a saint until you’re dead, and Pope Francis isn’t dead (yet). Not to mention Pope Francis is as far from a saint as one can get, and St. Francis will have you know that!

Before we hear what St. Francis has to say about Pope Francis, we should clear up some things about just who St. Francis really was, to see how much weight his words should carry. A German source called Der Theologe (The Theologian) contrasts the actual intentions and actions of the historical person with what the Church says about him, and how it has used (and continues to use) him for their own purposes.

St. Francis was the son of a wealthy merchant, but gave up his wealth to follow Jesus unconditionally. At that time, there was a popular group of heretics called the Cathars who were outside the Church, apparently trying to follow Jesus in simplicity. The Church, under Pope Innocent III, mounted a 20-year campaign against the Cathars and eventually annihilated them. Another group, the Waldensians, also suffered terribly in the same way. (Interestingly, Pope Francis’ outreach to the present-day Waldensians struck no resonant chord in their hearts; they rejected his apology.)

St. Francis initially helped his father in trade, but suddenly decided to leave the successful business to follow Jesus Christ without reservation. He only wanted to live by the gospel in simplicity, but Pope Innocent III saw an opportunity to use him. St. Francis’ beliefs should have brought the label of heretic upon him, but Pope Innocent III spared him for the purpose of setting up an ecclesiastical order as an alternative to the humble and peace-loving movements of the Cathars, Waldensians, and others. Shortly before St. Francis’ death, and against his will, the Church made a strictly regulated monastic order based on his ideals.

Now you can already start to ask yourself who the real Francis is: did Pope Francis take the name Francis in honor of the St. Francis who did not want an ecclesiastical order regulated by the Church, or the St. Francis that was manipulated by Pope Innocent III? That is just the beginning.

Two years after St. Francis' death, Pope Gregory IX invalidated and destroyed his written will, and canonized him—against his will. Here again, which St. Francis did Pope Francis take his name for? The St. Francis who didn't want to be called a "Saint" or the St. Francis who Pope Gregory IX canonized for his own purposes? Has Pope Francis left the dead in peace, or has he hastily canonized popes for his own purposes, like Gregory IX did? There's more.

St. Francis adhered to the principle of poverty, but the Church wanted to collect riches. Therefore, the Church revised the ideals of the Franciscan order to facilitate the Church's collection of monies. It collected from various sources, including the crusades, forged documents, confiscation of the property of the victims of the Inquisition and the witch burnings, sale of indulgences, sale of offices, slave trade, and extortion. Did Pope Francis take the name in honor of St. Francis the beggar, or St. Francis the patron saint of one arm of the Church's money-grabbing system? Has Pope Francis done anything significant to distribute the Church's wealth to the needy?

That is probably enough regurgitation from Der Theologe to make the point that there's another side to Pope Francis' namesake—a side which is more about Christian simplicity and less a proponent of the Church. That adds gravity to his words, especially his last words.

We aren't Catholics, and we do not believe that St. Francis is in heaven right now. He is resting in the grave. It appears that he lived up to the light he had, and in that case he will be raised from the dead and given eternal life according to the promise of Jesus:

And this is the will of him that sent me, that every one which seeth the Son, and believeth on him, may have everlasting life: and I will raise him up at the last day. (John 6:40)

The "last day" that Jesus refers to four times in that chapter is the date of His second coming, but it is also a reference to the last great day of the feast of tabernacles (mentioned in John 7:37). Literally, the "last day" is the end of the world.

St. Francis is waiting in the grave for that day, but shortly before he died, he gave an important warning about the imposter that would take his name. Quoting from the book Works of the Seraphic Father St. Francis Of Assisi, the English translation of which was published in 1882:

A short time before the holy Father's death, he called together his Children and warned them of the coming troubles, saying: 'Act bravely, my Brethren; take courage, and trust in the Lord. The time is fast approaching in which there will be great trials and afflictions; perplexities and dissensions, both spiritual and temporal, will abound; the charity of many will grow cold, and the malice of the wicked will increase.

Clearly St. Francis was thinking of the end of time as described in Matthew 24:12. (By the way, St. Francis publicly stated that he would call no one "Father" except the heavenly Father, as Jesus taught in Matthew 23:9. As is apparent by how he is referred to as "the holy Father" above, whoever recorded the text was less in tune to the teachings of Christ.) Continuing the quote:

The devils will have unusual power, the immaculate purity of our Order, and of others, will be so much obscured that there will be very few Christians who will obey the true Sovereign Pontiff and the Roman Church with loyal hearts and perfect charity. At the time of this tribulation [i.e. the end of time] a man, not canonically elected, will be raised to the Pontificate, who, by his cunning, will endeavor to draw many into error and death.

Pope Francis clearly fits the bill here as one not canonically elected—following the previously unheard-of papal resignation.

Then [i.e. during that time] scandals will be multiplied, our Order will be divided, and many others will be entirely destroyed, because they will consent to error instead of opposing it.

Were scandals (like Vatileaks) rampant at that time? Yes. It is interesting that the “destruction” of entire ecclesiastical orders is described as “consent to error instead of opposing it.” How accurate! The battle today is not about literal killing and destruction, but about destruction of truth through passive or tacit consent to error. The battle is subtle, and those who don’t actively oppose error are destroyed without even knowing it.

There will be such diversity of opinions and schisms among the people, the religious and the clergy, that, except those days were shortened, according to the words of the Gospel, even the elect would be led into error, were they not specially guided, amid such great confusion, by the immense mercy of God. Then our Rule and manner of life will be violently opposed by some, and terrible trials will come upon us. Those who are found faithful will receive the crown of life; but woe to those who, trusting solely in their Order i.e. [keeping membership in a church that consents to error], shall fall into tepidity i.e. [lukewarm-ness], for they will not be able to support [\[or bear\]](#) the temptations permitted for the proving [\[or testing\]](#) of the elect. Those who preserve their fervour and adhere to virtue with love and zeal for the truth, will suffer injuries and, persecutions as rebels and schismatics; for their persecutors, urged on by the evil spirits, will say they are rendering a great service to God by destroying such pestilent men from the face of the earth.

That sounds a lot like Ellen White in Early Writings, p. 33, where she talks about them wanting to “rid the earth” of the saints. Keep in mind that those who “preserve their fervor and adhere to virtue with love and zeal for truth” is what would be called “fundamentalism” today. Again we see the concept of destruction, and we would do well to remember how St. Francis defined destruction above.

But the Lord will be the refuge of the afflicted, and will save all who trust in Him [\[who are praying for deliverance {EW 33.3}\]](#). And in order to be like their Head, these, the elect, will act with confidence, and by their death will purchase for themselves eternal life [\[note: salvation is not by works, rather eternal life is a gift of God\]](#); choosing to obey God rather than man, they will fear nothing, and they will prefer to perish rather than consent to falsehood and perfidy. Some preachers will keep silence about the truth, and others will trample it under foot and deny it. Sanctity of life will be held in derision even by those who outwardly profess it, for in those days Jesus Christ will send them not a true Pastor, but a destroyer.

Who is the Destroyer? Who is this non-canonically-elected pontiff which claims to be a “pastor” but is really a destroyer, sowing error instead of opposing it? The Bible names him as follows:

And they had a king over them, which is the angel of the bottomless pit, whose name in the Hebrew tongue is Abaddon, but in the Greek tongue hath his name Apollyon [margin: “That is to say, A destroyer”]. (Revelation 9:11)

In other words, we could take the Bible definition and re-state the words of St. Francis as follows: “...for in those days Jesus Christ will send them not a true pastor, but Apollyon!” From the grave, we hear St. Francis echo what we said in Satan Unmasked, The Return of Quetzalcoatl, etc.

Which Francis do you believe: Pope Francis the sower of falsehood and perfidy, or St. Francis who named this end-time imposter as the destroyer? One site even notes:

It has been rumored that St. Francis also said that the false pope he was warning against would take his own name (“Francis”), but we have not been able to verify this information or find a source for it.

The Frenchman

The name “Francis” was not the name that St. Francis was given at birth. It was a nickname that his merchant father gave him later. Being that he was very successful in commerce with France, it is easy to imagine that he probably outfitted his son with all things French, earning him the nickname Francis, or Frenchman, or perhaps he simply gave him the name because of his own success in France. Whatever the case, it was his father’s ties to France that got him the name we know him by.

The Catholic Church is also involved in merchandising—not only literally, but symbolically according to Revelation 18:11-12. The spiritual merchandise of the Church is its doctrines, teachings, traditions, and values. In that sense, Pope Francis also has ties to France, because he has joined the United Nations in support of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, which originated in France during the French Revolution as its fundamental creed in lieu of the Ten Commandments. He is clothed in French spiritual merchandise, which he helps sell to the rest of the world. Indeed, Pope Francis defends LGBT “human” rights, but not “Thou shalt not commit adultery.”

Those who are helping their “father” Pope Francis sell his French merchandise will soon meet the failure described in Revelation 18, if they don’t drop everything to follow Jesus without reservation, like young St. Francis did. Even we have been (unwittingly) participating in the merchandising of the whore of Babylon and must stop now that we recognize it, as we will explain a little later.

The pope’s connection to France should not be a surprise to students of prophecy, because they should know that the three frogs of the sixth plague have historically been interpreted as a reference to France. Today, however, we can better interpret the symbolism of the three frogs, since prophecy is given “...that, when it is come to pass, ye might believe.”

The Call of the Three Frogs

And I saw three unclean spirits like frogs come out of the mouth of the dragon, and out of the mouth of the beast, and out of the mouth of the false prophet. (Revelation 16:13)

Who are these three frogs? The dragon refers to Satan himself, the “destroyer” who we know as Pope Francis. Is Satan an unclean spirit? Yes, he is—and Pope Francis’ words are the very words of Satan. In the sixth plague, the dragon will call the leaders of all religions to Assisi to pray for peace. Unfortunately we haven’t found this in the English-language press yet, but thankfully, German-language Catholic sites (Vatican Radio and kath.net) have filled us in on the big secret: Pope Francis is quietly organizing what we might call The Third World Meeting of Religions for Prayer for Peace in Assisi, just to give it a title. And when? September 18-20, 2016—just near the close of the sixth plague, when according to the Bible, the world gathers together for Armageddon!

The “beast” is a reference to the one in Revelation 17:3 which is ridden by the woman in scarlet. The whore, the papacy, has been visibly riding or controlling the United Nations beast since September 25, 2015, when Pope Francis addressed the leaders of all of the nations of the world at the UN headquarters. Thus, the mouth of the beast is the spokesman for the UN, namely Ban Ki-Moon. The UN is also calling all the world to seek peace in the sixth plague, by declaring the International Day of Peace, which is designated annually for September 21. The Day’s theme for 2016 is “The Sustainable Development Goals: Building Blocks for Peace.” Ban Ki-Moon himself will kick off the events on September 16 at a ceremony in Japan. Two frogs have spoken...

The false prophet—as you can guess—is not Pope Francis again, as many assert. He stands for apostate Protestantism, and the leading nation that was founded on the principles of Republicanism and Protestantism is the United States. It apostatized nationally by passing the gay marriage law through the Supreme Court on June 26, 2015. Thus it rejected its Protestant roots and the Ten Commandments in favor of Human (including LGBT) Rights. It speaks the language of France. Representing U.S. Protestantism, leaders of the nation's churches are gathering for prayer on September 21, 2016.

Out of the mouths of those three entities come “unclean spirits like frogs” to make the special rallying call of the sixth plague. The website for “The Gathering” in the U.S. reveals the occult message behind Assisi.

Note the stylized “A” with the bright light on its edge. It is a pyramid with the sun aligned exactly to the side face of the pyramid. In other words, it all goes back to the ancient sun-worship cult! It is Satanism, thinly veiled!

On September 21/22, the date of “The Gathering”, we have an equinox taking place. Many of the ancient pyramids were constructed so that on the spring and autumn equinoxes, the sides of the pyramid would transition from shade to illumination or vice versa. One especially telling example is the Chichen Itza pyramid, which graphically depicts the return of the feathered serpent at the equinox.

The stylized “A” is also an ode to Assisi, whereto the “dragon” himself is making his own call to prayer. Taking away the “A”, we are left with “THE G” on one side, and “THE RING” on the other side. The one has sexual allusions and stands for freemasonry, and the other alludes to the “One Ring” that confers power to dominate all others in The Lord of the Rings: The Fellowship of the Ring.

Three Rings for the Elven-kings under the sky,
Seven for the Dwarf-lords in their halls of stone,
Nine for Mortal Men doomed to die,
One for the Dark Lord on his dark throne,
In the Land of Mordor where the Shadows lie,
One ring to rule them all, one ring to find them,
One ring to bring them all and in the darkness bind them
In the Land of Mordor where the Shadows lie.

—The Lord of the Rings, Epigraph

Together, it spells Satan's biggest attempt—in polite terms—to rape humanity. He literally wants to get inside and dominate as part of his wartime tactics in his great battle against God. It's the last orgy before the end of the world. This theme is even overtly visible in Europe, as Pope Francis (Satan, the dragon) is encouraging Europeans to breed with migrants as a way to revitalize Europe, but the deeper issue is about raping the soul. Rape, however, is not quite the right word because it implies resistance and unwillingness on the part of the victim. In truth, Satan is seducing the world, making it enjoy what he is doing to it. Only too late—"the morning after"—the world will realize that it has been betrayed by seducing spirits and doctrines of devils.

Thus, the frog was chosen to illustrate them. When you hear their loud cacophony of calls in the night, it is because they are looking for a mate. Yet male frogs have an open mating policy, and do not necessarily limit themselves to females, but will do their thing with whoever or whatever comes their way, if they are in the mood. This is reflected in the call to unity (ribbit), setting aside everyone's differences (ribbit), and joining together for a common purpose (ribbit). Nor is it just the "other" churches... Walter Veith is known for his "glue yourself to the pew" speech (ribbit), which is very similar to one of the frogs' mating positions (especially for fat, Laodicean frogs with limited reach), where the male simply glues himself to the back of the female while they do their thing.

It's mating season for the churches and Satan is ready to fertilize them with his seed of tolerance for all manner of sin—especially sexual sin—to obtain peace. In order to make their call heard from a larger distance, they use their vocal sac, which serves as a built-in microphone. Similarly, celebrities and the popular media serve as vocal sacs for the unifying spirit of Assisi... a built-in microphone for the NWO.

The likeness to frogs is not limited to their sexual calls and practices, however. They are well-known for their powerful, sticky tongue that snaps up unsuspecting prey, and like the snake, frogs also have a forked tongue in their own style. The words of these devils are sticky and deceitful, and have the power to grab and consume the unsuspecting soul. Their camouflage makes it so that the frog's presence is not perceived and as a wandering butterfly unsuspectingly passes the attractive flowers, the unclean spirit snatches up the soul of those drawn to the idea of "world peace" without the anchoring knowledge of the time of earth's visitation. What a cacophony these frog calls are, in comparison to the sweet music of the harps of God!

The Man of Assisi

The sixth plague begins on August 1, 2016, so we should see this rallying call especially in this timeframe. In fact, we could already hear the whispers of it for several weeks...

August 1, 2016 is the 800th anniversary of the purported vision of St. Francis, and on August 4, Pope Francis will take a "personal pilgrimage" to that very site in Assisi to avail himself of the indulgence of having his sins forgiven for so doing (source: Vatican Radio). That is a loaded message, but unfortunately the average "Joe" would only see it as a humble pope showing devotion by petitioning his namesake.

The truth is, we have to re-evaluate some of the things we've said recently about grace in the time of plagues. The plagues are a time of no mercy; God has shown us mercy through the Orion Message, which is His grace to help us go through the time of no mercy without falling, but it is the only mercy in the time of plagues. It is our daily rations—just enough to keep us going. Those who are without the Orion message are without mercy, plain and simple, because they are tossed to and fro by every “wind” that comes out of the mouths of the three frogs. We are even at risk, too, if we do not continue to walk in the light, and that is why it is so important that Brother John’s hip was operated on, so he is not too overwhelmed with physical pains and disabilities to be able to hear the voice of God again.

So when we hear that Pope Francis is going on a pilgrimage to have his sins forgiven—an “infallible” pope asking for forgiveness of sins—we can recognize that he is making the loudest statement that he possibly can against our beliefs: that there STILL IS forgiveness for sins (he says), even though we know Jesus is no longer ministering in the Most Holy Place. He is speaking a lie, for he is the father of lies.

Digest that for a moment. The sixth vial opens on the day that begins the pilgrimage celebration in Assisi. The pope even started praying for peace in Assisi a day earlier, showing his intentions for Assisi. In a few days, right near that beginning, Pope Francis will visit Assisi. Any day soon he will announce the meeting for prayer in Assisi scheduled for late in the sixth plague timeframe. For the intervening month and a half, world religions will prepare for that meeting in Assisi. Then, right near the end of the sixth plague, the meeting will take place on September 18–20, as far as we know right now. In other words, the whole sixth plague is about Assisi. It’s about preparation for—or rather prevention of—World War III, or as the pope’s July 31 prayer shows, terrorism which in conjunction with the migration crisis is pressuring international relations to the brink of World War III. That means Assisi is none other than the symbolic Armageddon mentioned at the end of the sixth plague, whereto the three unclean spirits gather all peoples to battle!

Sister Cities

But why Armageddon? Why did God choose that name to symbolize the last battle? There must be a message in the name.

According to Bible commentaries such as our own SDA Bible Commentary, the word Armageddon means either “Mt. Megiddo” or “Mt. of the Congregation,” depending on how the etymology is traced. The former would be a geographical name of a place in northern Israel, whereas the latter has connotations of the holy mountain of God, which is symbolic of His throne and brings the Great Controversy theme into the prophecy. After all, Armageddon is the great battle where Satan tries to ascend the throne of God and sit upon the mount of the congregation (Isaiah 14:13).

When we take a look at the history of Assisi, we find that it is a sister city to Armageddon:

Etymology of the name Assisi

The Romans called it “Asisium” and “Asis” (Propertius [50–15 BC]). But, apparently, “Asisium” was simply the Romanization of a more ancient name, because Assisi, as has been proved by archaeological studies, pre-existed the Roman conquest.

Since it is situated in a location where many people came together from different cultural and linguistic backgrounds (Umbrian, Etruscan and Picenes), it seems unlikely that we can establish the original root of the name “Assisi.” In this sense, some scholars have rightly said that the investigation about the etymology of Assisi, at present, “seems stranded in a ‘Limbo of postulates’.

Note: emphasis original. This ambiguity in the origin of the name mirrors the ambiguity in the meaning of Armageddon.

In the past, things seemed much clearer. For example, Domenico Bruschelli wrote with almost absolute certainty that “[...] Assisi, or the Ancients ‘Asisium’, ‘Aesisium’ and also ‘Assisium’, took its name from the mountain ‘Asi’ or ‘Asio’, which dominates it.

Note the parallel: one school of thought is that the name came from the mountain that dominates it, just as Armageddon is said to be derived from Mt. Megiddo.

Multiple and repeated writers supported this claim; 'Asisium' cui super incumbit Mons Asius dictus, a quo traxisse nomen videtur '(Assisi, upon which lies the Mount Asio, from which it seems that it has derived its name)', says John Blaeu. Raffaele Volterra says...: 'Huic Mons imminet Asis, qui oppido dedit nomen' [...] ('This [Assisi] is dominated by the hill 'Asis', which gave its name to the fortified city") [2].

Today, with the advance of studies, the question, although not resolved beyond all doubt and uncertainty, has taken a step forward. It was established that "Asisium" is of a typical Umbrian linguistic form, and together with another older form, "Asis", which is suggested by a line of Propertius. R. Rossi writes:

"[...] seriously consider the plausibility of the linguistic form 'Asis', certified by Propertius and contemporary to the common form 'Asisium'. 'Asis' thus constitutes the oldest form of the Umbrian town name of Mount Subasio (the pre-Roman origin of the town, of which there is no doubt), while 'Asisium' is the Romanisation of the Umbrian name 'Asis' ... The data that defines Assisi as an Umbrian city are: a) the name of city, b) the language used in official documents, c) the institutions observed until beginning of first century BC [...]" [3].

Starting from this generally accepted basis, and knowing that the place-names refer to geographical features of the site, such as rivers, streams, mountains and hills, the assumptions, essentially, would be reduced to two. "Asisium" could come from the mountain "Asio", as Bruschelli thought, or from the "Assino" River.

So everything has been resolved? No! Recently a third option was proposed, that, as we saw, now enjoys considerable consideration. According to this hypothesis, "Assisi" means "the city of 'astore' [meaning "hawk" or "bird of prey"]."

G. Bonfante writes: "[...] Kretschmer in 'Glotta', XXII, 1934, No 162 has already noted that the name of Assisi, in Latin 'Asisium', belongs to the category of Illyrian names formed with the suffix '-isio' (or '-usio'). These names are usually derived from an animal name, and we have, indeed, 'Brundisium' and 'Brund-usium', today 'Brindisi' from 'Brund a' ('caput-cervi' [' deer head '])...

...So the character of the Illyrian name 'Asisium' is confirmed as being from 'Asusia', the name of the Illyrian town called 'Asseria' or 'Aserie' by Latin authors [...]" [4]

The possible derivation as "Hawk City" has very ancient origins. In fact the archaeological finds of Assisi site refer to "a pre-Indo-European layer" in close relationship to the Etruscans.

Assisi could also have an ancient meaning of Hawk City. Let us summarize the parallels:

Armageddon...	Assisi...
...was a fortified city	...was a fortified city
...is situated in a valley	...is situated in a valley
...has ambiguity surrounding the origin of the name	...has ambiguity surrounding the origin of the name
...comes from the Greek transliteration of the Hebrew word Harmageddon.	...comes from the Romanization of a name more anciently used: Asi or Asio.
...has been thought to be named after the dominating mountain, Mt. Megiddo	...has been thought to be named after the dominating mountain, Mt. Asi (or Asio)
...could also be derived from a more primitive word meaning "congregation"	...could also have a more ancient origin meaning "Hawk City"
...is a meeting place, prophetically	...is a pilgrimage site
...is the place to which Satan calls his forces to battle the Lord	...is the place to which Pope Francis calls religious leaders to pray for world peace
...was a city in the land (Israel) of the fallen people of God	...is a city in the land (Italy) of the seat (Rome) of fallen Christianity

Now you can see why God chose Armageddon to represent the last battle. The name illustrates the characteristics of the actual sister city where the battle will take place. Never before has there been an explanation this good for why the name Armageddon was chosen to represent the scene of the final battle!

The similarities are quite clear, but the comparison does leave us with a big question: How is a meeting for peace anything like congregating for war?

Principalities, Powers, Rulers of Darkness, Spiritual Wickedness

Revelation is a book of symbols, so a gathering to battle at a geographical site probably does not mean literally that—we would not expect one little old town by the name of Assisi to be the site of World War III. If we survey the various interpretations of the battle of Armageddon, we can see that there is plenty of room for interpretation, including the possibility that it is not a physical battle at all.

Others (here and here for example, just to name a couple without endorsing all of their ideas) have recognized that the battle of Armageddon must be a spiritual battle, a battle between right and wrong. Some of the points made are:

- The warning to “keep one’s garments” is obviously figurative of staying in Christ, indicating a spiritual battle.
- The three “unclean spirits” indicate—at a minimum—a spiritual aspect to Armageddon.
- It would be inconsistent to interpret so much of Revelation’s strange imagery as having symbolic meaning, and then turn around to insist that Armageddon must be a literal battle with physical weapons.

Armageddon is “the battle of that great day of God Almighty.” As such, can it be a physical battle? God is spiritual, and the dragon (Satan) is spiritual, so logic would dictate that the battle between them and their armies must be spiritual too. Yes, it involves physical people, but the battle itself will not be fought with physical weapons but with spiritual weapons.

For we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places. (Ephesians 6:12)

That is exactly what Assisi represents. The whole world will not literally travel to Assisi to fight a war, but the spiritual leaders of the world will meet there. The rulers of the darkness of this world will meet there, and their weapons are not rockets and a-bombs. It is a spiritual event. It is a spiritual battle in a spiritual war between God Almighty and His enemies.

In this time, when the Holy Spirit is being withdrawn from the world, it is a grave mistake to choose the side of Satan. Without the Holy Spirit, a person is open to be possessed by demons, and now Jesus is not ministering in the Sanctuary to facilitate exorcisms. This is serious stuff. The sixth plague text says that the principal leaders of the world speak not mere human words, but the words of unclean spirits. In other words, they are possessed. As the common people also choose their side, they become possessed as well.

Only a few people out of the whole world will go to Assisi physically, but billions of the same mind and purpose will be on their side. Who, after all, would NOT be in favor of praying for world peace? That brings us back to the big question: How is a meeting for peace anything like congregating for war? It's a spiritual war—good—but how can praying for peace be the ultimate act of war against God? Why does God see a declaration of war in this meeting at Assisi?

Thy Will Be Done

When we pray, we should yield our will to the will of God. If we do not, then we make ourselves the god, and we reduce God to a genie in a bottle, captive to our wishes. It is not acceptable to pray against the will of God when His will has been made clear, otherwise we set ourselves against Him.

Sometimes we are not entirely sure what the will of God is, and we can pray as Jesus prayed, “O my Father, if it be possible, let this cup pass from me: nevertheless not as I will, but as thou wilt.” (Matthew 26:39) It would not have been acceptable for Jesus to insist or demand that the cup be taken from him, because that would not be an act of submission on His part. There we see that the principle of authority and submission explained towards the end of The Vomit of God and the Close of Probation is very crucial to our relationship with God and how we pray.

Submission does not mean weakness in our prayers. We should boldly approach the throne of God as Paul counseled in Hebrews 4:16, especially in asking for what God has promised and to the extent that we understand His will. But to deliberately ask for something contrary to His will is a form of rebellion.

“Good,” you say, “but how is praying for peace against God’s will? Isn’t peace always a good thing? How can praying for peace ever be against God’s will?”

To answer that, all we have to do is look to the examples God has given in Scripture. The Psalms of David, for example, are full of prayers for victory in battle against David’s enemies, yet David was a man after God’s own heart. David did not pray for peace, but for victory in war!

Ellen White says that in the time of plagues the saints pray for “deliverance” (from enemies, which is war) and not for peace. Furthermore, the New Testament gives us an even better example:

Finally, brethren, pray for us, that the word of the Lord may have free course, and be glorified, even as it is with you: And that we may be delivered from unreasonable and wicked men: for all men have not faith. (2 Thessalonians 3:1-2)

There it is—Paul is asking for prayers of deliverance from “unreasonable” and wicked men. Is that a prayer for peace? No. Is that a prayer for tolerance? No.

The King James translators used a gentle word there for “unreasonable.” Other translations use the word “perverse” or other stronger language. The margin of my Bible says “Gr. absurd” which pretty accurately describes this generation, with all of its bathroom bedlam and migrant madness. Can any sane person say we should pray to be at peace with such absurdities?

What is God’s will on the matter? Does He want the earth to be at peace with LGBT everywhere? Does He want us to pray for peace with Austrian law, which now allows incest among Muslims!? What does the Word of God—who changes not—say:

Thou shalt not lie with mankind, as with womankind [i.e. gay]: it is abomination. (Leviticus 18:22)

The woman shall not wear that which pertaineth unto a man [i.e. transgender], neither shall a man put on a woman's garment: for all that do so are abomination unto the LORD thy God. (Deuteronomy 22:5)

Friends, God has made His will very clear on these matters. To pray to be at peace in a world that not only practices such abomination but also litigates against those who stand against it, is to turn against God. We are living in a time when the world should be destroyed like Sodom and Gomorrah. We are living on borrowed time already. And that is precisely the issue at hand: it is not a time for peace.

To every thing there is a season, and a time to every purpose under the heaven: . . . A time to love, and a time to hate; a time of war, and a time of peace. (Ecclesiastes 3:1, 8)

We are living in the time of plagues, which is a time of war between God and the wicked. Should we pray against war, against God? God forbid! Now you can understand why this third prayer for peace in Assisi amounts to the battle of Armageddon, whereas the previous two did not: It’s about the timing.

If you go back to the Orion presentation and look at slide 92, you will remember that the fourth seal, which corresponds to the star Rigel and to the year 1986, was about the Seventh-day Adventist Church’s public participation in the first World Day of Prayer for Peace of All Religions at Assisi. Of course the church always denied that it was any kind of official participation, but now the plague cycle confirms that the meeting in Assisi was the correct event that the clock pointed to, and which the church was rebuked for. The sixth plague is also marked by the star Rigel, and also highlights Assisi as the main subject.

In 1986, the church’s participation in the prayer for peace was a sin because it was against God’s counsel not to unite with false religions, but praying for peace was not directly against the will of God at that time. It was not time for God to fight in the battle of Armageddon. The world had not gone over the LGBT edge, and had not made laws against those who stand for what is right and decent. It had not crossed the boundary of its probation.

The same star, Rigel, marked the sixth trumpet in the trumpet cycle of the clock. That is when the SDA Church—as the culmination of huge prayer campaigns—crossed the line into forbidden territory by voting on the trick question of unity with (or despite) women’s ordination at the GC Session in San Antonio, Texas. That was an Adventist-scale foreshadowing of what is now happening on a world-wide scale. Today, the prayer campaign is about the forbidden territory of unity with (or despite) LGBT tolerance, and “The Gathering” in the U.S. for this event is even in Texas again.

What the SDA Church did in the sixth trumpet irrevocably closed the door of mercy for that church. The door had been in the process of closing for a long time, but when the seventh trumpet sounded, that sealed it. Then the door of mercy started to close for the world, and it has been closing plague-by-plague. When the sixth plague is over and all the world is gathered together—whether in Texas, Assisi, or anywhere in this whole wide U.N. world—then the door of mercy for all mankind will be sealed shut for the hour of truth.

Now it is time for the Lord to fight. It is 30 years after the 1986 meeting in Assisi, and it is time for the Lord to come! (By the way, 30 in Roman numerals is XXX, related to IXXI if you take apart one X, both of which have great significance in the occult world.) It is time for the Lord to make war with the dragon and overcome him. Now is the time for the wrath of God to be poured out without mixture, as the cup of God's wrath overflows. Now is the time to pray day and night for deliverance, as Ellen White prophesied—deliverance from this perverted, absurd world, as Paul authorized us to pray, even in a time when there were no plagues. It is time to pray for Jesus to come, not to pray for peace, as if to say “No, please don't come yet...” but look for Jesus to come, because nobody else will be converted anymore.

For when they shall say, Peace and safety; then sudden destruction cometh upon them, as travail upon a woman with child; and they shall not escape. But ye, brethren, are not in darkness, that that day [of destruction] should overtake you as a thief. (1 Thessalonians 5:3-4)

Everyone who prays for world peace is in darkness. They do not have the knowledge of the time, so they get completely destroyed. Only those who know the time can do the right things at the right time. It is not wrong to pray for peace, except in the time of plagues when God has already decided to come! That is a declaration of war against God. You can only do the right thing if you are in the light. If you are in darkness, you will automatically do the wrong thing.

The Annihilation

From the previous part, we can see how prayer for peace is against God's will right now, but it remains to be shown how it is a war battle. We know it is a spiritual battle, but it is still real physical people who are involved in it. God has representatives of His kingdom here on earth, and the spiritual war against God is acted out against His people.

What people are “attacked” by the prayer for peace in Assisi? Catholics are not attacked by prayers for peace. Adventists are not attacked—surely they will be praying right along with them. Other religions are not attacked. The only ones who are attacked are those who know that this is no time for peace! We are the only ones attacked, because of our understanding of the times, which is the seal that we belong to the kingdom of God. Any other people can go along with a prayer for peace without (further) compromising their faith.

The SDA Bible Commentary on Revelation 16:16 gives a little more insight into the battle as it describes the figurative view of the place called Armageddon:

...According to the second view, which stresses the figurative meaning of the various expressions of vs. 12-16 (see on v. 12), this would be the “condition,” or frame of mind, into which the kings of the earth are gathered—the compact [contract or agreement] to annihilate the people of God (see on chs. 16:14; 17:13).

Do you understand how weighty this is!? The prayer at Assisi is to ANNIHILATE YOU AND ME! Are you watching your back? Do you know how the enemy wants to kill you—not physically—but to annihilate you for eternity? This is the famous death decree, and it is not about literal death, but about killing your faith! It is spiritual annihilation. Ellen White compared it to the decree of Esther's day:

Death Decree Similar to That Issued by Ahasuerus

The decree that will finally go forth against the remnant people of God will be very similar to that issued by Ahasuerus against the Jews. Today the enemies of the true church see in the little company keeping the Sabbath commandment [now its twin: rejecting LGBT equality], a Mordecai at the gate. The reverence of God's people for His law is a constant rebuke to those who have cast off the fear of the Lord and are trampling on His Sabbath [now marriage].—Prophets and Kings, 605 (c. 1914).

I saw the leading men of the earth consulting together, and Satan and his angels busy around them. I saw a writing, copies of which were scattered in different parts of the land, giving orders that unless the saints should yield their peculiar faith, give up the Sabbath [let marriage fall], and observe the first day of the week [accept LGBT tolerance], the people were at liberty after a certain time, to put them to death.—Early Writings, 282, 283 (1858).

If the people of God will put their trust in Him and by faith rely upon His power, the devices of Satan will be defeated in our time as signally as in the days of Mordecai.—The Signs of the Times, February 22, 1910. {LDE 258.2–259.1}

When was Pope Francis (Satan) busy around the leading men of the earth, who were consulting together? The leading men of the earth are the leaders of the nations of the world, which “consulted together” last year at the General Assembly of the United Nations on September 25, 2015. As in the days of Ahasuerus, that event was translated into all the languages of the known world. The fact that it was the Day of Atonement was widely publicized in many religious circles (although most erred in their calendrical calculations, saying that the Day of Atonement fell on the 23rd).

What was the pope's message, or decree? He spoke about the need for peace in terms of war being a serious threat to the environment. Along with the push for peace is the idea that “fundamentalism” is the cause of terrorism, which takes away peace. He stressed the need for tolerance and the need to continue driving the UN system of laws, which are to protect “Human Rights” at the expense of the Ten Commandments. Thus, the UN General Assembly on September 25, 2015 was the decree going out to all peoples of the world, sentencing true Bible-believing fundamentalists (in the good sense) to silence, or spiritual death, in today's world!

As in the time of Esther, the “killing” should be about a year after the decree. You can see how the emphasis on peace at the General Assembly culminates in the prayer for peace at Assisi almost a year later, or exactly one Gregorian year from the UNGA to the seventh plague. In fact, the decree in Esther's time went out in the first month, and the killing was to happen in the twelfth or last (Adar). The UNGA was held in the first month of the biblical civil year (starting in autumn as opposed to the religious year starting in spring), and the seventh plague will begin in the last month before the next civil year begins, just like in the time of Esther.

When the whole world prays for peace throughout the sixth plague, what do you think will happen at the seventh plague? War, or peace? What do you think? What if it comes out differently than you believe?

This is weighty stuff, and remember that it is not only your soul or mine at stake here. We are the subjects of God's kingdom on earth, and if we are annihilated—if our faith is killed—God's kingdom falls to the enemy. “Will I find faith?” Jesus asks. The Great Controversy is hinging on us, dear friends, and you will see in the following sections that we have been as Ellen White described—the church of God about to fall—but we must NOT fall! And praise to the Lord, with His leading “we shall not fall.”

Esther stands for the “144,000” among the people of God. She interceded with her life before king Ahasuerus, as the 144,000 intercede with their life before God, for the sake of the rest of all God’s people who are under the death penalty.

This annihilation is not just spiritual death, which would lead to the second death—it is even more than that. It would be complete victory for Satan in the Great Controversy. If this plan for Assisi works, to kill us—our little group—by making “nothing happen” at the beginning of the seventh plague, then God loses. Mordecai in the gate—symbolizing Jesus in Orion—shares their fate.

Do you understand how complete this “annihilation” would be for us? If it (seemingly) turns out that God answers the prayers in Assisi and grants more time, then our message and movement will die before it was ever born. It would be just a logical coincidence of ideas, alongside Harold Camping. It would mean God never spoke through Orion from the beginning, all the harmonies are meaningless, Jesus doesn’t live in Orion, and the time will never be known. Satan winning the battle of Assisi/Armageddon would not only mean the annihilation of us, but of God Himself. Then mankind can do whatever he wants without consequence, no matter how perverted and debased. This is very deep! This is the all-decisive battle. We must be careful how we act, what we post. If we do something wrong, Satan wins the battle. We cannot afford to have any one of you fall!

The Cataclysmic Deception

We are inundated from every side with media and programming about the end of the world. According to Wikipedia, there have been fifty or so feature-length films about the end of the world just since 2010, and many, many more before that. That’s a lot of programming coming from Hollywood and other satanic sources.

Remember how the pope declared a year of mercy right at the same time we believe there is no more grace? We must be careful if we find ourselves in agreement with what Satan says. He mixes error with truth, so you have to use discernment. For instance, the Orion message is in fact God’s mercy toward we who believe, and it includes daily rations for this time of no mercy. In that sense, we have a certain kind of mercy...but that is not what the pope is talking about with his Year of Divine Mercy. Those who do not believe the Orion message do not have mercy!

How can we use the same principle to discern what is true and what is false about the end-time messages that Satan has bombarded us with through entertainment media? Notable films depict various end-of-the-world scenarios, including:

- An extinction-level asteroid impact
- Flooding (whether by polar ice melt or tsunami)
- Global warming
- Global cooling
- Robots take over the world
- Nuclear holocaust

...and the list goes on. In every case, the end of the world is portrayed as a world-changing event that completely disrupts life as we know it. Could these scenarios be correct? Maybe, theoretically...they are all scenarios with varying degrees of plausibility. One thing is clear, however: they can’t all be true. The world will only end once, and if it ends by an asteroid then it won’t end by nuclear war. The films don’t all add up, so something must be wrong!

The multitude of false prophets in the world are giving the same message. Every one of them from Ernie Knoll to the last prophetess “Jane Doe” has something to say about coming cataclysmic events.

Satan is giving a message, and it isn't a “mixed message” of how many possible ways the world could end. There is a common message in it all: that the end of the world is so drastically disruptive that nobody can NOT know that the world has come to its end.

Compare that with our experience in the Orion faith. The more we share, the more we meet with skepticism. People just don't see it. Someone remarked recently, “I don't believe the world will end that soon... Well, maybe if there's nuclear war, then I could believe it.”

Wow! Do you see what that means!? That is the effect of media programming! IF it looks like one of the film scenarios, THEN people would believe it. By contrast, we have understood and believed that Jesus is coming based on comparatively thin tangible evidence, by faith in the Word of God, and not by the sight of EMP's exploding over the cities of the world.

However, we've also been preaching cataclysms almost since Day One, starting with the infamous “fireballs” of Ellen White's two little dreams. We also bounced around some of the other scenarios. Lately, we've shifted to Word War III as the probable end-of-the-world scenario. In all cases, we are preaching no different than Hollywood—that the end of the world will be so cataclysmic that nobody could doubt it!

If Hollywood is preaching it, we should be very careful, because it's probably a lie. Then again, discernment is needed. Satan mixes truth with error, so just because there are end-of-the-world films about nuclear war, that does not mean it can't happen. But we are not so sure anymore that it will happen.

We reasoned that finally people would wake up and the message would spread like wildfire, but keep in mind there are thousands of end-time sites for them to choose from. Who is to say that the spotlight would turn to our message? That might just be wishful thinking. Also, we have to wonder if world war is really God's chosen way to announce the day and the hour the second time, as we believe will happen in the seventh plague. The announcement would need to come through something that is a little less man-made, and a little more spiritual, don't you think? Besides, that method has been tried in the past...in WWI and WWII for example, not to mention other catastrophes. Isn't that method a little too ordinary to qualify as God announcing the day and hour?

World religions will be praying for world peace. Could it be that the threat of world war is all rigged, and Satan will answer their prayers for peace, with a “cease-fire” among his various factions? It's possible that he would do that just to destroy us with the ultimate non-event. Remember, Armageddon is a spiritual battle, and Satan's goal is to destroy our faith, not our flesh.

And ye shall hear of wars and rumours of wars: see that ye be not troubled: for all these things must come to pass, but the end is not yet. (Matthew 24:6)

The sixth plague, which we are in now, is the preparation for Armageddon. The battle itself is the seventh plague. What if the battle—the spiritual battle—is a battle of faith despite no world war, no cataclysm, no nothing? Will we stand? Will Satan take away our faith with “peace, peace”?

We know that after they say “peace and security” at the meeting in Assisi, then sudden destruction will come. What we don't know is just how sudden. Sudden does not mean immediately; it means without warning, and that could indicate the second coming itself at the end of the seventh plague, and not world war at the beginning of the seventh plague. After the prayer for peace, everyone will be lulled into a false sense of security that is the REASON why the destruction comes suddenly, or unexpectedly. Read the verse again and see if you notice something:

For when they shall say, Peace and safety; then sudden destruction cometh upon them, as travail upon a woman with child; and they shall not escape. But ye, brethren, are not in darkness, that that day [of destruction] should overtake you as a thief. (1 Thessalonians 5:3-4)

Behold, I come as a thief. Blessed is he that watcheth, and keepeth his garments, lest he walk naked, and they see his shame. (Revelation 16:15)*

Jesus comes “as a thief,” and Paul says that the day of destruction will not overtake us “as a thief” because we have the light. The same expression is used, which could mean that the day of destruction is none other than the day of, or a short time before, the second coming. That could be another hint that we must walk by faith almost all through the seventh plague! It could be, but we are not sure. Maybe world war or some other catastrophe really will happen, but we have to be prepared for the worst-possible scenario that will test our faith. This is a battle of faith, and we must be properly armed so that we can dodge everything that the enemy throws our way.

Drying of the Euphrates

The sixth plague begins with the drying of the Euphrates river. Of course it is symbolic and not talking about the literal drying up of the literal Euphrates, which has been going on for many years. It is talking about the last of the four rivers that flowed from Eden, symbolizing the water of life that flows from the throne of God, as explained in The Mystery of Ezekiel.

The Euphrates symbolizes the flowing currents of spiritual life from our ministry, so what does it mean that the Euphrates dries up at the beginning of the sixth plague? It's simple... We have nothing more to give the people. We are at the point Ellen White prophesied of when she said the saints told the others “We have nothing for you.” It is not that we ourselves don't have light, but that we know it will not benefit them because they do not have the love of the truth. What we say is foolishness to them. They did not prepare for it. They did not receive the light as it came, and did not follow the light. It is like the five wise virgins with oil in their lamps—they cannot give it to the others anymore, lest they themselves run out. We are at the point where it is dangerous to try to convince others, because they might un-convince us instead! You can't reason with someone who is demon possessed, lest you get overpowered.

Let's keep this in perspective. We must care for our brethren, wherever they are. If there are folks out there whom we have contact with, we need to be extra careful to nurture any who are on the right path, but distance ourselves from those who have turned away. We cannot afford to spend our precious “oil” of the Holy Spirit trying to convince those who do not want to be convinced.

This is not an arbitrary choice, as if we are just trying to fulfill the sixth plague prophecy. It is a consequence of understanding that possibly there will be no world war. And even if there is a world war, we cannot keep putting it before the people because then they would believe because of sight, not because of faith. The Euphrates is drying up—we have nothing to offer anymore. If the seventh plague begins without a bang, no matter what light we get to understand the situation and keep our own faith, we will not be able to defend our faith before the world with evidence.

At that point, we would be hanging on the rope from heaven by pure faith in the Word of God against total ridicule from the world.

Before us, on the other side of the chasm, was a beautiful field of green grass, about six inches high. I could not see the sun; but bright, soft beams of light, resembling fine gold and silver, were resting upon this field. Nothing I had seen upon earth could compare in beauty and glory with this field. But could we succeed in reaching it? was the anxious inquiry. Should the cord break, we must perish. Again, in whispered anguish, the words were breathed: "What holds the cord?" For a moment we hesitated to venture. Then we exclaimed: "Our only hope is to trust wholly to the cord. It has been our dependence all the difficult way. It will not fail us now." Still we were hesitating and distressed. The words were then spoken: "God holds the cord. We need not fear." These words were then repeated by those behind us, accompanied with: "He will not fail us now. He has brought us thus far in safety." {2T 596.3}

We must be anchored in God, who holds the line. We must be prepared for what could come, and strengthen ourselves now during the sixth plague for the spiritual battle that is coming in the seventh plague. Come September 25, if nothing happens, our message will dry out completely. It is sad that we helped Babylon by warning about cataclysms for so long. Like the Euphrates, we supplied Babylon with our message. We dug our own grave, in that sense. Maybe that is what Ellen White spoke of when she said "Nearest the throne are those who were once zealous in the cause of Satan..."

What we did without a complete understanding is not a sin, but the important thing is that we don't supply Babylon any more. The Euphrates must dry up in order for Babylon to fall. Our message will die, but with that death we will win the war if we keep the faith till the end.

Only the 144,000 go through to the end with a living soul, a living faith. It's not about physical life.

Now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen. (Hebrews 11:1)

So the moment we come to the famous seeing that we are always looking for, must be the moment of the second coming itself, or just shortly before.

Not By Might, Nor By Power

The plagues fill chapter 16 of Revelation, then chapter 17 explains the whore, and then chapter 18 describes the destruction of Babylon. It is only logical that the destruction of Babylon will occupy the seventh plague, which we call the "Hour of Truth." We have been preaching the fall of Babylon on September 25 ever since 2013, when we put together our Overview of Last Day Events chart, which shows the 1290 and 1260 timelines of visible events ending at that date. Then not long ago, we gained more light about the 28-day month as an "hour" on the clock. Thus, our understanding has been confirmed and improved as we've come closer to that hour of the destruction of Babylon.

And the kings of the earth...shall bewail her...saying, Alas, alas, that great city Babylon, that mighty city! for in one hour is thy judgment come. (from Revelation 18:9-10)

What does Revelation 18 describe? Definitely the destruction of Babylon, but is it destruction by world war? Hardly. If we understand the symbolism correctly, then the merchandise of Babylon is not talking about literal goods. It is talking about the false teachings, lies, superstitions, traditions, and other things that the world buys into, and through which they are ensnared.

We are facing the greatest spiritual battle of all time, and as we saw in earlier sections, the prayer for peace in Assisi shows that it is not directed at any other people in the whole wide world except this small little community of faith that believes according to Orion that it is time for the battle of Armageddon, not for peace. The whole world is against us, but we must stand firm because we know the reasons for our faith, and we know what is at stake!

We must win the war, and how shall we? Will we win the war if we are depending on a great catastrophe to confirm our faith? The Bible says that the war is not won by great events, but by the Holy Spirit:

Then he answered and spake unto me, saying, This is the word of the LORD unto Zerubbabel, saying, Not by might, nor by power, but by my spirit, saith the LORD of hosts. (Zechariah 4:6)

What does God mean when He says we shall succeed by “My Spirit”? It is the Holy Spirit, clearly, but we know the Holy Spirit by another name: the Fourth Angel. It is the Fourth Angel’s message—the message of the Holy Spirit—that is supplied by the oil that flows from the olive trees to the seven lamps (Zechariah 4:2-3). It is through the Orion message that our faith is anchored in the return of our Lord Jesus Christ on October 24, 2016. Our faith is not anchored on World War III (or any other catastrophe) but in the Word of God.

We have to be prepared for all possibilities that might happen. We have to be prepared for a completely spiritual interpretation of the plagues if no world war comes. We have to get rid of the catastrophe-film idea of the time of plagues. God is not interested in the death of thousands of people who die in a world war or other catastrophe because they are not His people. What matters to God is if WE die, because we are His people, and if we die, then He dies! All the catastrophe stuff is a smokescreen; it is really about one single question: WILL I FIND FAITH!?!?!? It’s not about physical survival, but about whether your faith survives to the end. Of this time, Ellen White wrote:

Though a general decree [Sept. 25, 2015] has fixed the time when commandment keepers may be put to death [Sept. 25, 2016], their enemies will in some cases anticipate the decree, and before the time specified, will endeavor to take their lives. But none can pass the mighty guardians stationed about every faithful soul. Some are assailed in their flight from the cities and villages [leaving the churches]; but the swords raised against them break and fall powerless as a straw. Others are defended by angels in the form of men of war. – {Mar 268.5}

Ellen White’s vision speaks in symbolic language. What does a “sword” stand for, symbolically? The Word of God! Our enemies raise the Word of God against us, for example by quoting Matthew 24:36, but their straw man arguments do not stand up to our defense. Their Bibles are powerless in their hands.

As indicated in the quote, the enemies are not aware of the time. We have seven billion people against us who believe that time-setting is wrong. That’s what it is about, and that’s why they are praying for an extension of time through peace. Their goal is not to prevent war, but to kill our faith. They can make war or not make war whenever they want—that is all just a big show. The meeting in Assisi to pray for peace is for us to believe that if nothing happens on September 25, it is because their prayer was heard.

We have to understand the enemy’s plans, just like it says Behind Enemy Lines. He plans to take away our faith, and if he can do that, we’re dead. If our faith is tested for a few days after the seventh plague begins, maybe God will allow crazy Kim Jong-Un to push the red button to start nuclear war, who knows. We can’t say it won’t happen, but it looks probable that it won’t happen. Our faith must hold to the end, and if we do not lose faith, then Jesus can come.

Revelation 18 is about the fall of the whole Babylonian system. The whole Babylonian system will break down because of a small number of people on the earth. That’s our power! That is the power of the Fourth Angel’s message! A small number of people who don’t lose faith in the second coming.

If any of you erase October 24, 2016 from your mind, as we like to show on our profile pictures, we lose the war. Understand how serious this is, and that Jesus only said the seven stars cannot be plucked out of His hand. You must guard your faith vigilantly. There are “144,000” who must not die. If one of you falls, it could be that one too many that results in a lost war.

I Come as a Thief

This then is the message which we have heard of him, and declare unto you, that God is light, and in him is no darkness at all. ...[And] if we walk in the light, as he is in the light, we have fellowship one with another, and the blood of Jesus Christ his Son cleanseth us from all sin. (1 John 1:5,7)

It is an oft-repeated promise that many Christians have memorized. But do you realize what it says? There is a big “IF” there. If we want to know whether we truly believe in Jesus, as all Christians claim, then we may evaluate whether we are walking in the light that He has given us. Only then will we have fellowship with each other and with the Father, and only then will the blood of Jesus Christ cleanse us from all sin!

It is a sad reality that so many who claim to be followers of Jesus, in reality walk in darkness. To walk in darkness doesn't refer to those who simply do not have greater light, but it refers to those who choose darkness rather than light. You can see it clearly when you present clear Scriptures to people, but rather than considering the light of the Bible, they choose their own traditions. They don't want to walk in the light, because they aren't willing to make the required sacrifice. They just want to feel good about themselves.

He that believeth on him is not condemned: but he that believeth not is condemned already, because he hath not believed in the name of the only begotten Son of God. And this is the condemnation, that light is come into the world, and men loved darkness rather than light, because their deeds were evil. (John 3:18-19)*

Many say that all that is necessary is that you “believe on the Lord” and you will be saved. And that is true, but what does it mean to believe on the Lord? This passage gives us the answer in reverse: If those who believe not are condemned because they loved darkness rather than light, then those who believe must love the light and come to the light! Paul understood this when he wrote to the Thessalonians:

But of the times and the seasons, brethren, ye have no need that I write unto you. For yourselves know perfectly that the day of the Lord so cometh as a thief in the night. For when they shall say, Peace and safety; then sudden destruction cometh upon them, as travail upon a woman with child; and they shall not escape. But ye, brethren, are not in darkness, that that day should overtake you as a thief. Ye are all the children of light, and the children of the day: we are not of the night, nor of darkness. Therefore let us not sleep, as do others; but let us watch and be sober. (1 Thessalonians 5:1-6)

He knew that they believed and were children of the light, i.e. they loved the light rather than darkness. This is the reason he gave that that day of sudden destruction would not come upon them as a thief. He knew that light would come that would preserve them from the surprise, and simply encouraged them to soberly watch for it.

The Orion Message is the light that Paul implied would come! It is about the return of Jesus, not about World War III. One of the things that sets this message apart from other time-setting messages is that it is full of spiritual significance and relevance to the perfection of Christian character necessary to meet the Lord without seeing death. It highlights the revelation of important truths through the history of the Adventist Church, and makes plain the difference between God's way and the devil's. It is the last great lighthouse of truth to guide the way home in these closing scenes before the Second Coming.

It is therefore very important to realize what its purpose is and what it is not! We may have liked it if we could say with certainty that a great event would happen on a given day, and when the day comes, it happens just as we expected, and then the whole world marvels over the prophetic accuracy of the message in our hands. But is that the purpose of the message? Is it so we can experience that vindication at last? No! It is so we can be prepared to meet the One we love and have been waiting our whole lives to meet! Whatever is necessary for that to happen, the message provides. The faith that can endure delay is developed as we patiently wait on the Lord, entrusting ourselves in every way to His care. This has been the experience of our journey.

And what about those who do not accept the light that has come into the world through this message? Jesus comes upon them as a thief. Now let that sink in for a moment. He COMES upon them as a thief. That means they weren't expecting Him until the moment they see Him in the clouds. Jesus said it would be as it was in the days of Noah, and He said that the wicked "knew not until the flood came, and took them all away." (Matthew 24:39) It wasn't until they were drowning in the flood that they finally knew the time of their visitation! They did not sense that the end was near, but mocked Noah, even after he and his family were locked inside by a divine manifestation.

Likewise, we must maintain our faith until it becomes sight and we see our Lord's face, even if there is no nuclear war or other cataclysm to wake people up to the nearness of His coming, but they instead continue to mock until their faces pale when they see us ascending and they fall to the ground at our feet. If one of the 144,000 loses their faith that the Father sent this message of Jesus in Orion by the Holy Spirit, then it's Game Over! The whole Universe is depending on us to keep the faith to the very end. Yes, FAITH—not sight—to the very end. Jesus said:

And shall not God avenge his own elect, which cry day and night unto him, though he bear long with them? I tell you that he will avenge them speedily. Nevertheless when the Son of man cometh, shall he find faith on the earth? (Luke 18:7-8)

It has been necessary for all of God's children in every age to demonstrate faith. The first disciples had faith that the Man they followed was sent by the Father and rose from the dead. Christians throughout the next two millennia had faith that the words of Scripture were true and that the Man described therein was risen from the dead, ascended into heaven, and would come back as He promised. For our time, Jesus asks if He will find faith WHEN HE COMES. The faith required when He returns is faith that the message of His return (The Orion Message) is the Revelation sent from the Father.

Blessed is he that waiteth, and cometh to the thousand three hundred and five and thirty days. (Daniel 12:12)

The blessing in Daniel 12 is for those who come to the end of the 1335 days. It is for those who have the seal of time in Orion all the way to the end—all the way until our faith becomes sight. Our faith does not become sight at the start of nuclear war, for ours is not faith in nuclear war, but in Jesus' coming! Our faith becomes sight when we look up and see Him returning with our own two eyes. Then the blessing is conferred as we are changed in the twinkle of an eye and are caught up together with the resurrected saints.

The reality is, though, that we don't know exactly how soon we will see Him! We have said that it may be at the beginning of the hour of truth, when we come to the White Horse Star on the Plague cycle. But our faith must endure, even if "nothing happens" at the seventh plague! We must hold onto our faith even in the hour of truth! All we have is the last day of His trip: October 24, 2016.

Think about it scientifically for a moment. We don't know HOW exactly the Holy City travels, and HOW it can go 1200+ lightyears in seven days, but to travel that distance in seven days, or even 28 days to be conservative, it would require traveling at speeds hundreds of thousands of times the speed of light. In terms of classical physics, we would not see it coming, because it would arrive before the waves of light from its movement reach our eyes (until it slows down, of course). It could be that the city will open something like a wormhole to get here without the trouble of long distances, but it's still the same: we would not see it till it happens. It is quite possible that we will not see any visible proof until the very day of Jesus' return. This would put us in a position similar to the Millerites. We have to wait till the last moment by faith, because it is possible that we will not come to seeing before it happens.

What about the small black cloud that grows brighter and brighter? We already gave one explanation for that in the last article, It is the Lord! We didn't mean to exclude a literal cloud of angels appearing seven days before the coming, but it is possible that there will be no second fulfillment of that prophecy seven days, or any number of days, before the actual date of the second coming. It's been fulfilled in the Orion message, which began to be proclaimed in these last seven years (the seven days).

In summary, let's be careful that we do not misplace our faith, for it could be fatal if we do! Our faith is that the Lord has sent the Holy Spirit with this message in the outpouring of the Latter Rain—a message of spiritual preparation to meet our God on October 24, 2016. It is NOT a faith that the trumpets would wake up the world or that the plagues would be literal or that Betelgeuse would supernova or fireballs would fall or nuclear war would decimate the earth! It is a faith that we will live to see the Lord's return in peace. May this, your faith, become a reality for you, regardless of what happens between now and then. Even so, come, Lord Jesus. Maranatha!

Behind Enemy Lines

The Great Conflict between Good and Evil

Written by John Scotram

Published: Tuesday, June 7, 2011, 1:28 pm

Originally published on Sunday, January 24, 2010, 1:15 pm in German at www.letztercountdown.org

We are at war. For almost exactly 6,000 years, a bloody battle between good and evil, the Angel of Darkness and Jesus Christ, has been raging on our planet since Lucifer had risen in Heaven and become Satan, the accuser of God, Jesus, and those who keep the laws of God.

And there was war in heaven: Michael and his angels fought against the dragon; and the dragon fought and his angels, And prevailed not; neither was their place found any more in heaven. And the great dragon was cast out, that old serpent, called the Devil, and Satan, which deceiveth the whole world: he was cast out into the earth, and his angels were cast out with him. (Revelation 12:7-9)

Satan was cast out of Heaven, together with his fallen angelic hosts, which accounted for one third of all the angels in Heaven, and exiled to the earth where now after six long millennia of suffering and war, disease and death, finally the last battle will take place. Christ will triumph if He will find faith, because He already did His part in a battle that was decided 2,000 years ago when Jesus took upon Himself the sacrificial death for our sins and thereby provided for each one of us the possibility to be saved. The door of grace is open to anyone who gives himself in love to Christ and chooses Him as Lord of his life. But this door stays open just a little while longer, as these articles will show clearly.

The majority of Christians believe that the war is already decided, and therefore it would just be a matter of how many people Satan would be able to destroy through deception, and how great the damage would be that he can cause. Indeed, it's about how many people he can dissuade from being faithful to the Creator of the universe and to keep His true and unique commandments of love. How many people will Satan still dissuade from giving their hearts to Christ, who has given everything for them including His blood? Hence many believe that the declared plan of the vengeful and defeated devil, is to cause Jesus as much pain as possible, and draw as many people as possible under his spell, and to destroy them so that they would forever be lost to Christ and eternal life in communion with a kind and loving God. But there's more in the game as we will see (much) later.

Be sober, be vigilant; because your adversary the devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about, seeking whom he may devour: Whom resist stedfast in the faith, knowing that the same afflictions are accomplished in your brethren that are in the world. (1 Peter 5:8-9)

Peter comforts us here in the coming days of the expected persecution by the Antichrist, and also gives us counsel on how we can resist the enemies of God by standing firmly in the faith. So we are at war with the most powerful being ever created and with his whole army of billions of demons. Wouldn't it be a good idea to study a little, which actions a good soldier or general would take to win a battle?

Regarding this, we get further counsel from Paul:

Put on the whole armour of God, that ye may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil. For we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places. Wherefore take unto you the whole armour of God, that ye may be able to withstand in the evil day, and having done all, to stand. Stand therefore, having your loins girt about with truth, and having on the breastplate of righteousness; And your feet shod with the preparation of the gospel of peace; Above all, taking the shield of faith, wherewith ye shall be able to quench all the fiery darts of the wicked. And take the helmet of salvation, and the sword of the Spirit, which is the word of God: (Ephesians 6:11-17)

What is the task of an army that is at war? First, to prepare itself through hard training, gaining mental and physical fitness, and theoretical and practical training on the weaponry. Our weapons are:

- the truth
- the righteousness of Christ
- the gospel of peace
- faith and the certainty of salvation
- victory - i.e. the wonderful hope of the crown
- eternal life.

All these are defensive weapon systems. In Paul's text, there is just one offensive weapon, the sword. This is the word of God, the Holy Scripture. And this is what I am using as I write this text. One does well to prepare himself in the use of all these weapon systems before the big, final battle begins.

Fine, but is that all that a good army does? No! Secondly, one has to be vigilant and to observe the enemy. If we know the enemy's intentions, the battle is almost won; for those who foresee the next steps of the enemy army can adjust to it and develop countermeasures so that they wouldn't fall into the traps of the adversary.

For as a snare shall it come on all them that dwell on the face of the whole earth. Watch ye therefore, and pray always, that ye may be accounted worthy to escape all these things that shall come to pass, and to stand before the Son of man. (Luke 21:35-36)

To anticipate the enemy's movements, or the works of darkness, is an important part of the daily duties of a soldier of Christ. And if we have discovered a plan of Satan and his army, we should inform our comrades:

And have no fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness, but rather reprove them. (Ephesians 5:11)

Christ repeatedly warned His people in the whole Bible by prophecy, and predicted exactly what movements are to be expected from the enemy. Not a single Christian who heeded the warnings of Jesus of the coming destruction of Jerusalem perished when the Roman army destroyed the city and killed all its inhabitants in 70 AD. For the Christians believed Jesus when He said:

And when ye shall see Jerusalem compassed with armies, then know that the desolation thereof is nigh. Then let them which are in Judaea flee to the mountains; and let them which are in the midst of it depart out; and let not them that are in the countries enter thereinto. (Luke 21:20-21)

When the first siege of Jerusalem in 66 AD was halted miraculously by reasons that even today nobody can historically determine perfectly, and the Roman army withdrew for three and a half years, the Christians who knew the prophecy of Jesus took advantage and fled the city. But all who did not believe the words of Jesus – and this was of course the majority of the Jewish people who had not recognized their Redeemer and had crucified Him – died in a cruel and almost indescribable way when the Roman army returned. The "Great Controversy" of Ellen White describes this event in emphatic terms in the first chapter.

Daniel, Revelation and other prophetic books of the Bible are full of warnings and clear statements about the plans and movements of the leader of the army of rebellious angels that wants to exterminate the remnant of God on earth. What is surprising is that the army of God does so little to observe what the enemy does. An explanation of why this is so, comes from Jesus Himself. He compares His army with sleeping virgins, or with a landlord who is not prepared, and therefore allows the thief to enter by surprise. Now that the last terrible battle is due, even the sensitive, loving and reserved Jesus uses hard words to wake up the sleeping soldiers:

And unto the angel of the church of the Laodiceans write; These things saith the Amen, the faithful and true witness, the beginning of the creation of God; I know thy works, that thou art neither cold nor hot: I would thou wert cold or hot. So then because thou art lukewarm, and neither cold nor hot, I will spue thee out of my mouth. Because thou sayest, I am rich, and increased with goods, and have need of nothing; and knowest not that thou art wretched, and miserable, and poor, and blind, and naked: (Revelation 3:14-17)

The typical sleeping soldier believes that there is no danger and that it wouldn't make sense to observe the enemy, because he is sure to have the full overview of the opponent's movements.

He is convinced that even the enemy himself is sleeping. And he is confident that nothing can surprise him.

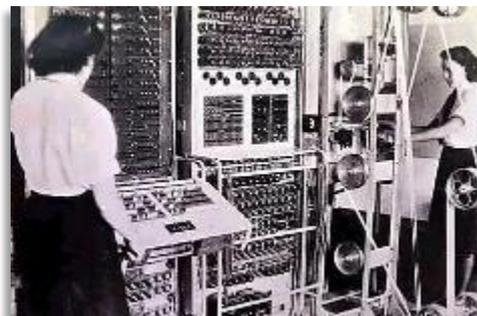

Like the sleeping soldier, many Christians believe today that there is no danger, and the biblical text expresses this by the famous parable of the sleeping virgins in Matthew 25:1-13. And there is another clear hint in the following verses:

But of the times and the seasons, brethren, ye have no need that I write unto you. For yourselves know perfectly that the day of the Lord so cometh as a thief in the night. For when they shall say, Peace and safety; then sudden destruction cometh upon them, as travail upon a woman with child; and they shall not escape. But ye, brethren, are not in darkness, that that day should overtake you as a thief. Ye are all the children of light, and the children of the day: we are not of the night, nor of darkness. Therefore let us not sleep, as do others; but let us watch and be sober. For they that sleep sleep in the night; and they that be drunken are drunken in the night. (1 Thessalonians 5:1-7)

So, if we want to observe the enemy, we must first understand how the enemy communicates with his army. During the Second World War there was a battle on a level that has received little mention in the history books, but it was still more important than all the other battles: the battle for the secret codes of the military. Those who were able to listen and decipher the communication codes of the enemy army gained an advantage. He knew not only the commands of the generals to their army, but he could also anticipate their movements and react accordingly.

In every war, the individual units have to communicate to coordinate themselves. This communication should be hidden to the particular enemy so that he is not able to decipher it even if a military message comes into his possession. And now even more cunning: in the case that the enemy would have intercepted a message, it would be best to make him believe that he would have deciphered the message correctly, while the real content of the message means something completely different and can only be deciphered correctly by the own army. Then the enemy would be lulled into a false security or take counter-measures with no effect.

Our enemy is Satan and his army is a satanic trinity, led by the pope, who operates especially through his secret societies: Illuminati, Opus Dei, Freemasons – these are all Jesuit foundations, the secret police of the Vatican. It is one and the same organization of the satanic powers, whose troops have just different names, and one and the same objective like all despots have: to win the sole dominion over the planet for their ruler, the devil. This army is even older than the sin fall, when mankind entered the war between good and evil. There have always been two classes of people, and that has nothing to do with racism but only with free-will choice: those who elect the Creator of the universe as their Lord, and those who submit themselves consciously or unconsciously to Satan. Jesus puts it this way:

He that is not with me is against me; and he that gathereth not with me scattereth abroad. (Matthew 12:30)

Some are children of God, and the other are children of Satan. It's that simple. When His children had fallen into the minority, so that they were almost exterminated, God destroyed by the flood the inhabitants of the earth who had submitted themselves to the dominion of Satan - except Noah and his family. But soon the seeds of evil won back their supremacy.

The new children of Satan decided to build a city with a tower that would be so high, that God would never be able to destroy it again with a flood. We all know the story of the Tower of Babel. God wanted his children to spread over the earth, live a modest life as shepherds and farmers, and thus have contact to His nature and raise their children away from a perverse world and satanic influences. They should bring the Gospel to all the world and proclaim the coming of Christ.

The gathering together in cities on the other hand, was always a means and a symbol of the rebellion of Satan.

Today we know very well the urge of the people to jam themselves in inhumane cities, in which the slums of the poor become rampant, and the seeds of evil flourishes. Only a few know that there is a secret society led by the Pope - the "Metropolitans" who want to finish this "tower" right now.

The Tower of Babel exists even in our modern times. One of these modern towers of Babel, which expressed the superiority of their creators and their independence from God, fell in 2001 with terrible loss of human life. But only to make room for an even higher tower, which has a frightening symbolism. Perhaps, I will dedicate a short article to "The Tower" for more details. Nothing has changed since Babel! It is still the same "god" who lays claim to world dominion, and this he now wants to establish in a final and decisive battle. He is aware that this will be a battle in which all would die if he wins. But his kingdom is not a kingdom of the living, for he is the "god" who has the key to the abyss, of hell and Hades, and his goal is the destruction of all humanity - for he is the "god of the dead". Nothing is more hateful to him than a rescued child of Jesus, who will live forever.

The successful execution of the plans for the Tower of Babel would have caused God to terminate mankind's history a long time ago. For human history ends when there is nobody left who could be saved by Jesus' blood. Everybody will have opted for either Jesus or Satan. But then the time had not come, for Jesus had to come first to suffer in our place His sacrificial death to pay the debt of sin. Therefore, God confused the languages of the builders of the tower, which of course were primarily bricklayers by profession. One morning one could not understand the other anymore and this led first to misunderstandings, then anger and despair and, ultimately, to blind panic. These masons or freemasons or "metropolitans" were scattered to all winds and the original plan of God was restored.

Probably some years, decades or centuries passed by, until the people had learned to talk to each other again. Now, they had to overcome language and communication barriers and this took a long time. But the old plan of Satan was anchored unbroken in his proud and arrogant character. Never again, should God succeed to confuse the languages so that Satan wouldn't be able to coordinate his army to build the symbol of his claim to power, the tallest tower on earth, which would reach to the heavens and proclaim his absolute rule over this planet and the eradication of the children of God.

Satan is the most deceitful created being in the universe. The Bible leaves no doubt. And he looks down amused on those who do not take him seriously, and believe that he does not exist, or that he is a mythical creature with goat legs. No, Satan is an angel, and equipped with all the power of an angel. Satan knew that he needed a new language to coordinate his military units for the last battle on earth. This language had to be a language that God could not confuse again. It had to be a language that was based not just on the spoken language. This language should work like a code, and as previously described, on two levels. One who would read the code should believe to have understood everything correctly and be lulled in a false sense of security. But the true meaning of the code would only be understood by Satan's initiates or enlightened (the Illuminati). And many should serve them who had been deceived by a false understanding of the code.

This master plan of Satan, a language that should not be based on spoken language, but on symbols that God would never be able to confuse, has been realized: The symbolic language of the builders of the Tower of Babel, the symbolic language of the bricklayers or masons or metropolitans. Now, it can be clearly understood why seemingly "harmless" symbols, in reality can have a completely different and truly frightening meaning, if you are able to decipher their true content.

We as Adventists have been especially blessed because one of our brothers has access to a particular book, THE Book of Freemasonry, which is indeed available online, but just not in its full and true version with all the symbols. I would like to recommend you to visit the website of Amazing Discoveries and watch the whole Total Onslaught series of Prof. Dr. Walter Veith. There is also a wonderful book written by Dr. Cathy Burns on the symbolism of Freemasonry, which was also the basis of my own research.

We know from the Bible prophecies of Daniel and Revelation, who is the enemy and it is the papacy and its affiliated organizations: the children of the harlot Babylon. So we must be very careful when the Vatican sends out "letters in symbolic language." These letters are, of course, not really simple "letters", but messages that can be viewed worldwide aimed at two groups of people:

- The initiates, who understand the real content to execute Satan's instructions and coordinate the final battle.
- The dupes, who misunderstand the message and should be lulled to sleep, so they can be destroyed.

There are several official Vatican news sources. The most obvious of these is the papal coat of arms, which is chosen by each newly elected pope. Other special occasions to spread such "letters", are official Vatican celebrations or special commemorative years, that are proclaimed by the Vatican. For these events, they develop special emblems, which have many symbols. Even official letters of the Pope are often decorated with emblems. Today, all humanity, through the media and especially the Internet, have access to these information sources. The information, as described above, is not in the text or the official statement that seems to explain the symbols (exoteric meaning), but in the internal or esoteric meaning of the symbols that only the "initiates" or those who have learned to read the secret code are able to understand.

In the article The Coat of Arms, I will explain what a monstrous message is included in the Coat of Arms of Pope Benedict XVI and the article The Year of Saul will show that the rule of Satan and the last days of human history have already begun.

The Coat of Arms of Benedict XVI

Benedict XVI

Written by John Scotram

In the article The Great Conflict, I explained that the builders of the Tower of Babel, who had been scattered by the confusion of tongues, developed their own symbolic language which God would never be able to use as a weapon against them. With this symbolic language, they intended to organize their forces and to encrypt their secret messages. A special feature of this language, which is solely based on symbols, is that it contains two messages: one for the non-initiated, who usually classify the messages as harmless, and one for the initiated, the Illuminati, Freemasons and members of other secret organizations of the Papacy, who are really able to decipher and correctly understand them.

The papal coat of arms which the popes choose after their election according to their own wishes is such a message. They show in it their policies and plans for their period of rule. A harmless message for the un-initiated to lull them into a false sense of security, and an occult message which is intended only for the "enlightened ones". The current pope, Benedict XVI, who served under John Paul II as his right hand (if not vice versa), was the head of the Department of Inquisition, of which the name has been changed to "Congregation of the Doctrine of the Faith" because "Inquisition" sounds too reminiscent of the persecution of the Christians and the Protestants during the prophetic period of the 1260 years of the Middle Ages from 538 to 1798. He surprised the whole world and his own supporters with a completely new type of papal coat of arms, which has never appeared in the history of the popes with coats of arms since Calixtus II in 1119 AD (and probably will not appear again).

Before I begin to analyze the occult contents of the coat of arms of Pope Benedict XVI, I want to state clearly that my church and I never attack people as individuals. God has His people in many churches, faithful Christians who would give everything for Jesus. But the intent is to make these people aware that the papacy and its plans, and the churches that take up the common cause with it to propagate the machinations of Satan, are playing a prominent role in the Book of Revelation. Christ calls His people one last time to leave this system of fraud before He reveals Himself.

Here it is, the papal coat of arms of Benedict XVI. And if you google, you will find some videos on YouTube or other sites where even some devout Catholics wonder why this Pope has chosen such an unusual coat of arms that is full of esoteric, occult symbols. But after some thorough investigation, it became clear to me that no one had discovered the completely true meaning of the symbols. All are missing a clear understanding of biblical prophecy, without which the decryption is not possible.

For we shall find particularly in the papal coat of arms and the logo for the Year of St. Paul, some symbols which are borrowed from the Bible and are used with incredible audacity, because this system of deception is very aware that the majority of Christians have too little biblical knowledge to map the symbols to the prophetic books and events of the Bible. Satan, in a certain sense, mocks the "average Christian", as he uses here not only symbols of Freemasonry, but direct biblical symbols.

Therefore, most people are groping in the dark who have ventured to decipher it. Although they suspect dark things and often indicate occult parts of the content correctly, they do not come to the right conclusions and leave us alone with our thoughts and ideas. They just cannot grasp the underlying picture and get bogged down in details.

When I saw this papal coat of arms in 2005 for the first time, I was able to easily decipher all the symbols because I have been interested in the biblical prophecies since an early age. My own biblical studies had revealed that this system was a fraud, and therefore I canceled my membership with the Catholic Church in 1984. In 2003, when I was baptized as Seventh-day Adventist, my own findings had been confirmed for the most part and were even enriched and expanded. The Seventh-day Adventist Church really has the "spirit of prophecy" and understands a big part of the biblical prophecies. This church had received the "little strength" from God (Rev 3:8) manifested in the "Spirit of Prophecy" of Ellen G. White. The Seventh-day Adventist Church is now the only Protestant Church that has never given up the understanding of the reformers, that the papacy is that fraudulent system, which is described in the Bible several times as the Antichrist, obscuring the biblical truths, changing the laws of God, and replacing them with the laws of Satan. The Seventh-day Adventists are the only ones who found an explanation for the "great disappointment of 1844" and therefore didn't have to jettison basic Protestant knowledge. Therefore, only they and the initiates themselves, would be able to interpret correctly these occult symbols with the help of the biblical prophecy.

To understand the symbols, you need to know one fundamental truth: The Biblical prophecy and the Vatican's prophecy at the end of the time run in parallel up to a certain climax, which is interpreted completely different by both systems. Jesus warns us insistently about the machinations of the enemy, the Antichrist, the great whore of Babylon, the mother of harlots, riding a beast and about a second beast that comes up from the earth (Revelation 13 and 17). But to understand all these warnings, you first have to unmask both the prostitute and the two or three (!) beasts of Revelation, and then you can start to investigate what these entities are doing now, how this is represented in the Bible, and what the consequences will be.

Anyone who no longer believes that the first beast of Revelation 13, the great whore of Babylon, and the little horn of Daniel, are the papacy, which already caused great harm on earth for 1260 years from 538 till 1798, is completely lost in the jungle of esoteric explanations with what is going on and what will happen in this world. He not only has no idea what the enemy intends, he does not even know who the enemy is! He will never know the true meaning of the coat of arms of this next to last pope, who despite his advanced age, wants to play a big role in establishing a totalitarian world ruler who will go to perdition along with the "New World Order" under his control at Christ's soon return.

The Bible tells us that before the second coming of Christ, there will be a falsified return of a false christ who will deceive the whole world. The Vatican's prophecy expects this false christ as "Petrus Romanus" (google for "Malachy"), and is erroneously interpreted as the second coming of Peter, the Apostle of Christ. Many expect this false last pope after Benedict XVI because of the prophecy of Malachy who predicted 111 popes, after which "Petrus Romanus" would come. Benedict is the 111th Pope. This is explained in detail on many websites. Note particularly the numerological representation of $1 + 1 + 1 = 3$. This figure indicates a Trinity, but in this case the counterfeit or satanic trinity that we will soon discover in his coat of arms.

According to the Bible, we shouldn't actually expect a "normal" Pope after Benedict XVI, much less a resurrected "Peter" (or John Paul II). Because the dead are sleeping as Scripture tells us.

And they are not in any twilight zone (purgatory) or already in Heaven or Hell. It is the mother of all lies of Satan, by which he had deceived Adam and Eve:

And the serpent said unto the woman, Ye shall not surely die: (Genesis 3:4)

All religions that believe in a continued existence of a "soul" after death are based clearly on this lie of Satan. In truth, we return to dust, from which we were taken. Only God has a complete register of our minds and experiences, and can make us rise again whenever He wants. In very simplified form, one can imagine it like the RAM and hard disk of a laptop. Switched on, the computer works (lives). Its brain, the memory, is loaded. In the inactive state, it is sleeping or resting until it is powered on again by its owner, and comes back to life. The PC itself has no consciousness (memory) while turned off (dead), but all its knowledge and its experience is saved on a hard disk (archive of God) and can always be reloaded again (resurrection). When the PC wakes up again, it lacks any memory of what happened during its "hibernation state".

In several places in the Bible, Jesus has revealed that there will be two resurrections. One at Jesus' second coming, for the righteous in Christ who accepted and kept His commandments. And a second, after a waiting period of 1,000 years, during which the earth with all the disobedient was destroyed at the coming of Christ and remained inhabited by only the devil and the demons who will be bound for this time, having to wait until Jesus' third coming. When Christ will come to earth for the third time after the 1,000 years, and with Him all the witnesses that have long since risen with Christ, the lost will be resurrected to receive their ultimate punishment ... the eternal death, the final termination of existence - in our previous example: shutdown and deletion of all data on the hard drive. Then the earth will be restored, and a new, perfect creation without the breath of death and sin, will be inhabited by the saved at the coming of Christ. The lie of Satan, and he himself and all his followers - whether human or demon - will cease to exist forever. A hell, in which God would endlessly torture the children of His creation, is just an invention of an apostate church that has no idea how wonderful the character of God is, who is Love. God would never torture His children forever, even if they would have decided against Him. He just gives them the choice whether they want to live forever, or if they prefer, to fall back in the state before their creation, into non-existence. This is because He could not ask us before our creation if we want to be created at all. This is our loving God who gives us the perfect choice.

So if at once we see a "Christ", a "resurrected Peter", a "resurrected John Paul II", or "Mary, Mother of all Nations" walking on the earth, and confirming that the biblical day of rest was changed to Sunday, against the statements of the Bible which describe it in the 4th Commandment of God as a sign between Him and His people, then we know that this is an impostor.

This fraud will appear just before the close of probation and deceive the whole world. Previously, great disasters will have visited the world, and the Sunday Law will have been proclaimed. Then Satan himself will appear in the form of an angel of light, as it was prophesied by the Apostle Paul (2 Cor 11:14), and promise to make everything whole again. This was also seen by Ellen White. I would not be surprised if this "angel of light" would enact a great spectacle directly at St. Peter's Square in Rome, and "land" there as "extra-terrestrial" intelligence with great pomp, and start to accomplish a great work of "salvation". Of course, the solemn proclamation that he himself would have changed the day of worship to Sunday will be made. The Pope will fall down at his feet and all the world will follow the beast. Later will come the plagues that even Satan cannot "heal" anymore.

But now, back to the papal coat of arms. What's so different about this papal coat of arms? Look at the list of all the papal coats of arms at Wikipedia. Click it! It's worth it! Do you notice something?

All papal coats of arms (except for the very first of Calixtus II, which was not a real coat of arms in this sense) have the following four basic components:

1. The tiara (triple crown of the popes)
2. The keys of "Peter"
3. The red cord that connects the keys
4. The shield with the symbols of each pope (an expression of his intentions and policies).

Mind you, all the papal coats of arms since 1198 have these ingredients! Now, Cardinal Ratzinger, a Bavarian (district of Germany), is elected Pope, a harmless gray-haired man, who probably will just govern a few more years, and even mentions this in his quite "modest" inaugural speech ... Suddenly everything changes all at once ... Those who believe that this Pope will stay in the shadow of John Paul II are terribly mistaken.

The Lost Tiara

First of all, it is striking that the tiara has vanished from the coat of arms and instead appears the miter. The three crowns adorning the tiara, which is also called Triregnum in Latin, have disappeared with it and make space for three modest bands of gold. The first question for an analyst of this coat of arms should be, why and where have all these three crowns gone?

If you believe the Vatican's explanatory text, suddenly Benedict XVI has become so modest that he doesn't want any longer those crowns! But, wasn't he always Ratzinger the ultraconservative, the prefect of the Congregation of the Doctrine of the Faith (Inquisition), who immediately called everything a heresy that did not correspond to the traditional beliefs of the Roman Church? And, shortly after the beginning of his reign, didn't he emphasize that the Roman Church alone is the mother church and that other Christian churches do not even have the right to call themselves churches, and thus he snubbed the entire evangelical world? Isn't this a clear claim to absolute power at least in the religious field? Therefore, wouldn't it make sense that he would have left the three crowns in place? For now, all we can do is wonder until we will research more deeply. Later, we will discover together who was crowned, and who will be crowned with these crowns that have apparently vanished.

One thing is clear: Ratzinger is a highly intelligent man, if not the most intelligent pope of all time. His studies, his titles and his life experience are unmatched. Even John Paul II would be unable to hold a candle to him. If Ratzinger does something, he does it because he knows exactly what he is doing. And, as we shall see, this is even the case here in the disappearance of the tiara.

New in the Coat of Arms: The Pallium

The second thing that catches the eye is that a new component was added to the coat of arms: the pallium, the white woolen stole with three Maltese crosses at the bottom of the shield that have recently changed their color from black to red. We will need to examine more closely what this pallium means. It is only worn by certain persons on special occasions. But it's very unusual that this appears for the first time in history on a papal coat of arms.

This is surely a most important message, for here just as before...Ratzinger does not do anything without knowing exactly what he is doing!

New Symbols: Moor, Bear and Shell

Now to the shield itself ... symbols never before used: a Moor crowned with a red crown, a bear with a pack bag or a saddle with a mysterious X on it. Although we know the shell from other coats of arms, the size is unique. Look again at all papal coats of arms. We repeatedly find the following symbols:

1. The eagle, which is, in the occult teaching, also known as phoenix and symbolizes the fallen Satan, that will resurrect from its ashes. (Reference to Satan's first lie about the immortality of the soul.)
2. The dragon, which of course also symbolizes Satan himself (Revelation 20:2)
3. The snake, eel or snake-like lines with stars, the ancient serpent, or the fallen angel
4. A winged lion; symbol of Babylon and world domination (see Daniel 7)
5. Towers or tower-like forms: The Tower of Babel or Freemasonry, also a symbol of the world domination to be achieved

And much more. It is obvious that it is mostly about the world domination of Satan. It is not just this Pope who is seeking world domination, but all popes since 1798 have been working towards this goal, because they want to recover their world-dominating supremacy of the prophetic 1260 years from 538 to 1798.

Can it be that this world government will be composed of three sub-powers and these three symbols provide us with an exact description of this triple power? Would this also explain where the three crowns have gone? In three articles I want to speak about "The Moor", "The Bear" and "The Shell".

As already indicated, the prophecies of God and Satan at the end of time are running in parallel. God predicted that a big fraud will deceive almost all people who are not vigilant. Now, let's take a critical look at the symbols on the emblem of the "blessed" Benedict XVI, taking into account the known Bible prophecies and the writings of the Spirit of Prophecy.

First, let's pursue the question of the missing tiara in the next article.

The Missing Tiara

Written by John Scotram

As the Papal Coat of Arms article showed, one of the unusual features of Benedict XVI's coat of arms is that the previously ever-present tiara was replaced by the plain miter, which has three "modest" gold bands instead of the three crowns. Even the absence of a thing can have important implications, as we shall soon see. If the tiara, which for centuries has illustrated the papacy's clear claim to power, suddenly disappears, we should be thinking about that a lot. The papacy's claim to power certainly has not disappeared.

Ellen White says this:

And let it be remembered, it is the boast of Rome that she never changes. The principles of Gregory VII and Innocent III are still the principles of the Roman Catholic Church. And had she but the power, she would put them in practice with as much vigor now as in past centuries. Protestants little know what they are doing when they propose to accept the aid of Rome in the work of Sunday exaltation. While they are bent upon the accomplishment of their purpose, Rome is aiming to re-establish her power, to recover her lost supremacy. Let the principle once be established in the United States that the church may employ or control the power of the state; that religious observances may be enforced by secular laws; in short, that the authority of church and state is to dominate the conscience, and the triumph of Rome in this country is assured.

God's word has given warning of the impending danger; let this be unheeded, and the Protestant world will learn what the purposes of Rome really are, only when it is too late to escape the snare. She is silently growing into power. Her doctrines are exerting their influence in legislative halls, in the churches, and in the hearts of men. She is piling up her lofty and massive structures in the secret recesses of which her former persecutions will be repeated. Stealthily and unsuspectedly she is strengthening her forces to further her own ends when the time shall come for her to strike. All that she desires is vantage ground, and this is already being given her. We shall soon see and shall feel what the purpose of the Roman element is. Whoever shall believe and obey the word of God will thereby incur reproach and persecution. {CC 581.1-2}

Let us first of all ask ourselves: what is the official or exoteric explanation for the tiara? Wikipedia answers our question as follows:

The three crowns symbolize the main duties of the papacy: to hallow, to direct and to teach which are the Sacred Orders, the Jurisdiction and the Magisterium, respectively. In another interpretation, they symbolize the divine Trinity. [translated from de.wikipedia.org]

First of all, we get two possible interpretations of the symbolism of the three crowns:

1. The duties of the Supreme Pontiff: Sacred Orders, Jurisdiction, Magisterium, and
2. The divine Trinity

Of course these are the interpretations for the uninitiated, but let's see what a Benedictine theologian, Dr. P. Bernard Sirch (Order of Saint Benedict), says about it on ZENIT, the Catholic on-line newspaper:

An official interpretation for the Triregnum we find first in the Roman Pontifical of the 16th Century, which is over 200 years after the introduction of the Triregnum. This formula is still valid today. The sub-prior of the cardinal deacons takes the miter from the head of the pope, and the prior of the cardinal deacons puts the tiara on the head of the pope with the words: "Receive the tiara adorned with three crowns and know that thou art (1) father of princes and kings, (2) the ruler of the world and (3) the vicar of our Saviour Jesus Christ on earth, to whom is honor and glory through all ages. Amen." In the following time it was not clear what the tiara with the three bands or crowns meant. It would certainly be wrong to interpret that the three crowns mean the pastoral ministry, magisterium and priesthood. (Source: ZENIT, The New Papal Coat of Arms Without the Tiara, the Symbol of Papal Power [translated])

First, notice that the initial interpretation as the Sacred Orders, Jurisdiction and Magisterium from Wikipedia is clearly false according to this Catholic theologian, and that there are many other possible interpretations. Please also notice the statement about the uncertainty of the interpretation, that "in the following time it was not clear what the real meaning of the tiara was." The still-valid coronation formula gives us another possible interpretation of the three crowns:

1. King (father) above all princes and kings of the world
2. King (ruler) of the earth
3. Vicar of Christ

Isn't this very close to the truth? We know well the title "Vicar of the Son of God" within Adventism. Expressed in Roman numerals, the title "Vicarius Filii Dei" is indeed the famous 666 of the Antichrist in Revelation 13:18, and thus points to Satan himself, or his human representative the pope.

Even the titles "King above all princes and kings of the world" and "Ruler of the earth" show the open and typical arrogance of all popes, and they are a clear admission to their claim for world domination, and not just politically "above all the princes and kings of the world" but also religiously as "ruler of the earth".

Dr. P. Bernard Sirch OSB gives us even more information:

Many possible interpretations occurred in the aftermath, probably including ones that the number 3 has inspired. In my dissertation on the tiara, I could give about 15 possible interpretations. Martin Luther, for example, interpreted the three crowns like this: "And that is why the pope with his three crowns is rightly called: A Caesar in the heavens, a Caesar on the earth, a Caesar under the earth. If God would have something more, then he would also be a Caesar beyond and would have to wear four crowns." When Luther says here: "If God would have something more", we have to understand that from the mid-14th century God the Father also wore the tiara in paintings. So Luther thought that because God wore the tiara, the pope bears it too as his representative on earth. (Source: ZENIT, The New Papal Coat of Arms Without the Tiara, the Symbol of Papal Power [translated])

On one hand, the clear indication of the different possibilities of interpretation is very interesting, but it is also interesting what our Reformation predecessor, Martin Luther, who was even a Roman Catholic monk, has to say about its significance:

1. Caesar in heaven
2. Caesar on earth
3. Caesar under the earth (hell)

So, what could it mean that the tiara is gone now? If these crowns were actually crowns of Christ, which the pope wears as His representative, then has Christ now been “decrowned”? And who was then crowned in His stead? But if these were never crowns of Christ—and this makes sense, because Christ is the God of the living and not of the dead or the underworld (third crown) and His Kingdom is not of this world (first and second crowns)—then these were always crowns that the pope or the papacy themselves arrogated. What is the true esoteric meaning of these three crowns?

One thing already seems to emerge clearly: we are talking about a universal claim to power, and we need to find an interpretation that represents this claim to power in three parts.

Let’s look for the answer on the Church of Rome’s own website: (Kath.de [translated]):

According to the constitution of the Catholic Church, the Pope has unrestricted primacy in all areas and unites in his person the three traditional branches of government: the legislative authority (to establish the law), judicial (to judge by the law) and the executive (to enforce the law). He is the supreme and final authority for all matters within the Catholic Church; in this sense, there is no one who could be his deputy.

The pope in the position of an absolute monarch, impersonates the three powers, the legislative, the executive and the judicial, in his person.

Some popes, like Urban VI, considered themselves solutus a lege or above the law. (see History of the Conclave)

Non-Roman churches have retained the description, e.g. the head of the (Egyptian) Copts. In history, the pope was competing with secular rulers as priest-king, priest-emperor (Caesaropapism).

Leo XIII was “Il Papa re” – the Pope King. Even today, he is an absolute monarch as the holder of the spiritual and secular power within the Roman Universal Church and the Vatican State. Throne and throne-seat (“eminence”) are seven levels elevated. Up to Paul VI, the outward sign was the tiara, the triple crown (regnum – kingship). He has an own household (famiglia pontificia – pontifical family whose members are the spiritual and secular dignitaries).

In the papacy, we are dealing with a power structure wherein a created being is over everything, and absolute power is granted him in all areas of political and religious life. To use a different word, this is called “fascism”. In the Roman Empire, a Caesar (Kaiser), normally controlled by the Senate, became Emperor or tyrant when the Senate gave him all three state powers: legislative, executive and judicial.

Strictly speaking, we are dealing with a fascist system in the Vatican “constitution” which can be traced back to the special form of government of the Roman Empire, when senate-controlled Caesars were in times of crisis made emperors who possessed political and religious omnipotence. Unfortunately, most of them developed into tyrants and were to be worshiped as gods, and that seems to clearly reflect Satan’s preferred leadership style: diversion of worship of the true God to his person and the persecution and oppression of all dissenters.

Let’s stay with this interpretation for a moment. If in the feet of the statue of Daniel 2 there is still iron which symbolizes the Roman Empire, then we expect to see exactly this form of government at Christ’s return: a world government based on the model of the Roman Empire. This form of government was preserved and archived in the Vatican “constitution”, over the centuries for the right moment. All five of the empires of Daniel’s statue have a single goal: total fascism, the achievement of world domination for Satan. All power is concentrated in the person or the representative of Satan, who in turn controls the senate and the three branches of government. You could also call this form of government an “oligarchic dictatorship,” if you allow me this liberty.

All this does not necessarily mean that world government has to be manifested by a human person, as it was the case with the papacy and the Roman emperor. Satan himself wants to rule! The pope was and is the representative of Satan himself, and the three crowns were reserved by him during the long centuries for the three powers of government. Once Satan would have obtained total dominion over the earth they would be used to crown his chosen state organs. So the pope serves as Satan’s governor for a predetermined time. Even Satan has to organize his world government through state organs, and the legislative, executive and judicial powers must also be manifested in his “global government” and his “New World Order”.

Therefore, we must look for these three branches in the symbols of the Moor, bear and shell, because the crowns have indeed disappeared and have apparently been reassigned. One can compare this with the fact that the Roman emperors returned the governmental powers to the individual state authorities, when the corresponding crisis had passed, which was often the case in Roman history. The true interpretation of the tasks of the Supreme Pontiff that we found in Wikipedia becomes clear: the Sacred Orders, Jurisdiction, and Magisterium are: legislative, judicial and executive authority over the entire planet.

Now, let us return to Luther for a moment. We had asked the question, what spiritual and religious claims does Satan make, which are for him undoubtedly of even greater importance than just to master this planet? Luther’s criticism in the text above also clearly shows the arrogance of the papacy, as he points out that God the Father Himself had only three crowns. Wait a minute: God the Father has three crowns? What could they mean, if hell does not exist? Couldn’t we rule out many false interpretations, if we understand that Satan wants to occupy the seat of God and usurp the crown of God the Father? What could three real divine crowns mean? And what blasphemous claim does Lucifer raise here?

How art thou fallen from heaven, O Lucifer, son of the morning! how art thou cut down to the ground, which didst weaken the nations! For thou hast said in thine heart, I will ascend into heaven, I will exalt my throne above the stars of God: I will sit also upon the mount of the congregation, in the sides of the north: I will ascend above the heights of the clouds; I will be like the most High. (Isaiah 14:12-14)

Satan claims to be like the Most High, God the Father. So he claims His three crowns. We have already asked: what could the three crowns of God symbolize? Since God is the Creator of the entire universe, and His dominion is universal and cannot be divided into three parts (hell does not exist as we know, and the earth is just one of a myriad of planets), the three crowns can be only a symbol of the Divine Council: God the Father, God the Son and God the Holy Spirit: three Persons of the Godhead, therefore three crowns.

Satan is a created being and therefore has only one Father, his Creator, and that is Jesus Christ. Satan has his biggest problem with especially this Creator Father. He denies his Father and Creator, and therefore he needs a new story of his creation. He will not admit in any wise that he is just a created being and thus fundamentally excluded from the possibility of being “like the Most High.” He wants to be worshiped like God with a triple crown, the triple crown of the Divine Council.

What do you suppose the creation story of Satan is? In almost all world religions since Babylon and the Tower of Babel up until today, we see sun worship. Whether it were the Babylonians, the Assyrians, the Egyptians, the Mayans or whomever, there was always a Luciferian creation story. In these religious systems, the father of the lightbearer Lucifer is always the sun, the mother is the moon, and the “son” is he himself. He is thus directly in the place of the Person of the Godhead whom he hates the most: Jesus Christ. So, it is a system in which one finds a father, a mother and a son. “Father, mother and son,” or “sun, moon and star” symbolize this false or satanic Trinitarian system. Will we find this symbolism in the papal coat of arms?

We are talking here about the satanic trinity. The Bible also reveals these three spiritual or religious powers which will rule at the end of time:

And I saw three unclean spirits like frogs come out of the mouth of the dragon, and out of the mouth of the beast, and out of the mouth of the false prophet. For they are the spirits of devils, working miracles, which go forth unto the kings of the earth and of the whole world, to gather them to the battle of that great day of God Almighty. (Revelation 16:13-14)

The “Spirit of Prophecy” which was given to the Adventist Church by God as manifested in Ellen G. White said:

Through the two great errors, the immortality of the soul and Sunday sacredness, Satan will bring the people under his deceptions. While the former lays the foundation of spiritualism, the latter creates a bond of sympathy with Rome. The Protestants of the United States will be foremost in stretching their hands across the gulf to grasp the hand of spiritualism; they will reach over the abyss to clasp hands with the Roman power; and under the influence of this threefold union, this country will follow in the steps of Rome in trampling on the rights of conscience. . . .

Papists, Protestants, and worldlings will alike accept the form of godliness without the power, and they will see in this union a grand movement for the conversion of the world and the ushering in of the long-expected millennium. {CC 588.1-3}

So there is a false religious trinity, the trinity of Satan, which is composed of three religious powers. If we bring the verses from Revelation 16:13-14 together with Ellen White’s statements, the picture becomes clear as to what these three spiritual powers are:

1. The dragon, or Satan himself, which Ellen White called spiritualism
2. The beast, the papacy, the Roman Catholic Church
3. The false prophet, the Protestants of the United States

We will have to examine carefully to see whether these religious powers are also reflected among the symbols of the pope’s coat of arms. The three branches of political government are reflected in three spiritual or religious structures. We must not forget what Paul said:

For we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places. (Ephesians 6:12)

Moreover, it would also be very interesting to see if we could show that the political and religious power structures that are represented in Revelation 13 and 17 as animals or beasts, and which are clearly to be the carriers of the state authorities, can be discerned in the papal coat of arms.

If this were so, we would have to find a symbol of the first beast of Revelation 13, which is—as we know, of course—the papacy. Likewise, a symbol of the United States should be found for the second beast of Revelation 13. If we would really come to the end of time, then there should also be a symbol of the scarlet-colored beast of Revelation 17 which is ridden by the great whore “Babylon,” the mother of harlots, which is the final empire of Satan to be destroyed by the nations themselves shortly before the return of Jesus.

What would it mean if we would find all of those animals in Pope Benedict XVI’s coat of arms? It would mean that his policies and plans are to build these power structures during his tenure. We read on a Catholic website that, at the instigation of Cardinal Ratzinger, the last two popes and he himself refused to be crowned with the tiara, after Pope Paul VI had given it to the world’s poor in 1964 at the end of the Second Vatican Council. The Second Vatican Council had made profound decisions. The wound that the papacy received in 1798 was about to heal, and preparations needed to be made for the coronation of the three world-dominating powers. This act of abdication by refusing the tiara in 1964 was a signal to the Masonic secret society of the papacy, but not the last “crowning” act. The three crowns were still reserved in the coat of arms, which should show the initiate that the crowning of Satan’s world government had entered a crucial stage of preparation during the tenure of the last three predecessors of Benedict XVI. Now with the current pope, the crowns have also disappeared from the papal coat of arms, meaning that certain official coronations would take place during his tenure, and the New World Order would be prepared.

This is not a trivial question if even Catholic theologians are still unclear which of the many possible interpretations of the tiara is the correct one, considering that the tiara has been in all papal coats of arms and that the popes before John Paul I were crowned with it. It is a mystery that even the high dignitaries of the Catholic Church try to solve and write doctoral dissertations about it until today. There was never an official statement from the Vatican publishing what the correct meaning is. So we should expect that Satan himself will choose the perfect moment to make a statement that reveals the true meaning of the crowns to all of his followers who have learned to understand the symbolism of the builders of the Tower of Babel. This time came in May 2005, when Benedict XVI chose his coat of arms. This coat of arms unveils who his global players will be and that Satan's takeover of the power will be prepared during his tenure. In another article, you will even learn the date of the seizure of power of a political World Government, which was already communicated in another symbolic “letter” of Satan published by the Vatican. So we will see more and more that time is running out to wake up and prepare for the impending crisis.

Now we will address the different symbols on the coat of arms, and we will always ask the same basic questions for each symbol:

1. Do we discover there one of the three branches of government: legislative, executive or judicial?
2. Can we identify one of the three beasts of Revelation 13 and 17?
3. Are we dealing with one of the three persons of the satanic trinity?
4. Is one of the three spiritual forces hidden in it that plays a role in the end-times according to Ellen White?

If you will please continue reading with the article The Moor of Freising, you will see that one crown has already been assigned during the brief tenure of Benedict. We will find the other two crowns also, but let’s go forward one step at a time...

The Moor of Freising

As we have seen, the three crowns of the tiara disappeared from the papal coat of arms with Benedict XVI, and it is obvious that three powers are to be crowned. Therefore, it is important to first understand who these three powers will be, which will soon begin to rule over the entire planet. Even the name "Benedict" was chosen by Ratzinger wittingly, because Benedict means "Blessed" and he knows that he will be "the blessed one" among the popes who will realize the last preparative steps for what all predecessors of him worked for:

The New World Order: the world government of Satan and the papacy as an instrument of this power.

First, let us analyze how this world government appears in the Bible. Animals or beasts in the Bible stand as symbols for ruling powers, mostly representing nations or political structures. In Daniel 7 we see 4 animals that symbolize the four great world powers of history: Babylon, Medo-Persia, Greece and finally Rome. The statue of the dream of Nebuchadnezzar in Daniel 2 further informs us that Rome, which is represented there as the metal "iron" in the legs, runs in parallel with the fourth beast "Rome". It continues as iron in the feet of the statue until the Second Coming of Christ. The iron, however, is mixed with clay in the feet of the statue, which shows that this power will be a political and religious power. Studies on this topic are general knowledge among Adventists. We also know that the key to understanding the book of Daniel is the book of Revelation. Both books go hand-in-hand.

Where do we find the feet of the statue of Daniel in Revelation?

In Chapter 17:

So he carried me away in the spirit into the wilderness: and I saw a woman sit upon a scarlet coloured beast, full of names of blasphemy, having seven heads and ten horns. (Revelation 17:3)

A woman in the prophetic books of Scripture always symbolizes a church, while a beast represents a ruling nation. In the above verse, we find a church that sits on a world-ruling power, and it rides or steers, which means that this church rules over this political power structure.

The woman symbolizes the great whore of Babylon, thus the Roman Catholic Church. Many believe that the first beast of Revelation 13 and the scarlet beast of Revelation 17 are one and the same animal, because both beasts have 7 heads and 10 horns. On the surface this might be true, but it does not hit the heart of the matter. There are differences as follows:

1. No color is specified for the first beast; the third beast is scarlet.
2. The horns of the first beast have 10 crowns, and no crowns are mentioned on the horns of the third.

Thus, it already becomes clear that it cannot be exactly the same beast as in Revelation 17.

In Revelation 17, we immediately find what the 10 horns mean:

And the ten horns which thou sawest are ten kings, which have received no kingdom as yet; but receive power as kings one hour with the beast. These have one mind, and shall give their power and strength unto the beast. (Revelation 17:12-13)

God is very accurate in His wording. The number 10 stands for a whole, for secular completeness. Horns symbolize a successor of an animal/nation. The horns grow out of the animal, so it's still the same beast, but the horns grow later after the birth of the animal until its maturity. This reminds us of Daniel 2 and 7. The last animal and the last metal symbolized the Roman Empire. Rome was divided into 10 nations (the 10 toes of the feet), but Rome continued to rule in a hidden form, covered with clay, the religious painting of the Roman Catholic Church, which exerts her influence over all nations and reigns secretly through Freemasonry, the Illuminati, Opus Dei, CFR, Bilderbergers, etc. Furthermore, the 10 nations that emerged after the collapse of the Roman Empire, these 10 horns or successors of the Roman Empire symbolize in Revelation the totality of all nations of the earth. Thus we see that all the nations of the world together will give their power at an appointed time to a new beast—a new supreme world government. This animal will be directed and controlled by the papacy. In the article The Year of Saul, I will show that there was done already a big step into this direction.

On the way to the final goal, the papacy will use the second beast of Revelation 13, the U.S. So in Revelation 13 and 17 we have to deal with a total of THREE beasts.

1. The first beast from the sea (Revelation 13): the papacy as a political power during the 1260 years until 1798
2. The second beast from the earth (Revelation 13): the U.S. as helper of the papacy since 1776
3. The third beast (Revelation 17): a supreme world government steered by the papacy from ??? on (see The Year of Saul)

As Adventists, we know that the second beast of Revelation 13, which comes from the earth, is the United States of America. It will very soon have made an image for the first beast—the papacy—through the Sunday Law in the U.S. This second beast—the U.S.—is symbolized by two horns.

And I beheld another beast coming up out of the earth; and he had two horns like a lamb, and he spake as a dragon. (Revelation 13:11)

Let's listen to what the Spirit of Prophecy tells us:

"I beheld another beast coming up out of the earth; and he had two horns like a lamb." Verse 11. Both the appearance of this beast and the manner of its rise indicate that the nation which it represents is unlike those presented under the preceding symbols. The great kingdoms that have ruled the world were presented to the prophet Daniel as beasts of prey, rising when "the four winds of the heaven strove upon the great sea." Daniel 7:2. In Revelation 17 an angel explained that waters represent "peoples, and multitudes, and nations, and tongues." Revelation 17:15. Winds are a symbol of strife. The four winds of heaven striving upon the great sea represent the terrible scenes of conquest and revolution by which kingdoms have attained to power.

But the beast with lamblike horns was seen "coming up out of the earth." Instead of overthrowing other powers to establish itself, the nation thus represented must arise in territory previously unoccupied and grow up gradually and peacefully. It could not, then, arise among the crowded and struggling nationalities of the Old World—that turbulent sea of "peoples, and multitudes, and nations, and tongues." It must be sought in the Western Continent.

What nation of the New World was in 1798 rising into power, giving promise of strength and greatness, and attracting the attention of the world? The application of the symbol admits of no question. One nation, and only one, meets the specifications of this prophecy; it points unmistakably to the United States of America. Again and again the thought, almost the exact words, of the sacred writer has been unconsciously employed by the orator and the historian in describing the rise and growth of this nation. The beast was seen "coming up out of the earth;" and, according to the translators, the word here rendered “coming up” literally signifies “to grow or spring up as a plant.” And, as we have seen, the nation must arise in territory previously unoccupied. A prominent writer, describing the rise of the United States, speaks of “the mystery of her coming forth from vacancy,” and says: “Like a silent seed we grew into empire.”—G. A. Townsend, The New World Compared With the Old, page 462. A European journal in 1850 spoke of the United States as a wonderful empire, which was “emerging,” and “amid the silence of the earth daily adding to its power and pride.”—The Dublin Nation. Edward Everett, in an oration on the Pilgrim founders of this nation, said: “Did they look for a retired spot, inoffensive for its obscurity, and safe in its remoteness, where the little church of Leyden might enjoy the freedom of conscience? Behold the mighty regions over which, in peaceful conquest, ... they have borne the banners of the cross!”—Speech delivered at Plymouth, Massachusetts, Dec. 22, 1824, page 11.

“And he had two horns like a lamb.” The lamblike horns indicate youth, innocence, and gentleness, fitly representing the character of the United States when presented to the prophet as “coming up” in 1798. Among the Christian exiles who first fled to America and sought an asylum from royal oppression and priestly intolerance were many who determined to establish a government upon the broad foundation of civil and religious liberty. Their views found place in the Declaration of Independence, which sets forth the great truth that “all men are created equal” and endowed with the inalienable right to “life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness.” And the Constitution guarantees to the people the right of self-government, providing that representatives elected by the popular vote shall enact and administer the laws. Freedom of religious faith was also granted, every man being permitted to worship God according to the dictates of his conscience. Republicanism and Protestantism became the fundamental principles of the nation. These principles are the secret of its power and prosperity. The oppressed and downtrodden throughout Christendom have turned to this land with interest and hope. Millions have sought its shores, and the United States has risen to a place among the most powerful nations of the earth.

But the beast with lamblike horns “spake as a dragon. And he exerciseth all the power of the first beast before him, and causeth the earth and them which dwell therein to worship the first beast, whose deadly wound was healed; ... saying to them that dwell on the earth, that they should make an image to the beast, which had the wound by a sword, and did live.” Revelation 13:11-14.

The lamblike horns and dragon voice of the symbol point to a striking contradiction between the professions and the practice of the nation thus represented. The “speaking” of the nation is the action of its legislative and judicial authorities. By such action it will give the lie to those liberal and peaceful principles which it has put forth as the foundation of its policy. The prediction that it will speak “as a dragon” and exercise “all the power of the first beast” plainly foretells a development of the spirit of intolerance and persecution that was manifested by the nations represented by the dragon and the leopardlike beast. And the statement that the beast with two horns “causeth the earth and them which dwell therein to worship the first beast” indicates that the authority of this nation is to be exercised in enforcing some observance which shall be an act of homage to the papacy. {GC 439.3-442.1}

This will be done through the introduction of Sunday Laws, as we all know. Now let us return to the papal coat of arms. With the knowledge that crowns are to be distributed, and that one of them surely will be given to the U.S., we start to examine the first symbol in the papal coat of arms, which is already wearing a crown.

In the left corner of the pope's coat of arms we find a crowned Moor's head, which the Vatican calls the "Moor of Freising." The exoteric explanation for the uninitiated is that this is the symbol of the town of Freising where Ratzinger was archbishop beginning in 1977 (the Archdiocese of Munich-Freising). Well, Freising is a tiny town in the outskirts of Munich and pretty—but what, please, does Freising have to do with the world-politics of a pope? Is it really possible that the "iron" Ratzinger now standing at the top of the Catholic power, suddenly would have turned sentimental? Or is there a totally different meaning behind the Moor's head?

Let's look at the details. First, notice that the Moor is wearing a red crown. If you read The Missing Tiara attentively, you will already clearly recognize that this crowned power in the coat of arms must be a very important symbol. Now we need to do some painstaking detective work to find out what power is behind this symbol.

A red crown doesn't exist in reality, since crowns are usually made of gold. We also see that the Moor even has a decorative red collar. Freemasonry is totally fascinated by the old Egyptian gods. We find their lodges strewn with Egyptian and Coptic symbols, and it's not difficult to find an ancient Egyptian god who wears a red crown and a red collar. We know that the Egyptians were sun worshipers, and sun worship has its roots in Babylon. It is not really important what the god is called, whether it is Ra, Baal, or whatever. Sun worship is condemned in the Bible as an abomination to the true God, and it is ultimately the worship of Satan, or Lucifer, who are again one and the same person. For them, Lucifer is the light bearer, the highest angel who was created by God. He is also often illustrated as a person (usually female) who carries a torch. The most famous depiction of the torch-bearer, Lucifer, is the landmark of the United States, the Statue of Liberty in New York. Note that this statue was a gift of the French government to the U.S. and the foundation stone was laid with a Masonic ceremony on the 5th of August 1885. The statue itself and its base are full of downright satanic, mystic and Masonic symbols. There is also no doubt that the Statue of Liberty does not stand for the freedom of the people but is a reminder of the French Revolution, the liberation of the people from their "dependence" on God!

How do I come to the conclusion that the red crown and the red collar of the Moor's head in the papal coat of arms is pointing to the Statue of Liberty? Please read the following quote from the book "The Complete Golden Dawn System of Magic" (Vol. 8), which can be downloaded via the following link: Golden Dawn.

In the chapter titled "The Egyptian God-Forms of the Neophyte Grade", we find a description of a very special goddess:

Dadouchos: Thaum-Aesch-Niaeth. "Perfection through Fire manifesting on Earth." "Goddess of the Scales of the Balance at the White Pillar."

Thaum-aesch is mainly in red. Her face and body are natural. She wears a red Crown of the South, flanked by two feathers in green barred black, over a vulture head-dress in red and green. Her collar is red and green and she carries a green Ankh and a Lotus Wand with a red flower and a green stem. Her simple red tunic reaches to the feet and she stands on black. (p. 63)

Of course we don't see the body in the representation of the Moor's head, but almost all of these features are consistent with this "goddess of Ancient Egypt", which plays a special role in magic and Freemasonry:

1. Natural face: That is, it is really a black man who is shown here.
2. Red crown of the south: red crown of the Moor's head
3. Red collar: red collar of the Moor's head

Just Google for it, and you will find it difficult to get another explanation where almost all the features match.

The goddess has two names, the ancient Egyptian name Thaum-Aesch-Niaeth and the GREEK name Dadouchos which according to Wikipedia means:

Dadouchos, Greek for torch-bearer

...is an epithet of Artemis, and notably of Demeter seeking her lost daughter (Persephone) with a torch. It was also the title of the second priest (ranking after the Hierophant) at the Eleusinian Mysteries, an office inherited in several families of Athens.

Lucifer, the light bearer, or in more precise words: The torch-bearer! The Statue of Liberty holding a torch is "the goddess of liberty" and none other than Dadouchos or Thaum-Aesch-Niaeth.

It's particularly striking that this goddess has a special title: "Perfection through Fire manifesting on Earth." In the Bible, we find a very special note about what the second beast of Revelation 13, the United States of America, will do:

And I beheld another beast coming up out of the earth; and he had two horns like a lamb, and he spake as a dragon. And he exerciseth all the power of the first beast before him, and causeth the earth and them which dwell therein to worship the first beast, whose deadly wound was healed. And he doeth great wonders, so that he maketh fire come down from heaven on the earth in the sight of men, (Revelation 13:11-13)

And then: what does the golden earring mean? This is clearly a creole earring, like what magicians, witches and especially sun-worshippers wear. The torus is an ancient geometric shape that symbolizes the power of the sun. Since we are now "initiates," we understand that the old Babylonian/Egyptian religion of sun worship is in Catholicism. Now we understand the whole meaning of the Moor's head, which has little to do with Freising: it is about the United States of America and its new president, who would be elected or chosen during the tenure of Benedict XVI.

In 2007, when I discovered the list of the U.S. presidential candidates on the Internet and realized that back then the chances were slim that the U.S. would elect their first black president, it was immediately clear to me who the "Moor of Freising" actually was: Barack Hussein Obama. Approximately one year before the presidential election, I could almost certainly "prophecy" from the papal coat of arms who would win the election.

At the beginning of his tenure in 2005, Benedict told all of his insiders through his coat of arms that part of his policy was to achieve the crowning of a black president in the U.S. who would be HIS MAN. He communicated to all of his troops, which are distributed over the whole world, that they had to do everything they could to support Obama and to make him the President of the United States, because he was the "chosen one" of the pope. There is no question that the first goal of Benedict's tenure (the first symbol on the coat of arms) has already been reached. Yes, my "prophecy" came true, although I am not a prophet but just able to read Babylonian messages!

Have you ever noticed that the whole world was prepared for a black president in the U.S. through Hollywood, which is clearly controlled by Satan? Just watch the movies of the past 10 years. More and more, we have disaster movies with a black president, under whom the world is of course barely saved! And it's very interesting that in almost all "comedies" that have anything to do with God, and where "God" himself appears... it's a black man who personifies God: a black man wearing a super-white suit. These are subliminal messages that were infiltrating our brains and opening us to the possibility that there could once be elected a black president in the United States, and furthermore, that we could mentally relate the president of the United States with God. This really reaches the level of blasphemy. At this point I want to be very clear: I am not racist and would never defame black people in any way. It is quite clear that they are our equals, but racism is still prevalent in the U.S., and those people had to be prepared to accept a black man as President. Despite all the campaigning that was mainly driven by the Masonic lodges and thus financed by the Vatican, the citizens themselves still had to cast their votes. Hollywood managed to make them do that through its hypnotic, subliminal messages. Things are getting interesting as we start to look behind enemy lines, aren't they?

Now the question arises: "why did it have to be a black man?"

Since this Moor is intended to represent the new president of the United States, Obama, then we don't have to look far to find out what the red crown symbolizes. Obama supposedly received an Islamic education and the power of Islam is symbolized by a special cap, the fez. According to Kemet.de - Fese: "At the same time, fezzes are a symbol of Islam today." [translated]

Those who are familiar with Walter Veith's videos, especially the DVD about the connection of the papacy with Islam, and know that Islam is another deception of Rome, and that Islam was even founded by Jesuits to eradicate Sabbath-keeping Christians in the Middle and Near East and in North Africa, can understand why Obama wears this red crown, a fez. But the symbolism even goes one level deeper, like the pyramids, which consist of levels like the grades or degrees of the secret societies. Each level represents a deeper understanding and a new level of interpretation for a symbol.

The "rumors" about Obama are interesting. He supposedly received an Islamic education before he became a Catholic. He is supposedly also part of the Illuminati. I think both are true. He is the Pope's and the supreme Masonic lodge's chosen man. This is all the less surprising if you know that almost all U.S. presidents were Freemasons and members of the Skull & Bones lodge, which is connected to the Illuminati again. Hundreds of websites report it. This is how the papacy ruled while in hiding since 1798; through the secret societies. Take a look at the one-dollar bill and its symbolism on the web. The Illuminati's detailed plan to achieve the "New World Order" through the destruction of the United States in 13 steps is recorded there. Please also read my article The Year of Saul. Evil follows a precisely pre-determined schedule, and the year 2010 plays an outstanding role. Things are heating up.

This is about the new President of the United States, Barack Hussein Obama, who will soon fulfill the prophecies of Daniel 11 and Revelation. He will start a war with the "king of the south", because he already has "the red crown of the south," and in that war he will make "fire come down from heaven on the earth" and much more. Freemasonry planned three world wars in order to manifest their world domination. Two have already taken place, and the third will be a religious war, Christianity against Islam. In my opinion, this war began in 2001 when the United States declared war against terrorists all over the world after the attack on the World Trade Center. This war on terror is directed in a clear front line against the followers of Islam, but it will be a very different kind of war than we're used to. It will be a war that leads the Islamic religion to merge and be united with its "mother church" and thus cause its end.

When Obama became president, he made special efforts to be considered a ruler of peace. Google what Obama has done since 2008 for the growth and recognition of Islam in the United States. The amount of material is so overwhelming that I cannot repeat it here, but it looks as if Obama is leading a campaign against "fundamentalist" Christianity, and his favorite is Islam which again is nothing but Catholic spiritualism and the worship of the dead or saints.

This "lamb" Obama, who has been praised during his election campaign as the "messiah" who "will save the world," and as "peace preacher," who has even been honored with the Nobel Peace Prize, will soon begin to speak like a dragon. He will use his "red" (powerful) tongue to proclaim a National Sunday Law in the U.S. so that the religious freedom (Protestantism) of this nation will be the first to fall. Soon after it the "lamb's" second horn of republicanism and democracy will also fall to make room for despotism.

It will be of great advantage that he is black, because the people in the Arab and African countries are also dark-skinned and if Catholicism and Islam are to unite, then Obama is the best promoter imaginable. He was wittily selected to unite the nations politically, but also to unite the religions. Only Satan and his representative on earth, Benedict XVI, have this kind of cleverness.

Let's go briefly to the issues raised in the previous chapter...

1. In this symbol of the papal coat of arms, do we discover one of the three branches of government: legislative, executive or judicial?

Yes, clearly the executive. Without a doubt, the United States is the biggest militarily powerful nation on Earth with a huge amount of arms. The executive role, the power that exercises the laws of the State, is perfectly represented by the United States.

2. Can we identify one of the three beasts of Revelation 13 and 17?

We have clearly identified the United States with Ellen White as the second beast of Revelation 13, and now we found this "beast" in the papal coat of arms too.

3. Are we dealing with one of the three persons of the satanic trinity?

The god who makes fire come down from heaven is the father god in all of the religions that originated from Babylon... Zeus, Thor, Ra, etc., the God who punishes and represents the executive branch. He is also the sun itself which "gives light". We have seen that it is represented as Thaum-Aesch-Niaeth. The connection to the sun is evident. The sun is one of the three persons of the satanic trinity: the "father" of Satan.

4. Is one of the three spiritual forces hidden in it that plays a role in the end-times according to Ellen White?

Again, an emphatic yes! Ellen White tells us that the U.S. represents apostate Protestantism, and thus the "Moor of Freising" is exposed as one of these spiritual powers.

Let's read on where the second crown will go or has already gone, because there is another animal in the coat of arms... a Bear.

St. Corbinian's Bear

After looking at The Moor of Freising, the second symbol of the papal coat of arms is in the upper right corner and should likewise represent the second political objective of Benedict. We find there a bear with a pack or a saddle.

Of course, the message for the uninitiated sounds harmless. Again, it is about Ratzinger's sentimentality, another landmark of Freising: "St. Corbinian's Bear".

The Vatican's explanation of the meaning of the bear is as follows:

"A brown bear, in natural color, is portrayed in the sinister (left) corner of the shield, with a packsaddle on its back. An ancient tradition tells that the first Bishop of Freising, St. Corbinian (born c. 680 in Châtres, France; died September 8, 730), set out for Rome on horseback. While riding through a forest he was attacked by a bear that tore his horse to pieces. Corbinian not only managed to tame the bear but also to make it carry his baggage to Rome. This explains why the bear is shown carrying a pack. A simple interpretation: the bear tamed by God's grace is the Bishop of Freising himself; the packsaddle is the burden of his Episcopate."

The whole explanation for the "uninitiated" is at Coat of Arms of His Holiness Benedict XVI for anyone who wants to read about it. Please note how they emphasize with remarkable honesty that there are several levels of interpretation for the bear: "A simple interpretation: the bear tamed by God's grace is the Bishop of Freising himself; the pack saddle is the burden of his Episcopate." What, then, is the not-so-simple interpretation? In any case, this opens the possibility to think about who is being tamed and what this bear really carries. Thank you, dear Vatican, for this honest tip!

So let's go one level deeper in the interpretation. Again we are looking for a "god" in ancient Babylon or Babylon-inspired religions, because as we know, the papacy is the representative of the ancient pagan religions. We find bear gods very quickly when we search in Google. But more remarkable is that they have to do with the oldest of all known religions.

On Wikipedia - bear cult [German], we read:

A bear cult refers to religious rituals of hunters, where bears play a special role. The Bear Festival (Iyomante Matsuri) of the Ainu in Hokkaido (Japan) is one of the most significant and well-known. The term also describes a popular theory of religious scholars of the 20th century like Mircea Eliade and Joseph Campbell, according to which so-called early humans (members of the now-extinct species of the genus Homo) practiced hunting magic and participated in a bear cult. [translated]

"Hunting magic", here at least, should perk our ears because there is a goddess of the hunt and fertility, which plays a major role in the Bible: Artemis is her Greek name and her Roman name is recorded in Chapter 19 of the Acts of the Apostles: Diana. The apostle Paul had major problems with her followers especially in Ephesus, where we find the largest Diana or Artemis temple of the ancient world. It was even counted among the famous Seven Wonders of the Ancient World!

Let's continue to read from Wikipedia:

In Greek mythology, the bear is an attribute of several deities, especially of Artemis, goddess of the hunt. According to mystic lore, the temple of Artemis of Brauronia (today Vraona, near Athens) was established to atone for the killing of a bear that had devoured a child. From the 6th century until the Hellenistic period, they held celebrations in the springtime according to a five-year cycle in honor of Artemis, which closed with the sacrifice of a female bear. Young girls, who were brought up in the temple of Artemis, were called Arktoi: "female bear cubs".

Let us clarify some things about the Temple of Artemis, where there was an uprising of the Diana (Artemis) followers because of Paul. We find more details on World Wonder Online - Temple of Artemis at Ephesus [German]:

Ephesus (Greek Ephesos) was one of the largest and most important cities in Greek and Roman antiquity, and is located in what is now Turkey, about 70 kilometers south of Izmir. In ancient times, Ephesus was a port city of the Mediterranean Sea. Today, we find the city several kilometers inland due to tectonic movements. There are artifacts that were discovered at the Temple of Artemis that date back to over a thousand years before the great heyday of Ephesus (600 B.C. to 400 A.D.). It can be demonstrated that religious ceremonies and smaller temples existed since about 800 B.C. at the site of the later big temple buildings. The worship of the goddess Artemis in Ephesus was triggered by an image of the goddess which supposedly fell from heaven. Artemis was a daughter of Zeus and one of the twelve highest deities in Greek mythology and was goddess of the hunt, the moon, and the guardian of women and children. In the ruins of the Temple of Artemis, they found three statues of her with strange rounded things on her stomach (see picture). Because it is not clear what these round things represent and there are no existing traditions, there are various speculations that they are anything from bull testicles, to eggs, to fruits. However, they all lead to the same conclusion that Artemis was worshiped as a fertility goddess in Ephesus. This appearance of Artemis earned her another name: "the many-breasted one."

Let's continue reading at Good News: The Last Journeys of Paul [German]:

William Barclay writes of the Temple of Diana: "It was 130 meters long, 70 meters wide and 18 meters high. It contained 127 pillars, each a gift from a king. They were all made of polished marble and 36 of them were gilded and wonderfully decorated. The great altar was made by Praxiteles, the greatest sculptor of Greece. The image of Diana was not pretty. It was a squat, black, multi-breasted figure that symbolized fertility. It was so old that no one knew where it came from, or even the material from which it was made. According to the legend, it fell from "heaven" (Daily Study Bible, 1975, commentary on Acts 19:1-7).

The Expositor's Bible Commentary adds: "Thousands of pilgrims and tourists visited it [the temple] from near and far. A swarm of artisans and merchants had settled around it, earning their livelihood from lodging and the sale of food, offerings and souvenirs. ..."

Doesn't this sound very familiar? Are the pilgrimage destinations of the Roman Church any different today? The text continues:

"...The Temple of Artemis [Diana] was also an important treasure house and a bank of the ancient world, where salesmen, kings and even cities put their money in safe-keeping, since it was under the protection of the deity" (Richard Longenecker, vol. 9, 1981, p. 503).

It is very interesting to learn that the first ancient banking system was there too. Why not make the temple into a bank? The Vatican is the world's largest bank, and the pope today also controls the world finances through the Bilderberg group.

All of this goes against true Christian values. Back then already:

It's not surprising that in Ephesus there was prosperous trading of little statues of Diana and her temple. In this environment, the apostle Paul fearlessly called for people to keep the second commandment and to refrain from worshipping religious effigies. In a commentary on verses 24 and 27. A.T. Robinson explained: "These small models of the temple with a statue of Artemis [Diana] inside were placed in homes or as amulets worn on the body ... temples of Artemis [Diana] has been found in Spain and Gaul [France]" (Word Pictures of the New Testament, 1995). Across Europe, archaeologists have discovered statues of the many-breasted goddess Diana (or Artemis, as she was called by the Romans). In 1996, an impressive statue of Diana at Ephesus was discovered. It is now on display in a prominent place in the museum there. Ironically, the cult of Diana gradually died, but another cult filled the gap in Ephesus. "Christianity," writes the historian Marina Warner, "seized her [Diana], and added to her characteristics such typical female Christian virtues as modesty and shame (Alone of All Her Sex, 1976, p. 47)". "Diana," continues Warner, "was associated with the moon ... [and] is identified as the Virgin Mary with the influence of the moon and the stars, and with the power of fertility and procreation" (page 224).

And of all things, where was Mary-worship officially introduced? We read it also in this text:

At the Council of Ephesus in 431 AD, the veneration of Mary was made an official part of the State Church of Rome. Warner writes about Diana: "Memories of her relic, the belt, survived in the city [Ephesus], where the Virgin Mary was proclaimed as Theotokos [Mother of God], three hundred and fifty years later, silversmiths lived by making statues of Diana and rebelled against the doctrine of Paul, 'saying Great is Diana of the Ephesians' (Acts 19:23-40). Therefore, there could be a continuation ... of Diana to the Virgin, for a legend also says that Mary ascended to heaven from Ephesus" (ibid. page 280).

Now we understand that Benedict XVI used the bear as a symbol of Artemis or Diana and the resulting Marian devotion, for the worship of Mary was also part of John Paul II's policy and he had promised to continue or even to complete it.

But to get to the heart of the matter, we must dig deeper. It is not the goddess herself that is shown here, but an animal carrying a piece of luggage or a saddle! Why does a bear stand for the goddess of the hunt? Isn't the bear the animal that is killed by a hunter? How can the prey represent the hunter himself? Or is this even intentional?

Let's dig a little deeper on The Black Net: Artemis [German]:

ARTEMIS

A Greek goddess of the moon, fertility, and the hunt, which gives and takes life. She corresponds to the Roman Diana.

As the daughter of Zeus and Leto (Hesiod, Theogony, 918), Artemis is one of the twelve Olympian deities, Olympioi. Her twin brother is Apollo.

Artemis is represented as a goddess with many breasts: her attributes are a bow and arrow. Virgin nymphs are accompanying her. To the Greeks, she was the unreachable eternal virgin goddess and passionate hunter and as Potnia Theron, Lady over the animals. She is even shown with cats. Artemis was also a protector of girls until they reached marriageable age. Her sacred plant is mugwort or wormwood, Latin Artemisia. The cypress is also a symbol of Artemis (Biedermann, 507).

Her sacred plant is the WORMWOOD! Where do we find that in the Bible?

And the third angel sounded, and there fell a great star from heaven, burning as it were a lamp, and it fell upon the third part of the rivers, and upon the fountains of waters; And the name of the star is called Wormwood: and the third part of the waters became wormwood; and many men died of the waters, because they were made bitter. (Revelation 8:10-11)

We know that this star, which is called Wormwood (bitterness), is none other than Satan himself. He is the fallen morning star, which transforms the "rivers and fountains of waters", the pure Gospel and salvation through Christ, through his poison into death. So, Diana again stands for Satan and his false teachings.

Readers who already know the Orion message and the clock of God will discover a parallel here, because Artemis, like Orion, which stands for Christ is depicted with a bow and arrow. This indicates that she was a counterfeit of Him.

Let's continue reading:

With her brother Apollo, which Artemis helped her mother Leto to birth just after her own birth, she killed the children of Niobe when she ridiculed her mother (24.602ff Homer, Iliad.).

She killed Orion with an arrow, and sent a scorpion to him, because Orion wanted to hunt all wild animals.

Artemis KILLED Orion and sent a scorpion after him, because he wanted to hunt all wild animals instead of her. What is this about? It is about the great conflict between good and evil. The "wild animals" are we humans. We will either be "fall prey" to Jesus (Orion) or to Satan (Artemis). Artemis was so angry at Orion (Jesus) that she killed him with an arrow: the death of Christ on the cross. Then, why did she send a scorpion after him with a stinger when he had already been killed by the arrow? It is because Orion was resurrected and his people, the remnant, are still alive. The scorpion is precisely the last persecution that still awaits us. Benedict wants to prepare his followers for that, and has encoded his political agenda in his coat of arms. We also find scorpions in the Bible, specifically in the fifth trumpet. The only people who have protection against these scorpions are those who have God's seal, the Sabbath, on their foreheads.

The same website gives us yet another piece of information:

The angry Artemis killed one of her nymphs, Callisto, because she broke her vow of chastity when Zeus approached her in the form of a bear. Callisto was transferred to the heavens as the constellation Ursa Major.

Wait a minute! Now Artemis is not the bear herself, but one of her nymphs! This is important! What are nymphs? We can find this on the same site (The Black Net: Nymphs [German]):

NYMPHS

(Greek for "young woman", "bride") In Greek mythology, these are the many female supporting deities, especially of the watery elements.

Nymphs are personifications of life and the open country. Many of them are counted as the daughters of Zeus; others came into existence with the Erinyes and the Giants through the blood of Uranus which was spilled onto the earth, Gaia, after he was castrated by Cronos. These Nymphs are also called Meliae.

The Tritones, Satyroi or Silenoi like to stalk the Nymphs who are themselves companions of the gods and were often their nurses. ...

The Nymphs can be equally good or bad and savage to the people. With a very beautiful appearance and fragrance, the Nymphs flaunt their seductive charms, but do not satisfy the awakened desire.

So, the Nymphs are helpers of the gods, but not gods themselves. They can be mean and wild and use their seductive charms, without fulfilling their promises. They represent the watery element. Is this also in the Bible?

And when the dragon saw that he was cast unto the earth, he persecuted the woman which brought forth the man child. And to the woman were given two wings of a great eagle, that she might fly into the wilderness, into her place, where she is nourished for a time, and times, and half a time, from the face of the serpent. And the serpent cast out of his mouth water as a flood after the woman, that he might cause her to be carried away of the flood. (Revelation 12:13-15)

We know that the hordes of the papacy are represented by this "water as a flood" with which he tried to destroy the Protestant reformers during the 1260 years of papal supremacy over Europe. However, they saved themselves by fleeing to the New World, which today is the United States. The water here represents the persecutors of true believers, and here we find the true meaning of the Nymphs and the bear. These are the human hordes that will soon hunt the true remnant to put them to death.

Anyone who is not entirely convinced yet can dig even deeper. Regarding the Roman counterpart of Artemis, Diana, we find further clues in The Black Net: Diana [German]:

DIANA

(Lat. divina "the shining" or of Dea and Jana, "moon goddess")

The virgin goddess of the light, especially the moon light for the Romans. She is the goddess of the open country, fertility, the beasts and the hunt, protecting goddess of women and birth and also goddess of covenants for the Latins. Her cult was spread all over the then-known world. She corresponds in many respects to the Egyptian Isis, which was worshipped almost everywhere like she. She was called Artemis by the Greeks. Under „Artemis“ you find more hints about the Mythology of this goddess, and also several alternate names.

Diana was worshiped in many places in Italy. Important temples were located on the mountain Tiafa near Capua and in a grove near the lake at Aricia. This crater lake is called the "Mirror of Diana." There, the goddess is nicknamed Nemorensis. The priest was a runaway slave who had killed his predecessor. He was in turn killed by a slave too, who then took his place. Offerings were, for example, small statuettes of a mother and child or vulva votive gifts because Diana is foremost a goddess of women.

Her feast on the 13th of August was celebrated as the feast day of the slaves (according to BELLINGER, 116).

Early on, Diana was identified with Luna, then also with the Greek Artemis.

Ovid calls her Trivia ("the one who's praised three ways" Metam. II, 416), which is actually the nickname of Hecate, because Diana the moon goddess shares the reign of the night with her. Ovid further calls her Titania because of her apparent relation to Hyperion (Metam. III, 173). Shakespeare also mentions her as the fairy queen by this name in his "Midsummer Night's Dream".

As virgin, mother and huntress, Diana represents the cycle of birth, life and death, as reflected in the moon phases. [FIRST LIE OF SATAN: REINCARNATION] Her cult was widespread. Since her Christianization, Mary is worshiped at many of her holy places.

In the Middle Ages, Diana was increasingly seen as goddess and leader of the wizards and witches. As depicted in the old images of Diana as goddess of the animals, her followers were riding across the heavens in the night on all kinds of animals. Indeed, the Christian Churches have rejected ideas like those since 906, but the people clung to the belief. With the flare-up of the witch craze, such ideas, which are very reminiscent of the Wild Hunt, gained relevancy in a cruel manner. Now Diana with the crescent moon (other names under which she was worshiped as a Great Goddess were Bensozia, Lady Habonde, Herodias, Hodla Perchta or Noctiluca) turned more and more into the horned devil, and her followers were equated with the witches, although that is not the same (after PICKERING, 73+).

By now it should be clear to everyone that this is about the persecution of the saints. The persecution of witches in the Middle Ages happened in the name of Diana: The Inquisition! Herodias, who beheaded John the Baptist, is Diana! John the Baptist was the second Elijah, and who is the third? We are!

But now to another – and perhaps the most important – level of meaning of "St. Corbinian's Bear"...

It is very remarkable that there is also a bear in the Bible that symbolizes a world power. In the book of Daniel, we read:

And behold another beast, a second, like to a bear, and it raised up itself on one side, and it had three ribs in the mouth of it between the teeth of it: and they said thus unto it, Arise, devour much flesh. (Daniel 7:5)

The second beast of Daniel 7 represents Medo-Persia, which came after Babylon. That the bear was raised on one side shows that one nation of this double power was more powerful than the other. Indeed, the Persians were stronger than the Medes. Medo-Persia was also represented in Daniel 2 by the metal silver, and the two arms folded across the chest of the statue for the covenant between the two powers.

Benedict uses biblical symbolism here, and in doing so he is ridiculing God and His followers, because he thinks that virtually no one is able to interpret these symbols. Indeed, there is only one denomination that has not rejected the findings of the Reformers and is still familiar with the meanings of these symbols: they are Seventh-day Adventists.

What Benedict is saying to his initiates is that after the election of Obama as President of the United States, he intends to establish an Alliance of Nations which will constitute a world government. The bear has a saddle (not a pack) and is ready to be ridden by the whore (the Roman Catholic Church). As soon as this world government will be established and be ridden by the whore, it will "devour much flesh," which means there will be persecution against all groups, and particularly Seventh-day Adventists, who will oppose this regime.

The bear also symbolizes the balance of power in this world government, which will be tipped in favor of the papacy. These are all parallel symbols to Revelation 17, where the woman (the apostate church) rides the beast.

On one hand, the bear stands for the political power as the controlling government elected by the nations of the earth, but on the other hand, it also stands for the papacy itself as the spiritual power which will control this world government (although this obviously will not happen during the tenure of Benedict). Together, this is "The New World Order", as it has been printed on the one-dollar bill since 1776.

Even in the bear we find the color red in his tongue and saddle. Red represents power and bloodshed. The scarlet beast of Revelation 17 is not the United States itself, but the U.S. is playing a major role in establishing this beast. They will stand out as the executive power. The proclamation of the Sunday Law in the U.S. and the national ruin (dictatorship) that will quickly follow are the steps that will lead this world government to make the papacy their head.

The red tongue is reminiscent of the second beast of Revelation 13, just like the red lips of the Moor's head were:

And I beheld another beast coming up out of the earth; and he had two horns like a lamb, and he spake as a dragon. (Revelation 13:11)

Therefore, the language of the world government will be the language of Satan, following the example of the United States. Sunday Laws are spreading rapidly throughout the world restricting freedom of religion, and will cause unprecedented persecution of those who want to keep the Law of God. Please keep in mind that red is also the color of blood, or of martyrdom!

The saddle cords

If we look more closely, we discover the "cords on the package." But wait a minute! The lines are not continued under the belly of the bear, but end on the pack which we already identified as the SADDLE of the papacy! Also, it is very unusual to tie a package or a saddle on an animal's back in this way. We see that the "cords" cross. But we would never tie a package like this... at the corners. We would always tie the cords on the middle of the sides, because at the corners they would have nothing to hold onto and would always slip. Again, there is a hidden symbol here!

The cords form a conspicuous X, and an X has a special meaning in the Roman language. Namely, it represents the number 10 in Roman numerals.

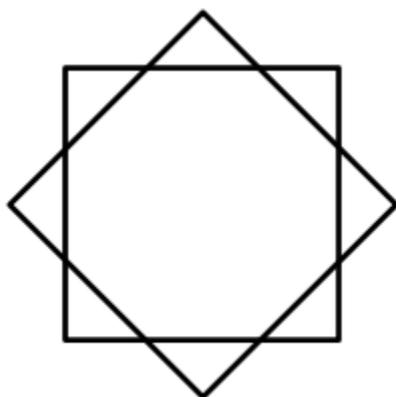

This is another allegorical reference to the Bible that is used to make fun of the ignorance of the majority of believers who do not know Revelation. Here is the important Bible text that Pope Benedict XVI wants to remind his initiates of with the saddle cords:

So he carried me away in the spirit into the wilderness: and I saw a woman sit upon a scarlet coloured beast [St. Corbinian's Bear], full of names of blasphemy, having seven heads [7 popes since 1929, when the papacy regained its political power] and ten horns. (Revelation 17:3)

And the ten horns which thou sawest are ten kings, which have received no kingdom as yet; but receive power as kings one hour with the beast. These have one mind, and shall give their power and strength unto the beast. (Revelation 17:12-13)

In the Bible, horns always represent kingdoms, or better translated as nations today. Ten in the Bible represents "secular completeness", meaning "all". When an animal has 10 horns, then it is a power that is established through all the nations of the world or represented by all the nations of the earth. In the Year of Saul we will see more clearly who this power is and that it has already begun to reign.

Benedict XVI is saying that his policy and his ambitious goal is to cause these 10 nations, all nations, to establish a world government – and even during his term. And this world government would soon give its power and strength to the papacy. Thus the world government—all the nations, being of one mind, having prepared the saddle—will give the papacy permission to climb upon the saddle and assume world dominion.

Another thing is remarkable here if we look closely. The saddle consists of two squares which are superimposed. Do you see that? This is also a widespread symbol in occultism. If you offset two squares by 45°, you get an eight-pointed star, and also an octagon inside it!

This has an incredible number of meanings in Freemasonry and the occult. First, we note that the two squares are still "tied up" and are therefore not yet rotated with respect to each other. The cords are the 10 nations that have yet to give their consent, so that the cords can be loosened and the two squares can be rotated 45° apart.

It also reminds us of a Bible verse:

And now ye know what withholdeth that he might be revealed in his time. (2 Thessalonians 2:6)

Paul speaks of the antichrist, the man of sin:

Let no man deceive you by any means: for that day shall not come, except there come a falling away first, and that man of sin be revealed, the son of perdition; Who opposeth and exalteth himself above all that is called God, or that is worshipped; so that he as God sitteth in the temple of God, shewing himself that he is God. Remember ye not, that, when I was yet with you, I told you these things? And now ye know what withholdeth that he might be revealed in his time. For the mystery of iniquity doth already work: only he who now letteth will let, until he be taken out of the way. And then shall that Wicked be revealed, whom the Lord shall consume with the spirit of his mouth, and shall destroy with the brightness of his coming: Even him, whose coming is after the working of Satan with all power and signs and lying wonders, And with all deceivableness of unrighteousness in them that perish; because they received not the love of the truth, that they might be saved. (2 Thessalonians 2:3-10)

What kept back the papacy during the first application of these verses was the Roman Empire. When it fell apart, the papacy came into power. What keeps the papacy back now in the second and final application of this prophecy is the current power structure. This has to be weakened first. The nations have to be weakened by problems which the Vatican itself will produce, thus they will give him dominion. We shall soon see that this is already happening.

Let's go back to the eight-pointed star... It's the "star of chaos", which symbolizes the following expression: ordo ab chao, order from chaos. This is the way that Satan's world domination will arise. He will first create chaos and then the power will be given to him. Financial crisis, hunger, wars, global warming, terrorism - these are all his means to create chaos.

The number eight in numerology means eternity. When on its side, the figure eight is the mathematical symbol for infinity. Once Satan gains dominion, he wants to reign forever. We believe that he will not succeed, but that is his stated goal.

The eight-pointed star also symbolizes the Great Year, a cycle of approximately 26,000 years, during which all the signs of the zodiac are once walked through. Throughout the esoteric world, it is well-known that this great cycle comes to an end on December 21, 2012. Even the Mayans recorded this on their calendars more than 5,000 years ago.

The chaos star as the papacy's saddle shows that it wants to reign forever, and it shows when it sees a major milestone in this dominion. The year 2012/2013 is shown, which the whole occult world also anticipates as a great moment in world history. What will happen this year? Perhaps something so extraordinary that even God will react? For more on that, please read The Orion Message for God's People.

As we can read at The Babylon Matrix - The Eight Pointed Star, the Sumerians used an arrangement of lines and symbols for both "star" and "God." There we are also informed that the linear eight-pointed star represented the deity Inanna, the Sumerian "Queen of Heaven" (now disguised as the Virgin Mary) and Ishtar (Astarte), the Babylonian deity who is also known as "the light bearer".

We also know Astarte from the Bible (Astarte - Wikipedia [German]):

ASTARTE IN THE BIBLE

King Solomon temporarily promoted the worship of Astarte (1 Kings 11:5).

They cried to the Lord and said, We have sinned, because we have forsaken the Lord and served Baal and Ashtaroth. Liberate us now from the power of our enemies. We want to serve You again. [1 Samuel 12:10] The people of Israel transgressed with the worship of Astarte against the first commandment of the Bible (Exodus 20:3, Deuteronomy 5:7). The Bible contains no direct evidence that Astarte was a companion of YHWH.

And Astarte is none other than Asherah. We find this "goddess" in the Bible too (Asherah - Wikipedia[German]):

ASHERA IN THE BIBLE [unfortunately, translated as the "grove" in the King James Version]

The name Asherah is mentioned in the Bible about forty times, as the name of a goddess and as a description of her phallus cult.

You can read in Judges 6:25 how the angel of the Lord commanded Gideon to break down the grove of Asherah of his father Joash and to build a new altar for the living God YHWH. Just after that, Gideon is used by YHWH to deliver the nation of Israel from the burden of the Midianites. 1 Kings 15:13 mentions that Maachah, the kings' mother had made a statue of Asherah. Even King Manasseh (2 Kings 21:7) established an image of Asherah. 400 prophets of Asherah ate at Jezebel's table (1 Kings 18:19). King Josiah removed from the temple (2 Kings 23:4) objects "that were made for Baal, Asherah and all the host of heaven." 2 Kings 23 describes the removal of the Asherah cults.

The ancient Egyptian goddess Isis (Wikipedia - Isis [German]) is also characterized by the eight-pointed star:

For the Egyptians, she was a "goddess of love", "goddess of the sea", "Mother of God", "Mother of the sun," "Queen of the western sky" and a "witch", because she used witchcraft in her relationship with Horus and Osiris. Mothers asked her for blessings upon their children. She was seen as a powerful sorceress, who knew all secrets and future events. In inscriptions, it is written of her that she was "wiser than all gods." For the Egyptians, she also had a dark side. She stole the magic of the aged god Re, to elevate herself as the ruler over the world.

The Egyptian Pharaohs claimed to be sons of Isis and her lap was seen as the royal throne. The drinking of milk, which was said to be the milk of Isis, was part of an inauguration ceremony in the kingdom of the pharaohs. Later, her person was mixed with other Egyptian deities (especially Hathor). And through the missionary work of the Egyptian priests of Isis, her cult became popular among the Ptolemies and throughout the whole Roman Empire.

The Temple of Isis was on the island of Philae, which is located in the deep south of Egypt. Because of the construction of the Aswan Dam, the temple was moved further north on the island Agilkia, stone by stone, from 1977 to 1980. In Egypt, Isis was worshiped until the 5th or 6th century, and only women served her as priestesses. In present times, the temple is occasionally used again by a religious community as a place for worshiping the goddess.

Her symbol was Sirius. As a fertility goddess, Isis was responsible for the flooding of the Nile, which began with the first morning visibility of Sirius.

By the subsequent mixing with Hathor, she also received cow horns with a sun disk for a headdress. She was often depicted on tomb and sarcophagus walls with outstretched wings, with which she protected the dead and fanned the air. At the same time the cow horns mean the crescent moon. As the goddess of magic and the dead, Isis was seen especially in later times as the moon goddess.

Now we come full-circle again. We are dealing with the same Diana, the moon goddess, the mother of Satan. And the bear represents her helpers.

On the left is Isis with her son Horus, and on the right is Mary with Jesus: a clear substitution of a pagan Egyptian cult with Christianity.

Note the "nimbus" on the right, the light wheels or halos, which are nothing other than sun disks. Everything comes from sun worship, which is the Baal cult.

Just read for yourself what is hidden there: Isis, Horus, Seth, the IHS of the Roman Church, etc. A good starting page is: The Babylon Matrix - The Eight Pointed Star. The pictures of the symbolism of the eight-pointed star that you can see there should be sufficiently meaningful. Here a few examples:

St. Peter's Square in Rome

The floor in the Vatican Museum

Please note the eight pointed stars at the ends of the stole.

Masonic symbol. The eight pointed star of two squares is in the center and above it is the all-seeing eye!

Isis, Horus, Seth

Hitler also sought to rule the world. Two squares rotated by 45° and the swastika in the middle. In Benedict's case, it is the cross which forms the Roman 10, X. This is a cross of Baal. Sun worship!

Here is another Masonic symbol. The world domination of the snake, biting its own tail: eternity. Here is the sought-after second crown of the missing tiara. In the center are the two squares and once again the eight-pointed star of Isis.

Freemasonry again. In the middle, the all-seeing eye of Lucifer.

To show that we are indeed dealing with occultism, here is the octagon-shaped Ouija board.

Finally, so it really becomes clear who is behind Isis, Diana, Ashtoreth, Astarte, Asherah: Baphomet or Satan in the eight-pointed star.

The base of the Statue of Liberty in New York also has the shape of an eight-pointed star made of two squares. What a surprise—it was a gift from the French Freemasons to the United States.

What does this mean? The torchbearer is Satan and he stands on a foundation of two powers, two squares.

These two squares are the two powers, which unite to form Satan's government and support structure, which are the Papacy and the United States in this case, but in the case of the Bear it is about politics and religion, because it has to do with world domination.

So it's absolutely worth the time to dig deeper also on Wikipedia - Egyptian Mythology. It would take just too long here, and many things are very well explained there and on other sites. My purpose is just to show the presence of these symbols and Diana and her helpers in the papal coat of arms.

Being composed of two squares, the eight-pointed star clearly symbolizes Satan's rule through the union of two powers: politics and religion, the bear (the 10 nations, politics) and the one who sits on the saddle (the papacy, religion). It would also be interesting to note that there should indeed be a corresponding "pack saddle" on the other side of the bear... the issue would then be about a world government that would consist of not only 10 nations, but 20 nations. Do we already know of such a structure?

Now let's address the four issues raised in the article "The Missing Tiara".

1. In this symbol of the papal coat of arms, do we discover one of the three branches of government: legislative, executive or judicial?

Yes, this time it is clearly the legislative, the world government. The "New World Order" is represented by this unequal power-split. A world government that is headed by a church, which alone controls the legislation: The Roman Church itself. The secular government, the third beast, must be set up, but it is apparently not planned to completely establish the head of this world government during the tenure of Benedict.

2. Can we identify one of the three beasts of Revelation 13 and 17?

Well, let's look closely. We can clearly identify the beast of Revelation 17 with the bear: the new political world government that will be made up of the "10" nations. In The Year of Saul, I show who or what it is exactly, and when this animal was "crowned".

3. Are we dealing with one of the three persons of the satanic trinity?

According to his delusion, the mother of Satan is the moon. The crescent moon represents the uterus from which he pretends to have been born. And Artemis and Diana, we have debunked several times as the goddess of the moon. Likewise, Astarte, Asherah, and Isis are all moon goddesses. Satan represents his "birth story" in the papal coat of arms. Therefore, the worship of Mary is elevated above all: it is a false interpretation of the woman with the moon under her feet in Revelation 12. The symbol for the true Church of God is defiled and abused as the "mother of Satan." Wouldn't it be logical to find Satan himself in the last symbol, the Shell of St. Jacob?

4. Is one of the three spiritual forces hidden in it that plays a role in the end-times according to Ellen White?

This is almost too easy now. Yes, of course, because Ellen White says that the papacy and the Roman Church itself, the first beast of Revelation, will take over the world. This is exactly the subject of St. Corbinian's bear. Here we find represented the animal that the papacy wants to ride. This world government is modeled after the Pope's coat of arms, but will only come into effect when Benedict's successor has come. However, the saddle or throne of the beast will be prepared by Benedict.

Once this world government of church and state will have been crowned, it will soon see itself threatened by the intervention of God. Rumors from the east and north will trouble it. This website could be like a rumor, namely the tidings out of the east - the Orion - and out of the north - the Throne of God.

Major disasters await those who want to replace the Commandments of God by human commandments. And this brings us to the third symbol of Benedict's coat of arms: The large shell, or St. Jacob's shell, with which Benedict wants to draw wisdom from the ocean. This symbol actually has more to do with the sea than is seen at first glance.

In due time I will write the article about St. Jacob's shell, and another one about the new pallium that was added to the papal coat of arms, but you can find a small part about the shell in A Gift of Heaven and a brief explanation of the meaning of the pallium in the Introduction to the Shadow Series.

The Year of Saul

On June 29, 2008, the Vatican announced the beginning of the year of St. Paul. Convening of special theme years is nothing new, but very rarely a special Signet is published. This time it was even a logo with a lot of symbols, and ought to make us suspicious and alert. As Walter Veith and I have reiterated, the Papacy has internally hidden from the world the continuation of the Babylonian religion, which originated in Babylon.

The Metropolitans, the high dignitaries of the Roman Church, including its leader, the Pope, are - as the name already suggests - those assembled in cities who want to build a tower that God will never be able to destroy again, as in the days after the flood. The tower relates to the Tower of Babel and the modern symbol for this, is the high tower that graces every Catholic church. As everyone knows, God prevented this plan by confusion of tongues.

When the first shock of the enemies of God and followers of Satan, the Metropolitans, about the confusion of the tongues settled and some years had passed, people began to communicate with each other again, just as we do today: They learned foreign languages. So it was again possible for Satan to make new plans. The Metropolitans did not want to give God another chance to destroy their work in the same manner as He had done before. Just as they started to build the tower that God would not be able to destroy again with a flood, they devised a plan that God should not be able to confound their languages again. There had to be invented a "language" that would not be based on spoken language anymore. A language that should be easy to communicate with, but without the possibility to be confused.

It had to be a language that would allow the Metropolitans to exchange messages to complete their work, the construction of the Babel tower, the symbol of world domination. This language was invented for more than 5,000 years ago: The symbolic language of the masons of the Babel tower. Their work was symbolized by bricklayers and we know that they call themselves today "freemasons", and indeed do have such a language. A language based entirely on symbols. Moreover, this language serves to confuse the enemy, because all symbols have two meanings: one which only the Initiated, the Freemasons or Metropolitans can understand, and one - a "wrong" - a "confused" meaning that the "uninitiated" believe to understand, although it is misleading.

With this basic knowledge, we now want to look at the signet of the Year of St. Paul and try to decipher the true message that is contained there:

Let us first consider what the Vatican wants us to believe as the uninitiated. On the official website for the Pauline Year of the German Bishops' Conference we read as follows:

Note: The link <http://www.dbk.de/paulusjahr/paulusjahr/signet.html> was removed, but the original text with slight modifications can be found in [Worksheet for the Pauline Year in German.]

The sword depicted in the middle of the logo is an ancient symbol for the Apostle Paul – it is the instrument with which he has suffered his martyrdom around the year 60 AD. He was beheaded on the orders of Emperor Nero in Rome. Paul was bound during his imprisonment in Rome with a chain – this is now preserved in the sacristy of the Basilica of S. Paolo Fuori le Mura. Once a year, on the evening of 28 June, the relic is carried in a solemn procession through the streets. The Book symbolically depicted in the signet symbolizes both the Gospel preached by Paul and the letters written by him. On the open-book pages we recognize the "heavenly fire" that drove him, and the cross of Jesus Christ, whose servant he had become.

But in the introductory text of this explanation is written – and this is unexpectedly true –: "For the Pauline Year an official Signet has been created, whose many layers of meaning can be explained as follows... Note: This text was already removed by the German Bishop's Conference but still can be found on websites like [KAB-Gernach in German.]

So there are several different meanings! Now this "hint" even a lower degree Mason would have understood.

Let us now analyze the symbolic language step by step:

The Letter

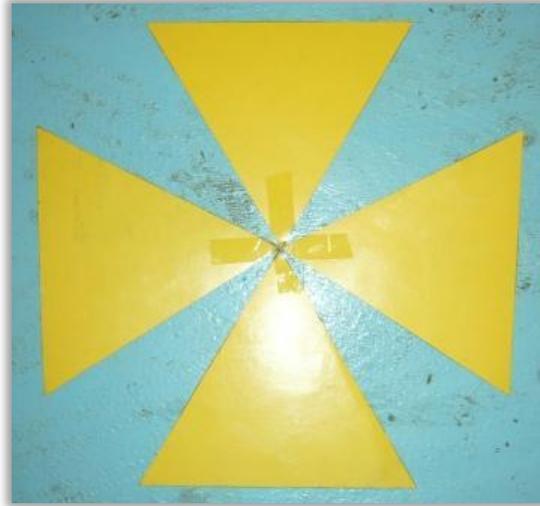

The Book symbolically depicted in the signet symbolizes both the Gospel preached by Paul and the letters written by him. On the open-book pages we recognize the "heavenly fire" that drove him, and the cross of Jesus Christ, whose servant he had become.

According to the official Vatican statement the open book symbolizes the letters of the Apostle Paul, which are found in the Bible. The only thing that is true of this statement is that we are actually dealing with a letter. But we will see later who wrote it and to whom it is directed. At the beginning of a letter we write usually to whom the letter is addressed. Thus, we usually start our letters with "Dear Brother or Dear Aunt". The same with this "letter". In the upper left corner of the "letter" we find ...

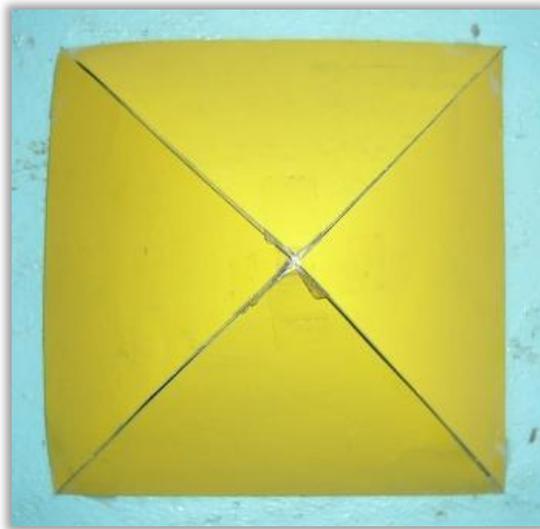

The Addressee

There we see a Maltese cross. The Maltese cross shows up even in the pallia and many other "gowns" of the Catholic bishops, cardinals and Popes. Since Benedict XVI., the color of the Maltese cross turned again to red. It had been black for many centuries. Red is the symbol of power and victory in the esoteric. Black for mourning and loss of power. The red Maltese crosses the Pope is wearing again, which first showed up in the Coat of Arms of Benedict XVI., leads to the understanding that the Pope intends to make heal the mortal wound of 1798 that Satan finally might take over world leadership. We will see below, how close we are to it. But what does this strange Maltese Cross really symbolize?

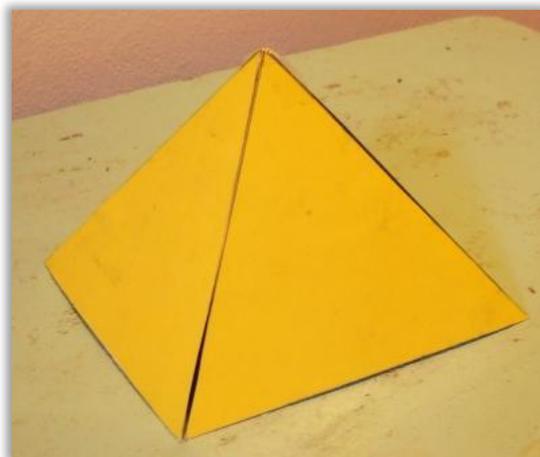

I have built a small cardboard model for you, so you can see what the Maltese crosses actual meaning is. Here my little cardboard model of a Maltese Cross:

As you can see, I cut four triangles out of yellow cardboard and attached them together in the middle with Scotch tape. Why? So that you can see on the next picture. There I have just raised the cross in the middle and pulled it up:

And now, a photo of the resulting model from its side:

As you can see easily now, from my little cardboard model of a Maltese cross emerged a pyramid. Let us therefore determine:

The Maltese Cross is the two-dimensional representation of a Pyramid.

The pyramid is one of the most frequently used symbols of Freemasonry because it symbolizes the Tower of Babel, which could not be finalized back then. We find the pyramid on the logos of many Masonic companies and also at the following place: On the back of the dollar note, with thirteen steps and the all-seeing eye on top. Many websites now reveal the highly Freemason content of the symbols of the dollar note. The pyramid is THE ABSOLUTE SYMBOL of Freemasonry itself.

Thus, to whom is the message of the Signet of the Year of Paul directed?

TO ALL FREEMASONS AND INITIATED (Illuminati) ON EARTH.

The Sender

At the lower right-hand edge of the letter is imprinted a flame as a symbol of the sender. Since it is a message to the disciples of Satan, this is unlikely to be the symbol of the Holy Spirit, which is by the way, usually a dove. It is the "Black Flame of Satan" which plays a predominant role in Satanism.

Whence comes this flame as a symbol of Satan? Another name for Satan in the Bible is Lucifer, the bringer of light, or the "torch-bearer". One of the most important Masonic representations of Satan as a torch-bearer is the famous Statue of Liberty in New York, a gift of the French Freemasons to the United States. The inauguration of the Statue of Liberty was celebrated with a Masonic ceremony, as you can read on Wikipedia.

The fire in the torch is Satan's black flame. Many books are already published that reveal this.

So who identifies himself as the sender of the message of the logo of the Pauline Year, and thus shows how important this message is?

SATAN HIMSELF!!!

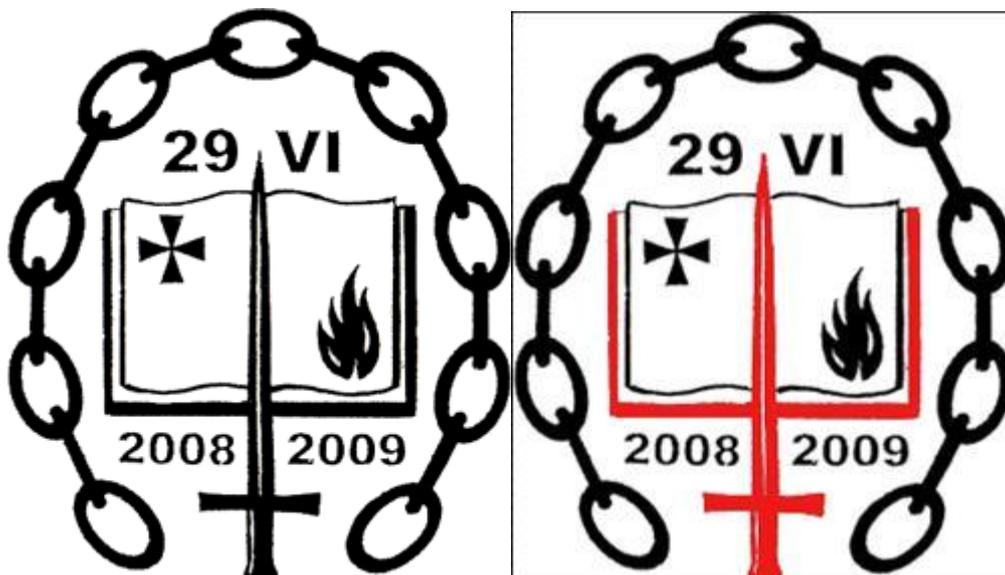

The Sword, which is no Sword

Now that we know, who is addressed by this message, and by whom it was written, we want to decipher the contents of the message itself.

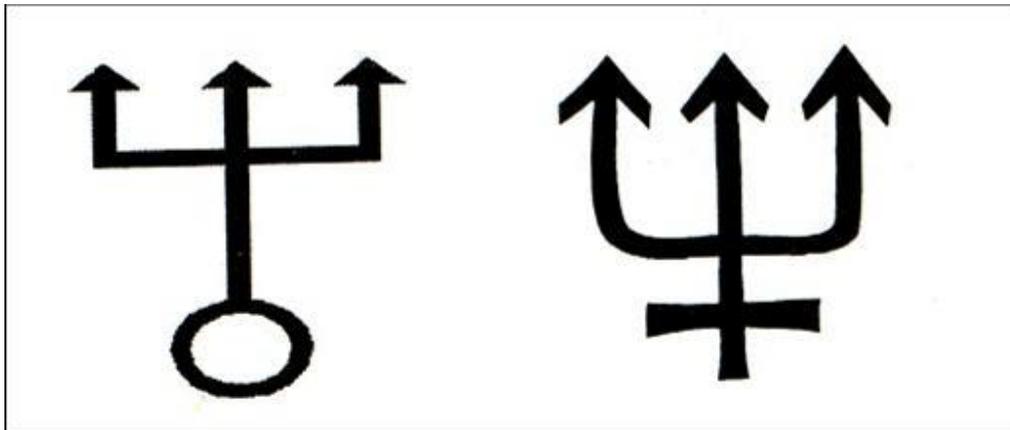

Rome says:

The sword depicted in the middle of the logo is an ancient symbol for the Apostle Paul - it is the instrument with which he has suffered his martyrdom around the year 60 AD. He was beheaded on the orders of Emperor Nero in Rome.

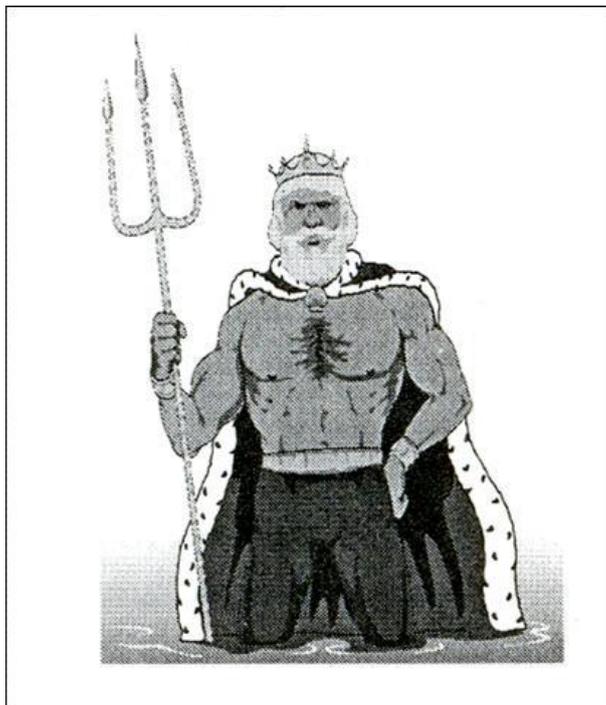

To see what symbolizes the sword, we must look carefully, because we do not have trained eyes in recognizing satanic symbols. Before I was baptized Seventh-Day-Adventist, I had gone astray and had learned a little about astrology. It was not difficult for me to discover the true symbol of the sword and the outlines of the "bible" of the signet. I have marked the hidden symbol in red on the picture on the right. Please compare with the original on the left:

To the Masonic eye it is immediately obvious that this is an important symbol - an astrological symbol. On the left is Neptune in his female form, on the right, in his male form. The planet Neptune in astrology.

The trident is a symbol of the dominion of the god Neptune (Roman) and Poseidon (Greek) and as you see, it has entered even into our children's rooms:

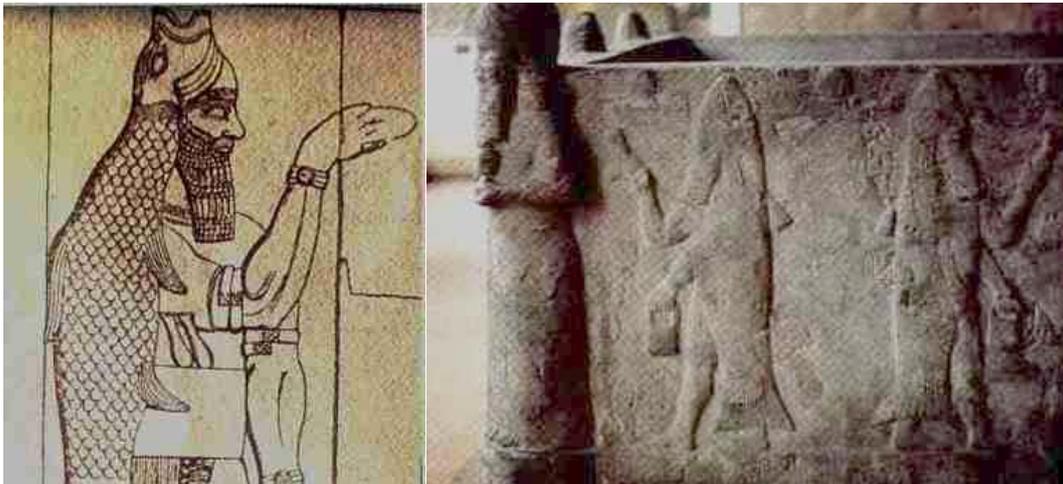

Even Satan represents himself with this symbol. The "god of the sea" (the people), Poseidon, Neptune ... is none other than Satan.

The "god of the sea" also has two other names. The first of these is "Aquarius". Who does not know the word of the most famous Hippy song of the '60s of the last century: "The Dawning of the Age of Aquarius", which announced the 1000 years of peace? The Hippy movement was the forerunner of the present New Age movement, that is followed by hundreds of millions of people consciously or unconsciously. Ellen White called this movement, the SPIRITISM.

The symbol of this movement is, therefore, "the god of the sea", Aquarius, which is referred in the Bible as Dagon, and was worshiped by the Philistines. He was the ocean or fish god and his priests wore special headgear, which resembled a fish's mouth:

Please note the typical sprinkling of holy water on the second image on the right.

Where do we find cult of Dagon nowadays?

The headdress of the Pope and his leaders is an exact replica of the Dagon priests, the priests of the religion of the sea or fish god. (Even the Maltese cross of the Metropolitans, we find pictured on the pallium of the Pope, there still in black.)

Therefore, we are dealing here with the proclamation of the sovereignty of Aquarius, the long-awaited millennium of "peace". The entire New Age movement expects the beginning of this millennium around the year 2012. They have just one problem ... there are so many great astrological events from 2008 to 2012, and around it, that even the most inveterate astrologer is not clear which of these events is really the beginning of the millennium of peace. Some therefore argue, yet long ago, that Satan himself will personally announce the beginning of his reign. And who is his mouthpiece on earth? The papacy.

The Age of Aquarius

When I first saw this Pauline Year signet in June 2008, I knew because of the dates that are engraved there, that on June 29, 2009, something special would happen that has to do with the Age of Aquarius and the Millennium, even mentioned by Ellen G. White in the Great Controversy:

The line of distinction between professed Christians and the ungodly is now hardly distinguishable. Church members love what the world loves and are ready to join with them, and Satan determines to unite them in one body and thus strengthen his cause by sweeping all into the ranks of spiritualism. Papists, who boast of miracles as a certain sign of the true church, will be readily deceived by this wonder-working power; and Protestants, having cast away the shield of truth, will also be deluded. Papists, Protestants, and worldlings will alike accept the form of godliness without the power, and they will see in this union a grand movement for the conversion of the world and the ushering in of the long-expected millennium. Through spiritualism, Satan appears as a benefactor of the race, healing the diseases of the people, and professing to present a new and more exalted system of religious faith; but at the same time he works as a destroyer. His temptations are leading multitudes to ruin. {GC 588.3}

On page 321 we read:

Taking the manner in which the prophecies had been fulfilled in the past as a criterion by which to judge of the fulfillment of those which were still future, he became satisfied that the popular view of the spiritual reign of Christ--a temporal millennium before the end of the world--was not sustained by the word of God. This doctrine, pointing to a thousand years of righteousness and peace before the personal coming of the Lord, put far off the terrors of the day of God. {GC 321.1}

The whole world is being prepared for several years to expect a special event in 2012. Most recently, even a Hollywood movie titled "2012" was announced. There are shown terrible destructions, but what they are really planning, is to proclaim a kingdom of "peace", despite the increasing natural disasters of our time.

A Year of Preparation

If the Vatican proclaims a special theme year, the date that is set for the preparation of the main celebrations will remain one year's time. I was therefore sure that on June 29, 2009, which is marked as the ending date of the Year of Paul on the signet, would take place an event to which Satan wants his disciples to draw particular attention. So we must examine exactly what on the 29th of June, 2009, really happened. Since June 2008, I had already explained the signet in sermons and made many aware that the Vatican plans something terrible.

666 in the Signet

A sure sign that it is a satanic message is always the "popular" appearance of 666 in such messages. We have already recognized the black flame of Satan, but for completeness, I would like to show this too before we go on and see more details ... In Satanism they like to play with numbers. This is an esoteric technique similar to astrology, called numerology. Of course this is abomination to God!

It is widely used in Satanism, to read Bible verses reversely, or to turn upside-down figures. One example is that in Satanism, the number NINE and SIX are interchangeable. Because 9 is an inverse 6. Thus, we find 666 easily in the dates. The 29 on top has got a 9, inversed 9 = 6, the first six. The second is the six in Roman numerals (VI) next to it: the sixth month or June. The third six is the final digit at the end of the year 2009, which is again an inversed 9.

How long does Satan want to rule?

Again, this is hidden in the logo. Again numerology. The chain, which has another level of meaning, as it says the Episcopal Conference themselves so nicely, is the chain to bind Satan for 1000 years. But it is not closed. This indicates that Satan does not want to be bound. He wants to break his chain. He wants to win the Great Controversy.

If we count the links in the chain, then we get 17 links. Since in numerology this number has no meaning, we have to calculate the sum of the digits until we get a numerological number. Let us do this: $1 + 7 = 8$. The number eight, however, has a very important meaning in numerology, especially in its "fallen" form, the "lazy eight". Dr. Cathy Burns explains the meaning of the lazy eight in her book about the Masonic symbolism:

254 MASONIC AND OCCULT SYMBOLS ILLUSTRATED

Another Satanic symbol is the lazy eight or the infinity sign. The Seeker's Handbook states that this sign is the "Western counterpart to the YIN/YANG."⁵⁴ [Emphasis in the original]

Helena Petrovna Blavatsky comments that it "is symbolized in its turn by the Caduceus."⁵⁵ One witchcraft book asserts that it is the symbol for immortality.⁵⁶ To occultists, it represents Lucifer's eternal victory.⁵⁷ It also symbolizes reincarnation and karma.⁵⁸

This symbol can be seen on certain Tarot cards such as "The Magician"⁵⁹ (for picture, see the chapter on "Hand Signals") and "Strength."

The "lazy eight" is the symbol of infinity, also used in mathematics. Cathy Burns says: "For occultists it represents the eternal victory of Lucifer," as you can read above. It means also, reincarnation, karma; therefore emphasizes the immortality of the soul, the first lie of Satan, who now wants to reign forever.

The Hippy movement already knew all these meanings by late 1960, as shown at the bottom left and the symbols on the jacket.

We know already the "all-seeing eye". We find it on the dollar bill above the pyramid, which consists of 13 steps until supremacy of Satan. Satan's goal is not just a 1000-year dominion, which was even not the goal of Hitler, but it is just a symbol for eternity. He wants to rule FOREVER. He wants to win the battle against his enemy, Jesus. Everything is about one question: Will Jesus find faith when He returns?

A "non fulfilled" End Time Theory

Many Adventists of the SDA and SDA Reformation Movement church have told me long time ago, that there is a theory that uses the time Noah preached the flood as a model for the end-time events to be calculated. At least to calculate, when will start persecution and danger for us as Sabbath keepers. This "theory" is based on the Bible verse in which Jesus Himself points out that before His coming, "it will be like the days of Noah."

The theory goes as follows: In 1888, there was a General Conference in Minneapolis, where the pastors, Waggoner and AT Jones had a special message for the Advent people. The message included the issue of justification by faith, but stressed that only those would reach the goal who would obey Jesus in all things. Today, this second part of the message is almost forgotten. Now, this was such an important message that the conference attendees started to fight about the issue. Internally, the SDA church was divided into two camps: One with Ellen White, who confirmed the message of the two pastors, consisted of those who wanted to be faithful to God in all circumstances; and the other, those who had a liberal view and did not want to take everything "too serious". Ellen White said that she had never been treated so badly as at this General Conference. It must have been really terrible.

But this message is a very important message. And that's why many believe that it represents the actual Three-Angels-Message in its purified form, as it calls for "faith and obedience". That is why they say, that this was the real beginning of the message of the Third Angel. Well, if you look at how long Noah preached the gospel by every stroke of his hammer building the Ark, then we see that it has been exactly for 120 years, and then the door of the Ark was closed forever (the door of mercy). Therefore, they calculated and said that we could expect for the year 2008, a special event that would make it impossible for us freely preach the gospel, and that the door of mercy would probably close soon after 2008.

Now, many were disappointed because they do not know the signet of the Pauline Year, and have overlooked the fact that indeed an important event had occurred. Satan proclaimed on 29th June, 2008, that he would start his dominion one year later and that his followers have to watch for an event taking place at that date. We shall soon see, what had taken place and at what day exactly Satan's dominion started.

What happened on 29th June, 2009?

Many did not realize that the new encyclical, "Love in Truth" of Benedict XVI. officially bears this date. The press headlines confirmed: "The Pope calls for world dominion!" He argues for a New World Order through a controlling political world government, but it just only would not be able to solve the world's problems. There would be required ONE "world moral leader" on top of the world government. Who should be this leader, if not the Pope himself?

The Pope's latest encyclical was published officially on June 29, 2009. He announced already one year before in the signet of the Year of Paul, that the dominion of Aquarius respectively Neptune would be solicited on 29th June, 2009. But the encyclical was even sent some days earlier to all members of the G8 summit which started on July 1, 2009, that the "world rulers" could study it before and discuss it at the summit.

The venue was moved from Sardinia, completely unexpectedly, to L'Aquila, a little town in the mountains 40 km from the Vatican, that had been shaken by terrible earthquakes. The name L'Aquila is Italian and means "the eagle". Compare the fourth seal in Revelation! There nearby the Vatican, the rulers of the world lived in sackcloth and ashes, in police barracks instead of in 5-star hotels like ever before. Supposedly, to show their solidarity with the earthquake victims. In truth, it was a humiliation at the Vatican. They pleaded that the Vatican should solve the world's financial crisis, created by the Vatican itself and its Mason lodge, the Bilderbergers. The nations bowed down before the Pope to get solutions of their problems.

The very last historic G8 summit ended on July 10, 2009. Some days before the G8 summit started, Angela Merkel of Germany had already proclaimed that it would be the last, and announced the G20 as the new world government. All the "rulers" departed on this 10th of July, except Obama, the black "crowned" king of the Papal coat of arms, the highest Illuminati, who now heads the second beast of Revelation 13, the United States. He was brought directly to his FIRST private audience with the Pope, a top-secret meeting! Obama went to the Vatican and announced to the Pope the decision of the nations regarding his solicitude for world dominion!

We know from the Bible, what the result was...

The nations promised to the Pope on July 10, 2009, that he could soon take over the world scepter.

What forced the Nations?

The main topics of the summit had been officially:

1. The world financial crisis (like foretold by Ellen White)
2. The global warming and resulting disasters for the future (like foretold by Ellen White)

As a result, the G20 summit were raised as controlling power to control the world. You can read this anywhere. This is the beast of Revelation 17. And the Pope makes himself ready to ride this beast.

The Year of the Illuminati: 2010

On www.conspiracyworld.com (Ending America), we can read that the Illuminati, which were founded (by Jesuits) the same year as the US in Ingolstadt in Germany, developed a 13-phased plan to destroy the United States. "Destruction" here does not mean destruction in the strict sense, but they want to use the U.S. to gain world control for their leader, Satan. The United States should transform itself from a lamb like beast (democratic government) into a dragon beast (dictatorship), which soon afterwards would dominate the whole world.

This 13-stage plan refers to Revelation 13, verse 18, where the number of Satan 666 is proclaimed. The numerological checksum of 666 is 18! The plan provided for a certain period of time of preparation, until Satan would begin to reign with the help of the second beast of Revelation 13, the United States.

The calculation of the Illuminati:

1776 (founding year of the United States and the Illuminati) + 13 steps of 18 years (234 years) = 2010

Now, all this corresponds in incredible manner with what Ellen White and the Bible tell us. Ellen White says that after the national apostasy (Sunday law), will come the national ruin (dictatorship). Hence, if the plan of the Illuminati was, and is to start to use the United States from 2010 on, to attain Satan's reign (dictatorship) over the whole planet, then it is very probable that we will be very soon witnesses of tremendous events in the country of the Second Beast of Revelation, the US. At www.prisonplanet.tv you can see that everything that I state here, is already becoming reality. 2012 is not far away anymore, and the preparations are at full throttle.

The Year of Saul

Dear brothers and sisters, I have shown you what is going on behind the doors of the Vatican and even behind the doors of your own national governments, and my voice is not alone. Many ministers are starting now to see in the last encyclical of the Pope that time is ending, though not as clear as I, who had learnt in my "former life" to read such a symbolic language (unfortunately).

But there is yet another "symbol" hidden in the logo. The name of the theme year itself: The "Year of Paul". It is not about the Apostle Paul, as we understand him, the Apostle of the Gentiles. I have already explained to you that in Satanism or Dagonism, they like to read everything reversely. So what does result, if you read the "Apostle Paul" reversely? Then we would not talk about the Apostle Paul after his conversion, but about his counterpart, Saul before his conversion. And who was Saul? The most violent persecutor of Christians of his time! He even ordered to stone Stephen, and thus ended the 490 years of probation for the former people of God, the Jews.

Under the new Saul we will suffer persecution that never was and that never will be again. And because of this persecution, Jesus will even close the door of mercy forever.

If you really see these things happen, then look upwards because our Savior is coming. But if the 2010-theory is right or wrong, I am convinced that we can expect great events on this Earth very soon. Whatever will happen, my counsel for you, dear brother and sister, is: Get prepared NOW, for the storm is coming!

The Resurrection of the Beast

Written by John Scotram

The closer we come to the end, the more pieces of the puzzle fit together. Frequently I lack the time to write all down ... How we are blessed by the study of prophecy in the light of the Orion Clock of God, as with it the Book of Seven Seals and the Seven Churches can be finally understood. Jesus Himself has revealed now the exact years of the Seals. The series History Repeats sheds more light on the subject. But here I will address another burning issue: The imminent resurrection of the beast. By that I mean the complete healing of the wound of the first beast of Revelation 13.

In the article The Year of Saul, I explained that behind the walls of the Vatican in Rome, the preparation to launch the fulfilling of all the remaining prophecies of Revelation 13 and 17 are being finalized. Therefore, we can expect that we will soon see the beginning of the time lines of Daniel 12. This will probably be the case in spring 2012, (see the Shadow series). Therefore, we should have an eye on the time lines of the 1260, 1290 and 1335 days, but without going into detail like other authors.

There are books about it, which are downloadable from the Internet at the Marian G. Berry Library. These are the books of the author Marian G. Berry, an (ex-)Adventist lady, who has great knowledge of interpretation and has also experienced background information about the Adventist church through 40 years. I would like you to read especially:

- A warning in the timelines of Daniel 12 (also the condensed and updated version)
- Getting it all together
- Date Setting, Time Setting, Futurism and Dirty Theology
- How to survive the seven last plagues?

But let us read first the biblical texts that relate to these end-time calculations:

And I heard the man clothed in linen, which was upon the waters of the river, when he held up his right hand and his left hand unto heaven, and swore by him that liveth for ever that it shall be for a time, times, and an half; and when he shall have accomplished to scatter the power of the holy people, all these things shall be finished. (Daniel 12:7)

And from the time that the daily (sacrifice) [\[The Daily\]](#) shall be taken away, and the abomination that maketh desolate set up, there shall be a thousand two hundred and ninety days. Blessed is he that waiteth, and cometh to the thousand three hundred and five and thirty days. (Daniel 12:11-12)

Many authors have written on this subject, but probably no one so well informed and detailed as Marian G. Berry. I recommend especially her book Date Setting, Time Setting, Futurism and Dirty Theology to study for those who still do not want to admit that the knowledge of prophecy is an ongoing process that finally leads to the understanding of the very last events until Jesus' second coming. Here you will find everything that can be said against "time setting" and how to counter these specious arguments.

At this point I must insert a warning about Marian Berry. I've talked to this lady. Some say she is behind an offshoot Adventist organization called MEFAG (Historic Adventists, which actually represent a good theology, but unfortunately also believe that only they have the salvation). She considered the Orion Clock morosely and grumpily. She asked me for a summary because she did not want to read through the PowerPoint presentation. I sent her a two-page summary, which of course, can never explain such a profound study in sufficient form. She responded that all I had studied would be "nonsense". But - surprise, surprise - a few months later, suddenly appeared on her website her own theory of how the seven seals would repeat and ... all of it would happen in the future!

Friends, we should know that the Jesuits have always applied the futurism ("all prophecy is in the future and has nothing to do with us in the present time"), so that we get lost in the prophetic jungle. If Marian Berry now begins to use the same techniques that she denounces and uses against SDAC in her books, I wonder to which club this lady really belongs. So, be aware of her and her new but definitely wrong theory about the seals. But, please, treat this like everything Keep the good things! But now, back to the topic ...

To make it short and to come as quickly as possible to the main point, I would like to post only a table of the timelines of Daniel 12, as it is understood today by almost all students of this matter. Marian G. Berry has developed a table differing a bit, as it provides additional 15 days for the Great Day of the Lord. Since I will not go into detail of the timeline study itself and want to avoid a discussion about the exact date of Jesus' return at this point, I will leave it to the Bible student himself which of the timeline theories he wants to believe. But what is certainly wrong and one of the worst frauds of Satan, are those theories that re-use the 2,300 days of Daniel 8 and this has been unmasked by the Orion-Clock as false and misleading.

There is simply not enough time anymore as for the 2,300 literal evenings and mornings to happen. Marian G. Berry in her book "A warning in the timelines of Daniel 12" points out that the 2,300 days cannot be applied a second time and gives reasons. Also Ellen White - and that is much more important - stated again and again that we may not re-use the 2,300 evenings and mornings after 1844. Most of her "no time fixing" statements relate to this because this would have destroyed our Adventist foundation of 1844. There are terrible self-appointed "prophets" out there in the net, like a guy who furiously attacks my studies and my person without knowing me, who re-use in their "God given" prophecies the 2,300 evenings and mornings. Ron Beaulieu is the name of one of these traitors, working directly for Satan. They are so angry about me because Orion proves them wrong.

The following table shows what is currently the state of the timeline research. Everybody agrees that the 1335 days will begin at the moment when the "daily" is taken away, or the abomination of desolation is set up. And they end when the Great Day of the Lord, Jesus' second coming, will take place.

← The "Daily" is taken away	1290 days (Daniel 12:11) leading to the last coalition of nations against God	45 days of waiting (V. 12)	The Great Day of the Lord
← The "abomination of desolation" is set up	1335 days (Daniel 12:12) leading to the glorious return of Jesus Christ
75 days distance	1260 days (Daniel 12:7): reign of the king of the north of Daniel chapter 11, leading to the glorious return of Jesus Christ (see Daniel 11:45)

On the exact fitting of the timelines of the 1290 and 1260 days within the 1335 days, there are some differences between the various authors, but these are so small that I will not go into it here. I personally tend to the above model, but I am not married to it.

Our complete comprehension of these timelines will depend on how we understand "the daily" and "the abomination of desolation", as these are two terms used by Daniel to describe the beginning of the timelines. And here again there is confusion in the keen understanding of the scholars. Here I copy a list of interpretations of the term "the daily", which Marian G. Berry presents in her book "A warning in the timelines of Daniel 12" in Appendix A:

- Marian Berry, Warning 1990 "The scepter of power"

I support the opinion of the pioneers (paganism) and Marian Berry, and see in the "Daily" finally "the scepter of power" that is passed from one power to another. It's about the supremacy of papal Rome in Daniel 12:11. This can be studied in detail in the book "A warning in the timelines of Daniel 12" of Marian G. Berry.

No matter how we arrange the timelines of 1290 and 1260 days in the 1335 days, there is always a difference of 30, 45 or 75 days at the beginning of the timelines. Marian Berry starts the 1290 and the 1260 days together 60 days after the beginning of the 1335 days, while other scholars (as in my diagram above) start the 1335 and 1290 days together and afterwards the 1260 days exactly 75 days later. As I said, I do not want to address these "peanuts" here. The future will prove very soon who is right. But I wanted to show that there always appears a small time difference at the beginning of the timelines and of course, this must be so.

What all commentators have in common is that the timeline of 1335 days stands at the beginning and they have also another criterion in common:

All have their timelines are starting with the announcement of the National Sunday Law in the U.S. and at the second milestone (after 30, 45, 60 or 75 days) they see the Universal Sunday Law already erected. If the reader is aware of other interpretations, then please inform me. I do not know of others so far.

But exactly with this I see a problem. Even a major problem! First, Ellen White has not given us any clues about this. Although we know as Adventists that there will be in fact a National Sunday Law, Ellen White has never connected this with the timelines of Daniel 12. Anyhow, she wrote almost nothing about the timelines, as little as she wrote about the seven seals, churches, trumpets and plagues. Ellen White lets us research these things by ourselves. She had not received any light on these things that should be known to the very last generation through study. God's will is that we get to know these things using our brains created by Him, studying and understanding His revelations. Therefore, no additional light was given other than received by Ellen White. That does not mean that we are not likely to know these things. On the contrary, the Book of Revelation begins with a blessing for those who study this book and keep what is written in it.

It seems so obvious and clear to interpret this small time difference in the timelines at the beginning with the National, and the following Universal Sunday Law, that it is almost carved into our minds. At least in the minds of those who have dealt with timeline studies and were not deterred by brethren and the general doctrine of the SDAC that this was time setting. But is that really so? Since Ellen White does not directly help us, we should stick to the Bible, and also consult our knowledge of history. We have been encouraged by the Spirit of Prophecy again and again, to study the history, since it will repeat itself. This we want to do now together.

What all timeline students, at least those who are known to me, so far did not take into account, is a really in-depth consideration of the following biblical text:

And I saw one of his heads as it were wounded to death; and his deadly wound was healed: and all the world wondered after the beast. (Revelation 13:3)

The text is about the first beast, which rises from the sea (Europe): the papacy. In this text we find a historical progression that is often overlooked. While we all see that the papacy received the (seemingly) deadly wound in 1798 by Napoleon and his general, Berthier, many believe that the healing of the wound and that the whole earth wonders after the beast, are one and the same moment. I hold a different view and will prove it.

I see here a clear temporal progression:

1. Papacy receives the apparently deadly wound, 1798: "And I saw one of his heads as it were wounded to death"
2. The deadly wound heals, "and his deadly wound was healed."
3. And the whole earth follows the papacy: "and the whole earth wondered after the beast."

It gets even more obvious if we read Revelation 13:11-12:

And I beheld another beast coming up out of the earth; and he had two horns like a lamb, and he spake as a dragon. And he exerciseth all the power of the first beast before him, and causeth the earth and them which dwell therein to worship the first beast, whose deadly wound was healed. (Revelation 13:11-12)

We know that the second beast is the U.S., which will help the first beast to spread its power over the whole earth. Now, superficially reading this text, you could think that this text talks only about the National Sunday Law and then about the spreading of this Sunday Law. Hence, many fit this into the time difference at the beginning of timelines of Daniel 12 and let it start with the National Sunday Law in the United States.

At closer examination of this text, we find exactly the same progression as before, in Revelation 13:3, and it contains an even clearer separation of section 3 above: "and the whole earth wondered after the beast."

Let us consider the question of when the second beast, the U.S., will start to help the first beast, the papacy. Is it written in Revelation 13:12, that the deadly wound of the first beast heals, because or as soon as the United States help him? No, definitely not! The deadly wound heals in accordance with this text before. And the first beast has got already "power" before! And this is the point that many commentators have overlooked!

The healing of the mortal wound of the papacy, which it received in 1798, is a major milestone in the interpretation of Revelation 13. If we draw the conclusion of the considered verses, we have four important dates in a clear forward motion:

1. Papacy receives apparently deadly wound, 1798: "And I saw one of his heads as it were wounded to death"
2. The fatal wound heals, "and his deadly wound was healed", "worship the first beast, whose deadly wound was healed."

3. The United States begin to help the papacy, introducing the National Sunday Law: "And I beheld another beast coming up out of the earth; and he had two horns like a lamb, and he spake as a dragon. And he exerciseth all the power of the first beast before him"
4. The whole earth follows after the papacy: "and all the world wondered after the beast.", "and causeth the earth and them which dwell therein to worship the first beast"

It is clear from these texts that it is wrong to assume, that healing of the "mortal wound" is the same moment as the proclamation of the National Sunday Law in the U.S. Before the U.S. can start helping the first beast, the first beast must be cured before. Otherwise the following text would also make no sense:

And deceiveth them that dwell on the earth by the means of those miracles which he had power to do in the sight of the beast; saying to them that dwell on the earth, that they should make an image to the beast, which had the wound by a sword, and did live. (Revelation 13:14)

The image of the first beast can be made, only when its deadly wound by the sword is completely healed, and all will realize that it is still alive. This is why I titled this article "The Resurrection of the Beast".

Now the important question: When will this apparently deadly wound be healed?

I found this question in many interpretations, but again it was understood as the National Sunday Law in the U.S., and that it cannot be, as we have learned from the above analysis. What is it then that heals the wound?

Let us examine the wound closely. A doctor indeed must examine his patient closely before he can make a diagnosis and begin treatment. The fatal wound that papacy received was that Pope Pius VI was lead into captivity. Thus ended the papal supremacy, which had begun in 538 and lasted 1260 prophetic days or literal years until 1798.

As I have repeatedly explained, it was always the goal of the papacy, which is the representative of all the pagan religions since Babylon, to gain world domination. I would like to compare this whole world domination with the whole patient's body. Was the whole body of the patient "killed" or hurt in 1798? Did the papacy prior to 1798 actually reach its goal of world domination?

No! An unequivocal no! The papacy was indeed on the best way to reach this, but large parts of the earth were withdrawn to its access. One example is the New World, the desert, into which the woman, the true church, especially in the 1260 years of papal supremacy, fled:

And the woman fled into the wilderness, where she hath a place prepared of God, that they should feed her there a thousand two hundred and threescore days. (Revelation 12:6)

But of course, the papacy did not rule either the whole of Asia, Africa or Australia. What did it rule then? We all know that the dominion of the first animal from the sea, was confined to EUROPE. The sea, we interpret according to Revelation 17:15 as Europe itself, as we can find there a lot different peoples and languages in a comparing small space at the relevant time, while other parts of the world were far less inhabited:

And he saith unto me, The waters which thou sawest, where the whore sitteth, are peoples, and multitudes, and nations, and tongues. (Revelation 17:15)

So what was the wound that the "patient" had received? He lost the supremacy over EUROPE! This is only the fifth part of the earth and not the whole patient, the desired dominance of the papacy over the whole earth itself. Therefore, this wound was not mortal, because only a part of the body of the patient was injured, and he still could keep working with his secret societies in the underground. A patient does not die immediately, if he breaks just a leg or an arm!

If we understand this, then we also understand what the healing of the supposedly "deadly" wound must be! The papacy must first go back to the point where it was stopped in 1798 and had suffered a setback on the road of achieving world domination. It needs to regain hegemony over EUROPE and restart newly at this point.

We Adventists are so focused on the U.S. because of our history and the Sunday Law prophecies of Ellen White, that we are completely unaware that Europe is in Revelation, one of the most important milestones of all in the eschatological processes. We need to watch closely, if we should not overlook where we stand in prophetic time. A National Sunday Law in the United States cannot come at all, before the wound of the papacy is completely healed.

Now we take a closer look. Where in Europe would we first be able to recognize signs that the wound is healing?

1. In the Vatican itself. In 1929, the wound began to heal for the papacy, which since 1798 had no more political power, and got back the Vatican as a tiny but political dominion. The Vatican is just the religious seat of Satan. And the Vatican is only a tiny part of Europe and the city center, of just one city: Rome. This can be described as just the beginning of a healing process, an initial scarring, but no more. The patient in 1929 was still in intensive care! But the papacy has not ceased to exist since 1798, but built up a huge "political" secret underground network, and this leads us to the second point...
2. In Germany. In 1776, not only the U.S. was founded but also that power had been established, which should make the U.S. once the second beast: The Illuminati. They were founded by Adam Weishaupt in Ingolstadt, near Munich, on 1st of May, 1776. Please read the article: "The Year of Saul". The "political" underground seat of Satan is based in Germany.

After I had shown the Orion Clock before its publication to one of my SDA friends, he said spontaneously: "Is this a German clock?" He was referring to the number of the years, which are recorded there, and the corresponding historical events connected with the church of God:

- 1914: Outbreak of World War II. Separation of SDA church into two groups by excluding God's faithful members in GERMANY by Conradi. Afterwards propagation of these problems across whole Europe.
- 1936: 3 years before the outbreak of World War II began the persecution of the Churches which kept the Sabbath in GERMANY. This persecution by the NAZIS lasted for 10 years. Already in 1933, the Churches had been threatened by a ban, but the prohibition was withdrawn. From the year 1936 for the first time, brethren were taken to the concentration camps because they kept the Sabbath. Unfortunately, the SDA Church compromised in this period in many ways with the State. Soon these problems extended over all Europe.
- 1986: Application of SDAC for membership of the ACK (ecumenical organization) in GERMANY. Worldwide expansion of these problems. Attendance of SDAC at World Prayer Day in Assisi.

Why did all these problems of the apostasy of the SDAC start in GERMANY and just then spread over Europe or worldwide? The Bible gives us again the answer:

And to the angel of the church in Pergamos write; These things saith he which hath the sharp sword with two edges; I know thy works, and where thou dwellest, even where Satan's seat is: and thou holdest fast my name, and hast not denied my faith, even in those days wherein Antipas was my faithful martyr, who was slain among you, where Satan dwelleth. (Revelation 2:12-13)

From the Orion study we learned that Pergamos relates to the third seal and the events in 1936 before the Second World War in GERMANY. The throne of Satan is therefore located whilst the period of the third seal and the third church, in no other country than Germany.

In the same text refers "Antipas, my faithful witness" to the events of the previous period of the second seal and the second church, Smyrna. This was the First World War, which began in 1914, and in which the faithful witnesses of God were excluded from the church and had to die a martyr's death. Where did all this begin? Again in GERMANY and the biblical text tells us that there "dwells Satan"!

Germany is therefore also a seat of Satan. The political underground seat with the headquarters of the Illuminati in Ingolstadt. It is no coincidence that this last pope, under which the deadly wound will heal completely, is a German!

Hence, where should we expect the very first signs that the wound EUROPE soon would heal? In GERMANY, the political seat of Satan.

And probably, many know indeed, something unusual happened last year 2009 in Germany, which tells us where we are in prophetic time:

Press releases of the Evangelical Church in Germany
German Supreme Court Curbs Sunday Shopping
Open Shops During All Advent Sundays Unconstitutional

December 1, 2009 Berlin/Karlsruhe, December 1 (idea) - Church victory: The German Supreme Court has curbed Sunday shopping during the advent season in the capital Berlin.

The Federal Constitutional Court in Karlsruhe today ruled the Berlin regulations allowing shops to open on up to ten Sundays annually, including all four Sundays leading up to Christmas, unconstitutional. The German federal constitution protects Sundays as days of rest and "spiritual elevation".

The judicial decision, which is expected to reflect on regulations in other federal states, will take effect in 2010. The Protestant and Catholic Churches in Berlin had challenged the liberal shopping regulations in the capital and appealed to the Constitutional Court.

The Protestant Bishop of Berlin, Markus Droege, characterized the weekly day of rest as a "cultural and social achievement". Katrin Goering-Eckardt, President of the Protestant Church's General Synod, also welcomed the court decision. She described the day of rest as a "Christian gift to society as a whole". Goering-Eckardt, member of the Green Party, is also vice-president of the German Bundestag.

Alois Glueck, President of the Central Committee of German Catholics, welcomed the fact that the Constitutional Court has called a halt to a "total commercialization of life as a whole". Great cultures have days of rest, stated the veteran politician of the Bavarian Christian Social Union.

This confirmation of the Federal Constitutional Court became effective on the 1st of January, 2010.

Let's summarize: First, the wound began to heal at the religious seat of Satan in Rome in 1929. Now this process will be completed quickly. At the second seat of Satan, his political seat, the Sunday Law, the mark of the beast, was now officially confirmed. Germany has been united with Rome, and bears the mark of the beast.

Following the prophetic insights from our previous thoughts, we should be able to perceive the next step in Europe. The entire European Union is a political union, that should have made us alert a long time ago, if we had more understanding that the wound of the papacy only can heal if it regains dominance over Europe. Who knows what really lies behind the European Union, also knows that the papacy is the real ruler of this Masonic state structure. There are excellent presentations by speakers from Amazing Discoveries, like Walter Veith. Who does not want to believe me, should please have a look at these materials: www.amazing-discoveries.org and www.amazingdiscoveries.tv.

And, what is going on now in Europe since the beginning of 2010? We read at: COMECE.eu

Mobilization for the protection of Sunday at European level

A Conference to relaunch the debate on Sunday protection at European level will be held on 24 March in the European Parliament in Brussels. It is organized by the MEPs Thomas Mann (EPP, Germany) and Patrizia Toia (S&D, Italy) together with the Konrad-Adenauer Foundation. Several European trade unions, civil society organizations and Churches support the conference. László Andor, the new EU Commissioner for Employment and Social Affairs will take the floor, as well as numerous experts and MEPs.

The European Commission will soon be presenting a new draft of the "Working Time Directive". In its initial 1993 version the Directive stipulated that Sunday should be «in principle» the weekly day of rest for European workers. This reference had been withdrawn in 1996 by the European Court of Justice, on the grounds that the European legislator had not given sufficient reasons as to a link between a work-free Sunday and the protection of workers' health.

Meanwhile, recent studies[1] have demonstrated the existence of a strong link between workers' health and a work-free Sunday. Furthermore, a common weekly rest day for the whole of society allows families to spend time with each other, and all citizens to engage in cultural, spiritual and social activities. Sunday moreover strengthens the social cohesion of our societies, which has been undermined by the current economic crisis. It therefore represents a precious achievement, which should be recognised as a pillar of the European Social Model.

That is why COMECE supports the initiative of the MEPs Thomas Mann and Patrizia Toia and invites every interested person and organisation to take part in this Conference.

Wednesday 24 March 2010, 16h30-19h30 in the European Parliament Building JAN, Room 2Q2, Rue Wiertz, B-1047 Brussels

Registration required (access badge) by Friday 12 March

Dear friends and brethren, we are approaching an important moment in history, the Bible mentions again and again: The wound of the first beast of Revelation 13 is to be cured! When this citizens' initiative is to succeed – and many state now that this could be beginning of 2012 – the Sunday would be anchored in the European Constitution. This would be the mark of the beast all over Europe and a sign that the pope has regained its dominance. Hence the wound would be healed and the other prophetic events would occur in rapid succession. The first beast of 1798 would have completely resurrected.

Many still believe that the timelines of Daniel 12, that is, the timeline of 1335 days, would begin with the proclamation of the National Sunday Law in the United States. But on closer examination this results as false. There is a statement of Ellen White that does not match the idea of the commentators who believe that the timelines would begin with the National Sunday Law in the U.S. and then align after a brief time the world-wide Sunday Law:

The Last Act in the Drama

Never did this message apply with greater force than it applies today. More and more the world is setting at nought the claims of God. Men have become bold in transgression. The wickedness of the inhabitants of the world has almost filled up the measure of their iniquity. This earth has almost reached the place where God will permit the destroyer to work his will upon it. The substitution of the laws of men for the law of God, the exaltation, by merely human authority, of Sunday in place of the Bible Sabbath, is the last act in the drama. When this substitution becomes universal, God will reveal Himself. He will arise in His majesty to shake terribly the earth. He will come out of His place to punish the inhabitants of the world for their iniquity, and the earth shall disclose her blood and shall no more cover her slain. {7T 141.1}

The previous interpreters, which would start the timelines with the National Sunday Law, presented their time tables as follows:

Please note the bottom line! The world-wide Sunday law - depending on the commentator - is seen at a distance of 30, 45, 60 or 75 days after the National Sunday Law in the United States. But according to Ellen White, God Himself rises and punishes the earth, if the Sunday Law has become universal.

What does that mean? This can only refer to the beginning of the time of the plagues. Ellen White with her previous quote points to a particular verse in Daniel 12, where "Michael arises":

And at that time shall Michael stand up, the great prince which standeth for the children of thy people: and there shall be a time of trouble, such as never was since there was a nation even to that same time: and at that time thy people shall be delivered, every one that shall be found written in the book. (Daniel 12:1)

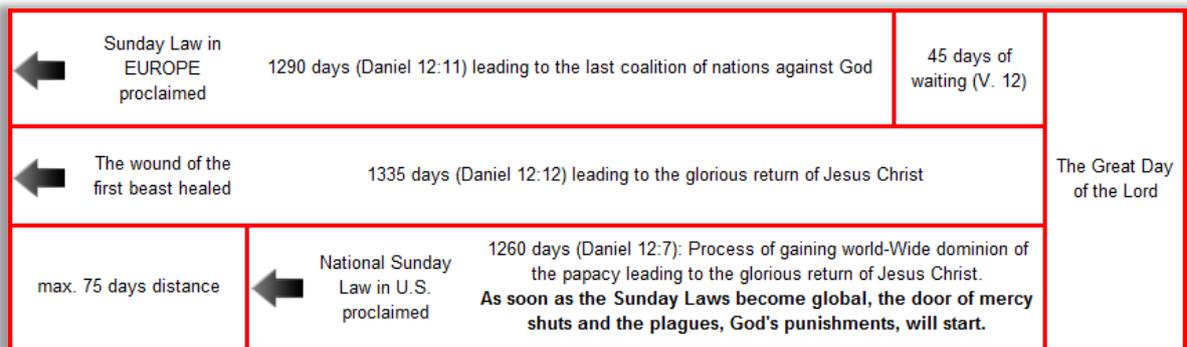

Michael is Jesus. And the time of trouble, such as never was, is uniquely identified by the Spirit of Prophecy as the time of the plagues. Hence, the time of the plagues will begin at the moment when the Sunday Law has become global. This is again an advancing process:

1. First, the wound of the first beast must heal. The scepter of power (the daily) goes back to the papacy in Europe. This is the end of the healing process, which began in 1929. The papacy, will have recovered all of its old hegemony over Europe, which it displays with the introduction of Europe-wide Sunday law.
2. A national Sunday law in the United States initiates a second process. The Papacy is now there, where it was stopped in 1798, and strives anew to achieve the original goal since the construction of the Tower of Babel: The world domination. It needs but a second power, which rushes to help: The second beast of Revelation 13, the United States. The introduction of the National Sunday Law in the United States indicates that the papacy is now restarting the process of obtaining the global domination. This process begins in the U.S., and the U.S. help to ensure that the whole world makes an image of the first beast (Sunday Laws). Step by step, country by country, state union by state union are added.
3. The process of globalization of the Sunday Laws comes to a close. All countries in the world will have introduced the Sunday Laws. And this is the point at which Jesus rises and terminates His priestly service in the Most Holy. The end of the time of grace. The time of plagues begins. This process of globalization will be supported by Satan himself through the faked second coming. When he appears as "angel of light" the storm will be terribly on us.

This is the only explanation for the timelines that makes sense. Although we know that the end-time events will go quickly, we also see that many countries are not yet ready to be guided entirely by the papacy. This must come a time of great problems: war, famine, epidemics and natural disasters. Please compare Ellen White's first vision. This is a process of many months.

Therefore, I would like to present now the corrected chart:

This is in conformity with the writings of the Bible, the Spirit of Prophecy and also the previous quotation "The last act of the drama."

Therefore, it gets exciting from 2010, because on the 1st of January, the national Sunday became effective in Germany. We should now closely monitor the events in Brussels. Please note also that the year 2010 is an important milestone for the Illuminati in Ingolstadt to reach the world-leadership for the papacy. In the article The Year of Saul is shown, that this is a very special anniversary year. The 234th Birthday of the Illuminati, which has a special significance in the Masonic prophecy. That all these things have started again in Germany, is compliant with the Clock of God in Orion, which is not a German clock, but shows that Germany is playing a big role as political seat of Satan in the prophetic end-time events.

Until the end of time, we will continuously acquire new knowledge. It is not surprising that we are just now able to see everything more clearly, what others simply could not see, because it was not yet the time of fulfillment. I do not want to minimize in any way the efforts of outstanding teachers and Bible students like Marian G. Berry or certain brothers and sisters in Canada! Without these studies, my findings would not have been possible. We are one people and work all on one big puzzle, which is forming now slowly a certain picture. For ...

Many shall be purified, and made white, and tried; but the wicked shall do wickedly: and none of the wicked shall understand; but the wise shall understand. (Daniel 12:10)

Nothing Happened?

Of course I received some, but comparatively few, mails since the May 1st like the following:

Hi!

On May 1st did not happen anything, did it?

Just wanted to ask, perhaps you know something...

When are they going to vote for Sunday Law in the European Union? Or do they have now other problems because of Greece?

With kind regards

D.

Dear brother John!

Everybody is asking me now, "Oops, didn't come the Sunday Law?" Because all of them do have a copy of the "Year of Saul" article their supposition seems to confirm, that it isn't serious. I searched the Internet if there was a collection of signatures at May 1st but couldn't find out if something happened at all. Here in ... I am alone with a friend and nobody in church speaks about the time of the end; it is almost dangerous to mention something like that. No actual events in the sermons, we are only asked to read the Bible. Would you please write me, what happens in the background? Because I do not speak English it is rather hard for me to get some information. Thank you, and I would be very happy to read from you.

Have a blessed week, your sister in the Lord

R.

These are the worried mails of beloved brethren who are supporting John Scotram and are attacked because seemingly nothing happened on May 1st. Well, did nothing really happen which at least could give us hints on how far away the Sunday Law is? It is also interesting to remark that not just one critic wrote anything similar and said that nothing would have happened. I just get to know this from third persons. Do the critics know more than the supporters of my studies?

In my article The Year of Saul, I examined a special message of the Vatican that the reign of Satan would already have started at 29th of July, 2009. The so far newest papal encyclical was published indeed at this date, in which the Pope wants to see an ethical world leader as head of a newly to be established economical world government. I had asked: "Who else except he himself could be it?"

Later, I mentioned a study of Canadian brethren that I had read, and compared if the many time distance indications that are given there, even exactly on the day, would coincide with preceding worldwide events; and therefore, if their time lines would have already started. They do have two overlapping 1260-day periods. The first starts with the application of the Pope for world leadership and ends with the close of probation. The second begins whilst the first with a Worldwide Sunday Law and ends shortly before Jesus' Coming.

Between the Universal Sunday Law and the National Sunday Law in US that comes before, they see a short distance of 75 days. And between the application of the Pope for world dominion, which I saw at the 10th of July, 2009, when Obama visited the Pope in a secret meeting after the G8 summit which established the G20 as new economical world government, we had to expect 295 days until the beginning of the National Sunday Law in U.S. according to the map of the Canadians. This indicated May 1st, 2010 and marked the beginning of the time lines of Daniel 12 in the map of the Canadians.

In the article The Resurrection of the Beast, I already addressed some errors in the map of the Canadians. I proved, with the Bible, that the timelines would not start as they believe with a National Sunday Law in U.S. but with the healing of the wound of the first beast of Revelation 13. Please attentively reread this article because the predictions there are ready to be fulfilled very soon.

I clearly stated that I would just investigate in the section Behind Enemy Lines which messages left from the Vatican and also would examine if the Canadian brethren are right with their time line studies or not. Now, my adversaries seem to use May 1st to attack the Orion Study of a different section The Clock of God and try to destroy it. But the Orion Clock is God's own prophecy and does not change, like God does not change, but the plans of Satan in the section "Behind Enemy Lines" can be controlled and foiled by God. Whomever mixes both of these sections up and uses it against the Book of God in Orion is venturing onto thin ice.

These are almost criminal, treacherous, and fraudulent tactics of seduction. Do they want to obscure the light radiated by the Orion Study to the sins of the people of Seventh Day Adventists with this distortion of my statements? I should have expected exactly this after knowing our church now for several years. They are blind leaders and unfortunately many of the people (but not all) are blind too.

Now, neither the European nor the American Sunday Law did come directly at May 1st. But did nothing really happen? I do not believe that the timelines of Daniel 12 already started, and I found more and much heavier errors in the study of the Canadians by help of the Orion Clock. They studied everything with devotion and with best human efforts but they were missing a special revelation of the time map of God. Therefore, there must have been errors in the study of the Canadians. For example, they see the beginning of the repetition of the seals and trumpets also just 295 days before the Sunday Law in USA; but the Orion Clock shows that the seals are repeating already since 1846. I did not mention this because I did not want to hurt or attack anybody. I still do not attack the study of the Canadians but mention just parts of it that have to be corrected. Many details are surely correctly identified and I will emphasize these positive findings as soon as they will come to pass.

In the article The Resurrection of the Beast, I stated clearly that "it will get exciting from 1st of May" and we should monitor exactly what will happen from there on. Seemingly, no one did heed my counsel that I again have to gather the information. I notice, anyway, that just a few brethren bother to use the studies that I gather in the articles to advance with their own studies. I emphasized already many times that there are still more findings in the Orion Clock. Did anybody so far discover that there are still other important years marked in Orion? Please advance with your studies and do not wait until I find the time to finish the article series The Throne Lines which will surely cause even more agitation in SDA church.

But one thing was already clear: May 1st 2010, the 234th birthday of the Illuminati, would be the launch of the last big deception of mankind by Satan. He knows that he just has little time and he uses it now. Let us just read in the news what happened at and around May 1st, OK?

1. The oil spill along the Gulf Coast of the USA

At the night of April 30 to May 1st, the first harbingers of the oil spill at the coast of Louisiana arrived after the explosion of the drilling rig of April 26. On May 1st, in three other states, a state of emergency was proclaimed. This crisis made Obama, on May 2, travel there because there is harsh criticism of his stance on the same day. It is rumored that the oil spill could even lead to his fall. They call it even "the Katrina of Obama". Of course he will not allow this to happen. There are many messages on May 1st that the United States could be cut off from 25% of its oil deliveries which have to go through the strait of the Gulf. Hence, an economic and ecological chaos is threatening the US. Jesus comes to destroy those who destroy the earth! Ellen White also says that first would come national apostasy (Sunday Laws) and then would follow national ruin (economic bankruptcy, anarchy, dictatorship). If we see the ruin already coming, the Sunday Laws have to come even earlier.

2. A failed terrorist attack in the heart of the USA

On the evening of the May 1st, a terrorist attack at Times Square in New York was foiled. That happened at the evening of the Labor Day as many Labor Union meetings took place there. It would probably have been a far greater carnage as on 9/11. If hits would have "worked out", martial law would already have been established in the US. First news said that it would have been a single perpetrator, but the Taliban confessed from the very beginning that they would be responsible for the terrorist attack. Now, the knowledge condenses that the man seems to belong to a network of Pakistani terrorists. This corresponds to the predictions of some top analysts who since three years are foreseeing for the year 2010 terrorist attacks in the US that would change everything.

That was the plan as a birthday gift for the Illuminati but was thwarted by the hand of God. Now they already threaten with something bigger and international observers and experts predict a major attack for the remaining months of 2010. What is missing in the US, is a major crisis! How many of this kind do we still need in USA? Katrina, economic collapse of the real estate bubble, the largest oil spill in US history and now a major impending terrorist attack, which undoubtedly will be again directed by its own government, as was 9/11 before. When will the dollar cease to exist and starting with this event begin anarchy and military rule? The experts are predicting a period of a few months, but certainly still in 2010.

3. The fall of the Euro Empire

On May 1st, there was serious rioting in Greece because of the austerity package which had been proclaimed as a rescue operation for the bankrupt country. Three people died in the flames in a bank into which a Molotov cocktail had been thrown. Anarchy reigns in the streets of Athens. On Monday, the 3rd of May the Euro begins to fall steadily. Panic spreads in the foreign exchange markets. One speaks of the disintegration of the Euro zone and even the European Union. That will destabilize the entire global economy and also lead to the disintegration of the dollar as the top analysts on www.prisonplanet.tv are stating clearly. Anyone who purchases a membership there, may hear and see whereto the fall and the riots of Greece from May 1st could lead:

1. Anarchy in Europe first, then in the whole world.
2. Destruction of the Euro and then the Dollar.
3. Military dictatorship in US.
4. World reign of US in a New World Order.

And all are agreeing, within the next 9 - 12 months comes the third World War, without which the ailing world economy could not be saved. These are expert opinions, and I stay out of that. All I know is that Ellen White has seen that before the collapse of democracy and a dictatorship and ruin of the US as a free nation, the national apostasy in the form of Sunday Laws will come, and I trust in this.

4. Unprecedented price falls at the stock markets

On Thursday, May 6, the US stock market crashes along with the Dow Jones index as well as another 8 indexes. A price collapse almost like a "miracle" over 1,000 points within minutes that leads tens of thousands of investors at the border of ruin. Only those who had insider information about this imminent course fall could save themselves. Leading experts agree: It was not a typo, it was not a computer error, but "someone with incredible power has committed something". Yes, and indeed he committed a crime. It was the largest investor fraud of human history. Hundreds of billions of dollars of capital have been destroyed in 10 minutes. The worst of this crime was that during the course fall no investor could neither buy nor sell. All were powerless and had to watch how their investments raced into the stop losses that had been set previously very low and their assets had been destroyed. They could take no action anymore. An unprecedented case of economic crime!

The victims: the middle class, small and medium enterprises, small and medium-sized private investors and smaller banks that are not part of the worldwide economic power of the Pope which is led by the Bilderberg group.

The winners: the Insiders, the Illuminati, the Bilderbergers, the Pope.

On Friday, May 7, the whole fraud repeats once more in a little abated form. Another "miracle" or another economic crime?

It raises the question: "Why does the Pope need so much stolen money right now?"

5. A weird statement at <http://www.free-sunday.eu>

At the website of MEP Martin Kastler, where he collects the signatures for the first European citizen initiative that wants to establish a European Sunday Law, we read a strange message to the press:

May 2, 2010

On the Road to Success– more than 15.000 signatures for a work-free Sunday

Just two months after the start of the online campaign "Mum and Dad belong to us on Sunday" more than 15,000 supporters from across Europe have registered at www.free-sunday.eu. For the initiator Martin Kastler this means that the campaign is "on the road to success". He reports: "Additionally more than 1,300 supporters have already registered on Facebook for a work free Sunday. And these supporters come from all over Europe." The Member of European Parliament Kastler announced as a next step to find coordinators for the campaign in the different Member States. Because only through a decentralized management of the campaign's concern the protection of a work-free Sunday could be taken forward citizen-friendly in the individual Member States.

Of course, I had observed the development of their collection of signatures. The limit of one million signatures had already been lowered significantly in order to let this citizen's initiative succeed. There are just 300,000 signatures required to bring about a new discussion of the Sunday Law in the European Parliament. But the trend on this web site had been rather slow since March and right in April just trickled in a little more than 1,000 signatures. After the campaign was launched in March with 14,000 signatures, one could interpret this only as a big failure.

Now, Martin Kastler, one day after May 1st, says just the opposite. He talks about a breakthrough! [The German original article of Martin Kastler uses "breakthrough" instead of "On the Road to Success"] Where and when did this "breakthrough" happen, if you cannot see it by the number of signatures on this same site?

We know that on May 1st important trade union meetings were held, and the breakthrough, about which Kastler speaks, can only have happened there. These people know something we do not know yet, and in my next article in this section, A Gift of Heaven, I will show you what it is.

To heal his child "Europe" from the old wound, the Pope needs money - a lot of money. But he wants to destabilize also the world economy to begin his reign "of peace and security". For this he needs disasters, terrorist attacks and empty bellies of a humanity that cries out for peace and security. If money is gone, all will start to scream, and when the stomach is empty, Sunday Laws restricting the religious freedom of a few fanatics will seem to be a very small price for a full plate.

Since May 1st we have seen the beginning of all these man-made "plagues" by a satanic elite. Only those who are completely blind and deaf are still claiming, "Nothing happened!"

A lot has happened: We were all witnesses of the beginning of the end of the time of the end since the 1st of May 2010.

Yes, come Lord Jesus and lead us home!

A Gift of Heaven

Originally published on Sunday, May 9, 2010, 3:15 pm in German at www.letztercountdown.org

While my critics boldly assert that on May 1st nothing would have happened, and thus lull the majority of us into a false sense of security; indeed is happening so much that this is worth two articles at one day.

Since late last week, the first week of May, not even seven days after the 1st of May, we read for the first time on <http://allianz-fuer-den-freien-sonntag.de/> [translation in this article] an incredible report that should make our alarm bells sound like the horns of a million trucks and trains at the same time.

But please allow me a question before. Why didn't we hear anything from Brussels since March 24, and why did everything in Europe regarding the Sunday Law seem to have come to a standstill? I set several Google news alerts like "Sunday protection", "protection of the Sunday", etc. but did not receive many matching results. So much silence could mean only one thing: the calm before the storm. Behind the scenes, everything has been prepared for a long time; now almost everyone should have understood this. The Satanic forces, who in high positions want to implement a Sunday Legislation in Europe, US and then the rest of the world, are just waiting for the go-ahead. Since I was attacked from the beginning for my articles in Behind Enemy Lines even by many former friends within SDAC who just do not want to admit in which time we are really living, and still think that it would be more important to make long-term plans for their children and families, than to observe the enemy movements and to sound the trumpets, I had decided not to publish any more additional assumptions.

I was also asked several times why I would not have published already the article "The Shell". This has to do with the fact that the "shell" in the Pope's coat of arms again points to another Masonic/numerological date, and this lies again in May. [The articles regarding the coat of arms of the Pope are still not available in English because of lack of honorary translators.] The shell is a symbol of devotion to Mary, as we get to know in the following document, and if I still have time left, I'll finish the article on this last "power" in the papal coat of arms, which is Satan himself in his female form as "Mary" and is called Spiritism in the writings of Ellen G. White.

For this short article, I copy a quote from a document of Klaus Schäfer, Linguistic analysis of "Shell", which can be downloaded here [in German language]:

Chapter 4 - The shell as a symbol

4.1 The shell in Christian iconography

The shell is the symbol for the divine conception of Mary, especially in the Italian Renaissance. A popular slogan was "The Virgin with the Pearl" with the motto that Mary "by the heavenly dew" was fruitful. The image of the shell with the pearl is also in the Baroque a symbol of the conception of divine grace. Physiologus states that the pearl oyster rises at sunrise from the sea, opens its shell, is fertilized by the dew of the morning and then gives birth to the pearl. With the magic power of the agate stone, the pearl fishers find the pearl oyster. Christianized, this means: The two shells of the oyster are compared with the Old and New Testament, the morning dew with the Holy Spirit, the pearl with Christ (Mat 13:45-46). John the Baptist is equated with the agate stone, as he points to Jesus (John 1:29). At the baptism of Christ, John "sometimes pours with a shell water over the head of Christ." The shell, which receives the pearl by the heavenly dew is a symbol of the Virgin Mary and in the Baroque of the conception of divine grace in general. The mussel shells with their precious content became a symbol of the sacred grave and the resurrection of Christ of the badge of all pilgrims. These shells were also used as drinking vessels on the pilgrimage. The scallop was a pilgrim badge of the pilgrimage to Santiago. As a grave gift the shell symbolizes the grave, from which man will rise again at Judgment Day. The shell became the symbol of Mary, because Maria had Jesus - the pearl of great price - in her womb, and because it was believed in medieval times, that the shell was fertilized virginally by dew. In Roman-Christian times the shell appears to have been a sign of the life-giving female sex. On a Roman sarcophagus are two Christian brothers (twins?) united as they were at birth. ...

4.2 The shell in other religions and cultures

Not only the Christians know the shell as a symbol. The Buddhists see the shell as a symbol for good fortune. In the spiritual life of the inhabitants of Borneo, the soul of the departed escapes in mussels, which are therefore preserved with a part of the umbilical cord (path of the soul). The shell is the attribute of the ancient, sea-born Aphrodite (Roman Venus). For the Buddhist the white shell symbolizes secular power. In Hinduism it is sacred to Vishnu as the Lord of the water. From the shell, everything originated from the very beginning. In Islam, the shell is the ear that hears the divine word. In the symbolism of the Maya, the shell is common in connection with the waters. In China it stands for kingly dignity, a happy journey, a good life in the hereafter and the feminine "yin" principle for which the Jade is the "yang". Among the Greeks and Romans was the shellfish indicator for Poseidon / Neptune and Triton. It can be seen frequently representations, on which Tritons blow on shell horns as they pull Poseidon / Neptune's car. Greeks and Romans also used the shell as a sign of the Resurrection at funeral rites. It pointed for them also to a sea voyage, but also sexual passion, as the two halves cling firmly together, as they are attributes of Aphrodite / Venus, the "Sea-Borne". The shell is the image of the feminine and the humidity. It also stands for the all-nourishing soil. As such, they also symbolize birth, regeneration, life, love, marriage, fertility (an analogy to the vulva). Mollusc shells are symbols for the moon and virginity. Because of the similarity to the female sexual organ, the shell is in the symbolism for fertile water and the sea. It can grow in it the beautiful pearl. Next to it, the shell as a marine animal often was an attribute of sea gods. According to mythology, the shell under the influence of a solar beam or by the heavenly dew builds a pearl.

So we have again reached the veneration of Mary as a replacement for the old cult of the "Queen of Heaven", the moon goddess and her male counterpart Poseidon / Neptune. No one other than Satan himself is behind this shell. Mary, who was a highly blessed woman and the human recipient of our Lord, Jesus Christ, now rests in the tomb and like all other saints, is waiting without awareness for her resurrection; is being raped by the papal / satanic teachings and became a symbol for a non-existing life of the soul after death. The master lie of Satan, "You surely will not die", is again manifested in her. Whomever worships and adores Mary, worships the one who has raised this lie: the old serpent, the devil, who wants to deviate the worship of Jesus to Mary (to Satan himself). And the worship of the false Mary, "The Mother of All Nations", is also a symbol for the wrong day of rest, the Sunday, for she is the goddess of the moon, and as the mother of Satan she is connected with the father of Satan, the sun.

In this document of Klaus Schäfer we find another interesting hint and this will lead us quickly to the actual topic of this article:

Chapter 3.3 The Shell and Pope Sylvester

Even the Holy Sylvester is sometimes depicted with the shell. Here it has not the significance of the pilgrimage, but points according to legend to the baptism, which Emperor Constantine received by his hand. Such a portrait can be found for example in Ellwangen and Leutkirch. These are from the 15th century.

Pope Benedict XVI. claims that the symbol in his coat of arms is the scallop [Jacob's shell], the symbol of pilgrimage. I think not! Once is the veneration of Mary, which is emphasized since the Second Vatican Council by Rome, but it also has something to do with Emperor Constantine and the Sunday Law. I already knew since 2005 that Pope Benedict would be the one, under whom the Sunday Laws would be established. This realization was the reason that I withheld the article about the shell for such a long time. [The referred articles about the coat of arms of the Pope are not available in English language so far.] I needed a confirmation, that you would be able to believe me.

Who was this Emperor Constantine? The Adventists, who are familiar with history will already have pricked up!

Constantine was a Roman emperor, who took over the reign of the West in 312. Let's read just a few sentences on Wikipedia [there is also an English version on Wikipedia with the same facts]:

Constantine, who had previously been more inclined to monotheism (like his father he had worshiped the sun god, Sol Invictus) and knew Christianity since his youth, favored it in the following years more and more. However, we cannot infer reliably whether and to what extent he identified himself with this faith. When he attributed his victory over his enemies on divine assistance, he followed well the tradition of the Roman emperors. The closest he can be well described as an admirer of the Christian God, but not necessarily as a Christian in the strict sense, even if some researchers have yet exactly this opinion. ...

In 313 Constantine met with Licinius, the emperor of the East. He married Constantia, the favorite sister of Constantine. The two emperors adopted the so-called Edict of Milan (often referred to as the Edict of Tolerance of Milan), equating Christianity with other religions and thus assured the Christians free exercise of religion in the whole kingdom. Thus Christianity was not yet elevated to the state religion, this happened decades later under Theodosius I.

With Constantine, the time of the persecution of early Christians by the Romans and the slaughter of the saints in the Circus Romanus had terminated. The last ten terrible years of Diocletian are even mentioned in the prophecy of the church of Smyrna in the book of Revelation. With Constantine began a new epoch in the first cycle of the seals: Pergamos, the mingling of Christian doctrine with paganism. Let's read further how this happened:

Constantine himself did not publicly adopt Christianity: The Arch of Constantine, which celebrates his victory at the Milvian Bridge, although most of the usual pagan motifs are missing except the goddess of victory Victoria and the sun god, it also lacks any clear Christian symbols. All this can be interpreted in different ways, such that it is not certain if Constantine attributed his victory to the God of the Christians, but only a supreme deity. It is possible, however, that Constantine took account of the Gentiles.

The promotion of the Christian church by Constantine the Great after his arrival in Rome was already addressed above. But soon surfaced also serious problems: Already in 313 Constantine was confronted with the problems of the Church in Africa, which had split into the traditional church and the Donatists. Because of the rather poor sources can be said hardly anything more exactly about the background, even in research many details are controversial: the division could certainly not be undone, but the intervention of Constantine in this controversy was a sign of his new self-understanding, to exercise a kind of protective function for the church. In 321 Constantine declared tolerance of the Donatists, but the Emperor soon afterwards was forced to take action against the Donatists again - but without success. Also in 321, Constantine declared the dies solis, the "sun day", as feast day: Constantine ordered the closure of courts at the venerable "Day of the Sun" and declared it the "Day of Rest".

What is very interesting is also the following statement in the same article on Wikipedia:

In 325 Constantine convened the first Council of Nicaea, the first ecumenical council.

The first ever established Sunday Law in history of mankind and the first ecumenical council both were announced by Constantine the Great, who had been baptized by Pope Sylvester. And Pope Sylvester had the shell in his coat of arms like Benedict XVI. How interesting! Could it be that Benedict XVI wanted to indicate since 2005, that he would be the one under whose rule the Sunday Laws would be declared once more and that he would elevate those who would help him in the same manner as Pope Sylvester had elevated Constantine? And could it be that this might take place during a major ecumenical event? Until last Friday, 7th of May, 2010, all this would have been just speculation, and I would have been again violently attacked by my "brethren", if I had published this.

Three details, which will very soon be fulfilled, I had already expected:

1. The route to the proclamation of the Sunday Law would have something to do with the veneration of Mary. And the 13th of May is closely connected to the Marian apparitions of Fatima. The assault of John Paul II also took place on May 13th. The 13th of May is an important date in the occult world; and the 13th of May, 2010, of course particularly, because it is in the year of the formula "13 times 18 = 234 years, since 1776, the foundation of the Illuminati", as has been shown repeatedly.
2. It would be reminded of the Sunday Law of Constantine as this is still valid in the Roman Empire of today which still exists in disguised form as the Roman Catholic Church and is symbolized in the feet of the statue of Daniel in form of the metal iron.
3. It would be an ecumenical / European event, in which many people would come together from all over Europe to prepare the minds for the soon coming Sunday Laws.

Let us see first which ecumenical event will now take place. [The article was published originally before 12th of May in German language] At www.bild.de we read:

What will come to us?

The Ecumenical Church Congress (ÖKT) with 3,000 individual events causes for the city [Munich] next week (May 12 to 16) in exceptional condition. Downtown and the fairground will be besieged by over 100,000 people, the traffic stops and the police is rearmed. Mayor Christian Ude and Archbishop Reinhard Marx will be opening the Church Day on Wednesday at 18.30 hours at the Theresienwiese [Oktoberfest square in Munich].

It gets really packed already at the opening on Wednesday: For the evening of the encounter the complete "old town ring2 [major city traffic line] will be blocked from 11 hours on. The organizers already warn against trapping in the large worship services at the Theresienwiese, where just on Wednesday and Sunday are expected up to 160,000 visitors. But the ÖKT also attracts many celebrities. Chancellor Angela Merkel is there on Friday, Nena gives a concert, and EKD boss Margot Kaessmann, who has fallen because of her alcohol driving, will perform even over the weekend. BILD tells you, on what you have to be set:

- POLICE: 500 officials care only about the Church Day. They make identity checks, guard the guests of honor and block major roads. Vice President Robert Kopp warns all offenders: "We are rigorous; they will be towed."
- TRAINS: 95 percent of all visitors will be traveling by public transportation. The German railway agency shortens the S-Bahn itinerary to 10 minutes and sends 450 additional trains on the tracks, the MVG reinforces especially the metro line number 2 in direction to the fair. "In these five days the underground, bus and tram will travel plus 90,000 km. That is about twice around the world," says director Brigitte Gemmer. A record operation!

- PARAMEDICS: The 700 forces of the Maltesean and Johannittian emergency services are shared by the 21 ambulance stations in the whole city. They also offer child care and transport services for disabled people.

The Ecumenical Church Congress held in Munich from 12th to 16th of May with over 3,000 individual events will be an event of European importance. We read at domradio.de:

May 8, 2010

ÖKT largest ecumenical project in Europe

The Second Ecumenical Church Congress (ÖKT) offers, according to the organizers, a chance to bring the voice of Christians in society to be heard. Especially in recent discussions of values, this is important. This was stressed by the General Secretary of the Central Committee of German Catholics, Vesper, in a radio interview. The Church Day in Munich is the largest ecumenical project in this form in Europe. Vesper explicitly praised the cooperation of the two major religions in the context of the abuse debate. It had been a fair relation all the time. At Wednesday more than 110,000 permanent participants from home and abroad are expected at the Church Day.

I had been waiting for a message that the European Sunday Law would be a topic of the ÖKT. But the organizers had put a ring of silence around this event, so it was hard to prove anything before. So will it happen to all, who believe that "nothing would have happened," because if it happens, it happens very quickly. Since Friday, 7th of May, 2010, the day after the price crash of the New York Stock Exchange and a week of the collapse of the EURO, we read at <http://allianz-fuer-den-freien-sonntag.de/>:

PRESS INFORMATION

2. Ecumenical Church Day

7th of May, 2010

Action for the free Sunday in 56 meters height

The "Alliance for the free Sunday", which is a union of Church and Trade Unions, unveils on Ascension Day in Munich a heavenly message at the tower of the "Old Peter" [central catholic church] and starts a spectacular descending action. As part of the Ecumenical Church Day the nationwide initiative "Alliance for the free Sunday" performs on May 13 at 14.00 hours on the stage of Munich's Marienplatz [Mary's Square] (p. 517 ÖKT-issue).

Under the title "Workday, Holiday, Sunday - anchor or burden?" BR moderator Achim Bogdahn interviews alliance initiators Hubert Thiermeyer (Trade Union VERDI), Erwin Helmer (Catholic Workers Movement) and Philip Büttner (KDA / EKD).

Before, the group "Pedites Singulares" from Augsburg will present in authentic historic Roman armors the historic Sunday Decree of Emperor Constantine. The highlight of the event will be held over the heads of the audience: With the support of the parish of St. Peter and the Munich Fire Department, the initiative will install in 56 meters a giant banner reading "Sunday is a Gift from Heaven" at the observation deck of the famous Munich Church very close to the Marienplatz [Mary's Square]. Then a daring messenger will abseil himself from the church tower to bring the "heavenly message" of the free Sunday to the stage of Marienplatz [Mary's Square] and proclaim it there.

05/13/2010, 14.00-14.45 Marienplatz / St. Peter, Munich

Here you could see the video [unfortunately removed] of the "angel descending from heaven" with the scroll of the "heavenly message".

And what comes next? The possible exits of the Marienplatz will certainly be barred by signature desks to collect signatures of supporters of the free Sunday. Even if they would not get all the necessary signatures at this opportunity at the Church and even Father's Day celebration, the "messengers of Constantine" will travel back to their European home countries, "inspired" by a Sunday message which is "a gift of heaven", in order to collect quickly the missing signatures.

Who actually noticed that this is again a repetition of history, as Ellen White has stressed so often?

Still the absence of Scriptural authority for Sunday keeping occasioned no little embarrassment. The people questioned the right of their teachers to set aside the positive declaration of Jehovah, "The seventh day is the Sabbath of the Lord thy God," in order to honor the day of the sun. To supply the lack of Bible testimony, other expedients were necessary. A zealous advocate of Sunday, who about the close of the twelfth century visited the churches of England, was resisted by faithful witnesses for the truth; and so fruitless were his efforts that he departed from the country for a season and cast about him for some means to enforce his teachings. When he returned, the lack was supplied, and in his after labors he met with greater success. He brought with him a roll purporting to be from God Himself, which contained the needed command for Sunday observance, with awful threats to terrify the disobedient. This precious document--as base a counterfeit as the institution it supported--was said to have fallen from heaven and to have been found in Jerusalem, upon the altar of St. Simeon, in Golgotha. But, in fact, the pontifical palace at Rome was the source whence it proceeded. Frauds and forgeries to advance the power and prosperity of the church have in all ages been esteemed lawful by the papal hierarchy. The roll forbade labor from the ninth hour, three o'clock, on Saturday afternoon, till sunrise on Monday; and its authority was declared to be confirmed by many miracles. {CC 576.1}

Friends, European Sunday Law is coming. And it comes - as the Shadow Study finally will show - probably in 2012, which is also marked in Orion. When the signatures are collected, it will be too late to wake up. The Sunday Laws will begin in the Old World and will come by citizen petitions and will soon be copied by America as the following quote of the Spirit of Prophecy states clearly:

The dignitaries of church and state will unite to bribe, persuade, or compel all classes to honor the Sunday. The lack of divine authority will be supplied by oppressive enactments. Political corruption is destroying love of justice and regard for truth; and even in free America, rulers and legislators, in order to secure public favor, will yield to the popular demand for a law enforcing Sunday observance. Liberty of conscience, which has cost so great a sacrifice, will no longer be respected. In the soon-coming conflict we shall see exemplified the prophet's words: "The dragon was wroth with the woman, and went to make war with the remnant of her seed, which keep the commandments of God, and have the testimony of Jesus Christ." Revelation 12:17 {CC 592.3}

When will the leaders recognize what is going on here? Or, are most of them already a part of the "game", and will give homage like the rest of blind humanity to the "daring messenger" who will abseil himself like an angel from the Roman Catholic church, the "Old Peter", and represent no one else other than the Fallen Angel, Satan himself, for the initiates? When will you, the people of God, wake up and shout to these leaders:

Blow ye the trumpet in Zion, and sound an alarm in my holy mountain: let all the inhabitants of the land tremble: for the day of the LORD cometh, for it is nigh at hand; (Joel 2:1)

Blow the trumpet in Zion, sanctify a fast, call a solemn assembly: (Joel 2:15)

Gather the people, sanctify the congregation, assemble the elders, gather the children, and those that suck the breasts: let the bridegroom go forth of his chamber, and the bride out of her closet.

Let the priests, the ministers of the LORD, weep between the porch and the altar, and let them say, Spare thy people, O LORD, and give not thine heritage to reproach, that the heathen should rule over them: wherefore should they say among the people, Where is their God? (Joel 2:16-17)

The Ecumenical Adventist

Originally published on Wednesday, May 12, 2010, 9:47 am in German at www.letztercountdown.org

About 10 minutes after I had published my last article A Gift of Heaven, which is mainly about the Second Ecumenical Church Day from 12th to 16th of May, 2010, in Munich and the expected "unveiling of the heavenly message of the Sunday" on Thursday May 13, I received an interesting post of the German Adventist Press Service, APD on my laptop:

Adventists take part at Church Day in Munich

Munich/Germany 10.05.2010/APD

Nearly 3,000 events are included in the 720-page program of the Second Ecumenical Church Congress, which takes place in Munich, 12 to 16th of May, under the biblical theme "That you may have hope". The Seventh-Day-Adventist Church will be present at the major event, where are more than 100,000 permanent participants expected. On Thursday, 13th of May, between 2:00 p.m. and 3:30 p.m., the conversation "What I like about you - presenting crossing denominations" takes place at the Exhibition Grounds in the workshop area of Hall B0. It will be attended by the minister for deaconship and ecumenism of the Evangelical Reformed Church, Dietmar Arends (Leer), Dr. John Hartlapp, lecturer in church history, philosophy, ecumenism and Religious History of the Adventist Theological College Friedensau near Magdeburg, and an associate professor of dogmatic and ecumenical theology at the Catholic Theological Faculty of the university of Tübingen, Dr. Anne Marie Mayer. The moderation has Rev. Dr. Maria Stettner, Theological Advisor in the Office of Regional Bishops of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in the church circle of Nuremberg.

In the "Agora" at the exhibition grounds, the Seventh-Day-Adventist Church in Bavaria informs under the motto "Being Christian in everyday life" (Hall A5, Booth I33), and the Adventist Theological College Friedensau near Magdeburg on "Education and Health" (Hall B6, Stand J12). The Adventist Development and Relief Agency, ADRA, is also represented with a presentation booth (Hall B4, Booth D28). At the "media mile" the Adventist Media Centre "Voice of Hope" shows its radio and television program, the "Hope Channel" (Hall B3, Booth M01).

The Seventh-day Adventist Church invites to religious worship services on Saturday, 14th of May, 6 pm to 7.30 pm. In the Adventist congregations Munich-Nymphenburg, Tizian Road 18, and Munich-Pasing, Bodensee Road 61, the Lord's Supper with foot washing takes place and in the Adventist congregation Munich-Isartal, Isartal Road 40, will be held a baptismal service.

In addition to the extensive thematic, liturgical and cultural program, the Second Ecumenical Church Congress in Munich provides for visitors also a profound range of psychological counseling, pastoral care and spiritual guidance by about 90 consultants from different denominations. In individual or group discussions as well as by spiritual accompaniment, personal conflicts, life decisions, experiences of suffering or actual emergency situations can be addressed. The consultants include the psychologists Matthias and Ulrike Dauenhauer from Reutlingen. He belongs to the Seventh-Day-Adventist Church, his wife to the Independent Evangelical-Lutheran Church.

The Protestant Seventh-Day-Adventist Church is represented at the national level by the German Bible Society, the Association of Evangelical Free Churches (VEF) and the Council of Christian Churches in Germany (ACK). In Switzerland, the Free Church is working in the cantonal associations of Christian churches in the Aargau, Basel Land, Basel-Stadt, Schaffhausen and Zurich and is a member of the Swiss Bible Society.

What a "contrast program" to those articles that I have written and which are so heavily attacked by this formerly "Adventist" Church! It's hard to believe, that we are actually prompted by our Adventist Press Service to attend on May 13 to show how ecumenical we are, and that all of us may realize what the true gift of heaven is. Why should we as Adventists attend such events, which involve only matters of dishonoring and mocking about our God and His day of rest what will ultimately bring persecution to His people? Did the entire Adventist Church become now completely disloyal or are these just the leaders? And why does the church not react, if it's like Walter Veith says on YouTube, that we have a bottom-up structure and just parts of the church would be a whore, but never the whole church? Anyhow, I lack the words to express my disagreement! Therefore, from now on I will mainly use the Bible and the Spirit of Prophecy to comment on these evidences of terrible apostasy. Really soon this has to lead to a cleansing scandal. At least, I want to find an answer to the question: Who is the "ecumenical Adventist"?

1. The union of churches - the Ecumenism - is a Sign of the end of the world

And on the sabbath we went out of the city by a river side, where prayer was wont to be made; and we sat down, and spake unto the women which resorted thither. And a certain woman named Lydia, a seller of purple, of the city of Thyatira, which worshipped God, heard us: whose heart the Lord opened, that she attended unto the things which were spoken of Paul. And when she was baptized, and her household, she besought us, saying, If ye have judged me to be faithful to the Lord, come into my house, and abide there. And she constrained us. (Acts 16:13-15)

A sign that the end is near

By the decree enforcing the institution of the papacy in violation of the law of God, our nation will disconnect herself fully from righteousness. When Protestantism shall stretch her hand across the gulf to grasp the hand of the Roman power, when she shall reach over the abyss to clasp hands with spiritualism, when, under the influence of this threefold union, our country shall repudiate every principle of its Constitution as a Protestant and republican government, and shall make provision for the propagation of papal falsehoods and delusions, then we may know that the time has come for the marvelous working of Satan and that the end is near. {5T 451.1}

2. God forbids the union with opponents of truth

When the LORD thy God shall bring thee into the land whither thou goest to possess it, and hath cast out many nations before thee, the Hittites, and the Girgashites, and the Amorites, and the Canaanites, and the Perizzites, and the Hivites, and the Jebusites, seven nations greater and mightier than thou; And when the LORD thy God shall deliver them before thee; thou shalt smite them, and utterly destroy them; thou shalt make no covenant with them, nor shew mercy unto them: Neither shalt thou make marriages with them; thy daughter thou shalt not give unto his son, nor his daughter shalt thou take unto thy son. For they will turn away thy son from following me, that they may serve other gods: so will the anger of the LORD be kindled against you, and destroy thee suddenly. But thus shall ye deal with them; ye shall destroy their altars, and break down their images, and cut down their groves, and burn their graven images with fire. For thou art a holy people unto the LORD thy God: the LORD thy God hath chosen thee to be a special people unto himself, above all people that are upon the face of the earth. The LORD did not set his love upon you, nor choose you, because ye were more in number than any people; for ye were the fewest of all people: But because the LORD loved you, and because he would keep the oath which he had sworn unto your fathers, hath the LORD brought you out with a mighty hand, and redeemed you out of the house of bondmen, from the hand of Pharaoh king of Egypt. Know therefore that the LORD thy God, he is God, the faithful God, which keepeth covenant and mercy with them that love him and keep his commandments to a thousand generations; (Deuteronomy 7:1-9)

The graven images of their gods shall ye burn with fire: thou shalt not desire the silver or gold that is on them, nor take it unto thee, lest thou be snared therein: for it is an abomination to the LORD thy God. Neither shalt thou bring an abomination into thine house, lest thou be a cursed thing like it: but thou shalt utterly detest it, and thou shalt utterly abhor it; for it is a cursed thing. (Deuteronomy 7:25-26)

For from the top of the rocks I see him, and from the hills I behold him: lo, the people shall dwell alone, and shall not be reckoned among the nations. (Numbers 23:9)

That Sanballat and Geshem sent unto me, saying, Come, let us meet together in some one of the villages in the plain of Ono. But they thought to do me mischief. And I sent messengers unto them, saying, I am doing a great work, so that I cannot come down: why should the work cease, whilst I leave it, and come down to you? (Nehemiah 6:2-3)

Say ye not, A confederacy [ecumenism], to all them to whom this people shall say, A confederacy [ecumenism]; neither fear ye their fear, nor be afraid. (Isaiah 8:12)*

These [the 144,000] are they which were not defiled with women [other ecumenical churches]; for they are virgins. These are they which follow the Lamb whithersoever he goeth. These were redeemed from among men, being the firstfruits unto God and to the Lamb. (Revelation 14:4)*

And I saw three unclean spirits like frogs come out of the mouth of the dragon [Spiritism, New Age Movement], and out of the mouth of the beast [Papacy], and out of the mouth of the false prophet [Protestantism in apostasy, Ecumenism]. For they are the spirits of devils, working miracles, which go forth unto the kings of the earth and of the whole world, to gather them to the battle of that great day of God Almighty. (Revelation 16:13-14)*

3. The mission of the Advent people and Ecumenism

And I saw another angel fly in the midst of heaven, having the everlasting gospel to preach unto them that dwell on the earth, and to every nation, and kindred, and tongue, and people. Saying with a loud voice, Fear God, and give glory to him; for the hour of his judgment is come: and worship him that made heaven, and earth, and the sea, and the fountains of waters. And there followed another angel, saying, Babylon is fallen, is fallen, that great city, because she made all nations drink of the wine of the wrath of her fornication. And the third angel followed them, saying with a loud voice, If any man worship the beast and his image, and receive his mark in his forehead, or in his hand, The same shall drink of the wine of the wrath of God, which is poured out without mixture into the cup of his indignation; and he shall be tormented with fire and brimstone in the presence of the holy angels, and in the presence of the Lamb: And the smoke of their torment ascendeth up for ever and ever: and they have no rest day nor night, who worship the beast and his image, and whosoever receiveth the mark of his name. Here is the patience of the saints: here are they that keep the commandments of God, and the faith of Jesus. (Revelation 14:6-12)

God has called His church in this day, as He called ancient Israel, to stand as a light in the earth. By the mighty cleaver of truth, the messages of the first, second, and third angels, He has separated them from the churches and from the world to bring them into a sacred nearness to Himself. He has made them the depositaries of His law and has committed to them the great truths of prophecy for this time. Like the holy oracles committed to ancient Israel, these are a sacred trust to be communicated to the world. The three angels of Revelation 14 represent the people who accept the light of God's messages and go forth as His agents to sound the warning throughout the length and breadth of the earth. {5T 455.2}

I was shown the necessity of those who believe that we are having the last message of mercy, being separate from those who are daily imbibing new errors. I saw that neither young nor old should attend their meetings; for it is wrong to thus encourage them while they teach error that is a deadly poison to the soul and teach for doctrines the commandments of men. The influence of such gatherings is not good. If God has delivered us from such darkness and error, we should stand fast in the liberty wherewith He has set us free and rejoice in the truth. God is displeased with us when we go to listen to error, without being obliged to go; for unless He sends us to those meetings where error is forced home to the people by the power of the will, He will not keep us. The angels cease their watchful care over us, and we are left to the buffetings of the enemy, to be darkened and weakened by him and the power of his evil angels; and the light around us becomes contaminated with the darkness. {EW 124.3}

As the ministration of Jesus closed in the holy place, and He passed into the holiest, and stood before the ark containing the law of God, He sent another mighty angel with a third message to the world. A parchment was placed in the angel's hand, and as he descended to the earth in power and majesty, he proclaimed a fearful warning, with the most terrible threatening ever borne to man. This message was designed to put the children of God upon their guard, by showing them the hour of temptation and anguish that was before them. Said the angel, "They will be brought into close combat with the beast and his image. Their only hope of eternal life is to remain steadfast. Although their lives are at stake, they must hold fast the truth." {EW 254.1}

In the above quotation we see an astonishing statement of Ellen White, that we would "be shown the hour of temptation and anguish", which is nothing else than our time of persecution. Is this wording again just a coincidence?

No Confederacy With Those Opposing the Truth.--Let the watchmen on the walls of Zion not join with those who are making of none effect the truth as it is in Christ. Let them not join the confederacy of infidelity, popery, and Protestantism in exalting tradition above Scripture, reason above revelation, and human talent above the divine influence and the vital power of godliness (RH March 24, 1896). {4BC 1141.7}

The question may be asked, Are we to have no union whatever with the world? The word of the Lord is to be our guide. Any connection with infidels and unbelievers that would identify us with them, is forbidden by the Word. We are to come out from among them, and be separate. In no case are we to link ourselves with them in their plans of work. {GW 394.1}

The Lord has singled us out and made us subjects of His marvelous mercy. Shall we be charmed with the pratings of the apostate? Shall we choose to take our stand with Satan and his host? Shall we join with the transgressors of God's law? Rather let it be our prayer: "Lord, put enmity between me and the serpent." {4T 595.5}

But light and darkness cannot harmonize. Between truth and error there is an irrepressible conflict. To uphold and defend the one is to attack and overthrow the other. Our Saviour Himself declared: "I came not to send peace, but a sword." Matthew 10:34. {GC 126.3}

4. The fallen churches will unite

And in that day seven women [churches] shall take hold of one man [Ecumenism], saying, We will eat our own bread, and wear our own apparel: only let us be called by thy name, to take away our reproach. (Isaiah 4:1)

And I saw three unclean spirits like frogs come out of the mouth of the dragon, and out of the mouth of the beast, and out of the mouth of the false prophet. (Revelation 16:13)

The sources from which these spirits issue, denote that they will work among three great religious divisions of mankind, represented by the dragon, the beast, and the false prophet, or paganism [Spiritism, New Age], Roman Catholicism [Papacy], and apostate Protestantism [Ecumenism]. {Daniel and Revelation by Uriah Smith, p. 283}

Through the two great errors, the immortality of the soul and Sunday sacredness, Satan will bring the people under his deceptions. While the former lays the foundation of spiritualism, the latter creates a bond of sympathy with Rome. The Protestants of the United States will be foremost in stretching their hands across the gulf to grasp the hand of spiritualism; they will reach over the abyss to clasp hands with the Roman power; and under the influence of this threefold union, this country will follow in the steps of Rome in trampling on the rights of conscience. {GC 588.1}

The line of distinction between professed Christians and the ungodly is now hardly distinguishable. Church members love what the world loves and are ready to join with them, and Satan determines to unite them in one body and thus strengthen his cause by sweeping all into the ranks of spiritualism. Papists, who boast of miracles as a certain sign of the true church, will be readily deceived by this wonder-working power; and Protestants, having cast away the shield of truth, will also be deluded. Papists, Protestants, and worldlings will alike accept the form of godliness without the power, and they will see in this union a grand movement for the conversion of the world and the ushering in of the long-expected millennium. {GC 588.3}

And Satan unites with Protestants and Papists, acting in consort with them as the god of this world, dictating to men as if they were the subjects of his kingdom, to be handled and governed and controlled as he pleases. {Mar 191.2}

When Protestantism shall stretch her hand across the gulf to grasp the hand of the Roman power, when she shall reach over the abyss to clasp hands with spiritualism, when, under the influence of this threefold union, our country shall repudiate every principle of its Constitution as a Protestant and republican government, and shall make provision for the propagation of papal falsehoods and delusions, then we may know that the time has come for the marvelous working of Satan and that the end is near. {5T 451.1}

5. The union of SDA church with the beast, the dragon and the false prophet

How is the faithful city become an harlot! it was full of judgment; righteousness lodged in it; but now murderers. (Isaiah 1:21)*

For my people have committed two evils; they have forsaken me the fountain of living waters, and hewed them out cisterns, broken cisterns, that can hold no water. (Jeremiah 2:13)

When the Saviour saw in the Jewish people a nation divorced from God, he saw also a professed Christian Church united to the world and the papacy. And as He stood on Olivet, weeping over Jerusalem till the sun sank behind the western hills, so He is weeping over and pleading with sinners in this last moments of time. Soon He will say to the angels who are holding the four winds, "Let the plagues loose; let darkness, destruction, and death come upon the transgressors of my law." Will He be obliged to say to those who have had great light and knowledge, as He said to the Jews, "If thou hadst known, even thou at least in this thy day, the things which belong unto thy peace! but now they are hid from thine eyes"? {Ellen G. White in Review and Herald, Oct. 8, 1901, par. 15}

Those who will not practice the lessons of Christ, but keep themselves in hand to mold themselves, find in antichrist the center of their union. {SpTA09 55.2}

And now perhaps the most significant, but little-known quote of Ellen White, that the nominal Adventists will go against the remnant and even betray them. Note that it says at the beginning: "I saw". This means that she saw in vision, which came directly from God, what will happen at the end of time.

I saw the nominal church and nominal Adventists, like Judas, would betray us to the Catholics to obtain their influence to come against the truth. The saints then will be an obscure people, little known to the Catholics; but the churches and nominal Adventists who know of our faith and customs (for they hated us on account of the Sabbath, for they could not refute it) will betray the saints and report them to the Catholics as those who disregard the institutions of the people; that is, that they keep the Sabbath and disregard Sunday. {Spalding and Magan Collection 1.5}

We now will hear voices of the Catholic Church itself about our church and also the difference between the original SDA church and the Reformation Movements in regard to ecumenism. I do not think that the Reformation Movement is right that the SDA church already has become Babylon. But I think it is a whore, or at least large parts of it. But the Reformation Movement on the other hand, can be charged that it rejects new light equally like the "big church". I will address this issue in another article. In the following quotation, the contrast is interesting that the Catholic Church emphasizes in its German weekly magazine "Paulinus" of March 8, 1953:

Adventists against Adventists

Third persons may not interfere in disputes within the community. The Adventists settle their disputes among themselves. We would not engage on the question of finding out whether one or the other denominations is an original representation of Adventism. ... In 1914, two percent of the members of the Church of Seventh-Day-Adventists were excluded in Germany because they declared that the participation in the military service, especially at the Sabbath, would be incompatible with the Adventist doctrine. The excluded members considered themselves the true guardians and defenders of Adventism. ...

In spring 1936 the Reformation Movement was dissolved and banned in the whole country because they tried "under the cloak of religious activities to achieve goals that were opposed to the global vision of National Socialism". Sanctions such as imprisonment and forced detention in concentration camps were imposed.

Today, this Reformation Movement of the Seventh-Day-Adventists, as they call themselves, is able again to act without limitation, that is independently, and this movement is working with full devotion. So they continue with the old Adventist incitement against the Catholic Church and the Papacy. Paulinus presented previously evidence of publications of the Adventist Reformation Movement in Germany in which they criticize the originally founded Seventh-Day-Adventist Church, because it would "search better relations with the powers of darkness", would consider the Sabbath commandment during times of war abolished, would have allied with the Nazi regime, would not comply with the prohibition of meat-eating, would allow remarriage of divorcees and would teach that more than 144,000 could be rescued. ... Nevertheless, there is something more, which is interesting for us. The original community of Seventh-Day-Adventist Church assures us explicitly that they would refrain from any incitement against Catholicism, just as they had done before 1945 and how it is done today by the independent Reformation Movement Church and that they would limit themselves in presenting their beliefs without the spirit of discord and in an objective manner. We are pleased to accept this message and share it with the readers of Paulinus hereby.

In the 1970's the Seventh-Day-Adventist church started "diplomatic" relations with the Vatican:

Glas Koncila (Catholic magazine from Yugoslavia) 06/05/1977 - On Thursday, 18 May, Pope Paul VI. received in a special audience the representatives of the Conference of General Secretaries of the World Churches. In the group were among others: The Bishop John Howe, General Secretary of the Anglican Council, and Mr. Bert Beach, General Secretary of the Seventh-Day-Adventists. It is the first time that a representative of this faith community participates to meet with the Pope. By the way, and as a reminder of his visit, they presented the Pope a golden medal. ...

The Conference of World Churches is organized since 20 years and its founder was the General Secretary of the Anglican Council, Bishop John Howe. The current secretary of the current conference, who is at the same time General Secretary of the Seventh-Day-Adventists, Mr. Beach made a statement to Radio Vatican, in which he emphasized the importance of this first meeting with the Pope. This is what he said: "It was a great honor for me as secretary of this conference to be present here in Rome at the audience of the Holy Father. On this occasion I gave the pope a book about the worldwide work of the Adventist Church."

Examples of ecumenical events and worship services in which the Adventist church participated or even operated in leading position. For those who believe that only Germany is in apostasy, these clippings will be interesting:

Diario da Tarde (Brazil), 09/01/1976 - "For those who died in the accident at Santa Lucia stays the hope of the resurrection." With these introductory words, the Archbishop of Belo Horizonte, Don Juan de Resende Costa opened the ecumenical church service in memory of the 18 victims of the accident. ... The Mass was celebrated by the Archbishop. ... In the end, a chorus group of the Seventh-Day-Adventist Church sang religious hymns and popular songs.

Fohla de Londrina (Brazil), 05/14/1972 - Adventists inaugurate temple in Maringá, Paraná. The presence of the diocesan bishop, Jayme Luiz Coelho and other fathers and pastors, transformed the inauguration of the central temple of the Seventh-Day-Adventist Church in an authentic example of ecumenism. ... In the consecration service of the temple, pastor Irajá da Costa e Silva handed the church to the congregation. The diocesan bishop and the prefect Adriano Valente have been also on the podium.

Revista Adventista (Journal of SDA church, Brazil), January 1965, page 13: The meeting began. We try to present a little of each, who were with us on the podium. After the juvenile Paulo de Oliveira of the Adventist Church had begun with greeting, he led the opening prayer. Then Father Edmundo of the Catholic Church announced a change. Then your servant [Father Edmundo] shared an appropriate message, which consisted of a sermon, which lasted only 20 minutes, but had the purpose, to present Christ to an audience of 150 people who represented five different churches. Mayor Peixoto announced a hymn from the Adventist songbook and Pastor Joaquim Alves from the Methodist Church led the final prayer.

As you can see on the photo, many churches pray together for a better country. This meeting, free of philosophical doctrines, however, full of Christ's teachings, seemed to say to all that we are Christians and therefore are brothers. From now on, the Adventist Church has to be seen in a different light. The guests were so happy that the Father even said in his sermon: "I like the Adventist Church."

Folha da Tarde, San Pablo, Thursday, 4/15/1982, page 13: There are two functioning ecumenical communities at the level of assistance to the needy and the integral promotion of human nature: One is the CESE, based in Bahia [Brazilian country] with the General Secretary Enilson Rocha Souza. The "Ecumenical Service Coordination" combines the following churches: Pentecostal, Brazil for Christ, Methodist, Anglican and Catholic church and another, whose head office is in Avenida Churchill 129, conj. 802 in Rio de Janeiro and the Deacon Area has two Calvinist branches (Presbyterians of Brazil and Independent Presbyterians), Church of Christ (Lutheran), Decisive Christianity, Protestant Christianity, Episcopal Church, Methodists, the Congregational and beyond a community, which is neither Protestant nor Catholic: The Church of Seventh-Day-Adventists.

But what does our faith community say about itself and how it relates to ecumenism?

Revista Adventista (Journal of SDA church), October 1975, page 26: Adventist Church and Ecumenism

Is it true that the Seventh-Day-Adventist Church is member of the famous World Council of Churches, the main ecumenical factor of our time?

No. It is not true that SDA church is member of the World Council of Churches and would be united with it, like other liberal Protestant denominations with an ecumenical trend. This would be absolutely impossible because of our historical and prophetic destiny of our church and our different religious pillars (including the sanctuary doctrine, the Sabbath, the final destruction of the earth). It would be an abandonment of our position as the remnant church.

What actually happens is that we maintain a relationship with some areas of the World Council of Churches by participating as a "counselors" there. This relationship, which is no ideological connection, is limited to the areas that we consider helpful for us. We maintain contacts that allow us to progress in various countries around the world with our work. It must be stressed again and again that we are not a member of the World Council of Churches, but only advisers without any voting rights in the Council's decisions, not to be in the areas that would commit us to something.

Finally, we would like to ask: What are the benefits that the Seventh-Day-Adventist Church can sustain by the World Council of Churches?

Many! We could mention the possibility of immediate receipt of visas for missionaries abroad, in countries that are subject to certain governments or under adverse political conditions. Another area of the World Council of Churches, which has helped us, is the committee for radio and film. This has avoided that these communication media have already become exclusively or monopolistic in some countries. The evangelization through these media has been for us a point of major importance. In addition, our technicians are regularly informed about circumstances, prices and possibilities, which results in very economical consequences for our budgets of the church. These contacts have been very advantageous for the expansion of our work abroad.

Another advantage we had by the relationship with the technical departments of the World Council of Churches (without the slightest idea that we would stick to the organization), has to do with the aid for disasters. The department is called Agency for International Development. Representatives of the Adventist Social Assistance are part of the committee of this division of support. Through this we did not only gain a large sum of money, but also, more importantly, our church got access to some areas of this support work that would otherwise have remained closed to us.

Another area of the World Council of Churches, which has served us for the benefit is the "freedom of religion". In no way we give up our faith or our principles or our freedom through such participation. We get a lot of valuable information for a negligible price, which makes us use the knowledge available to us to a maximum.

Some sub divisions of our world work are part of the hospital associations, by which we gain valuable ideas for the management of our hospitals. Some of these organizations are members of religious associations, some not.

The World Council of Churches knows that for us the anti-ecumenism is a principle. It is our unshakeable position because it is a vital part of our doctrine.

If others have beneficial information or services that are at our disposal, whether this is in the area of facilitation of travel for our missionaries, in the financial sector, social assistance, in the broadcasting of radio programs, in hospital administration, or in another activity parallel to ours, we should strive to obtain these. On the other side, if we can make a valuable contribution, then we must also not omit it.

There is - and always will be - an unbridgeable theological gulf that separates us from the denominations associated with the World Council of Churches. And in reference to the World Council of Churches itself, there is an unbridgeable ecumenical gulf. We are not member of it, and never would be able to be.

(Excerpts from a work of Pastor Walter R. Bech, Secretary of the General Conference)

Please compare the statements of Walter Bech with the letter from the Adventist Press Service about the Second Ecumenical Church Day, with which I started this article. What discrepancy! Where have we come as church?

So, who is this ominous "ecumenical Adventist," who has quietly crept into our ranks and whose disease has spread like an epidemic among us, that you can find in the forums today almost exclusively Adventists with this deadly illness? According to Walter Bech, he is absolutely no Adventist, but a disciple of Satan from the other side of the "unbridgeable gulf". Yes, friends, this happens if you "maintain valuable contacts and relationships" to the enemy. Who goes to bed with the whore, is a fornicator himself. And if the prostitute has a disease, then the fornicator himself too gets infected with the disease.

What's missing is the final stage of apostasy: the association with spiritualism and the New Age Movement. Or did this already happen too and the most of us believe again ... that nothing has happened.

The Day of Creation

Written by John Scotram

Published: Thursday, May 20, 2010, 2:17 pm

Originally published on Friday, May 14, 2010, 1:30 pm in German at www.letztercountdown.org

It is incredible how quickly everything is happening now and where the bad news is coming from! It is the second time this week that the worst news is about our own house. Again, I expected for May 13 some news from Munich regarding the "Constantine Sunday Law" by the Alliance For A Free Sunday, but it remained rather silent so far about this campaign.

Instead, we were able to read at the "Adventist Press Service APD (STANET.ch) an extraordinary message that I want to comment:

Churches proclaim nationwide "Day of Creation" in Munich

Munich/Germany, 05/13/2010/APD

At the Second Ecumenical Church Congress in Munich, the Brunswick Protestant Bishop Friedrich Weber proclaimed at the central celebration of Christ's ascension at the Odeon's square a nationwide "day of creation" that Christians want to celebrate together from now on every first Friday in September. The Chairman of the Council of Christian Churches in Germany (ACK) emphasized that he was frightened when he saw how the goods of the earth without regard for their limitations and without regard for the welfare of future generations would be exploited.

Well, it actually seems to have been a great event, the proclamation of a "new" day of creation. In my understanding, the memorial day of the creation since this same creation, was always the seventh day of the week, at which God rested from His work of creation: the biblical Sabbath. But I am sure that our "brethren" of the Adventist Press Service will immediately address that this is a counterfeit of the real Day of Creation!? However, what should make us think is that the SDA church is a member of this ACK and hence also is accountable for this message. ... To whom will the SDA church be faithful in the next part of the article? God or the ACK?

They write on...

That the creation of God would get a place in the church and service calendar, was a first concrete step to recover the "measure of humanity" and to cease "from the merciless treatment of our natural environment and with ourselves". "After me the deluge" is no longer valid. The responsibility for creation would be a fundamental task of the church.

We should ask the question: Which church? The Ecumenical World Church of course! For me, they are mixing religion and politics. Wasn't it the government and the politicians before who were responsible for the environment? But anyhow, it is about the "measure of humanity" and not the "measure of God". It's about human rights and not about the Laws of God! The attitude "After me the deluge is not valid anymore", they say! Right, because for them there will be no deluge anymore, but a furnace that will burn at the day of the Lord, because they proclaim a false "Day of Creation". But we as Adventists indeed do have a very special "responsibility for creation", because we know that the Sabbath is sanctified by God and He commanded the true Day of Creation. But our brethren of the APD will surely correct this in the following paragraphs of their article! I can hardly wait for it!

Let's read on rapidly...

The first central celebration of the Day of Creation will take place on 3rd September 2010 at 17 hours in the Greek Orthodox Church of St. John the Baptist in Brühl near Cologne. Depending on local and regional circumstances, churches may celebrate together the Day of Creation also at a different date in the period between 1st of September and 4th of October. The Christian churches of Germany on the basis of common Christian faith in the Creator God want to set a visible sign of the perception of environmental problems and the conscious use of the creation.

Well, that's fine! I always believed that the Greek Orthodox and other "Christian" churches would go along with the Pope, and therefore want to proclaim a wrong day of creation as an annual memorial day. It is clear what is behind this trick, right? They want of course, that we would separate the Sabbath from creation. If we would declare nicely that now we would have an annual day of creation, we would no longer need a weekly day of creation. Then we could change the motivation for the Sabbath simply to relaxation, the exercise of our right as workers and employees of a day of rest and our right to have time for our families. And then, it wouldn't matter anymore if this day would be any other day of the week, because it would be no longer about honoring the Creator God, but just about caring ourselves. But now, surely comes the correction and the appeal of our brethren of APD, that this would lead to our destruction, robbing the Sabbath of its true meaning and preparing the way for the obliged Sunday observance of all churches, the papacy and the ecumenical movement!?

There's not much left, now it has to come! ...

But even before some churches have been commemorating the Creator in a special way.

Yeah, now it seems to come! Certainly now we Adventists will be mentioned and that we as the "only" the true church are honoring the true Creator with the true Day of Creation. I knew it! Thank God!

In the Orthodox tradition, 1st of September opens the new church year and they celebrate the day of creation. The Roman Catholic Church recalls at the 4th of October at St. Francis of Assisi. Other churches are celebrating at the first Sunday after Michaelmas the harvest festival. The Seventh-day Adventist Church is celebrating the day of creation in late October.

Whaaat, what kind of day is that?? I know only of the 22nd of October, the most historical day of our church, because according to the Karaite calendar, the Day of Yom Kippur of the year 1844 fell on a 22nd of October. The day when the Investigative Judgment began and Jesus passed from the Holy to the Most Holy in the Heavenly Sanctuary. I am already confused since a long time, that this is no longer recognized and instead a "Day of the Pastor" was proclaimed at very same day. People come before God. It has long been a trend in Adventist Church. Hence, according to this statement, we would celebrate the day of creation at late October. I cannot believe it! Am I really reading an article by Adventists for Adventists?

But there is still hope! Isn't this also the motto of this Second Ecumenical Church Council? There are two more sentences. Go ahead, brothers and sisters, you still have one more chance!

The Day of Creation now proclaimed in Munich will give Christians the opportunity to get aware of their shared responsibility for God's creation. According to Bishop Weber this would unite the "praise of God and the lamentation about our situation".

My poor dishonored God! There comes nothing more ... End of the article. End of the church. End of the world. Only my tears for the church have no end. But the tears of Jesus ... for His eyeballs will soon turn into fire and fall onto earth.

The last word in the article of the Adventist Press Service of the Adventist Church, about the new day of creation, has a Protestant Bishop who estimates the Sunday as the true Sabbath day. But his words in the last part of his last sentence will come true! Soon, all together will lament about their situation. It is even prophetic what Mr. Weber says:

The joy of our heart is ceased; our dance is turned into mourning. The crown is fallen from our head: woe unto us, that we have sinned! For this our heart is faint; for these things our eyes are dim. Because of the mountain of Zion, which is desolate, the foxes walk upon it. Thou, O LORD, remainest for ever; thy throne from generation to generation. Wherefore dost thou forget us for ever, and forsake us so long time? Turn thou us unto thee, O LORD, and we shall be turned; renew our days as of old. But thou hast utterly rejected us; thou art very wroth against us. (Lamentations 5:15-22)

They still have a chance, that God would forgive even his own Judas church. But very soon, the door of mercy will close for all who think that the day of creation would be the first Friday in September and keep the Sunday, the mark of the beast, and then they will once again lament together:

And the third angel followed them, saying with a loud voice, If any man worship the beast and his image, and receive his mark in his forehead, or in his hand, The same shall drink of the wine of the wrath of God, which is poured out without mixture into the cup of his indignation; and he shall be tormented with fire and brimstone in the presence of the holy angels, and in the presence of the Lamb: And the smoke of their torment ascendeth up for ever and ever: and they have no rest day nor night, who worship the beast and his image, and whosoever receiveth the mark of his name. (Revelation 14:9-11)

Actually, I would like to wish you now a happy and blessed Sabbath, or should I already say: Have a happy and restful family day?

Pseudonym

Written by John Scotram

Published: Friday, December 7, 2012, 6:19 pm

Created: Friday, December 7, 2012, 6:19 pm

Again and again I am attacked because it is said that the use of a pseudonym shows that I am a deceitful person and therefore a false prophet.

A little research on this subject, however, shows a very different result:

In the chapter titled “A Great Religious Awakening” in “The Great Controversy” we find praise for a man who, like me, used a “code name,” but that did not make him a “false prophet”:

In South America, in the midst of barbarism and priest-craft, Lacunza, a Spaniard and a Jesuit, found his way to the Scriptures and thus received the truth of Christ’s speedy return. Impelled to give the warning, yet desiring to escape the censures of Rome, he published his views under the assumed name of “Rabbi Ben-Ezra,” representing himself as a converted Jew. Lacunza lived in the eighteenth century, but it was about 1825 that his book, having found its way to London, was translated into the English language. Its publication served to deepen the interest already awakening in England in the subject of the second advent. {CC 363.1}

Ellen G. White wrote a whole chapter (Chapter 12 - The French Reformation) in “The Great Controversy” about John Calvin, the great reformer, who also used several pseudonyms:

Calvin fled first to Angoulême to his former classmate Louis du Tillet, who had become a priest and prebendary at the city’s cathedral, and hid himself under the pseudonym “Charles d’Espeville”. In April 1534 he went briefly to his hometown of Noyon, and officially returned his sinecures. From there he went to the small court of Margaret of Navarre at Nerac. Here, other reformatory thinking individuals had meanwhile found refuge, so Gérard Roussel and the humanist and Luther expert Jacques Lefèvre d’Étaples (alias “Faber Stapulensis”), translator of the Latin Bible (Vulgate) into French and formerly the center of a Reformation-minded circle in Paris.

Source: Wikipedia – Johannes Calvin [translated]

For John Calvin, the followers of the Reformation are the defenders of the true church. Since the French king in France persecuted and executed the “Luthériens”, as the Protestants were called in France at this time, Calvin fled early 1535 to Protestant Basel. Here he lived quietly in exile in Switzerland. Under the code name Martinus Lucanius he devoted himself entirely to the study of theological writings.

Source: Deutschlandfunk.de Article – Gottesfurcht und Kirchengucht [translated]

And now an amazing fact especially for the German critics and defamers: Martin Luther himself translated the Bible into German under a pseudonym:

Exile in the Wartburg

The ruler of Luther's country, Frederick the Wise, impeded the execution of the imperial ban by letting Luther get kidnapped in a mock attack, bringing him to safety on the Wartburg. Under the code name “Junker Jörg”, Luther there translated the New Testament into German in 13 weeks (language of the Bohemian-Saxon State Chancellery). The translation of the Bible, which – in this case is rightly regarded as the birth of a unified German language, was a cultural feat of which the intellectual and historical significance cannot be overestimated. Using the newly invented printing press, the Bible was quickly circulated and turned into a real “book for all homes”. It was followed by the Old Testament in 1534. He also wrote pamphlets against the monastic vows, which led to the abandonment of a number of monasteries.

Therefore, the use of pseudonyms has nothing to do with a deceitful character or a sign of a false prophet, but with common sense and legitimate self-protection in times of persecution.

And one more clarification:

John = Johannes = my real middle name

Scotram = Schottenhammel = my real birth name, which was later changed by my stepfather to his last name with perjury about 10 months after I was born. My stepfather lied knowingly, by masquerading as my biological father for over 40 years. Just before the name “Scotram” was used, this lie was exposed by a legal DNA test.

So if I don't do anything else with the use of a pseudonym, like other honorable reformers, then how do we understand this kind of rabble-raising propaganda that is written against me? Of course, if you can't bring anything but hot air against the message (see letter from Gerhard Pfandl as BRI representative), and the shot only scores a goal for the opponent, then you can only resort to attacking the character of the messenger. But it goes even further...

In the last letters which are circulating in the church, now my passport name is also exposed. This was done against my express will that I wrote in my author profile and in some articles, so that my family and I would not be exposed to physical attacks or persecution on my farm in Paraguay. My former “brethren” like Gerhard Pfandl and District Pastor Harald Wöhner knowingly uncovered my “little protection” that I asked for, and have declared “open season” on me. Since the message is an inconvenient truth for them, they hope that soon, other “brethren” will be found among the Jesuits or Adventists (which are actually the same thing) that would not only shut my mouth but shut my eyes and bury me six feet under. What a dirty fight is now raging around those who are to carry the truth to the world! And “educated” theologians do not even know that God wrote in the Bible: “Thou shalt not kill!”

Slander, exclusion and speech bans are now the daily agenda of the Adventist Church, whose door of grace as an organization is completely closed. Following Hugo Gambetta in the US, now Walter Veith has been especially attacked in Germany. Amazing Discoveries is under heavy fire for the supposed anti-Semitic charges against Walter Veith and it should not be long until these brethren are finally personally experiencing that the fifth seal has started to repeat. Will they then still remain blind to the message which the voice of God announces from Orion and that Jesus Himself wrote again in the Jewish feast days, and knowingly bring the entire universe and God Himself into danger? Or will they wake up now and be among those who have already received the Spirit in the latter rain?

We who stand for the truth have no fear of physical or psychological persecution by the minions of Satan; no, we glory in it like the Apostle Paul, knowing that we can do all things through the power of Jesus, who will accompany us to the end. May the persecutors tremble in expectation before the Judgment of the Living. But you who have not yet bowed the knee to Baal, watch out, lest they take away your eternal life, ensnaring you with their web of lies!

The Beast from the Bottomless Pit

Written by Robert Dickinson

Published: Monday, March 18, 2013, 8:12 pm

Created: Monday, March 18, 2013, 8:12 pm

Francis Romanus

About a year ago, God began to take us through some unique experiences. Apparently His intention was for our experiences to serve as a pattern for what was yet to come, although we did not know that at first. In this article, I'd like to take you quickly through the highlights of our 2012 pattern-like experiences to show you how they are being visibly fulfilled on the world stage in 2013. What we experienced with God in relative obscurity is now being reenacted before billions of onlookers around the globe.

COLOR KEY
gold	: heavenly sanctuary events
mauve	: visible events on earth

And he said unto them, Is a candle brought to be put under a bushel, or under a bed? and not to be set on a candlestick? For there is nothing hid, which shall not be manifested; neither was any thing kept secret, but that it should come abroad. If any man have ears to hear, let him hear. (Mark 4:21-23)

We had insight into what was going on in the heavenly sanctuary last year through our personal experiences. In a sense, we saw what was going on in Mt. Zion (in the Orion nebula) through faith, just like how Moses saw the heavenly sanctuary while he was atop Mt. Sinai. Then the Lord commanded him to build the tabernacle "according to the pattern" which he had seen. In a similar way, I'll try to frame the basic structure of last-day events on earth according to the pattern that was shown us.

Now of the things which we have spoken this is the sum: We have such a high priest, who is set on the right hand of the throne of the Majesty in the heavens; A minister of the sanctuary, and of the true tabernacle, which the Lord pitched, and not man. For every high priest is ordained to offer gifts and sacrifices: wherefore it is of necessity that this man have somewhat also to offer. For if he were on earth, he should not be a priest, seeing that there are priests that offer gifts according to the law: Who serve unto the example and shadow of heavenly things, as Moses was admonished of God when he was about to make the tabernacle: for, See, saith he, that thou make all things according to the pattern shewed to thee in the mount. (Hebrews 8:1-5)

The above quote from Hebrews 8 affirms the existence of the sanctuary in heaven where Jesus officiates as our intercessor. This doctrine is unique to the Seventh-day Adventist Church even though it is right there in the scriptures as plain as day. Unfortunately, most Adventists do not even appreciate it sufficiently.

While speaking with a long-time Adventist the other day, I was horrified to hear him say that the Millerites were wrong and that they should have done their homework better so they wouldn't have had to apologize for the Great Disappointment of October 22, 1844 by inventing the sanctuary doctrine. The sour taste of shame and ridicule toward our pioneers that is reflected in that statement is taught by the denomination itself in their schools and in their churches. It's no wonder that the average member parrots it.

The shame they try to put upon our pioneers is ultimately against God, because God was leading in the Millerite movement.

They had done the will of God in following the guidance of His Spirit and His word; yet they could not understand His purpose in their past experience, nor could they discern the pathway before them, and they were tempted to doubt whether God had indeed been leading them. At this time the words were applicable: “Now the just shall live by faith.” {GC 408}

But does God lead us into disappointment? I'd rather return the question: Who ever said that disappointment was not a part of the Christian experience?

Our pioneers have nothing to be ashamed of. The Millerites were correct in setting the date of October 22, 1844, and their faith through the disappointment that night was rewarded the very next morning (the same Jewish day) when Hiram Edson was permitted a glimpse into the heavenly sanctuary. His vision led to more study. They went forward in God's light encouraged with new understanding, but those who denied that God had been leading them were left in darkness.

This subject is very applicable to us. We went through our own series of little disappointments and mini-revelations last year. Many who had heard our warnings denied that God was leading us after “nothing happened,” but those who continued to “live by faith” have been blessed with a greater understanding of the activity in the heavenly sanctuary.

God does not invite our minds to comprehend the heavenly sanctuary as a mere curiosity. He wants to teach us something. He wants to teach us how to navigate these last days. When the wicked seem to be in the ascendancy, when the righteous are oppressed, where will they turn for help? To their God, who does not live in a house made by man. Solomon prayed:

If there be in the land famine, if there be pestilence, blasting, mildew, locust, or if there be caterpillar; if their enemy besiege them in the land of their cities; whatsoever plague, whatsoever sickness there be; What prayer and supplication soever be made by any man, or by all thy people Israel, which shall know every man the plague of his own heart, and spread forth his hands toward this house: Then hear thou in heaven thy dwelling place, and forgive, and do, and give to every man according to his ways, whose heart thou knowest; (for thou, even thou only, knowest the hearts of all the children of men;) (1 Kings 8:37-39)

That prayer is a reminder that Jesus is in heaven in Orion desiring to help us in our time of trouble. God affirmed this special prayer, which Solomon offered at the temple dedication. The glory of the Lord filled the temple. It just so happens that the glory of the Lord filled the house exactly half-way between October 27, 4037 B.C. and October 24, 2016 to the very month recorded in scripture. We know this from the continuous chronology we established in 7 Steps to Eternity, and that little harmony is just one more reminder that God is leading this unique ministry, and that the events of the heavenly sanctuary which I will explore in this article are true.

As the time of trouble looms, let us not hesitate to make our supplications and prayers known to God now. Let us not hesitate to follow the counsel He gives us. Solomon's whole prayer has great import today. Let us turn our hearts toward the heavenly sanctuary now and see what lessons we can learn to help navigate through present-day events.

In the Heavenly Sanctuary

After our little disappointment on February 27, 2012, we realized that an important change had taken place in the heavenly sanctuary. The Father, who had served as the Supreme Judge in the great controversy up to that time, had stepped down from the bench and left the court proceedings in the hands of His Son, Jesus Christ. This was a necessary preparation for the Father's trial. As we explained in Our High Calling, it is God the Father who is ultimately on trial in the great controversy. For obvious reasons, He could not be tried at the same time He was serving as Supreme Judge.

Thou [God the Father] hast put all things in subjection under his [Jesus'] feet. For in that he put all in subjection under him, he left nothing that is not put under him... (Hebrews 2:8)

The movements of the Father were prophesied in symbolic form in Ezekiel 9. We thoroughly explained in our The 1335 Days article how the Father had to symbolically traverse 40 cubits or steps, which translate to 40 days, to go from the Most Holy Place (the judgment room) across the Holy Place to the threshold of the temple.

And the glory of the God of Israel was gone up from the cherub, whereupon he was, to the threshold of the house... (Ezekiel 9:3)

At the same time as the Father's departure, our little company of believers went the same 40 cubits in the opposite direction by faith from the temple threshold to the Most Holy Place. While the Father was headed out for His trial, we were headed toward the witness stand.

After our second little disappointment on day 40 or April 6, 2012, we realized that another important event had taken place. Our little group had taken away the mystery of the "daily" in three ways, just like Jesus did, and we had figuratively appeared at the threshold of the Most Holy Place in answer to the call to be witnesses for the Father. Our experiences were intimately connected to the heavenly sanctuary. These happenings are detailed in our 1290 Days article.

We soon realized that our little group had forgotten one very important detail. In all of our concern, we forgot to make a special effort to confess our faults one to another. We were still too dirty to enter the courtroom. Not being ready in time, we called for a second Lord's Supper according to the pattern of Hezekiah.

For the king had taken counsel, and his princes, and all the congregation in Jerusalem, to keep the passover in the second month. (2 Chronicles 30:2)

After our third little disappointment on May 6, 2012, we realized once again that a very important event had taken place. The Judgment of the Living had begun. We had made ourselves clean in the blood of the Lamb, and had appeared in the courtroom to take the witness stand for the Father. We were the first witnesses to open the new court proceedings.

For the time is come that judgment must begin at the house of God: and if it first begin at us, what shall the end be of them that obey not the gospel of God? (1 Peter 4:17)

Our 1260 Days article tells the story of our experience at that time. Friends, we are living in serious times. We have present duties, and "time is of the essence" in more ways than one.

That was a brief summary of the events of early 2012, which took place in the heavenly sanctuary and were reflected in our own experience in our own little earthly sanctuary. It is necessary for God's people to understand the invisible events in the heavenly sanctuary, just like October 22, 1844, in order to ascertain what their present duty is.

(For we walk by faith, not by sight:) (2 Corinthians 5:7)

Now I will show you how these events explain what is happening on the world stage right before our very eyes.

The Father's Departure

The Christian world received a shock when the news spread about Pope Benedict XVI's decision to resign. Such a thing hadn't happened in over 600 years. The reason for his resignation was that he was losing his strength, but that seemed to be an odd excuse for the immediate successor of Pope John Paul II, who had continued his duties until his death at age 85 in spite of his diminished physical strength. In any case, Benedict XVI's farewell address on February 27, 2013 filled St. Peter's Square with crowds to witness this historic event.

Think about what happened in the heavenly sanctuary exactly one year earlier, to the day. God the Father left His position of Supreme Judge in the Most Holy Place. Now, exactly one year later Pope Benedict XVI, the so-called "Holy Father" left his position of supreme pontiff in the Vatican. Do you begin to see how the counterfeit resembles the genuine?

But there is more to it.

The technically-minded have repeatedly questioned why God pointed to the 27th instead of the pope's actual resignation date of the 28th. One reason was that the big event that drew the world's attention was not on the 28th, but on the 27th, as we already noticed. The second and more important reason is that Pope Benedict XVI blessed his people on the 27th. That might not seem very significant at first glance, but when you understand that God also blessed His people on the same day, it begins to make sense.

Seven people walked by faith from February 27 of 2012 to February 27 of 2013. They kept the faith of Jesus even though there were no visible events to accompany their experience. They endured a whole year, 365 days, through faith. It was a year of agonizing and heart-searching. They wrestled with God with their faith. At the end of that year, on the morning of the 27th, we realized that we had actually reached the first visible event. We had reached the beginning of the 1335 days until the Lord's return. We had reached it by faith, and now we saw the first visible confirmation of our studies by a world-wide event of historic proportions.

*Blessed is he that waiteth, and cometh to the thousand three hundred and five and thirty days.
(Daniel 12:12)*

God blessed us that morning by revealing a special little reward to us for “waiting” in faith until “coming” (or touching) the beginning of the 1335 days. The 144,000, who will go through the year of plagues and must similarly endure by faith until the very end, will also receive their special blessing for “waiting” and “coming” to the end of the 1335 days to see Jesus return with their own eyes.

Ponder for a moment what might have happened if we had given up half-way through the year. What if we had given in to the anti-time-setters or the many other accusers that continually reject our message? We wouldn't be here today, and our entire mission (and yours) would have met failure almost before it started. Those who understand our high calling know what “failure of our mission” really means. It is our love for our God that has enabled us to endure (and even that comes from Him).

Think about the comparison once more. God blessed us on the very same day that the pope blessed his followers. Which blessing would you rather have? Would you like to receive a blessing from God? Or would you prefer the empty blessing of a man who pretends to be God? The choice is simple.

There is one more comparison between counterfeit and genuine to note regarding Benedict's resignation. In his resignation statement, he said:

“...let us entrust the Holy Church to the care of Our Supreme Pastor, Our Lord Jesus Christ...”

The so-called “Holy Church” of the pope was not entrusted to the same Jesus Christ that we know from the Bible. Neither was the Jesus Christ referenced by Benedict the same Jesus Christ who God the Father entrusted with the role of Supreme Judge in the heavenly sanctuary one year earlier. The genuine government of God is in heaven. The counterfeit kingdom is here on earth.

The Abomination of Desolation

It's time to buckle your seatbelts and get ready for a fast and furious (and dangerous) ride. That applies not only to the times ahead, but also to the rest of this article. We have a lot of ground to cover.

And from the time that the daily sacrifice shall be taken away, and the abomination that maketh desolate set up, there shall be a thousand two hundred and ninety days. (Daniel 12:11)

Note that the above verse links the 1290 days with both the taking away of the daily and with the setting up of the abomination. We dug a little deeper into the grammar of the verse in the 1290 Days article and found that the two events are distinct and do not occur at the same time. Nevertheless, this verse associates the 1290 days with both events.

We took away the mystery of the daily last year on April 6, 2012 through our heavenly sanctuary experiences, but the visible abomination hadn't been set up yet. Now that the visible events have begun to unfold here in 2013, we need to understand what the abomination of desolation actually is in order to recognize its fulfillment.

Let's start with the words of our Lord and Savior, who stressed the importance of this subject:

And this gospel of the kingdom shall be preached in all the world for a witness unto all nations; and then shall the end come. When ye therefore shall see the abomination of desolation, spoken of by Daniel the prophet, stand in the holy place, (whoso readeth, let him understand:) Then let them which be in Judaea flee into the mountains: (Matthew 24:14-16)

The prophetic understanding that Jesus shares with us and bids us to understand has a double application. It refers to the destruction of Jerusalem in 70 A.D. as well as the end of time.

After speaking of the end of the world, Jesus comes back to Jerusalem, the city then sitting in pride and arrogance, and saying, “I sit a queen, and shall see no sorrow” (see Revelation 18:7). As his prophetic eye rests upon Jerusalem, he sees that as she was given up to destruction, the world will be given up to its doom. The scenes that transpired at the destruction of Jerusalem will be repeated at the great and terrible day of the Lord, but in a more fearful manner.... {3SM 417.1}

Because of the relationship between the destruction of Jerusalem and the end of the world, we need to take a careful look at what happened during the former event in order to lay the foundation for understanding what is happening today. In particular, we need to identify what the abomination of desolation represented in 70 A.D. Clarke’s Commentary on the Bible gives a clear answer:

The abomination of desolation, spoken of by Daniel—This abomination of desolation, St. Luke, (Luke 21:20, Luke 21:21), refers to the Roman army; and this abomination standing in the holy place is the Roman army besieging Jerusalem; this, our Lord says, is what was spoken of by Daniel the prophet, in the ninth and eleventh chapters of his prophecy; and so let every one who reads these prophecies understand them; and in reference to this very event they are understood by the rabbins. The Roman army is called an abomination, for its ensigns and images, which were so to the Jews. Josephus says, (War, b. vi. chap. 6), the Romans brought their ensigns into the temple, and placed them over against the eastern gate, and sacrificed to them there. The Roman army is therefore fitly called the abomination, and the abomination which maketh desolate, as it was to desolate and lay waste Jerusalem; and this army besieging Jerusalem is called by St. Mark, Mark 13:14, standing where it ought not, that is, as in the text here, the holy place; as not only the city, but a considerable compass of ground about it, was deemed holy, and consequently no profane persons should stand on it. (Clarke’s Commentary on Matthew 24:15)

Ellen White approves of that understanding in Great Controversy, p. 26, so we can take that as a reliable answer. During the Jewish–Roman conflict from 66 to 70 A.D., the abomination was the Roman army. In the first siege, the head of that army was Cestius. His presence on the holy ground around Jerusalem was the abomination of desolation that signaled to the Christians that it was time to flee the city (3½ years before its destruction, incidentally).

Clarke informs us of the success of the Christian flight from Jerusalem:

Then let them which be in Judea flee into the mountains – This counsel was remembered and wisely followed by the Christians afterwards. Eusebius and Epiphanius say, that at this juncture, after Cestius Gallus had raised the siege, and Vespasian was approaching with his army, all who believed in Christ left Jerusalem and fled to Pella, and other places beyond the river Jordan; and so they all marvellously escaped the general shipwreck of their country: not one of them perished. See on Matthew 24:13 (note). (Clarke’s Commentary on Matthew 24:16)

That first siege of Jerusalem was a type for the near-passing of the Sunday Law in 1888. The Roman banner, sun worship, or Sunday-worship, was standing in the U.S. Senate in the form of a bill. It had all of the needed votes to be passed until A.T. Jones’ presentation changed the mind of one senator, whose change of vote defeated the bill.

After Cestius raised the siege and the Christians escaped from Jerusalem, the Roman army returned and the city was finally destroyed under the leadership of Titus, the Roman general, who later became Emperor. The second siege and sacking of the city under Titus serves as a type for our day.

The Roman Army of Today

The Council of Trent from 1545 to 1563 was an important council in the history of Christianity. It was convened to reform the church institution. It condemned the Protestant Reformation, and instigated the Counter-Reformation. Wikipedia provides some succinct facts:

New religious orders were a fundamental part of the reforms. Orders such as the Capuchins, Ursulines, Theatines, Discalced Carmelites, the Barnabites, and especially the Jesuits worked in rural parishes, and set examples of Catholic renewal. . . . The Jesuits were the most effective of the new Catholic orders. An heir to the devotional, observantine, and legalist traditions, the Jesuits organized along military lines. (Wikipedia)

Note that the Jesuits organized along military lines. They even call their leaders “Generals”. Their official name, the Society of Jesus, actually means “Company” of Jesus (in the military sense) in the original language. What we have here is a military organization founded for the express purpose of conquering the enemies of the Roman Church.

Anyone worthy of the name “Protestant” should be on high alert at this point. Read the Jesuit oath sometime if you want a gory picture of what these soldiers will do in obedience to their superiors.

The logo of the Society of Jesus (the Jesuits) is a sun with the letters IHS inside. Here is a succinct interpretation of it:

Canonum De Ius Rex
Canons of Sovereign Law

II. Sovereign
2.7 Iudaeian Law Form
Article 82 - Trigram (I.H.S.)

Canon 5989

The Trigram based on the Macedonian-Spartan symbol of the Sun and the three Latin letters “I.H.S.” at its centre is the official standard and motto of the Roman Empire first introduced by Vespasian under the official imperial cult of Iudaeism (Judaism) from 70 CE to 117 CE.

Canon 5990

The Trigram represents not only the official motto of the Roman Cult, but the personification of the official Roman Cult of Iudaeism (Judaism):

- (i) The Macedonian and Spartan Symbol of the Sun that was emblazoned on the Royal Shield signifies Sol Invictus or the “unconquerable Sun” – hence the choice of the Macedonian and Spartan symbolism on account of the legendary courage, strength and victories; and
- (ii) I.H.S. stands for the Latin phrase Invictus Hoc Signo meaning “By this sign (we are) unconquerable” in reference to the symbol of the sun as well as the three (3) letters themselves.

Canon 5991

The Trigram was also frequently represented in ancient Rome combined with the symbol of “Oculus Omni” or the “All Seeing Eye of Lucifer” at the top.

Canon 5992

The Trigram fell out of favor upon the dissolution of Iudaism (Judaism) as the official cult of the Roman Empire from 117 CE in favor of Gnosticism as the true origin of the "Stoic" revival and the restoration of the motto "S.P.Q.R."

Canon 5993

The Trigram was resurrected by the Venetian - Magyar in the 16th Century as the official sign of the Society of Jesus, also known as the "Jesuits" on the feast day of Lucifer being 15th August 1534. Two (2) new elements were also added being:

- (i) The three (3) nails symbolizing the suffering of Jesus and the three (3) open vows of "poverty, chastity and absolute obedience"; and
- (ii) The dagger cross piercing the "H" symbolizes the Jesuits as a Christian military order as well as the ancient occult symbolism of the "H" as the heart to denote being sworn to absolute secrecy as the final "hidden fourth vow".

Canon 5994

The claim that I.H.S. stands for three (3) Egyptian gods "Isis, Horus and Set" is deliberate disinformation spread by agents supporting the status quo and keep people in ignorance.

Canon 5995

The claim that I.H.S. is a common ancient Christogram based on the first three (3) letters of "Jesus" in Greek being IHΣΟΥΣ then "Latinized" to IHSOVS is one of the clumsiest frauds in history, given the deliberately corrupted bi-cameral alphabetic set of modern Greek did not appear until the Jesuits were formed and therefore after their sign was presented.

(Canons of Sovereign Law)

You can see from the above quote that the logo of the Jesuits connects them directly to the ancient Roman army which conquered Jerusalem in 70 A.D., and that date is even specifically mentioned in connection with the introduction of the symbolism. Their modern-day goal is to conquer the people of God (figurative Jerusalem) with equal success.

The Jesuits have been at work all these years pulling strings behind the scenes to achieve their designs, but the signal of the abomination of desolation is their presence on the holy ground. This happened when for the first time ever, the world witnessed on March 13, 2013 the election of a Jesuit pope, namely Pope Francis. Do you see what is happening? The new General Titus has appeared on the world stage in the person of Pope Francis. With his army of fellow Jesuits, he stands atop his "Holy Roman Church" surrounding God's people on every side. The abomination is in place.

The popular media is good about playing down the pope's Jesuit involvement and smoothing things over to make him appear to be nothing more than a harmless little old man with one lung who couldn't hurt a flea. But there's far more going on than meets the eye.

In doing some internet research the day of the election, we happened upon some websites with far from innocent information about the man. Those websites were gone the very next day! There is a decided effort to erase his dark past.

For example, many Argentines are furious that the man who betrayed his own Jesuit brethren to the torture of the military dictatorship is now pope. Like other repugnant parts of his past, recent news is painting over this to make Pope Francis look better than he really is.

The Last Pope in the Bible

John sees a vision of the great whore riding the red beast, and wonders. Then the angel explains the vision.

The beast that thou sawest was, and is not; and shall ascend out of the bottomless pit, and go into perdition: and they that dwell on the earth shall wonder, whose names were not written in the book of life from the foundation of the world, when they behold the beast that was, and is not, and yet is. (Revelation 17:8)

First the angel informs us that the beast existed in the past, had ceased to exist, would ascend out of the bottomless pit, and would finally be destroyed. A beast represents a nation or political power.

And here is the mind which hath wisdom. The seven heads are seven mountains, on which the woman sitteth. (Revelation 17:9)

Verse 9 associates the woman with Rome, the city of seven hills. The woman sits on the hills just like she sits on the beast. That means the beast represents specifically the Roman power.

And there are seven kings: five are fallen, and one is, and the other is not yet come; and when he cometh, he must continue a short space. (Revelation 17:10)

This verse gives a chronology. To understand it, we must know when it applies. This is easy to determine from the introduction to this vision:

And there came one of the seven angels which had the seven vials, and talked with me, saying unto me, Come hither; I will shew unto thee the judgment of the great whore that sitteth upon many waters: (Revelation 17:1)

Let me ask you a question: When is the judgment of the great whore? Is it before 1844, or after?

The great judgment in heaven started on October 22, 1844, so the judgment of the great whore (i.e. this whole scene) must come sometime after that. The beast that the whore rides is the same beast whose deadly wound was healed.

The healing of the deadly wound began on February 11, 1929 with the signing of the Lateran Treaty. That event established Vatican City State. That should be common knowledge among Adventists. (Incidentally, it marks the half-way point in the middle of the Judgment of the Dead.) From 1798 to 1929, the popes did not have a civil “kingdom” to rule over. Therefore, the kings mentioned in Revelation 17:10 must be kings who reigned after 1929. To understand the chronology of that verse, all we have to do is list the popes who reigned over the newly-formed Vatican state:

1.	Pius XI	(fallen)
2.	Pius XII	(fallen)
3.	John XXIII	(fallen)
4.	Paul VI	(fallen)
5.	John Paul I	(fallen)
6.	John Paul II	(is)
7.	Benedict XVI	(not yet come, must continue a short space)
8.	Francis

John the Revelator is taken in vision to the time of John Paul II, when the pivotal changes began to take place. It was John Paul II that elevated Bergoglio (later Pope Francis) to the cardinalate, and he made many other preparations for the world-domination of Rome. Ratzinger (later Pope Benedict XVI) was one of his closest associates. He is especially known for his efforts to unite the world in the cause of peace, which is really a disguised plan to unite the world under the Roman dictatorship. From this perspective, the Revelator sees five of the kings having died in the past, one (John Paul II) alive, and one yet to come (Benedict) who would continue only a short while. In comparison to John Paul II, Benedict's reign of 7 years was indeed short, but it was also shortened on account of his resignation.

The next verse explains Pope Francis:

And the beast that was, and is not, even he is the eighth, and is of the seven, and goeth into perdition. (Revelation 17:11)

This verse informs us that the eighth king embodies more than the other seven kings. He represents not only a ruler but also the beast itself. This beast is often interpreted to be the papacy, but that is not quite correct. The papacy represents a religion or church, not a national power, and therefore it cannot be the beast. A church is represented as a woman in the Bible, and the papacy is represented as the whore that rides the beast, and not the beast itself.

Pope Francis is a Jesuit—he represents the military power of Rome as well as the head of the church and state. That is why he (the eighth king) is described as being the beast (the Roman state complete with its presumably unconquerable army) as well as one of the papal kings. His ascension completely fulfills the combined image of the woman riding the Roman beast. This has not been the case since the mortal wound of 1798.

The military strength of Rome has always been represented by iron in the Bible. With a Jesuit pope, we see the iron of Rome showing itself in the toes of the statue in Nebuchadnezzar's dream. The next verse also ties the toes of the statue with Pope Francis:

And the ten horns which thou sawest are ten kings, which have received no kingdom as yet; but receive power as kings one hour with the beast. These have one mind, and shall give their power and strength unto the beast. (Revelation 17:12-13)

The ten horns represent all the kingdoms of the world, just like the ten toes represent all the kingdoms of the world. The heads of state around the globe will receive power with the beast, and will give their power to the beast.

These shall make war with the Lamb, and the Lamb shall overcome them: for he is Lord of lords, and King of kings: and they that are with him are called, and chosen, and faithful. (Revelation 17:14)*

In verse 14, the motive finally emerges. The beast, and the nations of the world which will help it, will make war with the people of God. The Jesuits do not normally show their true colors. Instead, they mingle and infiltrate. They instigate conflicts. They fuel both sides of a war. Those are the kinds of methods they use to accomplish their goals.

Peter the Roman

The Prophecy of the Popes seems to be coming true as well. We already saw “the labor of the sun” fulfilled in the work of Pope John Paul II, who labored extensively during his long tenure to prepare the way for the “invincible sun” of Rome to return to full intensity. The “glory of the olive” has come true in the experience of Pope Benedict XVI, who is the “blessed one” among the popes to have directly paved the way for the return of the Roman power through his resignation, while still living to see the fruit of his efforts. Garlands made of olive branches were awarded as a token crown of victory in ancient Greece and Rome. It was Benedict’s resignation that brought Pope Francis to the throne, and you will soon see the significance of this crowning victory.

Even the unusual interjection between “glory of the olive” and “Petrus Romanus” has come true:

In the final persecution of the Holy Roman Church, there will sit. [Latin: “In perfecutione extrema S.R.E. fedebit.”]

As we discovered earlier, the woman (Holy Roman Church) has now fully ascended the throne and “sits” on the beast of Rome in time for the final persecution exactly as the prophecy foretold.

According to the prophecy, the new Pope Francis would be the very last pope. He is referred to as follows:

Peter the Roman, who will pasture his sheep in many tribulations, and when these things are finished, the city of seven hills [i.e. Rome] will be destroyed, and the dreadful judge will judge his people. The End. (Wikipedia)

We’ve already seen why he is called the Roman. It is because he is a Jesuit. The Jesuit logo with the letters IHS is a reference to the Rome that conquered Jerusalem. As we read earlier, Rome reverted to the letters S.P.Q.R. to identify itself, and those are the same initials that Rome uses today:

SPQR is an initialism from a Latin phrase, Senātus Populusque Rōmānus (“The Senate and People of Rome”, see translation), referring to the government of the ancient Roman Republic, and used as an official emblem of the modern day comune (municipality) of Rome. (Wikipedia)

Pope Francis is not only a Roman, but he is also sitting on the throne of Peter. But who is Peter?

Any seasoned Adventist could tell you that the statue of St. Peter in Rome was originally the statue of Jupiter from the Pantheon. The supposed halo over his head is really a sun disk. So when we talk about the Chair of St. Peter, we are really talking about the throne of Jupiter.

Wikipedia informs us of who Jupiter was to the Romans:

In ancient Roman religion and myth, Jupiter...is the king of the gods... (Wikipedia)

Now it becomes clear why the throne of St. Peter is so important. To the Romans, it represents the throne of the highest god of all. As a Roman, the humble old Francis has actually ascended to the throne above all other thrones!

How art thou fallen from heaven, O Lucifer, son of the morning! how art thou cut down to the ground, which didst weaken the nations! For thou hast said in thine heart, I will ascend into heaven, I will exalt my throne above the stars of God: I will sit also upon the mount of the congregation, in the sides of the north: I will ascend above the heights of the clouds; I will be like the most High. (Isaiah 14:12-14)

The sun disk on Jupiter’s head is the same sun disk in the Jesuit logo. It represents Rome’s claim to be “unconquerable” like the sun.

Now you can see what the prophecy “Peter the Roman” really means:

Peter = the last pope

Roman = Jesuit

Together: The last pope will be a Jesuit

In other words, the prophecy says that in the last tribulation a Jesuit pope will sit on the beast of the Roman Empire

Friends, the devil is serious about this. He does not claim the throne above all other thrones in vain. He expects to win. Do you really understand what is at stake in this war? Are you personally taking your high calling seriously? I urge you to count the cost and take your stand.

The Time of Trouble

The Prophecy of the Popes speaks of the last pope leading his flock through the time of trouble. The time of trouble is a real visible experience in varying degrees across the whole world. To understand the visible events, we need to look at the heavenly sanctuary.

The Judgment of the Living, which began on May 6, 2012, is the new phase of the heavenly court proceedings that we are living under right now. Decisions are being weighed in the balances, and many people’s actions are found wanting. This is no time to be distracted by worldly things, or to take a spiritual nap. It is no time to delay when you hear God’s call.

Two of the three major time periods of Daniel 12 that happened in the heavenly sanctuary last year have found their fulfillment this year as I explained in this article.

The third major event will mark the beginning of the time of trouble. It is the counterpart to the Judgment of the Living. The beginning of the 1290 days on March 13, 2013 fixes it 30 days later to April 13, 2013. The election of Pope Francis has confirmed the beginning of the visible 1290- and 1260-day periods. These are the 1260 days of Roman persecution of God’s people until Rome will finally be destroyed on September 24, 2016.

April 13, 2013 also happens to be only the second day and the first Sabbath of the 2013 Jewish year according to the biblical calendar explained in the Gethsemane articles, and comes shortly before the beginning of the 2013, 2014, 2015 triplet of years in the Vessel of Time which is the time of the Loud Cry! Now everything is set up for the desolation which will be caused by the abomination.

I don’t think it is mere coincidence that the beginning of the time of Roman persecution falls during the three-day annual spring business meeting of the world divisions of the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists. Could it be that decisions will be made or events will happen at that meeting that will visibly mark the time of trouble in the eyes of the on-looking world? What rapid events do you think could happen between now and then to set the stage? Furthermore, the venue for the meeting is Battle Creek. That location calls to mind the sobering visions and warnings of Ellen White before the disastrous fires of 1902:

Three nights before the Review office burned, I was in an agony that words cannot describe. I could not sleep. I walked the room, praying to God to have mercy upon His people. Then I seemed to be in the Review office, with the men who have the management of the institution. I was trying to speak to them and thus to help them. One of authority arose and said, “You say, The temple of the Lord, the temple of the Lord are we; therefore we have authority to do this thing and that thing and the other thing. But the word of God forbids many of the things that you propose to do.” At His first advent, Christ cleansed the temple. Prior to His second advent, He will again cleanse the temple. Why? Because commercial work has been brought in, [the church has become a business] and God has been forgotten. With hurry here and hurry there somewhere else, there was no time to think of heaven. The principles of God's law were presented, and I heard the question asked, "How much of the law have you obeyed?" Then the word was spoken, "God will cleanse and purify His temple in His displeasure."

In the visions of the night, I saw a sword of fire hung out over Battle Creek.

Brethren, God is in earnest with us. I want to tell you that if after the warnings given in these burnings, the leaders of our people go right on, just as they have done in the past, exalting themselves, God will take the bodies next. Just as surely as He lives, He will speak to them in language that they cannot fail to understand.

God is watching us to see if we will humble ourselves before Him as little children. I speak these words now that we may come to Him in humility and contrition, and find out what He requires of us. {4MR 367.1-368.2}

The last events are happening rapidly. Tribulation and persecution are one of the ways that God purifies His people. God will cleanse His church. Unfortunately, the counsel above was not heeded by the leadership of the organized church.

The mercy of God was mingled with judgment to spare the lives of the workers, that they might do the work which they had neglected to do, and which it seemed impossible to make them see and understand.—The General Conference Bulletin, April 6, 1903, p. 85.

When those historic fires of judgment destroyed the denomination's buildings, God's mercy spared the workers. Those fires were to serve as a warning, that if the leaders of our day do not heed, "God will take the bodies next."

Brethren, God is in earnest with us. It is my prayer that you will be among those who have come to Him in humility and contrition to find out what He requires of you.

*Say unto them, As I live, saith the Lord GOD, I have no pleasure in the death of the wicked; but that the wicked turn from his way and live: turn ye, turn ye from your evil ways; for why will ye die, O house of Israel? (Ezekiel 33:11)

The Time of Trouble

Written by Robert Dickinson

Created: Tuesday, April 16, 2013, 2:25 pm

In our previous article, The Beast from the Bottomless Pit, I showed how Jesuit Pope Francis is the new Roman General Titus, taking his position on the world stage to besiege the people of God. Furthermore, our studies showed that an important event initiating the time of trouble would come thirty days later, on April 13, and we even set our countdown to that very date! Does it surprise you that the head of the Roman army has just assembled his captains around the world for battle? Lo, and behold, Pope Francis identified the leaders of his forces on the very day. This first significant act of Pope Francis is a “bombshell” according to the news outlets, which also recognize the scope of this move:

Pope Francis marked his first month as pope on Saturday by naming nine high-ranking prelates from around the globe to a permanent advisory group to help him run the Catholic Church and study a reform of the Vatican bureaucracy – a bombshell announcement that indicates he intends a major shift in how the papacy should function. (Associated Press)

What “major shift” do you suppose he intends exactly? Ellen White had a clear perspective on this:

And let it be remembered, it is the boast of Rome that she never changes. The principles of Gregory VII and Innocent III are still the principles of the Roman Catholic Church. And had she but the power, she would put them in practice with as much vigor now as in past centuries. Protestants little know what they are doing when they propose to accept the aid of Rome in the work of Sunday exaltation. While they are bent upon the accomplishment of their purpose, Rome is aiming to re-establish her power, to recover her lost supremacy. Let the principle once be established in the United States that the church may employ or control the power of the state; that religious observances may be enforced by secular laws; in short, that the authority of church and state is to dominate the conscience, and the triumph of Rome in this country is assured. {GC 581.1}

It is interesting that several of the new advisory group members are of a dubious character and their selection for such a position is being sharply criticized by the public. Do you really think that these characters were selected to give the pope advice? Or is the pope the one who intends to “advise” his commanders on the battle front? Pope Francis himself has had a dark past, although there has been a concerted effort to re-write it ever since his election. Those interested might find this recent BBC interview helpful.

This whole question of character strikes at the heart of the above quote from The Great Controversy. Rome has been like a sleeping lion for centuries. Apparently amiable, but watch out! She has been silently preparing for this hour, to spring into action. It is clear that Rome has succeeded in “re-establishing her power and recovering her lost supremacy”. The fact that she is taking such bold steps now against sharp popular criticism testifies to the fact.

Be sober, be vigilant; because your adversary the devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about, seeking whom he may devour: (1 Peter 5:8)

I'll tell you a little later who woke up the sleeping lion, but first I want to emphasize how important the date of April 13 really was.

What's Your Schedule?

There were other things that “coincidentally” happened on the same day. A giant statue of Pope John Paul II was unveiled in Poland. I mentioned in my previous article how Pope John Paul II was the reference point for the chronology of Revelation 17:10. He was the first non-Italian pope in over 450 years, and played a major role in preparing the world for these last “rapid movements”. The unveiling of his statue on the date of April 13 has great significance, recognizing his role in preparing the way for both Pope Benedict XVI and Pope Francis. On the very day that Pope Francis identified the captains of his world-wide army, Pope John Paul II was recognized by a statue with outstretched arms reminiscent of the giant statue of Jesus in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. Can you see a subliminal meaning in that?

We've also noted for some time that the annual spring meeting of the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists was to span April 13. Do you think the Jesuit-controlled leadership of the Adventist church picked that date by coincidence? I think not. Have you noticed how hush-hush everything was prior to the meeting this year? It is also interesting that (Jesuit) Ted Wilson spoke to the effect that he doesn't want any more church anniversaries...a little tongue-in-cheek prophetic wool pulled over the eyes of the average Ted Wilson devotee. They know what's going down.

In a recent audio interview about Pope Francis, Pastor Walter Veith clearly explains that the Vatican makes its major moves according to a time plan. This is evident in many ways, like by the fact that on the February 10 page of a desktop comic calendar, the pope's retirement was illustrated in humorous form. The calendar was illustrated, produced, and sold in August of 2012, well before he supposedly recognized the weakness of his age. If the enemies of God are working to a well-defined time schedule, how is it that the people who are supposedly on God's side claim that there is no more time prophecy, and that even their Commander Jesus Himself doesn't know when things will happen?! The very idea is absurd.

The Vatican works according to a time schedule because it has no choice:

Therefore rejoice, ye heavens, and ye that dwell in them. Woe to the inhabitants of the earth and of the sea! for the devil is come down unto you, having great wrath, because he knoweth that he hath but a short time. (Revelation 12:12)

I will show you in clear terms from the book of Daniel exactly what divine schedule the Vatican is obliged to work within.

A King's Conversion

Daniel 4 records Nebuchadnezzar's dream about the tree being cut down, and his banishment from the kingdom for “seven times” or seven years.

This is the interpretation, O king, and this is the decree of the most High, which is come upon my lord the king: That they shall drive thee from men, and thy dwelling shall be with the beasts of the field, and they shall make thee to eat grass as oxen, and they shall wet thee with the dew of heaven, and seven times shall pass over thee, till thou know that the most High ruleth in the kingdom of men, and giveth it to whomsoever he will. And whereas they commanded to leave the stump of the tree roots; thy kingdom shall be sure unto thee, after that thou shalt have known that the heavens do rule. (Daniel 4:24-26)

The fact that the words of a Babylonian king are part of the Word of God shows that it is beyond mere history. There is actually important information in his testimony for us. We know from Nebuchadnezzar’s experience as recorded in the book of Daniel that those seven years were literally fulfilled, but now we will see that his prophetic dream has further application for the people of God.

As shown in the 7 Steps to Eternity article, “seven times” in prophetic terms translates to 2520 literal years. Could it be that the prophecy of Nebuchadnezzar is related to the 2520 prophecy which began in 677 B.C. with the carrying away of Manasseh? Let’s compare Nebuchadnezzar and Manasseh:

Nebuchadnezzar...	Manasseh...
...was driven from among men	...was carried away captive
...became like an animal	...was extremely humiliated
...was assured that his kingdom would be safe	...did not lose his kingdom
...was converted to the true God	...repented and changed his ways
...was restored to his kingdom after seven years	...resumed his reign
...was blessed not to see the end of his kingdom, which later fell during the time of Belshazzar	...was blessed not to see the end of his kingdom, which later fell during the time of Zedekiah

As Figure 1 shows, there is a remarkable correlation between Nebuchadnezzar’s experience and that of Manasseh. This did not happen by accident. Because of his wickedness in the earlier years of his reign, Manasseh brought the punishment of God upon the children of Israel to scatter them among the heathen. In execution of that punishment, Daniel among many others were carried away to Babylon.

However, God promised Israel that if they would seek him, He would put the curse upon their enemies, and He did that very thing during Daniel’s time. It is in the context of the punishment for the sins that Manasseh provoked the children of Israel to commit that Nebuchadnezzar’s experience took place.

And the LORD thy God will put all these curses upon thine enemies, and on them that hate thee, which persecuted thee. (Deuteronomy 30:7)

Thus we have a clear connection between the “seven times” experience of Nebuchadnezzar and the 2520 years of the scattering of Israel. Nebuchadnezzar’s experience in Daniel 4 parallels Manasseh’s experience, which in turn fulfills the curse of Leviticus 26. The period of “seven times” is repeated four times in Daniel 4 (vs. 16, 23, 25, 32) just like it is repeated four times in Leviticus 26 (vs. 18, 21, 24, 28). However, there is an important difference in the Hebrew construction of the term.

The word “seven times” in Leviticus is a translation of a single Hebrew word, which more correctly means “sevenfold” as a matter of intensity more so than time. The critics of the 2520 prophecy often cite this as one reason to discount the prophecy, and those who presume to base the 2520 prophecy solely on Leviticus 26 do have a weak foundation for it.

The Orion Clock confirms the 2520 prophecy, which is indeed a true time prophecy that already reached its fulfillment in 1844. Its true basis does not come from Leviticus 26, but rather Daniel 4. The latter actually does indicate seven times or seven years as a matter of literal as well as prophetic time. That fact is obvious from the context as well as from the usage of the Hebrew language.

The Fall of Babylon

Daniel was alive and witness to the fall of Babylon. Shortly prior, he understood that the end of the Babylonian captivity was nearing as prophesied by Jeremiah. He understood that the curse of Leviticus 26 had been transferred to the Babylonians. Therefore, when he was called to interpret the handwriting on the wall before Belshazzar, he immediately understood its significance:

Weighed and Found Wanting
Mene (mena)	1 mena = 50 shekels =	1000 gerahs
Mene (mena)	1 mena = 50 shekels =	1000 gerahs
Tekel (shekel)	1 shekel =	20 gerahs
Upharsin (peres)	½ mena = 25 shekels =	500 gerahs

The curse upon Babylon was consummated at the time of Belshazzar. Whereas the “seven times” of Nebuchadnezzar’s dream are linked by the typological relationship to the beginning of the 2520 years in 677 B.C., the reference to the 2520 prophecy in the handwriting on the wall links the fall of ancient Babylon to the termination of the 2520 years in 1844. That is when God gathered his people together once again after the curse had been executed, as He promised:

That then the LORD thy God will turn thy captivity, and have compassion upon thee, and will return and gather thee from all the nations, whither the LORD thy God hath scattered thee. (Deuteronomy 30:3)

After the fall of Babylon, the captivity of the children of Israel soon ended officially under the decrees of Cyrus, Darius, and Artaxerxes (see Ezra 6:14). Thus we have in the history of Babylon a complete prophetic picture of the 2520 prophecy from beginning to end.

At this point, you might be wondering what all of this has to do with Pope Francis and the representatives he has selected for every continent. I am sure that such a Jesuit as Pope Francis will never convert and “praise and extol and honor the King of heaven” like King Nebuchadnezzar did after his conversion!

The Four Timelines of Daniel 12

God’s word is well organized. The prophetic books in particular contain prophecies which are often given in a chiasmic form, where the beginning corresponds to the end as if the latter part is a reflection of the earlier part. This principle can be easily seen across the Bible as a whole: the Bible begins with the Garden of Eden, and ends with the new earth (Eden restored).

Looking at the book of Daniel alone as a chiasm, we find that the first time-prophecies are located in Daniel 4, and the last time-prophecies are located in Daniel 12. Studying those two chapters together gives us a solid foundation for the interpretation of current events.

Just as there are four references to the “seven times” in Daniel 4, there are also four timelines given in Daniel 12:

1. 168 years in the oath in symbolic form (verse 7) as explained in the Orion presentation
2. 1260 years, or a prophetic “time, times, and an half” (verse 7)
3. 1290 years, or prophetically “a thousand two hundred and ninety days” (verse 11)
4. 1335 years, or a prophetic “thousand three hundred and five and thirty days” (verse 12)

These time periods (with the exception of the 168 years) are well known within Adventism. The classical interpretation of the timelines places them as shown a little later in Figure 4, with the 168 years of the Orion message added to complete the picture of Daniel 12. Before we look at the timelines, however, let's study the chiasm in Daniel.

Taking a closer look at the time prophecies in both chapters, we find that there is a 1-to-1 correlation between the seven times of Daniel 4 and the timelines of Daniel 12:

The fact that the “seven times” is mentioned four times in chapter 4 confirms that the 168 years hidden in the oath in chapter 12 count as a fourth time prophecy in addition to the other three which are stated in plain terms. Furthermore, the fact that the 2520 prophecy is known to have been fulfilled both in literal time and prophetic time shows that all four of the timelines of Daniel 12 should have both a literal and prophetic application as well.

“Power was given unto him to continue forty and two months.” And, says the prophet, “I saw one of his heads as it were wounded to death.” And again: “He that leadeth into captivity shall go into captivity: he that killeth with the sword must be killed with the sword.” The forty and two months are the same as the “time and times and the dividing of time,” three years and a half, or 1260 days, of Daniel 7—the time during which the papal power was to oppress God’s people. This period, as stated in preceding chapters, began with the supremacy of the papacy, A.D. 538, and terminated in 1798. At that time the pope was made captive by the French army, the papal power received its deadly wound, and the prediction was fulfilled, “He that leadeth into captivity shall go into captivity.” {GC 439.2}

... Though a new pope was soon afterward elected, the papal hierarchy has never since been able to wield the power which it before possessed. {GC 266.3}

It is interesting that Ellen White associated the deadly wound with the inability to “wield the power” which the papacy before possessed. The healing of the wound was demonstrated on April 13, 2013 by the wielding of power across all of the world continents through the appointment of the papal advisors!

Figure 4 shows the relationship of the timelines according to the classical interpretation of Daniel 12 as the Adventist pioneers understood it, applying the day-for-year principle. The 168 years is also illustrated for completeness, but of course our pioneers had no understanding of that in their day.

Prophetic vs. Literal Application of Daniel 12

If we scrutinize the classical interpretation of the timelines of Daniel 12, several problems become apparent. The most glaring problem is that the 1335 years terminate in 1843, not 1844, regardless of the zero-year issue. How can such a mismatch be a proper fulfillment of the verse that confers a blessing to those who reach its mark? Was the first phase of disappointment in 1843 really the “blessing” that the angel told Daniel about? Was the rise of the papacy at the beginning of the 1335 years a blessing to the people of God? In no case can we say with certainty that the 1335 years as it was classically interpreted is a perfect fulfillment of Daniel 12:12. It is also quite telling that Ellen White did not write about the fulfillment of the 1335 years in any of her expositions of Bible prophecy.

Ellen White was also very quiet about the 1290 and 1260 years of Daniel 12, and she urged us to study that chapter, implying that we as a people did not yet possess a complete understanding of it. We must therefore conclude that the classical interpretation, while it might be valid as a partial fulfillment, was in no wise the complete or final fulfillment of Daniel 12.

Thinking back to Daniel 4 and Nebuchadnezzar’s “seven times,” and noting that the seven times (2520 literal days) were literally fulfilled as a matter of history, we see that it is correct to interpret the timelines of Daniel 12 in literal terms for our day as well.

Pope Benedict XVI’s farewell on February 27, 2013 exactly marked 1335 days until the Second Coming. It is of special interest how the 1290 and 1260 were marked in the classical interpretation by similar events to today.

In 508, the conversion of Clovis brought the head of an army into union with the Church. On March 13, 2013, the election of Jesuit Pope Francis corresponds exactly to that example, in the union of a Jesuit head of the Church.

30 years later in 538, the conquest of the Goths in the name of Justinian left the Church unchallenged as the world power. Similarly, Pope Francis selected his panel of world leaders on April 13, 2013, exactly 30 days into his pontificate. His announcement and intention to re-write the “constitution” of the papacy has parallels in Justinian’s decree and his codifying of the Roman law. Justinian affirmed the pope’s authority of all the churches, and authorized him to punish “heretics.” The pope’s declaration on April 13 also asserts his authority over all the churches, and time will tell the rest.

The Jesuit Organization

The Society of Jesus is organized into ten “assistancies” under the Superior General (see The Jesuit Curia in Rome). Pope Francis selected 8 cardinals and 1 bishop for his leadership. The bishop serving as secretary will undoubtedly become a cardinal too. That makes only 9, but there is more to the story. In fact, the ten assistancies are as follows:

1. South Europe Assistancy
2. South Latin America Assistancy
3. South Asia Assistancy
4. Central and Eastern Europe Assistancy
5. Africa Assistancy
6. Asia Pacific Assistancy
7. USA Assistancy
8. North Latin America Assistancy
9. West Europe Assistancy

Wait a minute...aren't there supposed to be ten? Take a closer look at number four and notice that two separate assistancies have been named together. Keep that in mind.

Associating the cardinals with the assistancies, we find the following:

1. Giuseppe Bertello, president of the Vatican City State governorate (Italy)
2. Francisco Javier Errázuriz Ossa (Chile)
3. Oswald Gracias (India)
4. Reinhard Marx (Germany)
5. Laurent Monsengwo Pasinya (Democratic Republic of the Congo)
6. George Pell (Australia)
7. Seán Patrick O'Malley (United States)
8. Óscar Andrés Rodríguez Maradiaga (Honduras)
9. Bishop Marcello Semeraro, acting secretary for the group (Italy)

Now take a look at how many European Assistancies there are: South, Central, Eastern, and West—four in total. Therefore, we would expect to see four cardinals representing Europe, but only three were explicitly named on April 13. Who could be the fourth, who would take either the Central or Eastern Europe Assistancy? Other intelligent minds have already identified him:

10. Adolfo Nicolás (Spain)

He also holds the position known as the “black pope” or the Superior General of the Society of Jesus (the Jesuits), clearly a necessary element and the hidden tenth ruler of the Jesuit pope’s new group. Why would Pope Francis be so careful to avoid naming all ten leaders openly at once? Perhaps to avoid drawing attention to his Jesuit power structure, or maybe just because it would be an overly obvious fulfillment of Bible prophecy!

The ten leaders were prophesied in Revelation 17, expanding the interpretation given in the previous article:

And the ten horns which thou sawest are ten kings, which have received no kingdom as yet; but receive power as kings one hour with the beast. (Revelation 17:12)

These ten kings do not represent the secular powers of the world, but more accurately the leaders of the Roman Church who were selected to span the continents of the world! This prophecy is fulfilled before your very eyes, and their intention is made abundantly clear:

These shall make war with the Lamb, and the Lamb shall overcome them: for he is Lord of lords, and King of kings: and they that are with him are called, and chosen, and faithful. (Revelation 17:14)

It is interesting to note once again how the fulfillment of prophecy in 2013 compares to our experience in 2012. At the commencement of the 1260 days of the Judgment of the Living in 2012, we began to see how many leaders were in our group. Now the counterfeit system has announced its leaders at the beginning of the Time of Trouble.

All of the pieces of Daniel 12 have fallen into place. Remember that the “Judgment” clock of Orion runs 168 years from the Day of Atonement in 1844 to the Day of Atonement in 2012. Furthermore, it was explained in previous articles that the Day of Atonement in 2012 was special in about seven different ways, not the least of which was the fact that it was Jesus’ actual 2016th birthday. From that day forward, the timelines of Daniel 12 take on their literal application.

New Jerusalem, the City of God

What we have in Figure 6 is another rough chiasm, with the sevenfold High Sabbath and 2016th birthday of Jesus at the pinnacle. Under Jesus is the 168 years/days of Orion, and under Orion is the 1260 years/days of papal oppression. It all began with the rise of the papacy after the First Advent, and it will all end with the fall of the papacy just prior to the Second Advent.

By this time, readers with an acute visual sense and some knowledge of occult symbolism might begin to question the deeper meaning of the chiasm structure in general. Remember that for every genuine, Satan has a counterfeit. The occult fascination with pyramid structures and the placement of the all-seeing eye at the top represents Satan’s attempt to usurp the throne of the universe from God. Satan was there, and he knows what it’s like:

Thou art the anointed cherub that covereth; and I have set thee so: thou wast upon the holy mountain of God; thou hast walked up and down in the midst of the stones of fire. (Ezekiel 28:14)

The throne of God sits atop a mountain. The pyramid geometry is a replica of the Holy City, which also lies four-square:

And the city lieth foursquare, and the length is as large as the breadth: and he measured the city with the reed, twelve thousand furlongs. The length and the breadth and the height of it are equal. (Revelation 21:16)

Now the occult symbolism of 13 steps to the top of the pyramid makes sense: it is Satan's counterfeit one-upmanship compared to the 12 foundations of the Holy City. He wants to ascend to the throne of God at the top of the Holy City.

For thou hast said in thine heart, I will ascend into heaven, I will exalt my throne above the stars of God: I will sit also upon the mount of the congregation, in the sides of the north: (Isaiah 14:13)

Friends, the City of God is real, and it isn't anything like the New World Order with its spy drones, repressive laws, compelling of conscience, and all the rest of it. It is beautiful, pure, holy, and undefiled.

But the fearful, and unbelieving, and the abominable, and murderers, and whoremongers, and sorcerers, and idolaters, and all liars, shall have their part in the lake which burneth with fire and brimstone: which is the second death. (Revelation 21:8)

The question to be answered in sincerity by each soul is: Where do I stand?

Who Woke the Sleeping Lion?

We've been the faithful watchman on the wall, blowing the warning trumpet for over a year. Has Jerusalem heard our alarms? Have the people taken heed and prepared themselves for the spiritual battle?

While the children of God are kept lulled in indolent slumber, the enemies of God have perked up their ears to hear "tidings" from the Orion study and the Vessel of Time.

But tidings out of the east and out of the north shall trouble him: therefore he shall go forth with great fury to destroy, and utterly to make away many. (Daniel 11:44)

It is the time schedule of God that has awakened the enemy! The tidings trouble him, because he knows he has only a short time to accomplish his objective of world domination. The very next topic introduced after that verse is the time of trouble, the setting of Daniel 12.

Folks, the lion is awake. The enemy knows the schedule he must work within. After Benedict's resignation, the Vatican planners admitted that they needed a new pope before the Easter holidays. They've been counting their days. Are you counting your days? Or are you like someone who recently told me that they are too busy struggling with basic faith in Jesus to worry about "timelines"?

Let me ask you a question: what do you think the next step will be? We've got the Jesuit (Roman) Army General on scene in the person of Pope Francis. We've got the ten captains of his army in place around the world. We've got multitudes upon multitudes of Catholic folk around the globe to serve as "footmen" under the new organization. What is the next step?

By the way, are you aware that there is another "Francis" besides the St. Francis that Pope Francis is supposedly named after? St. Francis is the figure for the public. For the insiders, his name is Francis Xavier, and his story is startling:

Being a co-founder of the Jesuit Society, Xavier was naturally an automatic believer in the Society's dictum that "the end sanctifies the means". He could not tolerate what was known as "Jewish wickedness", such as Sabbath-keeping and refraining from eating pork, nor did he like the Moslems who regarded swine flesh with abhorrence and the Roman Catholics as idolaters. So, in the true spirit of Romanism, he opted for tried and tested methods of fear and force to coerce such people into conforming to the "true faith." On May 16, 1545 he wrote to D. Joao III, King of Portugal as follows: "The second necessity for Christians is that your majesty establish the Holy inquisition, because there are many who live according to the Jewish Law and according to the Mahomedan sect, without fear of God or shame of the world." (Siva Redo). (Cited by A.K. Priolkar - "The Goa Inquisition" pp.23,24, 1961).

Now it becomes evident that the poor loyal masses of St. Francis are intended to serve as the spiritual infantry under the influence of Francis Xavier to compass the people of God.

The next date for our countdown is the date of April 27, the day of the wave sheaf offering according to the true calendar. The first siege of Jerusalem in 66 A.D. was around the fall feasts. The second siege, which is the type for our time, was around the spring feasts.

Terrible were the calamities that fell upon Jerusalem when the siege was resumed by Titus. The city was invested at the time of the Passover, when millions of Jews were assembled within its walls. Their stores of provision, which if carefully preserved would have supplied the inhabitants for years, had previously been destroyed through the jealousy and revenge of the contending factions, and now all the horrors of starvation were experienced. A measure of wheat was sold for a talent. So fierce were the pangs of hunger that men would gnaw the leather of their belts and sandals and the covering of their shields. Great numbers of the people would steal out at night to gather wild plants growing outside the city walls, though many were seized and put to death with cruel torture, and often those who returned in safety were robbed of what they had gleaned at so great peril. The most inhuman tortures were inflicted by those in power, to force from the want-stricken people the last scanty supplies which they might have concealed. And these cruelties were not infrequently practiced by men who were themselves well fed, and who were merely desirous of laying up a store of provision for the future. {CC 31.2}

As we can learn from the past, the siege begins the time of trouble. Folks, it has begun. Count every day as a blessing until you feel the effects of it!

After speaking of the end of the world, Jesus comes back to Jerusalem, the city then sitting in pride and arrogance, and saying, "I sit a queen, and shall see no sorrow" (see Revelation 18:7). As his prophetic eye rests upon Jerusalem, he sees that as she was given up to destruction, the world will be given up to its doom. The scenes that transpired at the destruction of Jerusalem will be repeated at the great and terrible day of the Lord, but in a more fearful manner.... {3SM 417.1}

[Note: Later we learned that The Sign of Jonah was given to the Church as a signal of the beginning of the siege on April 27, 2013. The series The Wrath of God unveiled what would be the cause of the plagues on the great and terrible day of the Lord.]

Revelation gives a picture of the First Woe, a special five-month phase of the time of trouble in the Fifth Trumpet of the Orion Clock:

And the fifth angel sounded, and I saw a star fall from heaven unto the earth: and to him was given the key of the bottomless pit. And he opened the bottomless pit; and there arose a smoke out of the pit, as the smoke of a great furnace; and the sun and the air were darkened by reason of the smoke of the pit. And there came out of the smoke locusts upon the earth: and unto them was given power, as the scorpions of the earth have power. And it was commanded them that they should not hurt the grass of the earth, neither any green thing, neither any tree; but only those men which have not the seal of God in their foreheads. And to them it was given that they should not kill them, but that they should be tormented five months: and their torment was as the torment of a scorpion, when he striketh a man. And in those days shall men seek death, and shall not find it; and shall desire to die, and death shall flee from them. And the shapes of the locusts were like unto horses prepared unto battle; and on their heads were as it were crowns like gold, and their faces were as the faces of men. And they had hair as the hair of women, and their teeth were as the teeth of lions. And they had breastplates, as it were breastplates of iron; and the sound of their wings was as the sound of chariots of many horses running to battle. And they had tails like unto scorpions, and there were stings in their tails: and their power was to hurt men five months. And they had a king over them, which is the angel of the bottomless pit, whose name in the Hebrew tongue is Abaddon, but in the Greek tongue hath his name Apollyon. One woe is past; and, behold, there come two woes more hereafter. (Revelation 9:1-12)

The opening of the bottomless pit in the resignation of Pope Benedict XVI and the smoke rising from the Sistine Chapel at the election of Pope Francis set the stage for the multitudes (seas) of people like locusts to attack apostate Christendom soon (compare also Jeremiah 51). During this time the locusts (Islam?) will only be allowed to “hurt” and not “kill” which means that no full-fledged war will have broken out yet. That does not mean there won't be suffering and death: for “five months” the world will be “hurt”. Notice that it is five months:

5 months × 30 days/month = 150 days

The period of 150 days also represents the ten leaders that were put in place on April 13 to reign one hour with the beast. One hour of prophetic time is 15 days. Allowing 15 days per head results in a total of 150 days. Did you notice that the first “horn” wasted no time to act? Two days after the announcement, the Boston bombing was carried out right in Seán Patrick O'Malley's archbishopric!

Abaddon or Apollyon means “destruction” (Hebrew) or “destroying angel” (Greek).

The Israelites obeyed the directions that God had given. Swiftly and secretly they made their preparations for departure. Their families were gathered, the paschal lamb slain, the flesh roasted with fire, the unleavened bread and bitter herbs prepared. The father and priest of the household sprinkled the blood upon the doorpost, and joined his family within the dwelling. In haste and silence the paschal lamb was eaten. In awe the people prayed and watched, the heart of the eldest born, from the strong man down to the little child, throbbing with indefinable dread. Fathers and mothers clasped in their arms their loved first-born as they thought of the fearful stroke that was to fall that night. But no dwelling of Israel was visited by the death-dealing angel. The sign of blood—the sign of a Saviour's protection—was on their doors, and the destroyer entered not. {PP 279.3}

The Fifth Trumpet is connected to the Passover, when the children of Israel were spared from the plague of death that devastated the families of Egypt. Only those will be protected in the time of the Fifth Trumpet and First Woe who have the blood of Jesus on their doors that He is pleading with in Orion for them! Once again, I urge each of you to review our Final Warning series of articles, search your soul, and observe the Lord's Supper at the appointed time.

We correctly nailed the date of three major prophetic events this year. Don't disregard the fourth! The Time of Trouble has commenced. The Fifth Trumpet will sound, and a world reeling from devastation will soon cry out for the establishment of the Sunday Law to supposedly pacify God's fury.

[Note: In the fall of 2014, we realized when this fifth trumpet actually took place and who the acting powers were. The article Last Call also shows that the sixth trumpet of the judgment cycle is already sounding and that it is now more than ever true what we wrote as a final sentence of this article:]

NOW is the time to ACT! If you are waiting for the Sunday Law, it will be TOO LATE!

Satan Unmasked

Written by Robert Dickinson

The man of sin is walking the earth today—but you haven't recognized him yet. He is “that Wicked” and you have known about him, yet you haven't realized that it is him. In this article, the son of perdition will be revealed. The antichrist will be explained. You already know the name and the face...

Let no man deceive you by any means: for that day [of Christ] shall not come, except there come a falling away first [the fall of figurative Babylon], and that man of sin be revealed, the son of perdition; (2 Thessalonians 2:3)

The apostle warns us not to be deceived. Normally, a person does not know that they are deceived, and when someone or something tells them that they are deceived, the natural tendency is to prefer to cling to the deception. Thus, the apostle is warning of something very dangerous and very subtle.

Let me just be blunt. It is Pope Francis. There's so much evidence that I literally won't be able to communicate all of it to you, but we'll certainly do our best to make it clear in the coming articles.

While you are trying to wrap your mind around the very idea, take note that even Catholics are voicing their concerns about him.

- Italian writer stirs a hornet's nest with doubts about Pope Francis
- A Pope of Contradictions?

In case your knowledge of Protestantism is a bit rusty, let me give you a crash course in one line, courtesy of Martin Luther. He was on to something when the Mother Church excommunicated him and he said:

...at last I know that the pope is antichrist, and that his throne is that of Satan himself.—D'Aubigne, b. 6, ch. 9. {GC 141-143}^[1]

Those words contain the whole story of the Church's response to the 95 Theses, which turned out to be the rejection of the Reformation. Ever since that time, Protestants have understood that the papacy is the antichrist system. But that is not what I am here to say; you should already know that.

The papacy has ever since been the antichrist of prophecy in general, but today we are looking for the man of sin himself. The popes through the ages have been sitting upon the throne of Satan, but only as his representative. Today we are talking about something much more sinister. We are talking about Satan himself, “that Wicked,” appearing as an angel of light and impersonating Jesus Christ.

In this age antichrist will appear as the true Christ....Satan clothed as an angel of light. Men will be deceived and will exalt him to the place of God, and deify him.... {LDE 168.2}^[2]

What is happening today is more acute than anything in Luther's day! We are living at the end. As a general rule, prophecy was given especially for the end of the world.^[3] The present falling away is explained in the series of articles entitled Babylon Is Fallen!, which says, to put it in a nutshell, that the present falling away was the complete fall of organized Protestantism which happened recently, thanks in part to the late Tony Palmer. Now that the falling away has come, it is time for the man of sin (also called the son of perdition) to be revealed for who he really is.

By also calling him the son of perdition, we are reminded of the only other man given that name in Scripture:

While I [Jesus] was with them in the world, I kept them in thy name: those that thou gavest me I have kept, and none of them is lost, but the son of perdition; that the scripture might be fulfilled. (John 17:12)

Interestingly, this is the very name that Jesus used in reference to Judas, and those are the only two occurrences of it in the Bible. At this point, we need to step away from our 21st-century stereotype of what Judas was like. We already know the whole story of his betrayal, so we naturally picture him as the “bad guy.” However, at the time Jesus called him the son of perdition, he was still looked upon with respect by others as one of the twelve nearest disciples of Jesus, and an important one (considering that he managed the finances for the small band). The point I want to make here is that appearances can deceive. Judas might have looked good on the outside, but he was a lost man on the inside. This theme will come back again and again, which is why Paul warns us regarding the man of sin, the ultimate son of perdition, saying “let no man deceive you by any means.”

Since the appearance of the man of sin is connected to the fall of Babylon, we should naturally understand what the biblical account of Babylon has to teach us about its leader. If we want to identify the leader of the Babylonian system of today, then we need to understand what God wanted to tell us by calling that system Babylon. Ancient Babylon was in ruins by the time John the Revelator was alive, so God was definitely pointing to the past as an example for the future—which is today. Let’s start from the very beginning to see what that ancient city has to teach us.

Nimrod's Babel

We read from the biblical account:

The sons of Ham: Cush. . . .Cush became the father of Nimrod; he was the first on earth to be a mighty man. He was a mighty hunter before the Lord; therefore it is said, “Like Nimrod a mighty hunter before the Lord.” The beginning of his kingdom was Babel, Erech, and Accad, all of them in the land of Shinar. From that land he went into Assyria, and built Nin’evah, Reho’both-Ir, Calah, and Resen between Nin’evah and Calah; that is the great city. (from Genesis 10:6-12 RSV)

Nimrod, the mighty man who founded Babylon, was the grandson of Ham, who was Noah’s bad son. The Bible translators rendered the verse as saying he was a mighty hunter before the Lord, but it was meant in the sense of against the Lord:

9. Before the Lord. The LXX renders this phrase “against the Lord.” Although the hunter Nimrod acted in defiance of God, his mighty deeds made him famous among his contemporaries, and in future generations as well. Babylonian legends about Gilgamesh, who appears frequently on

Babylonian reliefs and cylinder seals and in literary documents, may possibly refer to Nimrod. Gilgamesh is usually shown killing lions or other wild beasts with his bare hands. The fact that Nimrod was a Hamite may be the reason why the Babylonians, descendants of Shem, credited his famous deeds to one of their own hunters and purposely forgot his name.^[4]

Already we see that Nimrod and Pope Francis have something in common: fame. Even though his greatness made him famous, the builder of Babylon was a bad grandson of a bad man, as far as the Bible records their deeds. In contrast, the people themselves—the Babylonians—were the descendants of Shem, one of Noah's good sons.

There is an important point to be made here. As we identify the biggest culprit in Babylon's fall—whether we speak of modern figurative Babylon or the ancient city—we must remember that the population of individuals who have grown up into the deceptive system are not especially guilty for that. These histories were given for our instruction in righteousness,^[5] and God is no respecter of persons.^[6] No one will be condemned because of being born into deception since that was not their choice. What a person is held accountable for is whether they sought to know the truth, and whether they acted upon the truth they knew.

In plain words, if you belong to any of the churches that are united under Pope Francis, by all means, please keep reading and let the Holy Spirit convince you of the truth. There is no condemnation for having been deceived. The condemnation is when you have the opportunity to know the truth (as you now have) and then you refuse it.

The descendants of Shem ended up deceived by Nimrod, but there was still a chance for them to escape. As an example, one such descendent of Shem did seek the one true God, and God asked him to leave the kingdoms and high society established and developed by Nimrod. His name was Abram, later changed to Abraham.

Now the Lord had said unto Abram, Get thee out of thy country, and from thy kindred, and from thy father's house, unto a land that I will shew thee: (Genesis 12:1)

And Terah took Abram his son, and Lot the son of Haran his son's son, and Sarai his daughter in law, his son Abram's wife; and they went forth with them from Ur of the Chaldees, to go into the land of Canaan; and they came unto Haran, and dwelt there. (Genesis 11:31)

The city of Ur was near the city of Erech, which Nimrod built in the beginning of his kingdom (see quote from Genesis 10:6-12 above), and Ur had become a leading cultural center by the time of Abraham, or earlier no doubt.^[7] The education of the Chaldees extended all the way to the time of Daniel and the fall of Babylon.^[8] I would like to ask you, dear reader, to seek the truth like Abram as you read this article. I ask you if you would be willing to leave the comfort of long-held but erroneous beliefs like he was. Would you be able to separate from social circles and from the familiar education that you have thus far been surrounded with, if that is what it will take to follow God's call? Abram did that, and he received a new name,^[9] Abraham. Let us pray together for God to lead us according to his example.

Dear Father in heaven, please give us the Holy Spirit to guide us as we study the history and fall of the ancient city of Babylon. You referred to this great city in Your final call to humanity to come out of Babylon,^[10] and we ask for You to impart to us an understanding of what it means for us today. We ask for the strength we will need to follow the call, which we want to do, not for fear of the things to come, but because we love You supremely, and because we want to bring out from Babylon with us as many others as we can. We thank you in advance for answering our prayer, knowing that because we ask in the name of Jesus/Alnitak, we shall receive it.^[11] Amen.

Transformed into an Angel of Light

As we already saw, one of the first issues we face regarding Nimrod is the fact that he was perceived as a great man—a hero—yet he was evil. There was a confusion of identity. (Doesn't that already sound like Pope Francis?) The descendants of Shem even willingly adopted him into their lineage because of his great fame as we read in the Bible Commentary quote above, and by so doing, they lost their focus. They looked to Nimrod instead of to the true God. In this sense, Nimrod is a type for the false Christ that the Bible prophesied would come:

And no marvel; for Satan himself is transformed into an angel of light. (2 Corinthians 11:14)

Jesus said of the last days that even the very elect would be seduced and deceived by false Christs, if it were possible. That is a very strong warning, coming from the lips of the Savior Himself. Consider it carefully:

For there shall arise false Christs, and false prophets, and shall shew great signs and wonders; insomuch that, if it were possible, they shall deceive the very elect. (Matthew 24:24)

For false Christs and false prophets shall rise, and shall shew signs and wonders, to seduce, if it were possible, even the elect. (Mark 13:22)

Although Jesus refers to false Christs and false prophets in the plural form, the deception associated with it is essentially the great deception of Satan himself, as mentioned in 2 Corinthians 11:14 (above).

Jesus' words are packed with power. He implies many things. First of all, He implies that it is possible to be seduced and deceived (except for the elect, which we will talk about shortly). This should immediately put a person on alert, because nobody should want to be deceived. This goes contrary to the modern concept of relative truth, or the plurality of truth, which teaches that there is no such thing as a wrong belief, and that a person's beliefs constitute their "truth" and that their beliefs are "correct" for them. Jesus clearly implies here that it is possible to be deceived, which means that there is an absolute truth, and to believe otherwise is to be in a deceived state. Furthermore, being in this deceived state has the consequence of eternal loss, which is why Jesus warns so strongly of the particular deception that He knew would come in the last days.

Jesus' statement also says that there is an elect, and even a very elect. The elect refers to the select, chosen ones. Crops yield their fruit in varying degrees of quality. The select, chosen fruits are the best ones. When you go to the market to buy produce, you examine the produce in order to select, or choose, the best quality available. In the final harvest of souls, there is a special group of only the best quality—whom Jesus examines, or tests, and then selects, or chooses based on their suitability. This truth is a thorn in the side of every inferior religion, which is why there is present unification of the religions, and a corresponding effort to prevent anyone from asserting that one particular system of faith is superior or inferior to another. This phase of selecting also implies the Investigative Judgment, which is a period during which Jesus examines those who profess to be His fruits, prior to the Executive Judgment when each soul will receive his just reward.

Now it really starts to get interesting. By making reference to the elect, who would be deceived if it were possible, Jesus implies that all others besides the elect will be deceived, guaranteed (and even the elect are at risk). That should cause a person to be seriously uncomfortable! Are you certain that you are among the elect? Could you be in a deceived state without knowing it? How can you know for sure that you are not deceived?

Jesus does not speak idle words. When He gives a warning, and a person does not pay attention to the warning, he will suffer serious consequences. That is how it was with the sign to flee the city of Jerusalem before its destruction in 70 A.D.—those who ignored the sign did not escape. Likewise, understanding this warning about the false Christ is a matter of eternal life and death.

Jesus' words carry another key implication. By mentioning that the elect would be deceived "if it were possible," Jesus is saying that there is a certain definite reason why it is not possible to deceive the elect. That in turn implies that the elect can know the reason, and thus know that they are among the elect, and know that they are not deceived.

The reason why it is not possible to deceive the elect is that they have a knowledge of the time. They are able to identify the false Christ by a method other than appearance. When Jesus came the first time, the wise men knew about it based on the time prophecies of Daniel, and they were able to identify the Lord of lords in His human flesh as an infant because they knew the time to expect Him. The same gift of God—time prophecy—allows us to identify Pope Francis as the false Christ, regardless of how he presents himself. The Jews did not recognize Jesus because they did not know the time of His coming, and He presented Himself in a manner they weren't expecting—in humility. Similarly, those today who do not know the time of the coming of the true Christ will not recognize the false Christ, because he appears to be a good, humble person, which they don't expect.

Many well-meaning Christians who are trying to study prophecy mistake an obviously-evil power for the antichrist. For example, President Obama is often identified as the antichrist because of a variety of reasons. However, such an idea completely misses the point of 2 Corinthians 11:14 (above), because the ultimate evil—Satan himself—is prophesied to appear as an angel of light, or a messenger of good, or simply "a good person." Painting Obama as the devil doesn't work, although he does play an important support role, which you can read about in the Moor of Freising.

The real antichrist undergoes a transformation process into something beautiful, like how Nimrod's fame overpowered the fact that he was evil, to transform him into a hero of even Noah's "good" descendants. You can see this in how the papacy has been transformed over the years, and even just recently as the Vatileaks scandal has given way to the reforms of the Roman Curia in the public mind. That is all part of the show.

The Mighty Hunter and the "Heavenly Shepherd"

Nimrod's reputation as a mighty hunter calls to mind another great hunter of Greek mythology: Orion. However, the Greeks (and the name Orion) came much, much later than Nimrod. Nevertheless, the constellation itself was the same in Nimrod's night sky, and in that period it was known as the Heavenly Shepherd:

The Babylonian star catalogues of the Late Bronze Age name Orion ^{MUL}SIPA.ZI.AN.NA,[note 1] "The Heavenly Shepherd" or "True Shepherd of Anu" - Anu being the chief god of the heavenly realms.[5]^[12]

Note that this is not talking about the Good Shepherd we know as Jesus Christ, but a different shepherd who was the son of the god Anu. Anu comes down to us in a form that reveals Satan's intentions to usurp the authority of God the Father:

In Sumerian mythology, Anu (also An; from Sumerian An, "sky, heaven") was a sky-god, the god of heaven, lord of constellations, king of gods, spirits and demons, and dwelt in the highest heavenly regions. It was believed that he had the power to judge those who had committed crimes, and that he had created the stars as soldiers to destroy the wicked. His attribute was the royal tiara. His attendant and minister of state was the god Ilabrat.^[13]

Do you recognize the royal tiara, like the one associated with the papal office? Do you recognize the shepherd figure, which Pope Francis wears on his cross, and which is mentioned in the Prophecy of the Popes,^[14] where the last pope (the Roman Peter, which is Pope Francis) is described as pasturing his sheep?

Satan is a hunter, like Nimrod, destroying souls in deception, while he projects himself as a shepherd. Do you see that if Nimrod is a type for Satan, and Pope Francis fulfills the type of Nimrod, then Pope Francis is Satan!?

The city of Babylon was deliberately modeled after heaven, and that is why it got the special name, Babilu:

Babel. Nimrod's first kingdom was Babylon. Having the idea that their city was the earthly reflection of the heavenly dwelling place of their god, the Babylonians gave it the name Bab-ilu, "the gate of god" (see on ch. 11:9). Babylonian legends equate the founding of the city with the creation of the world. No doubt with this in mind Sargon, an early Semitic king of Mesopotamia, took sacred soil from Babylon for the founding of another city modeled after it. Even in the later period of Assyrian supremacy Babylon did not lose its significance as the center of Mesopotamian culture. Its greatest fame and glory, however, came in the time of Nebuchadnezzar, who made of it the world's first metropolis...^[15]

Compare "the gate of god" with what Jacob said when he realized that Orion was the door to heaven, as I explained in the Voice of God article:

And Jacob awaked out of his sleep [having seen the ladder to heaven], and he said, Surely the Lord is in this place [referring to the constellation of Orion, which was afterward named "Jacob" because of this dream]; and I knew it not. And he was afraid, and said, How dreadful is this place! this is none other but the house of God, and this is the gate of heaven. (Genesis 28:16-17)

Satan is the greatest copycat of all time, and he's been practicing it since Babel. We learn from this that Babylon was designed to be a fake earthly substitute for the true hope of reaching heaven. Rather than seeking the way to the true God, the city of Babylon claimed to be the way. Nimrod was the earthly figure for the false "heavenly shepherd" god of that day. He built cities, thus protecting and providing for the people—like a shepherd—and they enjoyed his protection. That is another way in which Nimrod was a type of the false Christ. Pope Francis is likewise building his cities in the sense of bringing the churches together and uniting them behind the wall of human rights, thus "protecting" them from fundamentalist "outlaws." Do you see that if Nimrod is a type of the false Christ, and Pope Francis fulfills the type of Nimrod, then Pope Francis is the false Christ!?

Understanding that Satan is transformed into an angel of light is a critical part of recognizing his deceptive appearance. When we identify the false Christ, we are not identifying an Obama with horns, but a shepherd—a pastor—a pope! The call to come out of Babylon^[16] is a call to come away from any number of apparently-good pastoral communities, like those of Nimrod! God's call to come out of Babylon is a call to depart from the comfort and protection of the earthly systems that are under Satan's control, like Abram was called to depart from the civil system of Nimrod, and to trust in the invisible God instead. That is not an easy thing to do unless you can see through the good appearance of the leader to the devil he is.

Nebuchadnezzar's Babylon

It was mentioned above that Babylon's greatest fame and glory came in the time of Nebuchadnezzar, who made of it the world's first metropolis. This era in Babylon's history stands as an example for the end of the world, as did the Tower of Babel, because both were destroyed by judgments of God. It is primarily to this phase in the city's history that God refers in the book of Revelation. Angels are described proclaiming its fall and calling His people out of it, just like how the city was conquered historically, and how God called the Jews out of it to return to their homeland.

There were three principal kings from the time of Nebuchadnezzar until the fall of Babylon. There was Nebuchadnezzar himself, who was responsible for building up Babylon to the height of its splendor, then there was Nabonidus, and finally Belshazzar, who was reigning and reveling at the time the mysterious hand wrote the fateful words mene, mene, tekel, upharsin on the wall, and the city was taken. The story of these three kings exactly parallels what has happened in recent years...

Like the long list of popes, Babylon had a long list of kings. But there was only one king who was the last king, upon whom the judgment ultimately fell. That last king committed a crime that was worse than all the others before him, and thus he serves as a type for the last pope at the end of time, Pope Francis. As Belshazzar was destroyed with his kingdom, so will Pope Francis be destroyed very soon in the seven last plagues.

And then shall that Wicked [man of sin, now described as the lawless one, Satan] be revealed, whom the Lord shall consume with the spirit of his mouth, and shall destroy with the brightness of his coming: (2 Thessalonians 2:8)

In this verse, the Bible uses clear words to describe the man of sin. He is the epitome of wickedness, and lawlessness: Satan himself. It is very easy to see Belshazzar as a type for the man of sin in this context, because of his wickedness and disregard for the true God, despite the warning of his grandfather's (Nebuchadnezzar's) experience. It might not be as easy to see Pope Francis fulfilling the type just yet, but you will see it.

This is where the story begins to get really interesting, because this is where time begins to come into the equation. There is still more evidence to show how Pope Francis follows in the footsteps of wicked Belshazzar, but even though it might still be difficult for you to see, the time element of the story will help make it clear. According to the Bible, he reigned over Babylon long enough to have begun his third year:

In the third year of the reign of king Belshazzar a vision appeared unto me, even unto me Daniel, after that which appeared unto me at the first. (Daniel 8:1)

The Talmud furthermore records that his reign was just over two years:

The chronology of the three Babylonian kings is given in the Talmud as follows: Nebuchadnezzar reigned forty-five years, Evil-merodach twenty-three, and Belshazzar was monarch of Babylonia for two years, being killed at the beginning of the third year on the fatal night of the fall of Babylon (Meg. 11b).^[17]

This three-year reign provides an immediate clue as to who Belshazzar's antitype is. All we have to do is look for a pope who will reign on the papal seat for three years, and whose reign will be broken in his third year. Seeing that all recent popes except Francis have reigned longer than three years, it must be Francis. This is where a knowledge of time helps us identify him for certain. Pope Francis is in his third year, and because we know from the Clock of God and the Vessel of Time when Jesus Christ will return, and when the plagues will begin, we know that Pope Francis' reign will be broken by the plagues this autumn, in the middle of his third year. He himself admitted that his reign—and even his life—would be short!^[18] You remember the headlines: Pope Francis says he expects to live two or three more years, and may retire

Are you beginning to see the power of understanding time prophecy? By knowing when the real Jesus Christ will come, we can back-trace to see when the imposter came. But it gets better—there is so much evidence that I can only scratch the surface in this article.

Belshazzar was made king of Babylon by Nabonidus while he was alive; he did not ascend the throne after the former monarch's death as is usually the case. That is reflected in modern times by how Pope Benedict's voluntary resignation opened the papal throne to Pope Francis while Benedict was still alive, which was recognized as a very unusual thing that had never happened before (except for Celestine V who resigned after issuing an edict confirming the pope's right to do so). Not only the duration of his reign matches, but the circumstances of his ascension do too. Do you see that if Belshazzar is a type for that Wicked who will be destroyed in the plagues, and Pope Francis is a fulfillment of the type of Belshazzar, then Pope Francis is that Wicked!

Belshazzar's history has even more to say:

Belshazzar was the son of Nabonidus, the last king of Babylon, who frequently left him to govern the empire while he pursued antiquarian and religious interests. After ruling only three years, Nabonidus went to the oasis of Tayma and devoted himself to the worship of the moon god Sin. He made Belshazzar co-regent in 553 BC, leaving him in charge of Babylon's defense.^[2] In his 17th year, 539 BC, Nabonidus returned from Tayma, hoping to defend his kingdom from the Persians who were planning to advance on Babylon. He celebrated the New Year's Festival (Akk. Akitu) in Babylon that year. Subsequently, Belshazzar was positioned in the city of Babylon to hold the capital, while Nabonidus marched his troops north to meet Cyrus. On October 10, 539 BC, Nabonidus surrendered and fled from Cyrus. Two days later, the Persian armies captured the city of Babylon.^[19]

What the historical record describes is a co-regency, which took place before Belshazzar officially received the throne. This shows that there were two phases of Belshazzar's reign. In this initial phase, Belshazzar ruled under the authority of Nabonidus. This again reflects the development of Pope Francis. The co-regents of popes are the cardinals; the cardinals are the pope's subordinate regional co-rulers.

According to those sources, Belshazzar was made co-regent 14 years before the capture of Babylon. Similarly, Pope Francis—then Archbishop Bergoglio—was created a cardinal in February of 2001, which is 14 years before the plagues will come this autumn 2015 to destroy his own Babylon. Again, the fall of Babylon is a type for the end of the world, and the time periods involved point clearly to Pope Francis as the new Belshazzar! That means Pope Francis is "that Wicked" which is none other than Satan himself! When you look at Pope Francis, you are seeing the gestures and hearing the speech of Satan himself! There is no more Jorge Bergoglio. At some point, he volunteered his body and sacrificed his soul.

Now you can begin to see the true significance of the falling of the World Trade Center towers in New York in September of 2001—the first year of Bergoglio’s cardinalate. It was a symbolic event. The two square towers, like the two squares of the “throne” of St. Corbinian’s Bear, had to be reoriented, symbolic of the preparation of the papal throne for his papacy (not to mention his own preparation). “The elite consider themselves to be gentlemen, and they think not informing the general public of their plans is unsportsmanlike.”^[20] The falling of the Twin Towers was the world-awakening announcement by the ruling elite that the New World Order was coming, and that the throne had to be prepared for the New World’s monarch.

The Eighth of the Seven Kings

In the 17th chapter of the book of Revelation, John is given a clear explanation of “Babylon the Great” and its ultimate king, whom Belshazzar typified. Because the papacy has had many kings, the Bible gives a concise little riddle that allows us to identify the precise one who would be the last.

And there are seven kings: five are fallen, and one is, and the other is not yet come; and when he cometh, he must continue a short space. And the beast that was, and is not, even he is the eighth, and is of the seven, and goeth into perdition. (Revelation 17:10-11)

In this passage, we see the distinction again between seven “normal” kings (the antichrist system), and an eighth one, who is that Wicked—the beast itself. In recent years, this riddle has elicited increasingly accurate charts like the following one:

THE 8 KINGS OF REVELATION THE LAST POPE
1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8
PIUS XI	PIUS XII	JOHN XXIII	PAUL VI	JOHN PAUL I	JOHN PAUL II	BENEDICT XVI	FRANCIS I
1922-1939	1939-1958	1958-1963	1963-1978	1978	1978-2005	APRIL 19, 2005 FEB. 28, 2013	MARCH 13, 2013 UNTIL THE END OF THE WORLD
LATERAN TREATY 1929 1 ST KING				REIGNED ONLY 33 DAYS 5 TH KING	SERIOUSLY WOUNDED IN 1981 6 TH KING		DEVIL FROM THE BOTTOMLESS PIT (CONTROLLED BY SATAN) 8 TH KING
FIVE ARE FALLEN... REVELATION 17:10					ONE IS...	RULES ONLY A SHORT TIME.	EVEN HE IS THE EIGHTH, AND IS OF THE SEVEN, AND GOETH INTO PERDITION. -REV 17:11

What is not fully explained in the chart above, however, is why John the Revelator was taken to the time of John Paul II in his vision. Five were fallen (past), one was (present), and the others would come (future). One reason (noted in the chart) is that Pope John Paul II was shot, and his death was announced in the media before the fact of his survival came out. In a special way, he represented the beast with the deadly wound that was healed.

But that’s not all. John Paul II was also the instrumental figure in turning the church into the direction of ecumenism, and it was he who elevated Bergoglio to the College of Cardinals. In that sense, Bergoglio/Francis is a “son” of John Paul II, like Belshazzar was a “son” of Nebuchadnezzar. Technically, Belshazzar was Nebuchadnezzar’s grandson, like Francis was John Paul II’s “grandson” across Benedict XVI. It fits perfectly.

Here is a table to show the comparison more clearly:

The Last 3 Kings of Ancient Babylon		The Last 3 Popes of Rome
Nebuchadnezzar	The main builder of Babylon.	John Paul II	The main architect of the One World Religion.
Nabonidus	The king who relinquished the throne of Babylon and gave it to his successor before his death.	Benedict XVI	The pope who retired, thus opening the throne for his successor before his death.
Belshazzar	Grandson of Nebuchadnezzar. The worst and most blasphemous of all of Babylon’s kings, who even took and profaned the sacred vessels from the house of the Lord. He died when the city was taken.	Francis	Created cardinal by John Paul II. First Jesuit, first Francis, first Latin American, etc. The New World Order will be destroyed under his reign.

Isn’t it striking? Even the way Nabonidus was unpopular and preferred a life of devotion to his god is reflected in how Benedict’s style was not well-received, and he prefers his life of spiritual devotion. It’s a perfect parallel, straight from the pages of scripture!

I know the controlling powers try hard to ensure Pope Francis has a clean image (even though he doesn’t). We could easily say that Benedict XVI was more evil than John Paul II (considering the scandals and such, and his background in the Office of the Inquisition). In fact, many expected him to be the last and terrible pope. But then came the nice, humble, friendly Pope Francis. How could he match the evil character of Belshazzar?

Let me use an illustration to show how he fits the progression from bad to worse in the kings of Babylon. Consider the substances pictured—the bottle of dark poison on the left and the drinking glass filled with what appears to be water and ice on the right. Which substance is more dangerous? Without any suspicion, a person would easily swallow the colorless poison in the drinking glass, all because of its appearance.

Pope Francis' good image makes him more evil; it is the element of deception that makes it more dangerous.

For the mystery of iniquity doth already work: only he who now letteth will let, until he be taken out of the way. (2 Thessalonians 2:7)

In conclusion, here is a timely YouTube video from TheForerunner777. When you get to the very middle of the video, you will find out why this will undoubtedly be our last series of articles.

Video: POPE FIGHTS BACK!

There are only two choices: for God, or for Satan, and now you know who's who.

In the next article, we will show you that what is possibly the largest crop circle formation in the history of the phenomenon points precisely to the abomination of desolation*. This particular formation has been studied by many because of its symbolism as a winged serpent. Did you know this creature is described in the Bible? As you can see by the design (below), the crop circle formation depicts a serpent with wings, or in other words the feathered serpent of Mayan lore named Quetzalcoatl, that bloodthirsty god who is none other than Satan.

How does Pope Francis figure into it?

The Return of Quetzalcoatl

Written by Ray Dickinson

Created: Friday, March 13, 2015, 10:46 am

One of the oldest and most important gods of the Mesoamerican culture is known as Quetzalcoatl, the “feathered serpent.” He is said to have taught the people how to cultivate their crops, and gave them many good things that they needed for civilization. But there was also a dark aspect of Quetzalcoatl’s character:

In the past gods such as Moloch demanded blood sacrifice—human blood sacrifice—and Quetzalcoatl was just another mask worn by the demon who masqueraded as Moloch in Canaan, Kronos in Carthage, Saturn in Rome and only God knows what other names it carried in civilizations long gone.^[1]

This deity was characterized both by his benevolence and love, as well as by his insatiable blood-thirstiness. In him, light and darkness were blended:

The feathered serpent of Mesoamerican lore, Quetzalcoatl, was a god of Heaven and earth, light and darkness, and life, death, and rebirth....

The contradictory nature of the feathered serpent symbolized the dual nature of Quetzalcoatl as both earth and sky god. Quetzal meant “bird” and coatl meant “snake,” so this snake-bird deity represented the link between sky and earth, between humanity and the stars. It appeared the Mesoamericans recognized this link when they observed a particular “star,” the planet Venus. In the Aztec myth of the feathered serpent, Quetzalcoatl died just as Venus appeared as the Evening Star, and he cremated himself in the funeral pyre just as the Evening Star disappeared below the western horizon in the “fire” of the setting sun. Then Quetzalcoatl, as Venus, returned to life.^[2]

Do you recognize anything in this description that sounds familiar? From a biblical perspective, who is the God of Heaven and earth?^[3] Who was the link between humanity and the stars (heaven)? And who gave himself in death and was subsequently resurrected? Indeed, what we see in Quetzalcoatl is one who imitates the Christian God. And having “gone to heaven,” taking his place among the stars, he portends his return with signs from the heavens, just like our God.

Is it clear to you who this feathered or flying serpent must be? Are you aware that serpents were not always limited to moving on their belly? Early on in history, God pronounced a curse upon the serpent, and He limited its means of travel:

And the LORD God said unto the serpent...upon thy belly shalt thou go, and dust shalt thou eat all the days of thy life: (Genesis 3:14)

It is clear that the serpent was forever changed by this curse, and what we now know as a snake, was not the same as the serpent that deceived Eve. Before the curse, the serpent was not restricted to moving on its belly, but had wings by which it could fly. This may be inferred from the references to a “flying serpent” in the Bible. In fact, Isaiah 14:29 names the fiery flying serpent as the third in a sequence of progressively worse kings, which associates Quetzalcoatl with the Babylonian king Belshazzar, who is also a type for that Wicked, as explained in the previous article.

So what was special about the serpent among God’s creation that he was able to communicate intelligently with Eve at the forbidden tree? The answer is simple. The serpent became a medium, and when the serpent spoke, it was not the serpent, but Satan, who spoke. Being true to his nature, he cloaked himself in this beautiful creature (as it still was before it was cursed), so that Eve would be intrigued and entertain his questioning, where if he had appeared for whom he was, she would not have been deceived, but would have immediately resisted him.

Thus, the return of Quetzalcoatl represents the time when the one who occupied the flying serpent in Eden, would return to occupy a physical body on earth—this time, for the purpose of reigning. Many depictions of this feathered serpent god, Quetzalcoatl, include features of a man as well, representing his function as a medium, which is what gave man-like qualities (such as the ability to speak) to the serpent in Eden.

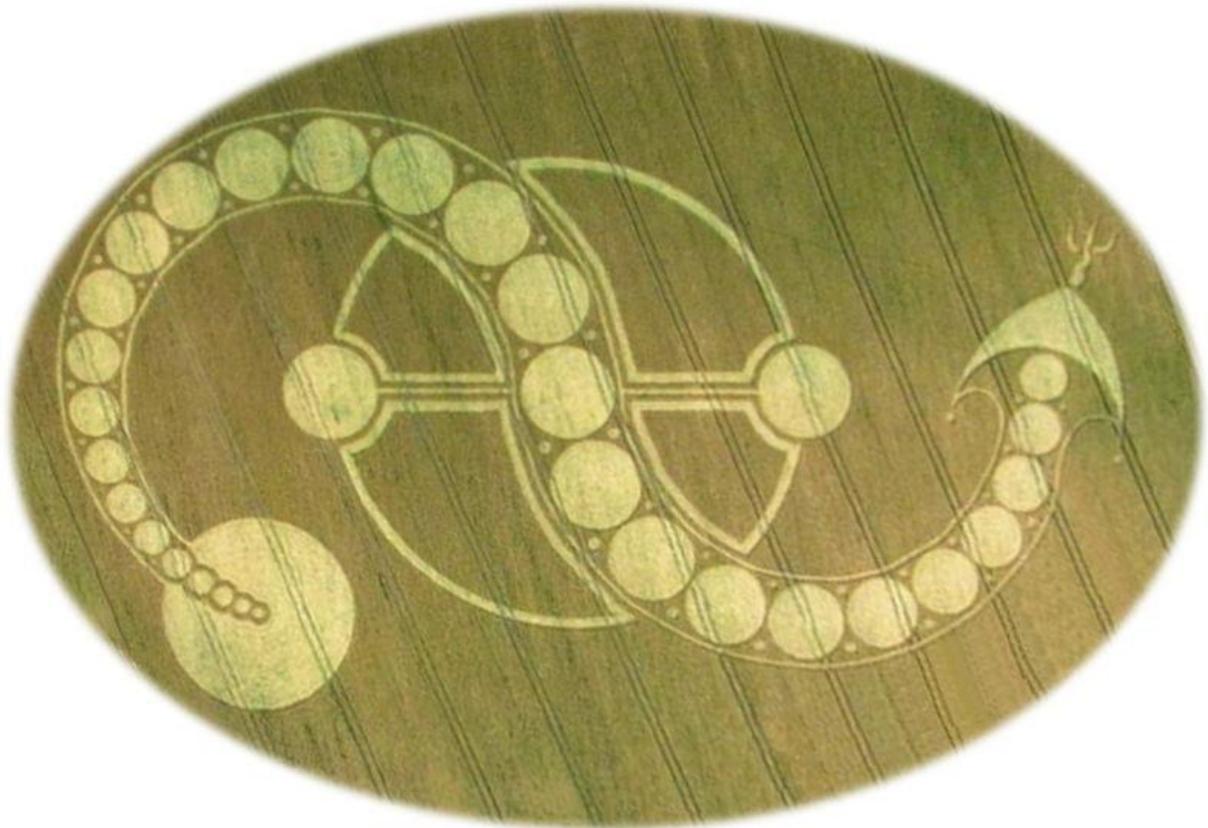

Traditionally, the completion of the Great Cycle [\[of the Mayan Calendar\]](#) was associated with the return of the Mesoamerican deity Quetzalcoatl, “Sovereign Plumed Serpent,” depicted in sculptures and temple friezes as a fusion of bird and snake, representing the union of spirit and matter.”^[4]

The nature of the devil is no less deceptive today than when he was in the Garden of God. In order to cloak who he really is, Satan appears not in a grotesque form of a scowling gargoyle with a trident, but as a messenger of light and peace! Eve was not disgusted at his appearance in Eden (which is evidence in itself that the serpent was a beautiful creature!), and neither will people today be disgusted at his appearance. Rather, they will welcome him.

But the truth is that the attractive Quetzalcoatl from Eden is Satan, and it is imperative for humanity to discern him, despite his pleasing disguise, in order to escape his deceptive spell. And for my brethren in the Seventh-day Adventist Church, who expect him to come as a literal, angelic being of light, neither will you escape his deception unless you realize that he has already come! If you wait until you see him come in the expected form, you will think that there is still time, even after it has run out; the door of mercy will have closed while you waited for your expectations to be fulfilled. This is as Satan would have it, but it need not be so. The evidence is here, and there is scarcely any time left, so don’t wait any longer. Receive it in faith. Jesus said of our day:

*For there shall arise false Christs, and false prophets, and shall shew great signs and wonders; insomuch that, if it were possible, they shall deceive the very elect. (Matthew 24:24)

The “very elect,” are not the most intelligent of the earth, like those whom the devil likes to recruit. That it is impossible to deceive the elect has nothing to do with our intelligence level, but it is because the elect have the Holy Spirit, who reveals the devil’s deceptions. Without the Holy Spirit, even the elect wouldn’t stand a chance against this foe!

Unlocking the Mystery

Ever since the Cosmic Serpent crop circle, as it has come to be known, landed in a wheat field in England one night in 2011, it has given many people food for thought as they have sought to decipher its symbolism. Although it has been studied in the context of the Mayan calendar, New Age concepts, and more, no one has been able to successfully decode every aspect of it such that it tells a harmonious story. At best, it may highlight a couple of dates or astronomical events (like the attempt shown in the graphic), but there is much more than this hidden in the fallen wheat of that field! No one has seen the true interpretation because they have been taking shots in the dark, but with the light of the Holy Spirit illuminating our study, the full harmonious solution has become apparent.

This “Cosmic Serpent,” as it has been aptly named, is a depiction of Quetzalcoatl, the feathered serpent who is said to have given his life and resurrected as Venus. Could it be that he wanted to announce his soon arrival? But an image like this has little use if it doesn’t give some indication as to when to expect the event. There must be some hidden celestial clues that would decode his message.

Indeed, there are! The body of the snake looks like it might be some kind of countdown until his return. With that hint, we need something to nail it down in time—a reference point. And that is exactly what we find in the center. Like crosshairs, a special event is targeted as a key point in time. It is a Venus transit across the Sun. This is illustrated in the animation below, which reveals that the uppermost body—the one in the snake—must be the earth.

<http://whitecloudfarm.eth.limo/vid/?hash=QmY3T9t3cHpYV2WenwSNbRmUsWmC44B1hwYKLpMfZyPbTn>
 Video: Venus Transit

The precise moment of the transit occurs when the Sun, Venus, and Earth are in perfect alignment, and for this reason, we infer that underneath the Earth, there is another Venus, in addition to the two at the beginning and end of the transit path—otherwise that alignment would not be represented. So the outer two circles of Venus are snapshots in time that serve to tell us that there is a third snapshot of Venus in perfect alignment between the Sun and Earth in the center of the serpent.

For anyone knowledgeable about The Orion Message, this should immediately look very familiar: Do you see the resemblance to the belt stars of Orion? The throne of God is represented by those belt stars, where one star represents each member of the Godhead. Our God is a humble Deity and sits on the throne with His Son and the Holy Spirit at either side. But Satan is not so humble as to share his throne. Not only do we discern the serpent's intention to exalt himself to sit at the very position of the Father, but all three positions on the throne are occupied by the same Venus!

Indeed, we see in this contrast of thrones, the true and the false trinity. The biblical Godhead is composed of three separate individuals: the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit. These three are perfectly united in all they do, and are therefore said to be One. But the fact that they are represented by three separate stars in Orion indicates that they are three separate individuals. The satanic trinity, on the other hand is one being with three different manifestations. Whether you refer to the ancient Egyptians' Isis, Horus, and Set, or the Babylonians' Sun, Moon, and Venus—all represent the same god—Lucifer, or Satan. The false trinity generally includes a male, female, and offspring—and it crops up in numerous satanic concepts. Of Yin and yang, Wikipedia says:

Yin and yang can be thought of as complementary (rather than opposing) forces [\[like male and female\]](#) that interact to form a dynamic system in which the whole [union, with offspring] is greater than the assembled parts.^[5]

It is the Hegelian dialectic:

Hegelian dialectic, usually presented in a threefold manner, was stated by Heinrich Moritz Chalybäus as comprising three dialectical stages of development: a thesis [yin/female], giving rise to its reaction, an antithesis [yang/male], which contradicts or negates the thesis, and the tension between the two being resolved by means of a synthesis [offspring].^[6]

It was at the tree of knowledge of good and evil (the yin and yang) that the serpent proposed to Eve that she would become elevated to a higher state of existence—the product of knowing good and evil—like a god. The return of the serpent (Quetzalcoatl) is hailed by many as a New Age of enlightenment and spiritual evolution, but just as it proved a terrible curse to Eve and the human family, so it is today. We must recognize its insidious nature and reject the false trinity in principle, lest we accept the reign of Quetzalcoatl (Satan) in our lives. In this crop circle, the message being declared is that Quetzalcoatl is coming to take his place on his throne! Don't allow his throne to be planted in your heart, but invite the Holy Spirit to live out the life of Christ in you, that you may give glory to the Father.

The Planetary Countdown

Let's take a moment to learn a little more about Venus and its transits. It is an interesting planet in its own right—with its hellishly hot and dense atmosphere covered with sulfuric acid clouds, it isn't too welcoming! Its rotation is in the opposite direction of all the other planets (so the sun rises in the west and sets in the east) and it rotates so slowly that it completes a full revolution around the sun (its year) before it makes a full rotation on its axis (its day)! This is illustrated in one of the animations in the video below, which reveals another fascinating aspect of Venus—its motion with respect to Earth creates a five-pointed star when a line is drawn each time the planet comes between the earth and the sun. Even its rotation is in five-fold symmetry with Earth (marking the point every time the same side of Venus faces the earth). The following video illustrates these characteristics:

<http://whitecloudfarm.eth.limo/vid/?hash=QmUdJuM99V8PPtEmRbGvHpEXJXumV9KMR47txpUBdqKkRz>

Video: The Pentagram of Venus

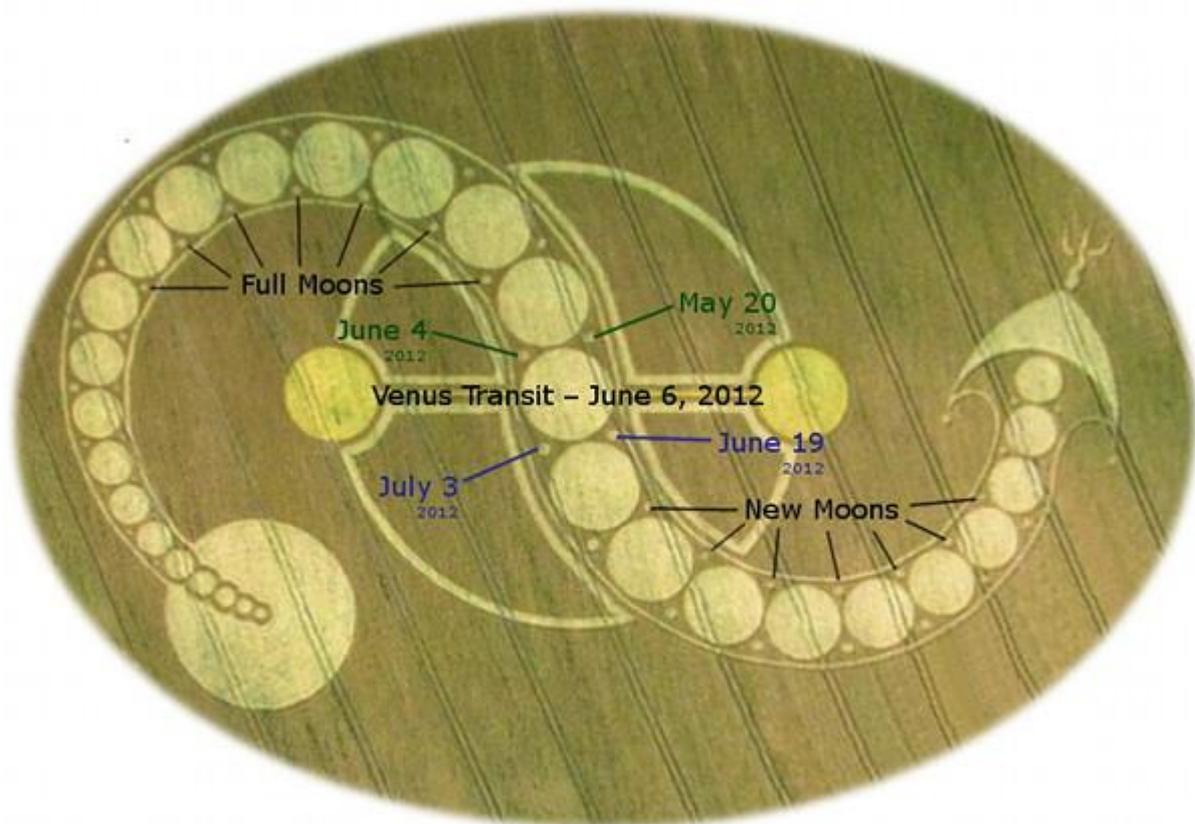

Animations of Venus and Earth's orbit, showing the five-fold symmetry.

For this reason, the pentagram and pentagon are often associated with Satan, who is the "Morning Star" like Venus.

Despite how often the planets may pass each other in their orbits, though, a Venus transit is relatively rare, because it requires precise alignment. Venus transits occur in pairs eight years apart, separated from the next pair by well over a century. The most recent Venus transit pair occurred on June 8, 2004 and June 6, 2012. Although the earlier transit is significant also, it is the 2012 transit that is depicted in the crop circle, for as we will see later, it is confirmed by a second cosmic event that provides a reference point.

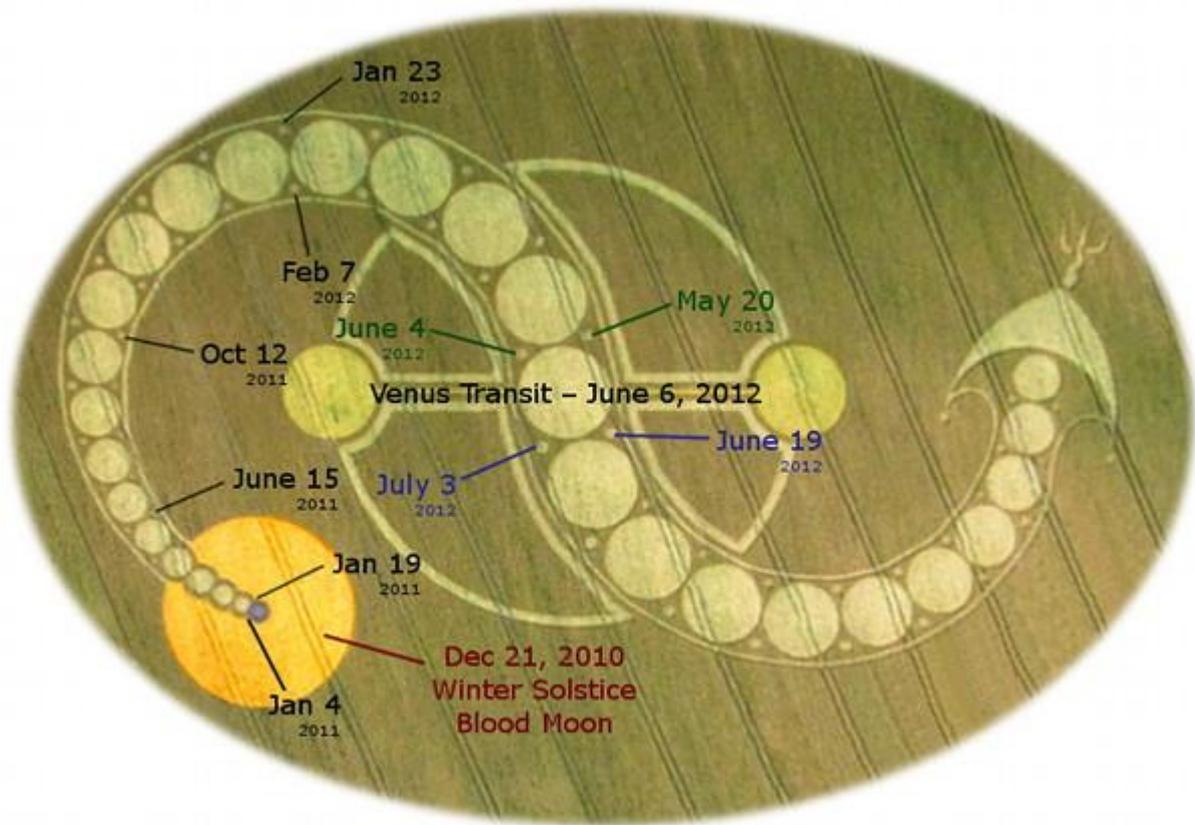

So now we know the date of the center point, but how can we know how the countdown works? In order to answer this, let's look again at the center, and consider the symbolism a little bit deeper. We understand that because the uppermost circle represents the earth, it hints at what the tiny circles must be: the moon. Although not drawn to scale, the relative sizes are accurate. Venus is about the same size as the earth, and is hidden behind it, while the moon is much smaller and the sun much bigger.

The immediate question that may arise is then, "Why are there so many earths and moons?" After all, there is only one moon circling our planet, not four! The multiple earths and moons represent multiple snapshots in time. Regarding the moons, if it isn't clear, please convince yourself that there are two moons for every earth. Following the snapshot logic, what must the extra moon represent? There are two times each month when the moon fills a complete circle, and it happens when it is on opposite sides of the earth. At the new moon, it is a completely dark circle, and at the full moon, it is a completely illuminated circle. Therefore, these must be the two snapshots of the moon. Unfortunately, the artist was limited by the canvas, and could not choose a different color for the new moons to distinguish them!

So with that, we are ready to start calculating the timeline! If there is a new moon and a full moon for each earth depicted, then that means that each earth represents one lunar month. So let's get out a lunar phase calendar and see what times correspond to the head and tail of the serpent! There are many websites that provide dates for the lunar phases. The site that I reference here shows the lunar phases, eclipses, etc. for the whole year. First, let's work our way to the tail from the Venus transit on June 6, 2012. The new moon and full moon immediately before this date are labeled in green, and those immediately after it, in blue.

Now all we do is walk back to the tail, counting the full moons and new moons (which are on opposite sides) until we get to the end! When we do, we will discover that the earliest moon on the serpent is the new moon of January 4, 2011. (A few intermediate moons are labeled for reference in the graphic, but are not significant.) But there is one more earth shown, so what do we do with that? If you look closely at the tail, because of the large circle at the tip, the moons are no longer visible. This clearly identifies the large circle: Which celestial body renders the moon invisible when in close proximity to it? The sun! You will notice that it is exactly centered on the last little earth. This alignment illustrates perfectly the blood moon that occurred on the previous full moon of the start of the sequence. It was a rare astronomical event—the first time in 372 years that there was a blood moon on the winter solstice!^[7]

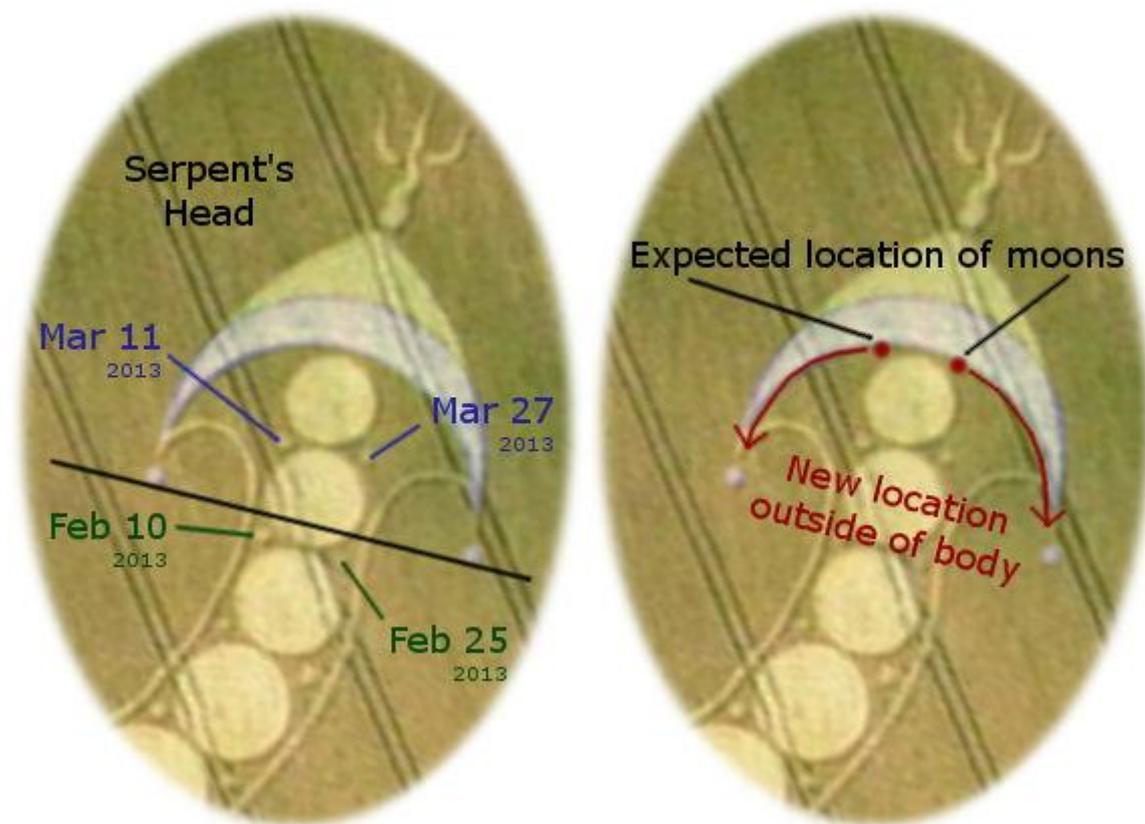

Notice that this sun is smaller than the large sun in the center (which represents a later time). This gives us the impression that Quetzalcoatl is far from the sun at first, but as he approaches, it appears bigger. Also, being that we see the earth, the perspective is not that of an earth-dweller, but of one who is farther away, taking more of the solar system into his view. The following video shows this event as it would appear from the moon and beyond. As we saw before, Quetzalcoatl imitates the character and actions of Christ. Here, we see that he makes it appear as though he returns from heaven like Jesus will.

Video: Blood Moon On Solstice

As the starting point for the serpent's ascension to the throne, the winter solstice is a fitting representation—the birth of the sun-god (who is Lucifer)—with this particular solstice given greater significance by the rare coincidence of the blood moon on the same day.

Of course, what we are really interested in is when Quetzalcoatl would begin his reign! So let's move forward up toward the head like we did before, and see what it shows us. Notice that the head is neatly defined by drawing a line through the neck that includes everything connected to the head on either side (see figure at left). You see that the last moons before the head are the February moons (green). These relate to the prior reign, while the March moons (blue) mark the first month when Quetzalcoatl assumes the throne. But what do we do with the extra earth that has no moons? Actually, it does have moons, but they are relocated outside the head (red—see figure at right). This is significant, as we will see in a moment. Where the next moons would be, we meet what looks like a giant crescent moon, which points us to the actual moons below. This is a hint that the exact date of interest is shortly after the new moon, when it is still a crescent.

Are you beginning to see how much information is packed in here? And this is just the dates! The real importance is what all of this points to, but let me not get ahead of myself! First, let's nail down all the information from the head, and then I will show you the real identity of Quetzalcoatl. So we have two key months within the head. The March moons are part of the head, so they must point to the beginning of the reign of Quetzalcoatl. The April moons, however, are outside the head, so although they are related, they must be associated more directly with something else. There is something else that is outside the head—the tongue resembling Neptune's trident!

The large crescent moon tells us that it would be shortly after the new moon, and the tongue gives us the final exact day. As illustrated, it has the appearance of two stacked digits: a 1 on top of a 3. Thus, the key date is the number of Satan and his rebellion, 13. This applies to the inner moons (identifying March 13, 2013) as well as the outer moons (identifying April 13, 2013), since the tongue is both inside and outside the body (see figure).

Do you realize what this means? Not only does this crop circle tell us the exact date of the return of Quetzalcoatl, but it also tells us when his terrible trident power would be set in place. It was with his trident that Neptune stirred up storms over the sea and generated earthquakes, tsunamis and lightning, as well as spearing fish. This describes a time of turbulence and trouble—at least for those who fall out of favor with Neptune!

The appearance of the trident tongue as a flame of fire speaks of the fiery darts of the wicked one, which he will be hurtling at everyone who defies his authority.

Above all, taking the shield of faith, wherewith ye shall be able to quench all the fiery darts of the wicked. (Ephesians 6:16)

And then shall that Wicked be revealed,... Even him, whose coming is after the working of Satan with all power and signs and lying wonders. (2 Thessalonians 2:8-9)

But storms and earthquakes are not generally seen as associated with any earthly power. So it may be more subtle than we might expect. Remember, the serpent was a beautiful creature that didn't elicit any fear in Eve. Likewise, Quetzalcoatl has a deceptively pleasing appeal, and his tongue (which is normally kept hidden from view) is not a defining feature! So don't think we're looking for a terrible-looking beast of power. Quite the contrary!

The Wolf in Sheep's Clothing

So based on this analysis, we should have seen the return of Quetzalcoatl, the feathered serpent from Eden, on the crescent moon of the 13th of March, 2013, with his power to cast fiery darts being established a month later, on the 13th of April, 2013. Do either or both of these dates ring a bell with you? A Google search will quickly supply any lack of memory.

The current pope, Pope Francis, was elected on March 13, 2013! Then “the abomination that maketh desolate” spoken of by Daniel was set up, and the 1290 literal days began for the last fulfillment of Daniel's prophecy (Daniel 12:11). The 1260 days (Daniel 12:7) began a month later, on April 13, 2013, when he appointed his “working group”^[8] of cardinals spread across the world who report directly to him. “This body serves the Pope in the governance of the universal Church.”^[9] The appointment of this group was widely reported on, being Francis' first major step toward “reform.” The Vatican is not just a church; it is a government with an army. More than this, the pope has gained influence over large nations and he can mobilize ally forces (which is virtually every nation of the world) with ease against his “extremist, fundamentalist” enemies (like us), who choose the Creator God over “Quetzalcoatl” as their Superior. His growing influence can be seen from the fact that he is scheduled to speak to both houses of the US Congress later this year—the first time this will happen in the history of the nation!^[10] And the delegation of cardinals can serve as a convenient means of distribution of the pope’s power, especially considering the small size of the group and the close relationship he has with its members.

For these reasons, this date—April 13, 2013, which we predicted in The Beast from the Bottomless Pit as a time when the abomination of desolation would be empowered to persecute offenders—is marked as the time when the serpent could effectively throw its fiery darts at God’s faithful anywhere in the world. Thus, the time of the desolating power of Francis (the abomination of desolation), as we discovered in the Orion Clock and the High Sabbath List, is confirmed now in his own symbolic language!

At this point, it is necessary to take a break for a reality check. The graphic above is a timeline that shows exactly where we are in time, at the publication of this article. Take a good, hard look at those red arrows, and notice how close they are to each other! Dear reader, do you realize what this means? Do you realize that the devil has been reigning on the earth for two years already, and we’ve only just realized it?! We are behind—grossly behind in the work that God has given us! Now is not the time to give God your hour of devotion and go about your daily routines! The fiery darts of the wicked one have already struck us and we will perish if we do not immediately address the problem! Now is the time to stop, drop, and roll! Stop living for self. Drop your secular activities. Get Rolling with spreading the last warning message, for TIME IS VIRTUALLY GONE!! The hour-glass must be shaken because the only sand that is left is the little dust that clings to the sides!

Wake up! Wake up! Wake up!

Do you realize that the promises of God are conditional upon our belief in them? Jesus could not heal the faithless. We have lived for too long thinking that “God has everything under control.” Does He really? If so, why did Jesus ask, “Nevertheless when the Son of man cometh, shall he find faith on the earth?” (Luke 18:8) No, friends, it isn’t under control. Why? Because we are too consumed with making sure we have a job than we are that Jesus will find faith in us enough to trust Him with our meager little lives!

It is not enough to profess belief in God's promises; we must put our money where our mouth is! Go out on a limb for God (like God has done for you!). If we believe, He can do all things for us, but our faith is known by our actions! If you believe that in a few months, you won't be able to work anymore while remaining faithful to God, will you continue to make long-range plans for years to come?

Dear reader, if you continue to sit idly by, waiting, "trusting" that God has everything under control and there is no possibility for failure, then Jesus will not find in you, the faith He is looking for. You, who desire to save your own life (looking out for your own needs above God's), will lose it. God has a clock, and He abides by the time. If we do nothing—the clock will strike the hour, and all our hopes that God's promises cannot fail will be dashed in pieces. If they fail, it will be because of the sin of unbelief. Please take this seriously! Be the first to demonstrate your faith!

Now back to the theme—there's another thing that the serpent countdown indicates. When was the resignation of Benedict XVI announced? This should also be indicated by the last moons before the head. And in fact, it was on the very day—the new moon of February 10th—that Pope Benedict XVI announced his resignation, but he continued as pope through the whole period until the full moon of the 25th, only after which his resignation was made effective (on the 28th)!

A New Year and a New Beginning

In the Mayan calendar, it was indicated that a new "long count cycle" would begin on December 21, 2012. This was after more than 5000 years since the cycle began, and pointed toward a new beginning. It was the time when, according to Mayan prophecy, Quetzalcoatl would return. But nothing happened. It was just the beginning of another Mayan year.

It was not long before then, that the G2012 Summit of world leaders took place. In our video, Throne of the Beast, John had analyzed the logo, and interpreted that at the G2012 summit, the throne of the false christ was set up and ready for Satan to come down as an angel of light, imitating the Second coming as though he were Jesus, and assume the throne.

Pope Benedict had prepared the throne, and his work being complete, he was ready to step down. He had begun a series of three encyclicals on the Christian virtues of faith, hope, and charity, concluding with faith. However, he did not quite complete that third encyclical, but instead, he left it for Pope Francis to take up and add the finishing touches. This encyclical is entitled, “Lumen Fidei,” The Light of Faith. So Pope Francis took this “light of faith” and with relatively little contribution of his own, carried (or bore) it to the people. By this coordination, they effectively declared Francis as the light-bearer, or in Latin, Lucifer! Now we understand that indeed, it was an accurate interpretation that we gave of the G2012 symbolism, except that we misunderstood how the false christ would come!

What a year was, in fact, begun! Indeed, it was within the year that, for the Mayans, began on that notorious winter solstice, that Quetzalcoatl did in fact return and assume the throne! But the Mayans were not the only culture to welcome the serpent for the New Year. The Chinese New Year, which began on February 10th, was even known as the year of the Snake. The Jews celebrated their New Year on March 13th, and several south-east Asian countries celebrated the New Year on April 13th. Thus, for a large portion of the non-Christian world, Satan’s election was associated with the dawning of a new beginning.

But for Christians, there is no such association. None of these dates were significant on the Gregorian calendar that most Christians use. The reason is simple: Satan doesn’t want to be found out. The less attention he can bring to his true identity, the easier it will be for him to establish his reign without resistance. The Mayans, Chinese, Jews, South-East Asians, etc. were not looking toward Christianity as the fulfillment of their cultural expectations, so they didn’t notice that they were fulfilled in Pope Francis. But Christians would be much more likely to consider the significance of a New Year papal election when the world was expecting big changes. Therefore, it was disguised.

In truth, 2013 was indeed the dawn of a new and bloody age—the reign of Quetzalcoatl, the old feathered serpent, the devil and Satan, Pope Francis. If you question whether it is really a bloody reign, it is because he has not yet met with sufficient opposition. A striking characteristic of the crop circle is the shape of the serpent, forming an incomplete figure-eight (infinity symbol). The devil wants to reign forever and he is positioning himself to do so. Of course he must maintain an appearance of holiness and piety, but he carries the trident, nevertheless. Even if its exercise must be at the hand of others in order to preserve his image, he will seek to destroy all opposition to his goal of infinite reign.

The Deceiver

Dear reader, the present analysis makes the identification perfectly clear: Pope Francis IS “that old serpent, called the Devil, and Satan, which deceiveth the whole world.” ^[11] Quetzalcoatl has indeed returned and has ascended the throne prepared for him. As God is seeking people who will surrender their lives completely for the indwelling of His Spirit, so also the devil has his own willing servants, who have surrendered their lives to him so that he might indwell them. But since the devil cannot be in multiple places at once, his other willing servants have to settle with the indwelling of demons of a lower rank.

If all of this seems too hard to believe, consider that Pope Francis is a Jesuit. A quote from the oath that he had to swear in order to become a Jesuit of commanding rank is quite revealing:

I do further promise and declare, that I will have no opinion or will of my own, or any mental reservation whatever, even as a corpse or cadaver (perinde ac cadaver), but will unhesitatingly obey each and every command that I may receive from my superiors in the Militia of the Pope and of Jesus Christ.^[12]

The elimination of mental reservation is particularly necessary in light of the unconscionable acts of the goriest violence that he promised to do when the opportunity presents. (Refer to the previous footnote for the text of the oath where these are listed.) But who are his “superiors in the Militia... of Jesus Christ,” whom he promised to unhesitatingly obey? If you think it safe to assume that “Jesus Christ” refers to the Son of God, read the whole oath and consider that all Jesuits

...have been taught to act the dissembler:... to believe no man, to trust no man. Among the Reformers, to be a reformer;... among other Protestants, generally to be a Protestant, and obtaining their confidence, to seek even to preach from their pulpits, and to denounce with all the vehemence in your nature our Holy Religion and the Pope;... that you might be enabled to gather together all information for the benefit of your Order as a faithful soldier of the Pope.

This is certainly not the methodology of God, who cannot lie!^[13] Rather, it is that of Satan! As Jesus told the Jewish religious leaders of His day,

Ye are of your father the devil, and the lusts of your father ye will do. He was a murderer from the beginning, and abode not in the truth, because there is no truth in him. When he speaketh a lie, he speaketh of his own: for he is a liar, and the father of it. (John 8:44)

Indeed, although the outward appearance of the Pope may seem appealing and pious, inwardly, he is simply a cadaver providing unhesitating obedience to Satan (labeled as “Jesus Christ”). It was even prophesied that this would happen:

The forces of the powers of darkness will unite with human agents who have given themselves unto the control of Satan, and the same scenes that were exhibited at the trial, rejection and crucifixion of Christ will be revived. Through yielding to satanic influences men will be merged into fiends, and those who were created in the image of God, who were formed to honor and glorify their Creator, will become the habitation of dragons, and Satan will see in an apostate race his masterpiece of evil—men who reflect his own image. {5BC 1136.8}

The uniqueness of Quetzalcoatl is the deception of his appearance. In Eden, he was a beautiful, intelligent creature worthy of admiration, but out of his mouth came deceitful words calculated to sound appealing, but which led to the misery and death of the deceived. Throughout the ages, he surely had people who gave themselves to his control (after all, the Jesuit oath is not new), but what we see today is not just the possession of a dutiful Jesuit, but a prepared throne to receive Satan as an “Angel [messenger] of light” in a ruling capacity over the entire earth! This is the message that he is giving in this crop circle!

And no marvel; for Satan himself is transformed into an angel of light. Therefore it is no great thing if his ministers also be transformed as the ministers of righteousness; whose end shall be according to their works. (2 Corinthians 11:14–15)

Traditionally, the completion of the Great Cycle [of the Mayan Calendar] was associated with the return of the Mesoamerican deity Quetzalcoatl, “Sovereign Plumed Serpent,” depicted in sculptures and temple friezes as a fusion of bird and snake, representing the union of spirit and matter.”^[14]

Those who have given themselves to the control of Satan and his evil host are the leaders of his kingdom. The last battle between Christ and Satan, Armageddon, is being waged in the flesh of human beings—those who have chosen Christ against those who have chosen Satan. Will you still stand on the fence? Will you not stand up for Jesus in defense of His law, and join us in giving the message of Revelation 18 and swelling it to a Loud Cry?

And I heard another voice from heaven, saying, Come out of her, my people, that ye be not partakers of her sins, and that ye receive not of her plagues. For her sins have reached unto heaven, and God hath remembered her iniquities. (Revelation 18:4–5)

Up Next...

In the next article, we will see many evidences that reveal that Quetzalcoatl is modeled after Christ—not in character, but in outward appearance. He is acknowledged to be an unusual and complex figure—you might say he had multiple personalities. It is a fascinating story of rebellion and mimicry.

God's Timekeepers

In the last article, I showed how the devil has revealed his plan to sit on the unified worldwide throne that has been prepared for him, and how the symbolism of Quetzalcoatl, the ancient Mesoamerican bird-snake deity, reveals how he would appear: in the same way that he appeared in Eden—by using a medium. We saw that it points precisely to Pope Francis as the modern medium which Satan is using to disguise himself.

Some have questioned why we are studying crop circles and mythology. It is not the theme of our studies, of course, nor are we basing any new knowledge on these findings, but we are simply using them as additional evidence in support of a solid biblical claim. We should expect this, really. If we are talking about Noah's flood, for example, would we cry "Sola Scriptura!" as soon as someone started sharing ideas from scientific sources that support the flood? Of course not! We recognize that if the things we speak about are true, there should be evidence of it from a variety of sources, not just the Christian ones, with which we are more comfortable. And if those scientific sources later prove to be invalid support, it does not change our beliefs, because they were not based on those extra-biblical sources. So in this case, our understanding is based on scriptural evidence, but extra-biblical supporting information corroborates it and should be expected if our understanding of Scripture is accurate.

Listen to the biblical narrative:

And there was war in heaven: Michael and his angels fought against the dragon; and the dragon fought and his angels, And prevailed not; neither was their place found any more in heaven. (Revelation 12:7-8)

The theme runs throughout human history and experience—an unresolved conflict between good and evil. Novels, movies, and real-life experiences without number have given character to the story. Being innate in the experience of man, its origin predates him, following from an angelic controversy into which we became involved. The rebellion was already in place before Creation, as is evidenced by the serpent's first recorded words:

Now the serpent was more subtil than any beast of the field which the LORD God had made. And he said unto the woman, Yea, hath God said, Ye shall not eat of every [\[any\]](#) tree of the garden? And the woman said unto the serpent, We may eat of the fruit of the trees of the garden: But of the fruit of the tree which is in the midst of the garden, God hath said, Ye shall not eat of it, neither shall ye touch it, lest ye die. And the serpent said unto the woman, Ye shall not surely die: For God doth know that in the day ye eat thereof, then your eyes shall be opened, and ye shall be as gods, knowing good and evil. (Genesis 3:1-5)

The serpent was already in rebellion against God from the beginning of the history of mankind. Should we not expect many extra-biblical stories relating to that rebellion? And shouldn't we be able to discern and relate elements of truth in those stories without basing our understanding upon them? I think so.

The description of Quetzalcoatl as a feathered serpent catches our attention for the mention of such a creature in the Bible and its close connection with the arch deceiver, Satan—that old serpent who was in Eden and who is now very active in world affairs. When we recognized its connection with the winged-serpent crop circle in the light of our new understanding of the pope, the pieces of the puzzle began to come together. We already covered most of that in the last article, but in exploring a little more about Quetzalcoatl, there are some interesting parallels with the biblical serpent of Eden and his intent to deceive the whole world. But first, let's be clear about who this talking serpent was, that was in rebellion against God. The Bible gives a clear answer:

And the great dragon was cast out, that old serpent, called the Devil, and Satan, which deceiveth the whole world: he was cast out into the earth, and his angels were cast out with him. (Revelation 12:9)

The Wolf in Sheep's Clothing

Satan seeks to deceive the whole world. Did you notice that to Eve he misrepresented God as possessing what was in reality his own character (lying and deceptiveness), while he claimed to be the one to have their best interest in mind (showing them how to exalt themselves)? By claiming God's character as though it were his own, and casting the ugly attributes of his own character upon God, he has deceived many into following him and turning against God and His ways. He follows this same principle today. He presents himself in a beautiful, attractive light, while throwing every dark shadow he can over the truths that lead one to God and those who follow them. And just as he appealed to the ego by suggesting that Eve would rise to a higher state of existence, so today he appeals to man's ego and selfish desires. But Jesus, our Example, pursued a humble path of self-denial and sacrifice.

Satan is a fallen angel whose name means “Adversary” or “Accuser,” but whose name before his rebellion was Lucifer (meaning the “Morning Star” or “Light-Bearer”). The name is a reference to the planet Venus, the morning (and evening) star, which is the brightest “star” in the night sky when it is visible. It is symbolic of his high position before his fall. Quetzalcoatl is also associated with Venus.

Lucifer is described with majestic and beautiful qualities far superior to any description of humanity. The little red devil with horns and a trident, fancied to be in charge of hell, is a fictitious image calculated to cause us to disassociate him with anything attractive, beautiful and real. But a much different picture is given in the Bible. Represented by the king of Tyre, the prophet Ezekiel lamented his fall:

Son of man, take up a lamentation upon the king of Tyrus, and say unto him, Thus saith the Lord GOD; Thou sealest up the sum, full of wisdom, and perfect in beauty. Thou hast been in Eden the garden of God; every precious stone was thy covering, the sardius, topaz, and the diamond, the beryl, the onyx, and the jasper, the sapphire, the emerald, and the carbuncle, and gold: the workmanship of thy tabrets and of thy pipes was prepared in thee in the day that thou wast created. Thou art the anointed cherub that covereth;^[1] and I have set thee so: thou wast upon the holy mountain of God; thou hast walked up and down in the midst of the stones of fire. Thou wast perfect in thy ways from the day that thou wast created, till iniquity was found in thee. (Ezekiel 28:12-15)

As Jesus noted, calling Satan a liar and the father of lies,^[2] he considers it in his best interest to cloak his true character and assume a holy identity—like that of Christ. Satan, the accuser, transforms himself into Lucifer, an angel of light, and leads many by this disguise to give heed to his disastrous ways. The wolf puts on the clothing of a sheep to appear harmless, when inwardly he is vicious. He presents ideas in a light that makes them seem appealing, but in the end, they lead to ruin, just like the seductress of Proverbs 7 who, like the serpent, was subtle of heart:

With her much fair speech she caused him to yield, with the flattering of her lips she forced him. He goeth after her straightway, as an ox goeth to the slaughter, or as a fool to the correction of the stocks; Till a dart strike through his liver; as a bird hasteth to the snare, and knoweth not that it is for his life. (Proverbs 7:21-23)

The Scriptures give us a true picture of this deceiver, and Satan's inner desire is clearly stated:

For thou hast said in thine heart, I will ascend into heaven, I will exalt my throne above the stars of God: I will sit also upon the mount of the congregation, in the sides of the north: I will ascend above the heights of the clouds; I will be like the most High. (Isaiah 14:13-14)

Of course, his desire to be like the most High is only superficial. He desires His throne and the worship that belongs to Him, but He does not desire His character, for that is contradictory to His selfish desires for exaltation.

Quetzalcoatl, the Devil

When the serpent suggested to Eve that they would attain to a higher level of existence (becoming “as gods”) as a result of disobedience to God's restriction, he insinuated that God's law was not in their best interest. He presented it as burdensome and limiting to their potential. In the story of Quetzalcoatl, we see the same sentiments expressed. Consider this account (I have added terms in brackets to associate it with the Biblical narrative):

Legend has it that when the creation of the world was finished, the gods [angels] and humans lived in harmony, everyone was happy, except for the god Quetzalcoatl [Lucifer], who observed in anger as humans were subjugated by [required to be obedient to] the other gods [angels relating God's law]. So he decided to adopt the human condition [flesh and blood—of the serpent] to share the knowledge [of good and evil] and art that the deities possessed.^[3]

The Bible records examples of angels that were visible to people at that time,^[4] as was God Himself,^[5] so it is not out of harmony with Scripture to suggest that Adam and Eve may have had communion with the angels, but notice that Lucifer simply “observes.” He was restricted to the tree forbidden to Adam and Eve. From Lucifer's perspective, obedience (though it be cheerful and willing) was a yoke of bondage (he continues to make the same insinuations today). He is also described as benevolent toward the race in his offer to share his knowledge—just as he presented the fruit to Eve, “to be desired to make one wise.”^[6]

The accounts of Quetzalcoatl generally depict a conflict between him and another god, Tezcatlipoca, who is cast as a very dark and unpleasant figure. This is similar to the many mischaracterizations of God that have been promulgated throughout history. Satan has ever sought to demonize God and glorify himself. The doctrine of an eternally-burning hell, for example, presents God as an insatiable sadist, and many regard Him as angry, vindictive, and unapproachable. They are afraid of Him and pray to Jesus, whom they feel is “nicer” and is on their side. But of course, these views are not Scriptural, for Jesus taught that we should pray to the Father in Jesus’ name, and that the Father Himself loves us.^[7] Even in the Old Testament, God was known for His longsuffering and tender mercies.^[8]

Quetzalcoatl, Angel of Light

The descriptions of Quetzalcoatl often reveal very human characteristics, and this is surely in part because there was a man by that name who was also influential in the Mesoamerican culture. The two are not clearly distinguishable, and many stories blend them into one. In a similar manner, Satan also has a dual nature: a dark warrior on one hand, but an angel of light on the other. It is the yin and yang, the mixture of good and evil that proponents of the New Age ideology claim should be “in balance,” but which God forbade, providing instead a tree of life without the “balance” of death.

Quetzalcoatl is said to have brought a message of love. He forbade human sacrifices, and taught the people about one Supreme God and many things of the arts, sciences, and social customs. Other attributes of Quetzalcoatl that bear similarity to Jesus are that Quetzalcoatl was considered the greatest Lord of all, he was considered a link between heaven and earth, he was associated with the bread of life (maize for the Mesoamericans), he is said to be the creator of life, his blood is said to have been given in order to bring life to the dead, there is a prophecy of his return, and he is said to have been a bearded man wearing long robes.

It is rather unique how similar the characteristics of this prophet [Quetzalcoatl] are in relation to the description we have of Jesus.^[9]

What I find even more interesting, however, are those similarities that are related to the prophesied return. There is a revealing parallel that becomes apparent. I want to stress here, though, that whatever similarities may appear between Jesus Christ and Quetzalcoatl (who is the serpent of Eden, or Satan dressed as an angel of light) are simply imitations. The dualism encapsulated in the nature of Quetzalcoatl speaks to the deception of his appearance as a Jesus-like figure, when in reality, he has a dark nature that the Savior did not possess.

Imitating the Return

It is believed that Quetzalcoatl established the Toltec era on August the 16th, 1168 AD. Interestingly, most Mexican year accounts begin with that date. Both the Toltecs and Aztec calendars were based on 52 years and their span of time broken into thirteen eras.^[10]

Beginning in 1168, the thirteen 52-year Toltec eras reach until 1844. Does this year bring anything to memory? It should, because this was the year when millions of Christians were expecting the return of Jesus, according to the timeline presented in Daniel 8:13-14. At the same time that people were anticipating the return of Jesus, the return of Quetzalcoatl was expected as well! Could it be a mere coincidence that the prophecy of Quetzalcoatl’s return pointed to the very year that the biblical prophecy pointed to? Notice also, the factors in the Toltec calendar. There were 13 eras and each era was 52 years ($52 = 4 \times 13$). The symbolic numbers that appear in biblical prophecies relating to Jesus, on the other hand, are usually multiples of 7 or 12. The appearance of the number 13 (representing the devil and his rebellion) in Quetzalcoatl’s prophecy is indicative that this points to a counterfeit “Christ” figure.

But of course, Jesus did not come at that time—nor did Quetzalcoatl. Even in this failure to come, the devil imitated Jesus. Since the Great Disappointment, as it became known in the Christian world, there have been a few who have taken it upon themselves to make further predictions regarding Jesus' return. But until now, these have failed, because God had not revealed the time and therefore it could not be known.

Just before Jesus was taken up to heaven, His disciples asked Him,

...Lord, wilt thou at this time restore again the kingdom to Israel? And he said unto them, It is not for you to know the times or the seasons, which the Father hath put in his own power. (Acts 1:6-7)

However, His very next words are quite telling:

But ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you: and ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judaea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth. (Acts 1:8)*

Although it was not for them to know that which God had put in His own "power" (meaning privilege or authority), He would yet give them "power" (meaning force or ability). But what ability was He referring to? He did not specify, but knowingly left it ambiguous! This ambiguity allows for a dual fulfillment of the prophecy, for not only was the Holy Spirit poured out on the disciples, but the ultimate fulfillment was to be in the last days:

And it shall come to pass in the last days, saith God, I will pour out of my Spirit upon all flesh... The sun shall be turned into darkness, and the moon into blood, before that great and notable day of the Lord come: (Acts 2:17,20)

Although it was applied to the time of the disciples, it clearly points forward to the last days, just before the great day of the Lord comes. So if we understand Jesus' words to refer to the end-time outpouring of His Spirit (also known as the Latter Rain), it leads to a different meaning. After we receive the Latter Rain, we would receive the ability to know the time! The Father would reveal His secret.

Indeed, with the Orion message, the Holy Spirit began to be poured out, and after that, another study revealing the very day of Jesus' return was given with the Father's authority. Many reject the last message of merciful warning to the world because they do not believe that God will ever reveal His secrets. Despite Jesus' promise, they do not believe that God would ever give them the ability to understand and share what He has kept in His own authority. This is addressed in more detail in The Power of the Father. Rather than welcoming the light of such a revelation, they choose the darkness that Paul spoke against, and would rather have Jesus come as a thief.

For yourselves know perfectly that the day of the Lord so cometh as a thief in the night... But ye, brethren, are not in darkness, that that day should overtake you as a thief. Ye are all the children of light, and the children of the day: we are not of the night, nor of darkness. Therefore let us not sleep, as do others; but let us watch and be sober. (1 Thessalonians 5:2, 4)

Remember therefore how thou hast received and heard [the things that have not yet died], and hold fast, and repent. If therefore thou shalt not watch, I [Jesus] will come on thee as a thief, and thou shalt not know what hour I will come upon thee. (Revelation 3:3)

Surely the Lord GOD will do nothing, but he revealeth his secret unto his servants the prophets. (Amos 3:7)

The study revealing the time of Jesus' return was only made possible through a review of the history of the Seventh-day Adventist Church (which had its roots in the Great Disappointment of 1844), so it could not have been revealed before that history transpired. Only God knew the hour of Jesus' return before He revealed it to man through that study, which was discovered in September, 2010 and published in the Shadow Series. Sadly, few of His chosen heard His voice in it, but the devil believed and immediately began to prepare for the final climax of the war. After receiving that knowledge, he developed a cunning imitation.

In our last article, The Return of Quetzalcoatl, we looked at a crop circle that pointed to the exact day that Quetzalcoatl would assume the throne, and we identified him as Pope Francis. However, the entire crop circle is an imitation of the timeline that God used to reveal the time of Jesus' coming! Indeed, the crop circle imitation was "published" on July 29, 2011, less than a year after the original was revealed to us the September before, by which the devil was given the opportunity to know the true day of Christ's return. Think about what that means—would Satan imitate and base his own plans on an erroneous study? We will explore some of his imitations in a little bit. But before we do that, we need to understand a bit more about...

God's Timekeepers

The feasts of the Jews were given to them as a "shadow" or prophecy of things to come:

Let no man therefore judge you in meat, or in drink, or in respect of an holyday, or of the new moon, or of the sabbath days: Which are a shadow of things to come; but the body is of Christ. (Colossians 2:16-17)

Paul said this after Christ had already fulfilled the law at the cross. Yet he speaks of things still to come that were prophesied in the things pertaining to the feasts: food and drink, holy convocations, new moons, and special feast Sabbaths. The substance of these rites was fulfilled in Christ, and His sacrifice did away with the need to continue their observance, but there remains a prophecy in them that teaches us of things to come. The study of these feasts and their pertinence to our day has been published in the Shadow Series on our website, which led to what we call The Vessel of Time or the High Sabbath List. This is the understanding that Ellen White said it was our privilege to have:

The significance of the Jewish economy is not yet fully comprehended. Truths vast and profound are shadowed forth in its rites and symbols. The gospel is the key that unlocks its mysteries. Through a knowledge of the plan of redemption, its truths are opened to the understanding. Far more than we do, it is our privilege to understand these wonderful themes. We are to comprehend the deep things of God. Angels desire to look into the truths that are revealed to the people who with contrite hearts are searching the word of God, and praying for greater lengths and breadths and depths and heights of the knowledge which He alone can give. {COL 133.1}

God knows the end from the beginning. He is the Master of time, and He has used the timekeepers of the sun and moon, in conjunction with the festal services that He instituted thousands of years ago to signal key events in the history of His remnant church, long before it ever came into existence. Both the timekeeping celestial bodies and the feasts in their seasons were designed and initiated by God, and their prophetic message must therefore bear the authority of their Creator.

And God said, Let there be lights in the firmament of the heaven to divide the day from the night; and let them be for signs, and for seasons, and for days, and years: (Genesis 1:14)

Only do not confuse divine signs with the astrological notion that the heavenly bodies have spiritual influence over people and the events on earth. Such beliefs open the door for demonic forces to bring about those claimed influences. They are the spirits and gods of myth, lore, and idolatrous religions. Even within Christianity, many fail to recognize how they open the doors to demonic influence. Many a Christian Facebook group is littered with posts inviting users to comment "Amen" to get a special blessing. It is equivalent to astrology to believe that commenting to a post can bring about the influence in your lives that is spoken of, yet hundreds of people routinely post their “Amen” subscriptions to these “Christian horoscopes,” hoping that just maybe it will help them!

The devil does not have knowledge of the end from the beginning. He is highly intelligent and has great depth of understanding, but he is limited by his lack of knowledge of the future. Therefore, he seeks to make up for this by making his own predictions and bringing them to pass through his willing servants, deceiving them in the process. But signs that God designed into the sun and moon at their creation have run their course, and He has decided to reveal their message in these last days.

The Cross Embodied in Time

Overlaid upon the celestial time-fabric of months and years is a special timekeeper that arises from the combination of the heavenly timekeepers with the earthly seasons and the feasts that God instituted according to the time of harvest. What makes this timekeeper special is that it encapsulates the character of Christ and His plan to deliver the world from sin.

Sitting as King of the Universe, the humility of our God could not be fully appreciated. But when He, on behalf of sinful humanity, became the Son of Man to bring the divine nature within man's reach, the angels and unfallen worlds began to see just how selfless He was. His perfect law, holy and just and good,^[11] which was broken by man, He fulfilled perfectly, and the life, which was required of the law-breakers, was willingly offered by our Savior, who was the source of life.

The humility of Almighty God is seen in His willingness to submit Himself, not just to humanity in the strength and nobility of Adam, but to 4000 years of degradation; not just to torture and death, but to eternal loss! At the cross, Jesus confirmed His commitment to retain His humanity forever! It was an inconceivable sacrifice for Him, who had been one with the Almighty, that His humanity was rendered permanent with His human life and death. He did all this while we were immersed in sin, in order that we might have the opportunity to receive His perfect life. It is the gospel story of divine love, which has transformed countless lives.

He who was one with God has linked Himself with the children of men by ties that are never to be broken. Jesus is “not ashamed to call them brethren” (Hebrews 2:11); He is our Sacrifice, our Advocate, our Brother, bearing our human form before the Father's throne, and through eternal ages one with the race He has redeemed—the Son of man. And all this that man might be uplifted from the ruin and degradation of sin that he might reflect the love of God and share the joy of holiness. {SC 14.3}

What love is here demonstrated, that while we were yet ungodly and ungrateful sinners, He was willing to make such a selfless sacrifice for us! This gospel was demonstrated in the life, death, and resurrection of Jesus. His death on Good Friday sealed His commitment to humanity, and His rising on Resurrection Sunday made it possible to give redemption to fallen man by His Spirit. Yet we generally skip over that special day in between: The High Sabbath of His rest.^[12] When a Jewish ceremonial Sabbath (which could be on any day of the week) landed on a weekly Sabbath, it was called a High Sabbath, and it was just such a High Sabbath when Jesus rested in the tomb.

Jesus gave His life because it was necessary in order to satisfy the broken requirements of the law. Were the law changeable, such a sacrifice would not have been necessary, for He would simply have changed the law, acknowledging that it was imperfect as it was written and that it was not appropriate or could not be kept by His creation. But of Himself, God declared, “I am the LORD, I change not; therefore ye sons of Jacob are not consumed.”^[13] His law is a reflection of His character, which is merciful and longsuffering, yet not lax toward guilt.^[14]

Jesus' body lay in the tomb as a testimony to His unchanging character, which led Him to yield even His eternal life rather than relax the requirement of the law—and this testimony is encapsulated in the High Sabbath rest. Just as the significance of the weekly Sabbath was instilled by God's example at Creation, when He rested and was refreshed, so the significance of the High Sabbath was instilled by Christ's example at the cross, when the Creator of life freely gave His life. It represents the reasons for which He gave His life—the unchanging nature of the law, and His selfless love, which led Him to put the interests of others even above His own eternal life!

The Revelation of Jesus Christ

It is the purpose of God that by receiving Christ, His people reflect His character. Both the Old and the New Testaments clearly state this:

But this shall be the covenant that I will make with the house of Israel; After those days, saith the LORD, I will put my law in their inward parts, and write it in their hearts; and will be their God, and they shall be my people. (Jeremiah 31:33)

And he gave some, apostles; and some, prophets; and some, evangelists; and some, pastors and teachers; For the perfecting of the saints, for the work of the ministry, for the edifying of the body of Christ: Till we all come in the unity of the faith, and of the knowledge of the Son of God, unto a perfect man, unto the measure of the stature of the fulness of Christ: (Ephesians 4:11-13)

The same selfless love of Jesus that compelled Him to lay down His life, He commands us to demonstrate as well:

This is my commandment, That ye love one another, as I have loved you. Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends. Ye are my friends, if ye do whatsoever I command you. (John 15:12-14)

The love of God in us—the willingness to surrender our own eternal lives for our friends—in combination with His unchanging law written in our hearts, is what is represented by the High Sabbath, and is what makes us “High Sabbath Adventists”. And this is what God desires of His people in this last generation. If we have the faith to believe His precious promises, this is not too much to ask.

Whereby are given unto us exceeding great and precious promises: that by these ye might be partakers of the divine nature, having escaped the corruption that is in the world through lust. (2 Peter 1:4)

It follows, then, that if we study the High Sabbaths in relation to God's Judgment-Hour people, we should learn something about how God would develop that character in them. This people are those who discerned the beginning of the Judgment Hour in the Great Disappointment of 1844; who later organized into the Seventh-day Adventist Church. Only with a sound understanding of God's calendar would this be possible. Thankfully, He had already revealed this, so it was possible to create a list of High Sabbaths for all the years of the history of the Adventist Church.^[15]

The results were astounding, when interpreted in the light of Ellen White's observation that we could have been in heaven by 1890, had the 4th Angel's Message been received in 1888. Taking the pattern of High Sabbaths from those three years (1888 – 1890) to represent the return of Christ (when we will be taken to heaven), the only time that same pattern showed up again was in 2013 – 2015, in perfect harmony with the Orion study, which indicates 2014/2015 as the last year of character development.^[16]

Has coded triplets that are reminiscent of the DNA codons that encode for the building blocks used by cells to synthesize proteins. 	Represents a coming age of triple-helix “DNA activation” (for New Agers, at least).
Represents the character development needed for God’s people.	Represents the rising of the Kundalini coiled serpent to the enlightenment of the mind (which is the seat of the character).
Reveals both good choices and bad choices made by the church.	Reveals the co-existence of good and bad through a yin-yang symbol.
Ends with the return of Christ.	Ends with the return of Quetzalcoatl.

The Final Demonstration

With these evidences, I hope it is clear that the return of Quetzalcoatl is none other than the devil asserting his dominion over the entire earth. In the crop circle, the earth is always depicted inside the boundary of the serpent, representing that assertion. In Eden, the devil came as a winged serpent and successfully usurped Adam’s dominion and gained authority over the two inhabitants of earth. At the cross, Jesus gained the victory over the devil, and regained the dominion that Adam had lost. Now, once again, the same devil has come as Pope Francis to usurp Christ’s dominion over the earth.

The same principles that were demonstrated at the cross of Calvary are to be repeated now in these last moments of earth’s history. The conflict between good and evil is coming to a conclusion. This time, however, it takes place within the visible realm—in the flesh of man. At the cross, Satan was still cloaked from the view of man, so we could not discern his part in the drama against Christ. But this is not the case today! Satan has taken a body, so we can see him. And the Holy Spirit—Christ’s representative on earth—is also being poured out in the body of His people—all those who have prepared their hearts to receive Him.

The revealing of Satan and his artful deceptions is progressive; at the cross, when Jesus won the victory, Satan was cast out of heaven to the ground. It was then that the inhabitants of heaven saw him plainly for who he was, and there was no place found for him or his angels in their sympathies anymore.^[17] The next phase of the revealing process is taking place now, just before the return of Christ. Now is the time when we have opportunity to clearly discern his character and turn to Christ our Savior with repentance. These steps of the process are identified by Ezekiel:

Thine heart was lifted up because of thy beauty, thou hast corrupted thy wisdom by reason of thy brightness: I will cast thee to the ground [at the cross], I will lay thee before kings, that they may behold thee [now]. (Ezekiel 28:17)

God declared that this rebellious angel would be set before kings who would behold him, or discern his character. The kings here referred to, are that chosen generation, as I described in Signs of the End, who would serve as a jury to judge between the two parties and give their verdict. We give God a favorable verdict by walking according to His marvelous light, demonstrating that we desire light rather than darkness, thereby showing the praises of the Lord in our lives.

But ye are a chosen generation, a royal priesthood, an holy nation, a peculiar people; that ye should shew forth the praises of him who hath called you out of darkness into his marvellous light: (1 Peter 2:9)

You are called to be among that chosen generation. Are you able to discern the character of rebellion, even when it is cloaked by piety and humility? The case has not yet been decided, but at present, it appears very bleak. Satan has been reigning over the earth for two years already, and most of us have been deceived, and are unwitting partners in the rebellion! It is high time we heeded God's word to come out of Babylon! This includes every organization that is subject to the devil in the form of Pope Francis, either openly or behind the scenes as a guest (observer)^[18] of his terrible majesty. In order to fulfill our function as jury members, it is necessary to thoroughly understand the case and evaluate the evidence. Our lives are the expression of whether we prefer God's government or Satan's, and this constitutes our vote.

And they sung as it were a new song before the throne, and before the four beasts, and the elders: and no man could learn that song but the hundred and forty and four thousand, which were redeemed from the earth... These were redeemed from among men, being the firstfruits unto God and to the Lamb. And in their mouth was found no guile: for they are without fault before the throne of God. (Revelation 14:3-5)

O sing unto the LORD a new song: sing unto the LORD, all the earth. Sing unto the LORD, bless his name; shew forth his salvation from day to day. Declare his glory among the heathen, his wonders among all people. (Psalms 96:1-3)

The call goes out to all the earth: "Sing unto the Lord a new song!" The music to God's ears is the showing forth of His salvation from sin every day. To stand before the throne of God without fault, being redeemed as firstfruits from the earth, is a wonder from God and His glory and is to be declared among all people!

Now unto him that is able to keep you from falling, and to present you faultless before the presence of his glory with exceeding joy, To the only wise God our Saviour, be glory and majesty, dominion and power, both now and ever. Amen. (Jude 24-25)

Give unto the LORD, O ye kindreds of the people, give unto the LORD glory and strength. Give unto the LORD the glory due unto his name: bring an offering, and come into his courts. O worship the LORD in the beauty of holiness: fear before him, all the earth. (Psalms 96:7-9)

Many fail to see that God is in a weakened, vulnerable condition on account of sin. If we refuse to worship Him in the beauty of holiness; to choose by faith to "walk not after the flesh, but after the Spirit,"^[19] then His glory cannot be proclaimed in all the earth! The proclamation is dependent on having people willing to give it! Do you understand how we can proclaim "salvation to our God"?^[20] Do you understand what the "greater works" were that Jesus spoke of?

Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also; and greater works than these shall he do; because I go unto my Father. (John 14:12)

If Jesus had finished all the work that was to be done, He would neither have said this, nor would it be necessary for Him to wait 2000 years. But He made His need known in asking whether He would find faith:

And shall not God avenge his own elect, which cry day and night unto him, though he bear long with them? I tell you that he will avenge them speedily. Nevertheless when the Son of man cometh, shall he find faith on the earth? (Luke 18:7-8)

God is more than willing to act on our behalf, but just as Jesus was unable to do miracles for those who did not have faith to believe, He will be equally unable to avenge His elect today if He does not find faith in them. But the war between the devil and God can only be decided in God's favor if His people demonstrate that faith!

So indeed, God is in a vulnerable position, dependent on His people having faith in Him to give Him the glory due unto His name. Meanwhile, Satan is seeking to undermine their faith and dupe the whole world into following him. God has set His timekeepers in motion in the heavens, and they are all pointing to this very time in history! Will you keep time with them and give Him strength and glory by offering yourself "a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God"? And will you do it before the clock points to the designated time when it will become too late to demonstrate faith? "Now faith is... the evidence of things not seen."^[21] If you take the attitude of waiting to believe until every doubt is expelled; until every fulfillment is seen—you will deny Jesus of your usefulness to Him, because that is not the attitude of faith. Jesus does not ask for blind faith—He gives ample evidence—but He does ask for faith! Consider the evidence, and choose now to be among those of whom it is said,

Here is the patience of the saints: here are they that keep the commandments of God, and the faith of Jesus. (Revelation 14:12)

Is there any single man on this planet more powerful than Pope Francis? Find out how the pope won the admiration of the world by impersonating Jesus Christ, and by imitating His glorious return! (Yes, you read that right!) You will also find out the rest of the story about how his living predecessor prepared the way for him, as we analyze the coats of arms of both living popes once more. Taking the chair of St. Peter was just the first step in Satan's efforts to usurp even the very throne of God Almighty!

I, CHRIST

In this series of articles, we are exposing point-by-point the fact that Pope Francis is the man of sin, that Wicked, the son of perdition, the false Christ. We have so much evidence that I won't be able to share all of it before the seven last plagues begin, but a rational mind will have enough to make the right decision.

In Satan Unmasked, I emphasized how that Wicked^[1] would appear as an angel of light^[2]—as a good person—which is key to identifying him. Would you expect the arch-deceiver to look like a villain? No! His appearance will trick you; he will appear to be a good man in the eyes of the masses! In fact, he will appear like Jesus Christ!

Satan will manifest himself among men as a majestic being of dazzling brightness, resembling the description of the Son of God given by John in the Revelation. Revelation 1:13-15. {GC 624.2}^[3]

I don't know if I will have space in this article to take Revelation 1:13-15 point-by-point, but I will try. First, I want you to hear right out of the horse's mouth that Pope Francis declares himself to be Jesus Christ. How so? We will take a look at his coat of arms, and compare it with what he says that it means.

The Shell

Even before we look at Pope Francis' coat of arms, we should tidy up our interpretation of Pope Benedict's. Early in 2010, Brother John published his interpretation of Benedict's coat of arms, showing that the missing tiara symbolized the organization of the three executive, legislative, and judicial powers of the world under Satan's global rule. He explained how the Moor of Freising symbolizes Obama's being put into office to head the United States as the executive branch of the new world government. He explained how St. Corbinian's Bear symbolizes the union of church and state as the legislative branch of the new world government. Even the third symbol—the shell—he briefly interpreted in the Gift of Heaven article, saying:

The shell is a symbol of devotion to Mary...which represents Satan himself in his female form as "Mary" and is called spiritualism in the writings of Ellen G. White.

How true those words have proven!

The satanic trinity involves three entities: the sun (father), the moon (mother), and the light-bearer (offspring) who is Satan himself impersonating Christ. Benedict's coat of arms essentially said that the goals of his pontificate were to set up his own man (Obama) to lead the executive power of the new world government, establish the world-wide legislative power as a secular throne, upon which Satan (represented by the shell) would ultimately sit as the judicial (moral) authority to rule the world. He accomplished that last goal through his resignation, which opened the way for Pope Francis to be elected.

Obama is known for the exorbitant number of executive orders he has signed. He has personally taken the executive power of government to a new level, and he uses this power to accomplish the papacy's goals on the international scene as well as domestically.

The world powers have been increasingly coming together at summits to hammer out international legislation in support of the papacy's goals. For example, the White House summit on extremism called for international legislation against the papacy's opponents. Have you noticed how ISIS was all over the media till the legislation was underway? Now ISIS has faded in importance for the moment; it was just being used as a tool! The pack saddle on the bear's back is constructed of two squares, each with an X. The cords to tie down packages would normally form + shapes, but here we have X shapes. In Roman numerals, XX (two X's for two squares) is equivalent to 20, which shows Pope Benedict's agenda to use the G-20 meeting to set up the throne of the beast. There were other meetings of world leaders before that, like the G-7 and G-8 meetings, but they did not have the power that attended the G-20. The G-2012 summit in Mexico answered the papacy's call to prepare the seat for the chief of the New World Order. That call was made by Benedict in his June 29, 2009 encyclical "Charity in Truth" which addressed the need for ethical leadership in world finances.^[4]

Most importantly of all, the shell represents the single moral leader (the judicial aspect) who would solve the problems of the world. The resignation of Benedict opened the way (as if opening the gold capes of the shield) for the shell to come to reign, who is none other than Satan himself! Brother John was right in his 2012 video, where he linked the G-2012 summit through the Mayan symbolism to the throne of Satan! In the very act of resignation, Pope Benedict completed his work.

The goals of Benedict's papacy have been accomplished, and now they are your present reality. Now Satan, represented by the shell, is already on the papal throne, so we should find out what he is doing by looking at his own coat of arms...

The Coat of Arms of Pope Francis

The following image and explanation come from the official Vatican website.^[5] I want you to get this message from the horse's mouth! Pay attention to the three main symbols on the shield.

Pope Francis has decided to keep his previous coat of arms, chosen at the time of his episcopal consecration and marked by linear simplicity.

The blue shield is surmounted by the symbols of papal dignity, the same as those used by his Predecessor Benedict XVI (the mitre above crossed keys of gold and silver, bound by the red cord). At the top of the shield is the emblem of Pope's religious order, the Society of Jesus: a radiant sun carrying the letters in red, ihs, the monogram of Jesus. The letter h is crowned by a cross; beneath the letters are three black nails.

Lower down on the shield there is a star and spikenard flower. The star, according to ancient armorial tradition, symbolizes the Virgin Mary, the Mother of Christ and the Church; while the spikenard symbolizes St Joseph, Patron of the Universal Church. In traditional Hispanic iconography, St Joseph is shown with a vine in his hand. By bearing these images on his shield, the Pope communicates his special devotion to the Most Holy Virgin and to St Joseph.

Let's look at this logically. Pope Francis is a Jesuit. There has never been a Jesuit pope before him. A Jesuit is someone who belongs to the Society (or Company) of Jesus. Simply put, that means he comes from the "tribe" (or religious order) that claims to have "Jesus" among them, like how Jesus came from the tribe of Judah as it was prophesied. The Jesuits have a complete counterfeit system of prophecy which parallels the truth of the Bible.

So when a member of this religious order communicates his "special devotion"—or his special relationship—to Mary and Joseph, that is another way of saying "Hey everybody, Mary is my mother, and Joseph is my father! I have a special devotion to them!" Do you get it? If Pope Francis claims Mary and Joseph as his parents, then he is claiming to be Jesus Christ!

Notice that he kept the Jesuit logo as the dominant symbol of the shield. In fact, the Vatican says he deliberately "decided to keep his previous coat of arms." This is significant, because it shows that he brings his Jesuit identity with him to the papal throne. It is not as much the case of a Jesuit achieving the throne as it is the "papal dignity" adorning the Jesuit. If the Society of Jesus has "Jesus" in its society, do you think any inferior Jesuit would dare take the throne ahead of him? In other words, this first (and only) Jesuit to ever ascend the papal throne must be their "Jesus" (which is Satan).

Even those who are deceived know that Pope Francis is not literally Jesus—the deception is more subtle than that. Satan is an impostor, not the real deal. He is not permitted to come the way Christ will come.

...Satan is not permitted to counterfeit the manner of Christ's advent. {GC 625.2}^[6]

His deception is such that he will draw the adoration of the world in spite of the fact that he cannot counterfeit the manner of Christ's return. This is what makes the test: will you worship the savior figure you can see, even though he exalts man's law (human rights) above God's law? Or will you reserve your worship for the true Savior whom you cannot see, even though you are persecuted and possibly killed for it?

Pope Francis is Satan, but Satan is imitating Jesus. Pope Francis admits to being the impostor of Jesus Christ by his motto. The Vatican explanation says:

The motto of Pope Francis is taken from a passage from the venerable Bede, Homily 21 (CCL 122, 149-151), on the Feast of Matthew, which reads: Vidit ergo Jesus publicanum, et quia miserando atque eligendo vidit, ait illi, 'Sequere me'. [Jesus therefore sees the tax collector, and since he sees by having mercy and by choosing, he says to him, 'follow me'.]

The Vatican website ends the quote, but the homily goes on:

This following meant imitating the pattern of his life—not just walking after him. St. John tells us: 'Whoever says he abides in Christ ought to walk in the same way in which he walked.'^[7]

Notice that the motto is about the call to "follow," which implies imitation. Of course we should all imitate Jesus in a sense, but here is a man who adds his imitation of Jesus to the claim that he IS Jesus, as we already saw! This makes Pope Francis the great imitator—the great impostor! Do you see the logic here? An imitation of Jesus cannot be the real Jesus, therefore the pope's portrayal that he is Jesus is proof that he is in fact the false Christ!

The First Jesuit Pope

And now we come to the unsettling issue of what it means to be Satan. As we continue reading the explanation of Pope Francis' motto, we see that it is a careful reference to his beginnings as a Jesuit:

This homily is a tribute to Divine Mercy and is read during the Liturgy of the Hours on the Feast of St Matthew. This has particular significance in the life and spirituality of the Pope. In fact, on the Feast of St Matthew in 1953, the young Jorge Bergoglio experienced, at the age of 17, in a very special way, the loving presence of God in his life. Following confession, he felt his heart touched and he sensed the descent of the Mercy of God, who with a gaze of tender love, called him to religious life, following the example of St Ignatius of Loyola.

I have to interject again to highlight that Pope Francis clarifies who he is actually following, and it is not Jesus Christ. The reference to Matthew above gives the indication that he is following Jesus, but here he clarifies that it is not about Jesus, but about the example of St. Ignatius of Loyola! He was the founder of the Society of Jesus, and the author of Spiritual Exercises, from which is derived the spiritualistic teachings that are prevalent in other churches.

Once he had been ordained a Bishop, H.E. Mons. Bergoglio, in memory of this event that signified the beginning of his total consecration to God in His Church, chose, as his motto and as his programme of life, the words of St Bede: miserando atque eligendo. This he has chosen to keep in his papal coat of arms.

Notice what the motto commemorates! Pope Francis speaks of his "total consecration" which he brings with him to the papacy. What is this "total consecration" that he speaks of? It is explained right there by the Vatican: It is the total consecration associated with his following the example of St. Ignatius of Loyola, the founder of the Society of Jesus.

Wikipedia explains what this total consecration is referring to:

Ignatius wrote the Jesuit Constitutions, adopted in 1554, which created a monarchical organization and stressed absolute self-abnegation and obedience to pope and superiors (perinde ac [si] cadaver [essent]),^[23] "[well-disciplined] like a corpse" as Ignatius put it).^[24] ^[8]

This "absolute self-abnegation and obedience...like a corpse" is a reference to the very heart of the Jesuit oath, which says:

I do further promise and declare that I will have no opinion or will of my own or any mental reservation whatever, even as a corpse or cadaver (perinde ac cadaver), but will unhesitatingly obey each and every command that I may receive from my superiors in the militia of the Pope and of Jesus Christ.

In other words, Pope Francis chose the motto on his coat of arms in remembrance of the fact that he vowed to obey his superiors with no restraint of conscience or personal opinion of his own. If Pope Francis has no will or conscience of his own, then he must be acting out the mind of another. When you see his gestures, when you hear the inflection of his voice, it is not Jorge Bergoglio you hear! Jorge Bergoglio is a corpse! Whom you see and hear is Satan himself.

Quite to the contrary, Jesus Christ created us with a mind to think for ourselves, to weigh evidence, and to make decisions of our own.

God never designed that one human mind should be under the complete control of another. {CG 228.1}^[9]

The whole system of Jesuit training is contrary to the design of God, and leaves a person completely devoid of moral principle. Pope Francis is the embodiment of the Jesuit “ethic” (pay attention to the footnotes I’ve added to this quote):

Throughout Christendom, Protestantism was menaced by formidable foes. The first triumphs of the Reformation past, Rome summoned new forces, hoping to accomplish its destruction. At this time the order of the Jesuits was created, the most cruel, unscrupulous, and powerful of all the champions of popery. Cut off from earthly ties and human interests, dead to the claims of natural affection, reason and conscience wholly silenced, they knew no rule, no tie, but that of their order, and no duty but to extend its power. The gospel of Christ had enabled its adherents to meet danger and endure suffering, undismayed by cold, hunger, toil, and poverty, to uphold the banner of truth in face of the rack, the dungeon, and the stake. To combat these forces, Jesuitism inspired its followers with a fanaticism that enabled them to endure like dangers, and to oppose to the power of truth all the weapons of deception. There was no crime too great for them to commit, no deception too base for them to practice, no disguise too difficult for them to assume. Vowed to perpetual poverty^[10] and humility^[11], it was their studied aim to secure wealth and power, to be devoted to the overthrow of Protestantism^[12], and the re-establishment of the papal supremacy.

When appearing as members of their order, they wore a garb of sanctity, visiting prisons^[13] and hospitals,^[14] ministering to the sick^[15] and the poor,^[16] professing to have renounced the world,^[17] and bearing the sacred name of Jesus,^[18] who went about doing good.^[19] But under this blameless exterior the most criminal and deadly purposes were often concealed. It was a fundamental principle of the order that the end justifies the means. By this code, lying, theft, perjury, assassination, were not only pardonable but commendable, when they served the interests of the church. Under various disguises the Jesuits worked their way into offices of state, climbing up to be the counselors of kings, and shaping the policy of nations... {GC 235.1}^[20]

Do you see it? Those words were penned over a hundred years ago, yet Pope Francis fulfills them today! Pope Francis is THE Jesuit of the Jesuits! That means he is the “deadest” corpse of them all, actuated only by the god of the dead himself: the devil.

Is it any wonder that world leaders jump to his every beck and call? Did you see how quickly the U.S. and Cuba responded to Pope Francis’ involvement?^[21] In fact, Obama called Pope Francis “the real deal.”^[22] Nobody who has been trained to let others think for them can resist obeying Pope Francis because he appears to be the highest moral authority on Earth. Don’t be deceived!

The Original Anti-Trinitarian

Pope Francis tweaked his coat of arms at the beginning of his papacy. The eight-pointed star for Mary was originally a five-pointed star, which connotes Satan. The fact is the real Mary turned to dust long, long ago and is awaiting the resurrection like the rest of the dead, according to the Holy Bible. The pope’s Mary is in fact just what the five-pointed star means: Satan.

The grapes which preceded the nard symbolize wine—and the god of wine is Dionysus. Here again is an allusion to the false Christ, because Dionysus supposedly had a human mother and a god for a father. Both of the modified symbols originally pointed to Satan in some form, as does the big solar disk of the Jesuit logo. Thus all three symbols point to Satan.

Satan is the master imitator, and he wants to get all the worship that belongs to God. Since God is three Persons—Father, Son, and Holy Spirit—Satan has to counterfeit all three in such a way that they all point to himself. That is why the false (Catholic) trinity doctrine teaches the nonsensical concept of three-in-one, and one-in-three. In that scheme, no matter which of the three you worship, your adoration goes to Satan, one way or another.

The true Trinity of the Bible, however, is simply three Persons united in purpose and of one character, but not confounded into the same being. This true concept of three divine Persons is under heavy attack by the original anti-Trinitarian—Satan—who wants to reduce the Godhead down not just to two persons (which is already wrong), but to one person—which would be himself!

A Majestic Being of Dazzling Brightness

Pope Francis said that his purpose in making these “major adjustments” to his coat of arms was to more clearly symbolize Mary and Joseph, not to change the meaning of the symbols.^[23] The new coat of arms was released on March 27. This means that some “major change” took place during that time, which had to be that Pope Francis declared plainly that he is Jesus Christ, thus the symbols more clearly portray his parentage.

This brings us back to the opening quote:

As the crowning act in the great drama of deception, Satan himself will personate Christ. The church has long professed to look to the Saviour’s advent as the consummation of her hopes. Now the great deceiver will make it appear that Christ has come. In different parts of the earth, Satan will manifest himself among men as a majestic being of dazzling brightness, resembling the description of the Son of God given by John in the Revelation. Revelation 1:13-15. {GC 624.2}^[24]

Are you still with me? Shall we go ahead and discover how Pope Francis fulfilled the dazzlingly-bright description of Jesus Christ in Revelation 1:13-15?

And in the midst of the seven candlesticks one like unto the Son of man, clothed with a garment down to the foot, and girt about the paps with a golden girdle. His head and his hairs were white like wool, as white as snow; and his eyes were as a flame of fire; And his feet like unto fine brass, as if they burned in a furnace; and his voice as the sound of many waters. (Revelation 1:13-15)

There is so much evidence to make the case that Pope Francis is the false Christ... By all means, let’s continue!

Did you catch the apparent disparity between that quote and the one from the very next page, which I also mentioned earlier?

...Satan is not permitted to counterfeit the manner of Christ’s advent. {GC 625.2}^[25]

Satan’s coming is not “in the manner” of Christ’s. It “resembles” the description, but he is manifested “among men” in the person of Pope Francis (and not literally with a cloud of angels). Do you see? He cannot come in some kind of spaceship (UFO) from outer space, because that would be too near “the manner of Christ’s advent.” Satan will make it appear that Christ “has” come, not that Christ “is” coming in the clouds. Recognizing that Satan is not permitted to counterfeit the manner of Christ’s coming means that we are obligated to interpret his dazzlingly-bright resemblance to Jesus in figurative language.

I explained in Satan Unmasked that knowing the time of Christ’s coming from the Orion Clock allowed us to identify the false Christ. In a similar way, the spiritual eyesight to see Jesus in Orion through the prophetic symbolism also allows us to see Satan’s appearance in fulfillment of prophecy.

All we have to do is simply solve the riddle of how Pope Francis imitates the description of Jesus:

- In the midst of the seven candlesticks. We could interpret this in a couple of different ways, but since the Orion Message shows Jesus in the midst of the seven stars of Orion (the seven candlesticks), we could say that the counterfeit is explained in the popular interpretation that Pope Francis’ coat of arms as a cardinal includes a star map of Orion.^[26]

Satan knows where heaven is, and he intends to conquer it by winning the adoration (worship) of the world in the person of Pope Francis.

- Like unto the Son of man. Satan imitates Christ by coming in the form of a human, in the corpse of Pope Francis.
- Clothed with a garment down to the foot. Pope Francis is clothed with the important red ceremonial coronation robe down to the feet.
- Girt about the paps with a golden girdle. Pope Francis wears a fringed fascia, which is a sash-like belt (girdle) with the ends hanging down his side to below the knee. The ends have a gold fringe.
- His head and his hairs were white like wool, as white as snow. This needs no interpretation—Pope Francis' hair is white, and his zucchetto (skull cap) is white.
- His eyes were as a flame of fire. The eyes are a mirror of the soul. The eyes of Jesus are a flame of fire because they reflect His perfection of character.^[27] He beholds our God, who is a consuming fire, and this fire is reflected in His eyes. Satan, on the other hand, is symbolized by the black flame. It is the flame of Lucifer's torch that is behind the eyes of Pope Francis, even more so than his predecessor in whose eyes the skull-and-bones President George W. Bush^[28] said that he saw "God."^[29]
- His feet were like unto fine brass, as if they burned in a furnace. No pope shows his bare feet publicly, so this must be understood symbolically. Pope Francis has worn a figure of a "shepherd" (rather Pharaoh) on his pectoral cross, apparently formed by the process of casting, which involves melting the metal (burning it) in a furnace. The press emphasized the pope's "humility" (which bare feet symbolize) because he kept the same cross from when he was appointed auxiliary bishop of Buenos Aires.^[30] A comparison^[31] of the cross he wore as a cardinal, however, shows that he has worn both brass and silver-toned (iron) crosses. Both brass and silver are mentioned as constituent elements in the Strong's definition of "fine brass."^[32]
- His voice as the sound of many waters. What else could be the counterfeit of the voice like "the sound of many waters," other than "the great whore that sitteth upon many waters"^[33] which already voiced his mind to the peoples of Europe^[34] and will soon speak to the U.S. Congress?^[35]

But that's not all! There is so much evidence! Remember, the coat of arms was changed, and the new version was published on March 27, 2013—two weeks after his election. What did Pope Francis do during those two weeks that allowed him to adjust his coat of arms to boldly proclaim that he is the Christ?

The Triumphal Entry

Just three days prior to changing his coat of arms, Pope Francis was at the literal center of a very important worship service. Do you remember that there was a special urgency to get the new pope elected in time for Easter? That is because the announcement of Christ's coming was planned for the big Easter ceremonies, which began on Palm Sunday, March 24, 2013.

A specially staged “signal photo” was released to the press, which shows the “Holy Father” pictured in the center of the unholy trinity in front of a very important monument: the obelisk at the center of St. Peter’s square. This celebration imitates Jesus’ triumphal entry into Jerusalem, when He was declared King of Israel!

This happened very much like John wrote in 2010 in his aforementioned article about Benedict’s coat of arms:

...Then Satan himself will appear in the form of an angel of light, as it was prophesied by the Apostle Paul (2 Cor. 11:14), and promise to make everything whole again. This was also seen by Ellen White. I would not be surprised if this “angel of light” would enact a great spectacle directly at St. Peter’s Square in Rome...

Now you can see how Benedict really matches the description of the 111th pope of the prophecy of St. Malachy. He is termed “Glory of the olive,” which some link to the Olivetian Order, which is dedicated to Mary (Satan) and so named in honor of Christ’s Passion. In other words, it was Benedict’s purpose to bring glory (honor) to Satan by preparing the world for his “triumphal” entry during this particular Passion Week. To put it another way, he prepared the oil for the anointing of Francis as the Christ.

But it goes even deeper than that! The photographs were taken on the side of the monument that contains special words which were dictated directly by the Pope Sixtus V who erected the monument. In his homily that day entitled “Who am I, before my Lord?”^[36] Pope Francis asked the question on behalf of each individual: “who am I?” in the story of Christ’s Passion Week. Outwardly, he meant it to be a question to one’s self about one’s self, but naturally in the context of this momentous occasion with a newly-elected pope at the center of attention, the de facto question was about the pope: “who am I, the pope?”

Of course he was leading the minds to the thought that he is Jesus Christ, king of the world!

In answer to his own question “who am I?” Pope Francis was photographed for all the world news media outlets in front of these words:

CHRISTVS VINCIT. CHRISTVS REGNAT. CHRISTVS IMPERAT. CHRISTVS AB OMNI MALO
PLEBEM SVAM DEFENDAT.

Translated from Latin to English, it reads:

CHRIST CONQUERS. CHRIST REIGNS. CHRIST RULES. CHRIST DELIVERS HIS PEOPLE FROM ALL EVIL.

Reading the words of the inscription, you might wonder what “evil” this false Christ supposedly delivers his people from. We just published a news release explaining how one of his many agents divulged the answer to that!

Regardless, do you see what Pope Francis did here? He put himself in the position of Christ, asked the question “who am I?” and with this signal photo he proclaimed to the accepting world his triumphal ascension to the throne! Now do you see how he could justify declaring himself to be Jesus Christ in his coat of arms three days later!?

Pope Francis continues his masquerade two years later, as he just celebrated his third “Holy Week,” saying that “imitating the humility of Jesus is what makes Holy Week ‘holy,’ and encouraged attendees to mimic his attitude of humiliation as the week unfolds.”^[37] Whose attitude of humiliation is he referring to!? Francis also alluded to the fact that he is in fact Satan Incarnate, making special mention of his own feigned humility by recounting “how Jesus ‘humbled himself’ by taking on human form,” which is not a subject directly related to the occasion. This theme of Satan’s incarnation has also been in the press under the term “personification.” Notice what is being said under the headline “Pope Francis’ Modest Lifestyle ‘Personifies’ The Message Of The Catholic Church” in the video report:

“I think in his very life, in his very credible lifestyle, he’s living like Jesus Christ, which is what is really attracting so many people to his message, because he personifies that poor Man of Galilee.”^[38]

Look how they speak not just of imitation, but of the personification of Jesus Christ! They are saying that this man, Pope Francis, is no less than Jesus in the flesh. If you understand that Catholicism is about Satan, not Jesus, then you can see this as an admission that Pope Francis is in fact Satan in the flesh.

But that’s still not all! The grand show happened at the center of St. Peter’s Square—which is really a circle. He did this at the obelisk—which is really the gnomon of a sundial. What he did is he put himself at the center of his own “clock.”

The Throne of the Universe

Satan doesn’t just want to rule the world. He is fighting to the death for something bigger. Remember that God is on trial, and Satan is accusing Him in the biggest class action lawsuit ever attempted. If Satan would win the case, God would be dethroned from the universe. That means what would be the biggest leadership vacuum of all time would instantly suck the next most influential person onto the Universal Throne. Yes, that is exactly what Satan wants, and that is why he is positioning himself accordingly. By winning the admiration of the world while dwelling in the body of Pope Francis, Satan is setting himself up for election to a see (or seat, or throne) far higher than the Holy See of St. Peter.

We know that God's throne is somewhere in the Orion nebula, because that is where the Holy City—the true Eternal City—will come from, and God's throne is at its apex. In fact, we can see it represented symbolically by the “throne stars” of Orion, commonly known as Jacob's ladder or the belt stars of Orion. The star Alnitak marks the center of the Orion clock, and the clock hands point from there outward toward the four corners of the hourglass shape, which are the hands and feet of Orion (see illustration).

The Original – The Orion Clock, symbolizing the throne of God.

The Counterfeit – The Vatican Sundial, revealing Satan's intents.

By his very first Palm Sunday display, Pope Francis placed himself at the center of the Vatican's sundial, which was a ceremony that shows his intention to be crowned in the celestial courts of Orion. Readers, do you realize the implications of this?

Again two years later, on the second anniversary of his election, Pope Francis gave a fascinating interview which deserves a much deeper analysis than this article has room for. In that interview, Satan, speaking through Pope Francis, says “my pontificate will be brief: four or five years; I do not know, even two or three,” and “Two have already passed.” ^[39]

Do you understand what he is saying? The Bible says “the devil is come down unto you, having great wrath, because he knoweth that he hath but a short time.” ^[40] Pope Francis says “I do not know. But I feel that the Lord has placed me here for a short time, and nothing more...” He knows that it is about time, WHICH IS RUNNING OUT!

The powers of the secular side of Satan's kingdom also testify of his intentions to usurp the throne of God the Father. In the most recent Oscar motion picture awards presentation ceremony, the stage was designed to be a glittery counterfeit. Each person who spoke had to participate in the blasphemous act of putting himself in the place of God:

Notice how the three thrones are represented as three platforms in the shape of clock faces, with the largest one in the center representing the throne of God the Father. Notice the stars, as “Oscar” figurines, retelling the lie of spiritualism once more. (In fact, they were made to look like highly-polished “precious stones” which is an allusion to the 144,000 (fallen angels, in this case.) There’s even much more—but you get the point—it is all a representation of Satan’s victory and ascension to the throne of God!

Soon the Conflict of the Ages will be settled, once and for all. Will God win? Does your life cast a vote in God’s favor, or do you still think Pope Francis (Lucifer) is a good guy? Your vote is the purpose for which you were created, and it is the reason God has allowed you to experience the things you have experienced in your life. It is time to put your experiential knowledge to use, and testify before the heavenly court on God’s behalf through the blood of Jesus.

Coming next:

How would you like to interview the devil? Satan speaks through Pope Francis, and the sound of his voice hasn’t changed much in six thousand years. I am not joking—in the face of the worst disasters and consequences of human choice that will ever be felt, Satan still reassuringly says, “ye shall not surely die!” In about six months, God will pour out His wrath without mixture and without mercy in the seven last plagues. Are you ready for that? While the intercession of Jesus will no longer offer reconciliation to God, Pope Francis will offer a counterfeit “mercy” of his own, with arms wide open. The notorious “indulgences” that Martin Luther protested against are being employed again as never before in connection with Divine Mercy Sunday!

Mission to the Cities

Under False Flag

“God has a church. It is not the great cathedral, neither is it the national establishment, neither is it the various denominations; it is the people who love God and keep His commandments. “Where two or three are gathered together in My name, there am I in the midst of them.” Where Christ is, even among the humble few, this is Christ’s church, for the presence of the High and Holy One who inhabiteth eternity can alone constitute a church. {17MR 81.4}

Let me ask you a question. Based on the definition of God’s church given above, what does the following mean:

The church may appear as about to fall, but it does not fall. {12MR 324.3}

Does it mean that a particular church building (the great cathedral) will not fall? Does it mean that a state religion (national establishment) will not fall? Does it mean that a particular denomination (such as the Seventh-day Adventist Church) will not fall? If the answers are not already clear, this article should rectify the matter.

That famous quote comes from a manuscript that is very pertinent right now, and I recommend reading it in its entirety. Most who quote it have little knowledge of what it really says. At the close of this article, I will share a little bit of what else our dear Ellen G. White says in the same passage, along with a link to the whole letter.

The Final Rapid Movements

The first three events that kicked off the final rapid movements and the timelines of Daniel 12 are detailed in the articles about Pope Francis. Now I’d like to bring the issues a little closer to home by showing you that the Roman army is also commanding the organized Adventist Church. You know that the General Conference (GC) is pushing their own counterfeit form of revival and reformation. You know that they’ve published a special ecumenical version of The Great Controversy to distribute in the cities. The GC effort to evangelize the cities is their way of “finishing the work” to usher in the Second Coming, or in other words to trigger the final rapid movements. Now take a look at the official Mission to the Cities website, and notice the dates of their announcements for this year’s activities:

You have to click on each news entry to see its publication date. The oldest post (the one at the bottom) is dated February 28, 2013. It is announcing the GC International Field School of Evangelism, targeted especially to train those going into the cities to do evangelism (especially in New York) during the period from June 7 through June 29. It is no coincidence that this was announced the same day that Pope Benedict’s resignation became effective! The GC is participating in the final rapid movements...BUT ON THE WRONG SIDE OF THE BATTLE! This is time to go OUT OF the cities, not INTO the cities! Just when a major catastrophe is about to cause national lock-down, the GC is sending its blind-folded members right into the fray. Remember when Titus besieged Jerusalem? It was when all of the people had gathered in the city for the feasts, which was also their biggest time for evangelism, as well as their equivalent of camp-meeting!

When do you think the rest of the posts were made?

The rest of the news posts are all dated March 13, 2013, culminating with the NY13 announcement. When the abomination of desolation was set up in the election of Jesuit Pope Francis, the same day the GC announced their big program going into New York. That's no coincidence. The real masterminds running the GC are either Jesuits or Freemasons, and they know what schedule they are operating to. Behind all of the masks, it's really the devil himself that is running the GC show, marching Adventist lemmings straight toward their doom.

Furthermore, the GC Spring Meeting was held on April 13, 2013, the same day that Pope Francis announced his leadership structure. While the pope was naming his leaders, the leaders of the GC were meeting together in Battle Creek, no doubt planning "final rapid movements" of their own. Do you understand? The two organizations are united!

The Beginning of the End

After the timelines of Daniel 12 started, we began to look at the dates indicated by the last triplet of the HSL for 2013–2015 as discussed in the previous article. Here is a brief review of some of the dates of interest:

- April 25 – 1st Passover (observed on 24th)
- April 27 – 1st Day of the Wave Sheaf, Sabbath
- May 25 – 2nd Passover (observed on 24th), Sabbath
- May 27 – 2nd Day of the Wave Sheaf
- June 1 – 2nd Seventh Day of Unleavened Bread, High Sabbath
- June 15 – 1st Pentecost, High Sabbath

On the eve of April 25, we observed the Lord's Supper. That began the first feast day of the 2013 year and of the last HSL triplet. We expected something to happen soon after that to begin the Loud Cry.

On April 27, as explained in The Loud Cry, our countdown reached zero. Something happened on that day, but we were unaware of it until a week later. John will be writing about that in a future article. I just need to say that God confirmed this date by a "powerful" sign.

God uses our group to reveal the plan before it happens in reality. We saw that principle very clearly in the way that He allowed us to experience the timelines of Daniel 12 by faith one year early in 2012 as events happened in the heavenly sanctuary, but now they have begun visibly on the earth in 2013. Similarly, our April Supper and related events are a pattern for those who will participate in May. Now we are in the intermediate period before the second-month Passover in May. Those who didn't participate in the first Lord's Supper have one more chance. Because of the second chance, certain things could not happen yet.

May 25 is the Sabbath day of the second-month Passover. The Lord's Supper will be observed on the evening of May 24. We are very cognizant of the fact that the second-month Passover coincides with the anniversary of the crucifixion of our Lord, similarly to how the second-possible Day of Atonement coincided with His birthday last year. The crucifixion date is the anchor-point for all of our time studies, just like Jesus' sacrifice on the cross is the most basic foundation of our faith.

May 27 is Memorial Day, and the second possible day of the wave sheaf. As such, it is the counterpart to the sign that came on Sabbath, April 27. Memorial Day began as a day to remember the American Civil War, but now including World Wars I and II.

In the previous article, John talked about the timing of the Sunday Law in 1888 and how that might serve as a hint for what to expect this year. Many Adventists consider the Sunday Law to be the signal to leave the cities based upon the following quote from Ellen G. White. However, the Sunday Law is also considered by most Adventists to be the close of their probation, since they know the Sabbath truth and will at that time have to make a decision without any excuse. It is a catch-22 situation: they believe they don't need to do anything before the signal, but if they wait for the signal it will already be too late.

As the siege of Jerusalem by the Roman armies was the signal for flight to the Judean Christians, so the assumption of power on the part of our nation [the United States] in the decree enforcing the papal sabbath will be a warning to us. It will then be time to leave the large cities, preparatory to leaving the smaller ones for retired homes in secluded places among the mountains. {5T 464.3}

The signal was the first siege, which corresponds to the Sunday legislation of 1888. When the second siege began, it was too late. We are in the second siege now! When the Sunday Law does finally pass, Adventists will realize all too late that their probationary time had already ended indeed.

Being that these dates fall within a holiday weekend and Congress does not plan to meet on these days, I can't say that any legislation is likely to take place on those days, but in this day and age there's no telling what might befall while most Americans are happily enjoying their three-day weekend. What I know is that May 25 is a very special date according to the HSL, and that the confirmation of the day of the wave sheaf in the first possibility could indicate a special significance to May 27 as well. We are living in solemn times.

June 1 is the Seventh Day of Unleavened Bread and a High Sabbath. It marks the completion of the week of unleavened bread, which could indicate that the church will be cleansed in some way during that week.

June 15 is Pentecost. It is the 50th day after the first day of unleavened bread and a High Sabbath. It is the day that the children of Israel received the Law on Mt. Sinai, and thus it is regarded as the birth of the Jewish religion. It is the day the apostles received the Holy Spirit, and thus it is regarded as the birth of the Christian religion. In this momentous year, we expect it to be equally significant—marked by fire from heaven, and thus likely to be regarded at least in one sense as the birth of the religion of the 144,000.

Pentecost falls within the “Mission to the Cities” effort in New York, and into the summer camp-meeting season as well. Figure 2 provides a visual summary of the beginning of the new triplet.

Which God Do You Serve?

I will now expose the hidden symbolism in the Conference website graphics. In some cases, the symbolism is quite bold. As we dig into the deeper meaning, the things to be found are quite appalling. Be warned.

Let’s start with <http://www.revivalandreformation.org/777>. This is the prayer chain page. The prayer chain is one of the major parts of the Conference’s revival and reformation thrust.

But when ye pray, use not vain repetitions, as the heathen do: for they think that they shall be heard for their much speaking. (Matthew 6:7)

Here we immediately see the 777 concept in the April–June prayer focus, which looks pretty harmless on the surface. We could suppose that the number 7 here represents the perfection of the Godhead, and there are three 7’s to represent the Trinity. Remember, the secret societies use symbols with double meanings: one meaning for the uninitiated, and a different meaning for those who know. Even taking the 777 symbolism for the Trinity at face value, however, we notice a slight problem.

Anti-Trinitarians are quick to point out that the trinity concept has Catholic roots, which is not telling the whole story, but they are at least correct that the Catholic Church’s trinity doctrine is unscriptural. Why? Because the Catholic trinity consists of one person/god who is manifested or takes shape in three different ways. In contrast, the true Trinity consists of three independent Persons who are one in unity similarly to how we say that a husband and wife are “one” even though they are independent persons. This subtle distinction is key. Unfortunately, the anti-Trinitarians cannot distinguish the two doctrines.

The one-being aspect of the Catholic trinity (or better called the satanic trinity) reveals a deeper concept. It is not an arbitrary false doctrine. For every genuine, Satan has a counterfeit. He wants to be in the place of God, but he is only one entity whereas the Godhead is comprised of three Persons. Therefore, he has to sell himself as three beings in order to pretend to be God. That is why the individual elements of the satanic trinity, represented in so many ways, always overlap and boil down to the same single entity: Satan himself.

Now you can readily see the slight problem with the trinity symbolism in the graphic: the circles overlap. This indicates the satanic trinity, not the independent Trinity of the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit.

Impending Disaster on Every Hand

Now, take a look at the cityscape. There are a few things about this image that make it appear quite grim. First of all, it is a lifeless gray. It is a nighttime photograph, conveying the concept of darkness. But most importantly, the scene has debris flying everywhere. The dark clouds rising from the city in the background appear to be debris clouds, not the clouds of a natural sky. Now take a close look at the daytime clouds in the top banner. If you look carefully, you will see that there is debris there as well, not to mention the clouds are a very dirty white. Debris comes from destruction, but what destruction could these images be alluding to?

Let’s leave that website for a moment and consider the NY13 homepage: <http://www.ny13.org/>

First of all, notice the debris-style rendering again. Also notice the conspicuous and frequent display of the number 13 everywhere. Yes, this is 2013, but it seems to me they are flaunting one of Satan's favorite numbers a bit too much.

Notice the Statue of Liberty on the left, otherwise known as the goddess Diana, which in turn references Satan himself, the "light-bearer" (also mentioned in St. Corbinian's Bear and The Year of Saul). At first glance, one might dismiss this image as nothing more than a pretty picture of a famous landmark. However, a lot more artistic effort went into the picture than meets the eye. If you stare at the advertisement pane as it dissolves from one slide to the next, you might catch a glimpse of the rest of this elaborate but unseen background image. Here it is in all its glory:

Now you can see that this image is truly a piece of work. Hidden behind the changing slides is the biggest and brightest sun that the city of New York has never seen. And Lady Liberty is raising her standard to it.

Which way does the Statue of Liberty face, by the way? That's right—toward the sea. In this image, however, she is turned to face the cityscape as if she is ready to march her burning torch right through the city. And that is just the point...the General Conference (under Diana's leadership) is marching Adventist evangelists straight into the city.

In his speech during the Spring Meeting, Ted Wilson "prophetically" asserted that he doesn't want to see any more church anniversaries. He wants to finish the work so Jesus can come. Do you suppose soft preaching and the spreading of a bunch of impotent "Great Hopes" will be the fulfillment of the cry of the Third Angel? Hardly! But Ted Wilson is sure a good actor—playing right along with the show as the "hopeful" conservative reformer of the Adventist Church. I am appalled as I see how many members are blind to what he is really all about.

The bright ball of light in the image is obviously not a real photograph of the sun. If it were the sun (or if it were intended to look like the sun), the buildings in front of it would be silhouetted to some degree, but instead the scene appears washed out by the bright light. The light is something more like a fireball. Don't think for a moment that they don't know what is coming! Remember:

And he doeth great wonders, so that he maketh fire come down from heaven on the earth in the sight of men, (Revelation 13:13)

We are talking about an event that would probably destroy the Statue of Liberty itself, too, which would symbolize the end of the world (Wikipedia). That is exactly the idea that would be needed in order to sell the false christ to the masses.

Keep in mind that we are still within the figure of 11 years since the September 11, 2001 false flag attack. 11 years is the duration of the solar cycle, which is a favorite interval for sun worshipers. What was started in 2001 to take away freedom and ring in the New World Order is being completed now by the counterpart event at the end of the 11-year interval—once again in New York.

Looking back to www.revivalandreformation.org, now you can see that the debris depicted in the graphics is a subtle reference to the state of devastation that the angel of “light” intends to bring. But there’s so much more we have yet to expose.

That Old Serpent, the Devil

The number 7 also has occult meanings, so don’t let that fool you. Does the Adventist Church all of the sudden believe in the lucky number 777, or is this just 666 masquerading as a good thing through Satan’s characteristic one-upmanship? The number 6 is known to graphically depict the male sexual organs, which are the center of all satanic worship, and the figure 7 serves just as well for illustration purposes with the way they’ve stylized it.

Now the works of the flesh are manifest, which are these; Adultery, fornication, uncleanness, lasciviousness, Idolatry, witchcraft, hatred, variance, emulations, wrath, strife, seditions, heresies, Envyings, murders, drunkenness, revellings, and such like: of the which I tell you before, as I have also told you in time past, that they which do such things shall not inherit the kingdom of God....And they that are Christ’s have crucified the flesh with the affections and lusts. (Galatians 5:19-21, 24)

Notice the three circles around the three 7’s. At a glance, you might take these to be “seals” as a way of representing the Sabbath seal. However, there is nothing to enforce that interpretation. In fact, there is evidence to the contrary. Notice the little story about “777” under the graphics. Their prayer chain represents an unending circle of prayers that follow the sun in its endless circle around the earth. The circle is not a symbol of the Sabbath seal, but of the sun and its endless cycle!

Surprising? Notice that the center circle is larger than the other two. A circle is also a basic representation of the eye. In this case, three circles for three eyes. Two eyes are normal—but in the occult realm there is something called the “third eye” which is the spiritual eye. The larger circle in the center symbolizes the third eye, which is located in the middle of the forehead. You will learn more about that shortly.

Now we come “full circle” (pun intended) to the bold depiction of the oroboros: the snake eating its tail. Look closely, and you will see that the center and right circles depict the oroboros. Mind you, the fact that two of the three circles depict the oroboros while one does not, shows that the symbolism was definitely intentional. There’s even a message in that, too. The two snakes overlap, forming the infinity symbol or the “lazy eight” (∞) which was discussed in The Year of Saul.

To deepen our understanding of just what these occult symbols mean, I will quote from Masonic and Occult Symbols Illustrated. The bold and italic formatting is original; only the red coloring is mine.

...Another Masonic and occult symbol of regeneration is the serpent. A Dictionary of Symbols explains more about the snake: “Snakes are guardians of the springs of life and of immortality, and also of those superior riches of the spirit that are symbolized by hidden treasure....

“...the serpent is the life-force which determines birth and rebirth and hence it is connected with the Wheel of Life....

“The snake was an important symbol for the Gnostics....Hippolytus...asserted that the snake was said to live in all objects and in all beings. This brings us to the Yoga concept of the Kundalini or the snake as an image of inner strength. Kundalini is represented symbolically as a snake coiled up upon itself in the form of a ring (kundala), in that subtle part of the organism corresponding to the lower extremity of the spinal column; this, at any rate, is the case with the ordinary man. But, as a result of exercises directed towards his spiritualization—Hatha Yoga, for instance—the snake uncoils and stretches up through wheels (chakras) corresponding to the various plexuses of the body until it reaches the area of the forehead corresponding to the third eye of Shiva. It is then, according to Hindu belief, that man recovers his sense of the eternal.” [Emphasis in the original]

The word “chakras” was just mentioned. “In the Hindu/yoga world of ‘reality,’ they believe, as do much of the occult and New Age meditators, that the body contains seven basic energy centers, known as chakras. When these centers are properly aligned by practicing yoga and meditation, there will then occur a ‘merging’ of the spinal chakra (the serpent of Kundalini) together with Shiva, located in the frontal chakra (psychic third eye) and this ‘spiritual union’ is believed to increase extrasensory and psychic powers.”

In The Gods of India, we are told:

“Siva carries a snake around his neck. Snakes always surround his image, and a snake is coiled around his phallus (linga)....

“But the main meaning attached to the serpent is to represent the basic dormant energy, akin to the sexual power, which is coiled at the base of the spinal cord and which is the support of the yogi in his attempt to conquer the higher worlds during his inward journey. The energy, source of all spiritual conquests, is called Kundalini (the coiled), the serpent power.”

The Seeker’s Handbook mentions that the serpent is also a symbol of infinity. The symbol for infinity is the lazy eight which is covered elsewhere in this book.

“The Druids had a high veneration for the Serpent. Their great god Hu was typified by that reptile; and he is represented by the Bards as ‘the wonderful chief Dragon, the sovereign of heaven.”

Like the eagle, the snake is also a symbol of the sun. Additionally, it denoted fertility. “The tree of life with the serpent entwined around it is also seen, and this symbol also represents the solar and generative processes.”

“In representing the ancient Babylonian Nergal, Lord of the Underworld, the phallus and the serpent were identical. In New Guinea, where tradition connects woman and the serpent sexually, the female idols are invaginated by serpent-like creatures.”

“The union of the female with the male triad, was designated by the sacred mystic number 4, often symbolized by a serpent with its tail in its mouth; two fishes bent to form a circle [yin/yang], and many other figures.”

A snake with its tail in its mouth is called an oroboros (also spelled uroboros). Another form of the oroboros is a dragon with its tail in its mouth.

“In alchemy a dragon, or more often a serpent, eating its own tail is known as the uroboros. The dragon was a symbol of the god Mercury and the circle a powerful symbol of the eternal cycle of nature. Because the uroboros recreates itself by feeding on its own body, it is a symbol of transforming matter, i.e. alchemy itself.”

In this form the snake represents “the endless succession of incarnations which form the wheel of life.” In other words, the oroboros is an emblem of reincarnation. It is also a symbol of eternity. In fact, we are told that the oroboros “actually signifies the beginning and end of life; the Alpha and Omega.” [Emphasis in the original] Of course, this is blasphemous. The Bible clearly tells us that Jesus Christ is the Alpha and Omega. Revelation 22:13 states: “I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end, the first and the last.” (See Revelation 1:8, 11; and 21:6.)

The Alpha and Omega is used in Masonry, but now we can see that it is in reference to the snake, and not Jesus Christ, when these symbols are used.

As Masonic author, George Oliver, states: “The Serpent is universally esteemed a legitimate symbol of Freemasonry.” Occultist and Mason, Manly Palmer Hall, brags that “the serpent is the symbol and prototype of the Universal Savior, who redeems the worlds by giving creation the knowledge of itself and the realization of good and evil.”

Do you realize what Hall just admitted? When God placed Adam and Eve in the garden, He said: “Of every tree of the garden thou mayest freely eat: But of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil, thou shalt not eat of it: for in the day that thou eatest thereof thou shalt surely die” (Genesis 2:16-17). Of course, SATAN came along and asked: “Yea, hath God said, Ye shall not eat of every tree of the garden?” (Genesis 3:1) Eve responded that they could eat of every tree except the tree of the knowledge of good and evil because they would die if they did so. Satan (the serpent) brazenly remarked: “Ye shall not surely die: For God doth know that in the day ye eat thereof, they your eyes shall be opened, and ye shall be as gods, knowing good and evil” (Genesis 3:4-5). Satan, THROUGH ENTICEMENT AND LIES, had just deceived the first man and woman by promising them godhood! He told Eve that she would know both good and evil. Satan’s offer to know BOTH good and evil presented an option that was previously unknown to her. She had never known evil and, therefore, the lure of learning about something new and different must have intrigued her. Up to this point she had only known good, truth, perfection, health, and beauty. Now, because of the attraction of the unknown offered through Satan’s deception, she would learn of evil, death, sorrow, defilement, pain, and separation from God. The very moment Adam and Eve partook of the forbidden fruit they died spiritually and were driven from the beautiful garden of Eden. That very day they experienced death to innocence, death to perfection, death to the joys they had known, and eventually they experienced a physical death even passing this physical death on to ALL humankind for “in Adam all die” (I Corinthians 15:22)

Yet, Hall tells us that the one who gave the realization of good and evil (who was Satan) is the “Universal Savior!” According to Masonic writer, Lynn Perkins, the fall of mankind was something GOOD. It was not a “fall” but a betterment of our situation. He boldly declares that man “rose to Divine Status by partaking of the “fruit of the tree of knowledge of good and evil.” [Emphasis in the original] He adds that the advice the serpent gave to Eve was “wiser than the recorded command of God that would have, if obeyed, confined Adam and Eve and their descendants to the status of animals forever....”

Albert Pike, another occultist and Mason, brags that the oroboros “is the body of the Holy Spirit, the universal Agent, the Serpent devouring his own tail....” [Italics in the original; Boldface added] What blasphemy!

The oroboros is also representative of the androgyne.

“The serpent’s head and neck is distinctly a masculine symbol, but the serpent is sometimes symbolized with its tail in its mouth, the body forming a circle which is feminine. Also, the mouth is feminine, while the tail, which is in the mouth, is masculine. Thus for two good reasons the serpent with its tail in its mouth represents both sexes.”

As stated earlier, the androgyne (meaning male and female in one body) was considered to be “the image of human perfection and wholeness.”

(Masonic and Occult Symbols Illustrated, pp. 126-133)

Suffice it to say that the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists is blatantly declaring to the occult community that they have adopted the two key doctrines of Satan: the immortality of the soul, and sun worship (which is really Satan worship). The true doctrines of the Seventh-day Adventist church stand confirmed for us in the Orion Clock and the Vessel of Time by the only God, the Creator Himself, but when it comes to the General Conference as an organization, clearly they are serving a different master.

My Church Is Different

How long will you, as a member, turn a blind eye to what the Church is doing? Even if you concede that the GC is apostate, you are probably thinking that your local church isn’t that bad. They still do many good works, after all. Well—so do many churches of other denominations, including some other Sabbatarians.

Let me put it to you this way. Try sharing the Orion message in your church and see how long your lovely church keeps on loving you. See if your pastor will preach the Third Angel’s Message (which the GC prohibits). Think about it, and follow the logic to its conclusion. Your pastor would have to disobey his leadership in order to be faithful to God, and you can figure out where that will end. Either he will capitulate, or he will not be able to remain an Adventist pastor. That leaves the faithful churches to stand on their own without conference support!

There is no such thing as a church organization that will “go through to the end.” By peddling that doctrine, the Adventist Church is showing their similarity to the Universal Church. The teaching that salvation is attached to an organization is yet another Catholic teaching! Our Savior did not die to save a structure; He died to save you and me!

Let me close with a few contrasting words from the letter that says “the church does not fall”:

I think of His great sorrow as He wept over Jerusalem, exclaiming, “O Jerusalem, Jerusalem, which killest the prophets, and stonest them that are sent unto thee; how often would I have gathered thy children together, as a hen doth gather her brood under her wings, and ye would not” [Luke 13:34]! God forbid that these words shall apply to those who have great light and blessings. In the rejecting of Jerusalem it was because great privileges were abused, which brought the denunciation upon all who lightly regarded the great opportunities and precious light that were entrusted to their keeping. Privileges do not commend us to God, but they commend God to us. No people are saved because they have great light and special advantages, for these high and heavenly favors only increase their responsibility.

The more and increased light God has given makes the receiver more responsible. It does not place the receiver in any safer position unless the privileges are wisely improved, prized, and used to advance God's glory. Christ said, "Woe unto thee, Chorazin! Woe unto thee, Bethsaida! for if the mighty works which were done in you, had been done in Tyre and Sidon, they would have repented long ago in sackcloth and ashes" [Matthew 11:21].

When Jerusalem was divorced from God it was because of her sins. She fell from an exalted height that Tyre and Sidon had never reached. And when an angel falls he becomes a fiend. The depth of our ruin is measured by the exalted light to which God has raised us in His great goodness and unspeakable mercy. Oh, what privileges are granted to us as a people! And if God spared not His people that He loved, because they refused to walk in the light, how can He spare the people whom He has blessed with the light of heaven in having opened to them the most exalted truth ever entrusted to mortal man to give to the world?

God never forsakes people or individuals until they forsake Him. Outward opposition will not cause the faith of God's people, who are keeping His commandments, to become dim. The neglect to bring purity and truth into practice will grieve the Spirit of God and weaken them because God is not in their midst to bless. Internal corruption will bring the denunciations of God upon this people as it did upon Jerusalem. Oh, let pleading voices, let earnest prayer be heard, that those who preach to others shall not themselves be castaways. My brethren, we know not what is before us, and our only safety is in following the Light of the world. God will work with us and for us IF the sins which brought His wrath upon the old world, upon Sodom and Gomorrah and upon ancient Jerusalem, do not become our crime.

[We are] not to provoke those who have accepted this spurious sabbath, an institution of the Papacy, in the place of God's holy Sabbath. Their not having the Bible arguments in their favor makes them all the more angry and determined to supply the place of arguments that are wanting in the Word of God, by the power of their might. The force of persecution follows the steps of the dragon. Therefore great care should be exercised to give no provocation. And again let us as a people, as far as possible, cleanse the camp of moral defilement and aggravating sins. When sin is making its march upon the people who claim to be elevating the moral standard of righteousness, how can we expect God to turn His power in our behalf and save us as a people that did righteousness?

All the policy in the world cannot save us from a terrible sifting, and all the efforts made with high authorities will not lift from us the scourging of God, just because sin is cherished. If as a people we do not keep ourselves in the faith and not only advocate with pen and voice the commandments of God, but keep them every one, not violating a single precept knowingly, then weakness and ruin will come upon us. It is a work that we must attend to in every one of our churches. Each man must be a Christian. (Excerpts from MR No. 994, aptly titled "An Appeal to Live the Truth and Share It", Manuscript Releases, vol. 12, pp. 318-328)

Friends, whether or not the organization will fall is no longer a question. That is now past history. The question is: will you the people cleanse your camps of the "moral defilement and aggravating sins" that have been enumerated in Orion? Will you step out in faith before the general ruin takes you with it?

Jesus Christ stands in Orion in the flesh with God the Father, and the omnipresent Holy Spirit brings Orion home to our hearts as we study the Word of God together, irrespective of locale.

Where Christ is, even among the humble few, this is Christ's church... {17MR 81.4}

Yes, "God has a church."

The Record Keeper

Written by Robert Dickinson

Created: Tuesday, October 1, 2013, 8:43 pm

In this article, we will once again take a brief look behind enemy lines in order to trace some movements of the forces of evil. Unfortunately, our focus is drawn once again to how the Seventh-day Adventist Church is marching in step with the enemy of souls. I pray that as you read this, you will recognize that the war is in earnest and that your participation is required. Will you act, before it is too late to choose the role you must fill?

These past 169 years have been a time of soul-searching. The great anti-typical Day of Atonement is now coming to a close. The question to the individual is: have I afflicted my soul, and searched out the sins that so easily escape my vision? Have I humbled myself before God, repenting and confessing my sins so that they can be blotted out, and I cleansed?

For whatsoever soul it be that shall not be afflicted in that same day, he shall be cut off from among his people. (Leviticus 23:29)

If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness. (1 John 1:9)

As we near the end of the additional year of grace that the heavenly Gardener has given to the fig tree, the Seventh-day Adventist Church, it is an appropriate time for us to take stock of the fruit that has been produced, for:

Ye shall know them by their fruits. (Matthew 7:16)

Out of the so-called “Great Controversy Project” (which is really a betrayal of its own name) comes an eleven-episode web series drama titled “The Record Keeper” geared for future television broadcast. This is both a fruit in itself as well as a medium intended to bear actual fruit in the form of converted souls. As we examine this fruit, we will see that quality matters—not only quantity.

What could have been done more to my vineyard, that I have not done in it? wherefore, when I looked that it should bring forth grapes, brought it forth wild grapes? (Isaiah 5:4)

<http://whitecloudfarm.eth.limo/vid/?hash=QmRnf93H7tZ2koCbbzkNHP42m89merPhpv6oKVzbo1wPFpVideo>: The Record Keeper - Official Teaser

(Please watch the trailer if you haven't seen it already.)

Commentary is already accumulating among the more conservative class, who are wondering how the church could do something like this in the face of all of Ellen White's counsel, to degrade exalted truths to such a mean level. I don't want to repeat those perspectives here, but rather show you what you won't find anywhere else. There is a mastermind behind this that I want to expose for what it is.

It is no secret that Hollywood is itself the magic wand in the hand of the devil with which he waves his star dust over the masses to cast his spells on them. The movies are created by the elite of the (not so) secret societies who intentionally put subtle and sometimes not-so-subtle symbolism in them. Playing with emotions, they color stories in ways that betray the truth, and they shape a nation of minds disarmed to accept their agendas. If you are not yet familiar with this subject, you can educate yourself with the help of the folks at Little Light Studios.

Now let me show you what The Record Keeper trailer has to say about the Message of the Fourth Angel and the people of God through symbolism and the power of suggestion. Consider the closing frames:

Notice the extensive use of cogwheels in the titling and props. These call to mind the wheels of Ezekiel that mesh in the Orion Clock. Along with the visuals, we hear the sound of the cogs like the ticking of a clock, and a door that shuts and latches. It sounds a lot like the tick-tock of the Orion Clock, and the closing door of grace.

One might think it is all just part of the steampunk theme, but if you think about it, there is a subtle message even in that. After all, it was during the steam era that the church, emerging from the Great Disappointment, journeyed to the borders of heavenly Canaan but failed to go in. Do we really want to reenact that rebellion today?

We've covered the real closing door of grace in the article The End of the SDA Church, but it's worth taking a look at what The Record Keeper was doing around the time of that sevenfold High Sabbath of October 27, 2012. With all of our witnessing efforts leading up to the 27th, those last seven days were extra special to us. Now compare the timing of this announcement from the Adventist News Network (ANN):

The production team behind The Record Keeper mini-series got a green light last week from top church administrators. Funding for the project from Adventist World Headquarters is now complete, combined with private donations, means production can move forward...

(ANN Video Headlines - October 26, 2012)

So you see, the production of this mini-series whose trailer is about the Orion Clock and the shutting door of grace was ironically funded and officially started just as Jesus came to inspect His fig tree last year. Now, one year later, we see the series premiering on October 4, 2013 at the Emmanuel-Brinklow Seventh-day Adventist Church in Ashton, MD. Is this good fruit? Does it direct minds toward the truth of God and the Fourth Angel's Movement?

Quite the contrary! Consider the unusual scene with the beams emanating from a curious globe.

Does it not resemble the directional flash of a gamma-ray burst? The explosion of Betelgeuse will be the most powerful force of nature in the known universe, the kind of power that attends the Fourth Angel's Message and which will soon light up the world not only figuratively but literally. However, it is depicted here as a harmless little curiosity, while the commentary during this scene freely mocks:

What do you call an angel without any power? Human! [evil laugh]

As participants in the Movement of the Fourth Angel, do we work in human strength, or divine strength? While we put our human efforts to work, we cooperate with the divine agencies. Our efforts seem so feeble and so ineffectual compared to what this church can do with a million-dollar side-project, yet we place our trust in God that the power of the Holy Spirit attends this movement.

This series is not the good fruit that would strengthen the present cause of God. It is the wild grapes of ridicule and contempt for the One who stands in Orion, interceding still.

One might wonder: maybe secular and post-modern minds will actually be drawn to the church through this series. Is it not a valid tool for evangelism? To answer that question, we only need to ask the very non-Adventists who imparted their minds to the film as they acted their parts. Its creator Jason Satterlund says the following in an interview:

I really wanted to create something unique for those two [actors] to like really latch onto, and this series—we didn't want it—even though its American produced, we didn't want it to feel like it's an American story. So we wanted it to feel rich with—it has twenty different languages throughout—including sign language. So like, everybody's like, all kinds of ethnicities and I thought, ok, we have two Filipinos, let's have them speak nothing but Tagalog all the way through, and actually their characters are based in Filipino lore. Like if you look up Mangkukulam and Manisilat, you do a Google search for it, you'll find out that those are—they actually exist.

Oh? The General Conference says this film was based on the Great Controversy by Ellen G. White, but its creator, producer, writer, director, and editor says that its characters are based on folklore! I wonder how Ellen White would take such a "compliment."

Let's see what the actress playing Manisilat thinks of the film. When asked what she is proudest about, she said:

1. that I got to play Filipino, 2. that I got to speak Tagalog, 3. that they created a show that was for a world audience and it has great and powerful meaning behind it, because you actually feel—you actually feel—you feel for the bad guys and for the good guys, so your rooting for everybody.

Wow! So the fruit of this movie is to go with your feelings and root for everybody, even the bad angels! As the interview unfolds, the director explains his intentions very clearly:

And we really focused to make sure that even though—you just saw the clip—the bad guys look really evil, they have a really rich backstory. There's a reason why they are the way they are. So the bad guys aren't bad just for the sake of being evil, there's a—there is a political struggle. We wrote this to be like “The West Wing” in heaven. Like its—they have a legitimate argument against God.

Let’s break this down. The producer says that the bad guys (Lucifer and the fallen angels) are not bad just for the sake of it. The BRI evidently failed to check this theology against the Bible! The Bible teaches that sin began within the confines of Lucifer’s own self, not in some “rich backstory” that supposedly justifies the iniquity that was found in him.

Thou wast perfect in thy ways from the day that thou wast created, till iniquity was found in thee. (Ezekiel 28:15)

It was Lucifer’s rebellion that caused what they term “a political struggle” not the other way around! But what takes the cake is his statement that they (the evil angels) have a “legitimate argument” against God! What blasphemy! And this was produced in “constant collaboration” with the White Estate and the BRI according to one source!

And I would just like to ask: where are the riches of the “backstory” of Jesus Christ’s sacrifice in this series? Shouldn’t we be presenting Christ and Him crucified like the Message of the Fourth Angel does, instead of glorifying His enemies?

<http://whitecloudfarm.eth.limo/vid/?hash=QmYgrVCymfwZEAzkhdn8oZqa4pin9taySBbdfkVjdnvBhoVideo>: The Record Keeper – Pilot Episode (Legendado PT-BR)

I don’t think we need to go into all the masonic symbolism that is in the pilot episode. You can make your own observations of the serpentine pillars and checkered floors. My objective was to show you that this series is definitely not the quality of fruit that the Lord is seeking. Just like the slanted hourglass on the desk, a skewed icon of Orion, this series depicts the elements of the Great Controversy in a skewed light, slanting human affections toward the enemy. Not only is it a mockery of the Fourth Angel, but it actually twists the great themes of the Great Controversy to bind souls to the enemy’s ranks emotionally. It well-nigh portrays a gnostic version of the Conflict of the Ages.

One of the first symbols in the pilot episode, the vacuum gauge, signifies the end goal of the mastermind behind the whole series. The words “POWER VACUUM” are fully in-frame. This is not just talking about air pressure, but about the place that the enemy of God wants to rush in to fill. “Power vacuum” is a term that refers to the state of affairs when a powerful leader is suddenly gone, and a suction pulls others into the vacancy. It reveals the intentions of Satan with respect to the greatest truth of all: that God the Father is really at risk. (I suppose the gauge is also mocking the quantity of the Spirit in the church today.)

Oh, and one more thing. The series will be available on-line to the world on February 13, 2014. Marian numerology? Add the digits: 2+1+3+2+0+1+4 = 13. And note the interview number in the pilot episode: 231 412. Same digits, same result: 13. I am sure that those numbers were not chosen by accident.

I urge you to take your stand firmly for the right, and grow some real roots that will anchor you through the final tempest. And please don't wait until the door of grace clangs shut before you decide to wake up.

Now go, write it before them in a table, and note it in a book, that it may be for the time to come for ever and ever: That this is a rebellious people, lying children, children that will not hear the law of the LORD... (Isaiah 30:8-9)

The real “Record Keeper” has written a true testimony in the heavens for all to see.

Follow-up Note

The Record Keeper was suspended in the spring of 2014, citing “problematic and theologically inaccurate matters.”

Checkmate for the Seventh-day Adventist Church

Written by Robert Dickinson

Published: Friday, February 28, 2014, 2:27 pm

Created: Friday, February 28, 2014, 2:27 pm

It has recently come to our attention that the Seventh-day Adventist Church is facing a major legal and financial crisis. It could lose its non-profit status due to discrimination. I include many links in this article, sometimes to in-depth material that you might find eye-opening. For a thorough understanding, please take the time to fully examine the linked material.

Federal law enjoins upon non-profit organizations that they operate in a non-discriminatory manner. Organizations which are found in violation risk revocation of their non-profit status. This issue for churches in general was brought to light when the Supreme Court of the United States overturned the Defense of Marriage Act (DOMA) last year, as reports after the ruling warned.

What makes this a special concern for the Seventh-day Adventist Church is that it already has some legal experience in this matter. The Church registered its name with the United States Patent and Trademark Office in 1981, which you can verify by using their trademark search facility with "Seventh-day Adventist" as the search terms. Since it is not possible to link to the actual results, I quote the following data fields:

Owner	(REGISTRANT) GENERAL CONFERENCE CORPORATION OF SEVENTH-DAY ADVENTISTS CORPORATION D.C. 12501 OLD COLUMBIA PIKE SILVER SPRING MARYLAND 209046600
Published for Opposition	August 18, 1981
Registration Date	November 10, 1981
Disclaimer	NO CLAIM IS MADE TO THE EXCLUSIVE RIGHT TO USE "ADVENTIST" APART FROM THE MARK AS SHOWN

It is important to note that this registration includes a disclaimer. The disclaimer was added because the words "Seventh-day Adventist" are descriptive in nature, and trademark laws do not protect against use of words in a descriptive capacity. However, the law can protect against infringement when a meaning has been developed in the public mind that associates descriptive words to a specific product or service (or Church in this case).

To have this protection, the Church opted to allow a five-year waiting period to pass by because it is assumed that after five years, a secondary meaning has been developed in the public mind. Thereafter even the descriptive words can be protected to a degree under trademark law.

You can be sure that the Church was not idle during those five years; it was collecting a hefty list of violators to prosecute once the waiting period was over. Doing the math, the five-year mark after the registration date would fall in November, 1986. Note that the name "Seventh-day Adventist" was not the only registration; the Church publishes their long list of registered trademarks on their website.

The five-year anniversary dates are highly interesting because they cluster around the Day of Atonement in 1986, the date that is marked by the star Rigel in the Orion clock, as well as by the 1986, '87, '88 triplet in the HSL. There are profound lessons to be drawn from this.

The Church's appeal to state power to protect its name was called a first among Protestant churches by at least one source. This appeal to state power is contrary to the principle of separation of church and state, and it reflects the mindset of the Roman Church. There is a name for being of one mind with Rome: ecumenism. And that is precisely the Church's sin of 1986 that wounded Jesus afresh, as shown by the Orion Clock.

The HSL shows that the ecumenical movement constitutes a rejection of the Holy Spirit (even though it purports to be accompanied and even inspired by the Holy Spirit). How can a person be led by the Holy Spirit at the same time that they espouse a fascist power structure? They can't! The Holy Spirit works by convicting the individual conscience in regard to truth, not by a top-down authority that supposes to hold universal sway over the individual conscience.

The Church did not waste any time. As soon as the five years were up, they immediately started harassing and prosecuting "violators" of its trademarks. The case of a little church in Hawaii is often cited as the first. Interesting details of the story are told and re-told by various on-line sources. The L.A. Times reported this case on November 27, 1988.

While it might appear that the Church has had success in wielding state power to defend its name against misuse by "innocent" congregations, they suffered a defeat which serves as an omen. In 1987, right in the middle of the HSL triplet, they sued a homosexual group named Seventh-day Adventist Kinship International and lost. They had overstepped the boundary of their privileges.

Kinship is a support group and not a church, and therefore its use of the term "Seventh-day Adventist" was considered a descriptive term and not an infringement of the Church's trademark.

So how does this loss against the gay group serve as an omen?

The earliest statutory reference to tax exemption was introduced in the 1890s, shortly after the 120-year wilderness wandering began, and the modern 501(c)(3) tax status was introduced in the 1950s as the Church was compromising on the nature of Jesus.

As long as the laws did not conflict with the laws of God, there was no problem. Since the Supreme Court overturned DOMA, however, persons have been protected under federal law against discrimination based on sexual orientation. There have been notable cases of bakeries and photographers, for example, who have found themselves in violation of the law just for standing true to their conscience on the Bible's teaching against homosexual practices, refusing to service at homosexual weddings.

To maintain its 501(c)(3) status, the Church is obliged (as the past affirms) to abide by the laws that govern such organizations, and those laws mandate that they follow non-discriminatory practices. In the business world, discrimination against women (or minorities) in leadership is not allowed, and in recent years this has expanded to homosexuals as well. But can a Church remain in good standing with a world whose man-made laws contradict the laws of God, and still be true to the Bible which defines different roles for men and women and condemns homosexual behavior?

This does cast a different light on the issue of women's ordination, doesn't it? The NAD could have motivating factors involved. All it would take is someone to stand up and take the Church to court for discrimination, and they could theoretically lose their 501(c)(3) status as a result, and that could lead to owing enormous sums in back taxes, which could in turn lead to seizure of assets if they can't pay. We are speaking here about amounts of Billions of Dollars!

Ordaining women does not, of course, remove discrimination against homosexuals in leadership. But realistically, I think the "trick" is somewhere else. There are a thousand other churches which condemn homosexuality too, and they probably won't change that opinion overnight.

Nevertheless, the fact that the Church is obliged to adjust its policy to changing laws in order to maintain its 501(c)(3) status does leave it in a precarious stance. When the issue comes to Sunday observance, for all of its ecumenical compromises it will be left alone with two options: switch to Sunday, or lose everything - money, property, churches, schools, hospitals - you name it. Go directly to jail - do not pass Go, do not collect $200. The faithful Seventh-day Adventist will recognize that either way, the organized Church will not reach the pearly gates.

Now that we've broached the topic of the Sunday Law, I might as well mention that it is already as good as there. It comes with Obamacare, the health reform or the work of "temperance and reform" that Ellen White prophesied of. The exact day was pinpointed in our timeline studies, but I will reserve the detailed explanation of that for another article. Suffice it to say that the debt ceiling was the last credible obstacle that was restraining Obamacare, and now it is unstoppable.

Pastor Andrew Henriques explores other striking aspects of this prophecy of Ellen White in a recent sermon. And once again we can see in retrospect how the Holy Spirit was guiding John Scotram in what he said in his own sermon about the Sunday Law coming in 2013. It might not have looked like what you or we expected, but things nevertheless did happen right on schedule.

So the moral of the story is that it doesn't pay to compromise what is right for the sake of financial advantage or so-called unity. You will either end up being the one to move away from the right, or you will find yourself jeopardized by those you've compromised with.

The Chain of Satan

Written by John Scotram

In the form of a picture series, this article offers the complete decryption of the signet of the Pauline Year, 2008/2009, published years ago by the Vatican. We made a first attempt at deciphering it in the article The Year of Saul. At that time, we were very close to the true meaning of this highly satanic symbol. In truth, it represents the chain of Satan, with which he wants to bind all mankind under the New World Order.

(Only in the Online-Version: The images contain many links to additional articles and news releases. The links will highlight when you move the mouse over them.)

What do these three images have in common, and what do they announce?

Signet of the Year of Saul

Anyone who doesn't know the symbolism of the Signet of St. Paul should quickly (RAPIDLY) read our article "The Year of Saul." Notice when this "military exercise" ends, and think about our latest warnings for the autumn of 2014.

Think about the following, too. For when they shall say, Peace and safety [Strong's: security]; then sudden destruction cometh upon them, as travail upon a woman with child; and they shall not escape. (1 Thessalonians 5:3)

What do these three images have in common? Part 2

We learn from Wikipedia:
 "The trident is associated with Poseidon, the god of the sea in Greek mythology, the Roman god Neptune, and Shiva, a Hindu God..."
<http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Trident>

All of these gods represent none other than SATAN himself. Now the question might arise, what does Satan have to do with the Catholic Church and the Jesuit order? And why was a Jesuit just elected in 2013 as pope? And why isn't the chain in the signet closed, and where are the missing links?

And why does the "RAPID TRIDENT" military exercise that has been taking place in Ukraine every year since 2011, end especially on 9/26/2014, the evening that our "Autumn Warning" points to? Why are international troops right now in the country that is "threatened" by Russia? And why does the Ukraine have the trident in its coat of arms? What if all of this was planned by the Jesuits?

Aren't they making the people believe that we now live in the age of Aquarius? And is it not taught that Poseidon (SATAN) is the lord of the water? Doesn't Satan want to have dominion over all the "fish of the sea" and put them "in chains"?

The solution will come in the next picture...

Where are the missing chain links? Part 3

We are looking for three missing pieces of iron that are laying around loosely in the picture, waiting to finally be put into position. Did you find them already?

We know that the Jesuits act very wittily and are masters of disguise, deception and the use of symbols and numbers.

Let's first put the trident in position and the Jesuit logo upside down next to it. Now can you see the sword or trident in the middle? Now imagine these two logos over one another and count the sun rays. There are exactly 20, which can be put directly over or on the chain links of the signet of Paul. Consider that the sunbeams point to pagan sun worship, and Satan is "chaining" the people to him. It is a direct hint to the coming "mark of the beast" of Revelation 13.

Now all that is missing is the deciphering of the three iron nails in the Jesuit logo. These three pieces of iron serve to close "Satan's chain." They are the three missing links, colored in blue. What does all of this mean? Remember that Pope Francis is a Jesuit.

We will decipher this knowledge in the next picture. You'll be amazed...

The Dates in the Signet of Saul? Part 4

On June 29, 2008 the Vatican proclaimed the Year of Paul (Saul), and after a year of preparation, Benedict XVI published his encyclical entitled "Love in Truth" on June 29, 2009. News reports shortly after the release confirmed: in it, he was calling for his world rulership. He calls for a New World Order through a politically controlling world government, but it would not be able to solve the world's problems alone. It would need ONE ethical leader. Who should the leader be, if not the pope himself?

Read this recent article: <http://www.catholicreald.co.uk/news/2014/09/04/shimon-peres-pope-francis-is-a-more-powerful-peace-advocate-than-un/>

It is not a stretch to assume that the chain links symbolize years, as we will give more evidence for.

2009 + 3 years (3 missing links) = 2012

Something "invisible" must have begun in 2012 that would be put into force in 2013 after another preparatory year. But what? Could it have been the beginning of the world leadership of a Jesuit pope?

In fact, this had always been the plan, and it has been accomplished accordingly. "The initiates" could read this long ago. On February 10, 2013, Pope Benedict XVI announced his "surprising" resignation for February 28, 2013, and on March 13, 2013 a Jesuit was already elected as pope for the first time. Do you see that the signet of Saul is an occult representation of the Jesuit logo, pointing to their coming reign? Benedict HAD to back down and a Jesuit HAD to take his place. Therefore Revelation 17 describes Benedict as having only a "short space."

By studying the timelines of Daniel 12, we were able to decipher the dates before they came, and we had warned in both 2012 and in 2013. We wrote some articles, but unfortunately almost nobody wanted to hear us. In the next picture we will interpret the meaning of 20 chain links. Then you will understand the cunning plan even better...

We call it the signet of "Saul" because if someone is serving Satan, then the image of Saul the persecutor of Christians is far more appropriate than that of Paul!

The Meaning of the 20 Chain Links Part 5

In the fourth part of the picture series, we decrypted the 3 missing links and came to the year 2012. Now we'll count back to see when the Jesuit plan, which is already in full operation, began.

2012 - 20 years (all chain links) = 1992

What makes the year 1992 so important that the Jesuits in the Vatican start counting from that date? The Maastricht Treaty established the three pillars of the European Union! It was signed in February 1992, exactly 20 + 1 years before the Jesuits began to reign, and it was enacted in November 1993 after another year of preparation. The healing of the wound of the papacy began in 1929 with the Lateran Treaty, and the final phase till Satan's chain would be closed around Europe would take 20 years beginning from 1992-1993. Consequently, the "wound of the beast" as described in Revelation 13 would heal completely and the papacy regained the complete power over a "united Europe" that it had lost in 1798.

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Maastricht_Treaty

But for the first beast [the papacy] to put the whole world in chains, it needs the second beast [the United States], which will make FIRE COME DOWN FROM HEAVEN...

The Grand Finale "ORDO AB CHAO"

In this stone is written one of the most terrifying principles of the NWO: the planned reduction of the world population to 500 million. According to the date block that was inserted, this has to begin in 2014. And 2014 is almost over! We, the High Sabbath Adventists, know only one prophetic worldwide event that has the potential for such a massacre: man-made "FIRE BALLS" which could be disguised as meteors. And we also have a date for you: the beginning of the Third Trumpet...

And [the second beast = the USA] deceiveth them that dwell on the earth by the means of those miracles which he had power to do in the sight of the beast; saying to them that dwell on the earth, that they should make an image to the beast [the first beast = the PAPACY], which had the wound by a sword, and did live. And he [the USA] had power to give life unto the image of the beast, that the image of the beast should both speak, and cause that as many as would not worship the image of the beast should be killed. And he causeth all, both small and great, rich and poor, free and bond, to receive a mark in their right hand, or in their foreheads: And that no man might buy or sell, save he that had the mark, or the name of the beast, or the number of his name. (Rev. 13:14-17)

Your Choice "Sabbath or Sunday"

Part 7, Conclusion

What "Order" will come out of the chaos of "fire from heaven"? "WORSHIP" refers to a religious system and the image of the papacy is worship on Sunday. The Judgment Clock of God in Orion shows that the repetition of the fifth seal has been opened since the autumn of 2012. Although the whole world is talking about ISIS' gruesome beheadings which is the unmistakable fifth trumpet of the Judgment Cycle for humanity, the "true" martyrs are those who keep God's commandments, including the Sabbath (4th Commandment as the seal of God). Those martyrs who have been persecuted and killed in the past by Rome and the papacy are crying out to Jesus: How long, O Lord, holy and true, dost thou not judge and avenge our blood on them that dwell on the earth? And white robes were given unto every one of them; and it was said unto them, that they should rest yet for a little season, until their fellowservants also and their brethren, that should be killed as they were, should be fulfilled. (Rev. 6:9-11)

And I saw thrones, and they sat upon them, and judgment was given unto them: and I saw the souls of them that were beheaded for the witness of Jesus, and for the word of God, and which had not worshipped the beast, neither his image, neither had received his mark upon their foreheads, or in their hands... (Rev. 20:4)

Ten reasons why the eclipse of March 20 was prophetic

Written by Robert Dickinson

Published: Friday, March 20, 2015, 9:21 am

Created: Friday, March 20, 2015, 9:21 am

From a strictly astronomical perspective, the total solar eclipse of March 20, 2015 was special because it was very rare. All of the following astronomical events, which are not directly linked to each other, happened together:

1. The total solar eclipse itself happened.
2. The spring equinox, which is the day of the year when the sun crosses the equator northward and the lengths of day and night are approximately equal.
3. The moon made its closest approach, which was close enough for it to be categorized as a supermoon.

4. The new moon of the eclipse will wax into the very full moon that will become the third blood moon of the current blood moon tetrad, which is a rare thing itself.

The probability of all those events happening together is extremely rare on a scientific basis, but that's not all. The biblical aspect offers several more features to make the eclipse special:

5. The new year. The fact that the solar eclipse, and thus the astronomical new moon, occurs on the spring equinox means that the first visible crescent of the moon definitely occurs after the spring equinox. This means that it begins the 1st month of the biblical year, which always begins on or after the spring equinox. As various groups observed and reported, the first crescent was visible with the naked eye on Saturday night, March 21, which makes that night and the following day, March 22, the first day of Nissan.
6. The Passover moon. The 14th day of the 1st month, April 4, is Passover. This coincides with the full moon and lunar eclipse which makes the third blood moon of the current tetrad.
7. The barley ripeness. The biblical year can be delayed one month, in cases where the barley is not ripe enough yet. As has been reported, mature barley was found around Jerusalem, so the 1st possibility for beginning the year has been confirmed as official.

These calendric coincidences draw attention to the fact that God uses the sun and moon for signs. They were created for that purpose, but are not to be worshiped. Satan, in the form of the sun god or the moon goddess, solicits worship through the sun and moon. This total solar eclipse followed by the lunar eclipse show that God will likewise blot out Satan in all his forms, as well as those whose allegiance is with him. If you don't yet know who Satan is, he is unmasked here.

The blotting out of Satan's kingdom is prophesied many times in the Bible. In Bible prophecy, the name of his kingdom is Babylon, and its destruction is prophesied to come in "the day of the Lord," which is a reference to the time when God will pour out His wrath upon the world in the seven last plagues. One of many such prophecies is found in Isaiah:

The burden of [or prophecy against] Babylon, which Isaiah the son of Amoz did see. . . . Howl ye; for the day of the LORD is at hand; it shall come as a destruction from the Almighty. . . . Behold, the day of the LORD cometh, cruel both with wrath and fierce anger, to lay the land desolate: and he shall destroy the sinners thereof out of it. For the stars of heaven and the constellations thereof shall not give their light: the sun shall be darkened in his going forth, and the moon shall not cause her light to shine. (Isaiah 13:1,6,9-10)

This or similar prophecies are repeated many times in the Bible, for example in Joel 2:31, as well as in the New Testament, but Isaiah 13:10 specifies an additional physical criterion for the fulfillment of this prophecy:

8. Isaiah 13:10 states that the sun shall be darkened "in his going forth." The sun goes forth every day when it rises in the east, making its journey across the sky, and finally setting in the west. Did this solar eclipse occur "in his going forth"? Yes, the news media was full of reports of the "morning" eclipse, which began at sunrise in the North Atlantic Ocean.

Furthermore, the verse links the dark moon with the dark sun, which is exactly the situation of this eclipse of the sun, which leads to an eclipse of the same moon once it becomes full about two weeks later. Other similar prophecies (e.g. Joel 2:31) make specific mention of its appearance as a "blood" moon.

Although there have been similar eclipses in the past, these criteria have never all been completely fulfilled since Isaiah's words were recorded, until now.

However, that is still not all!

The same verse connects this sign with something happening in the stars and constellations. If you look up the Hebrew word that was translated as constellations, you will find:

H3685

כּסִיל

kesîyl

kes-eel'

The same as H3684; any notable constellation; specifically Orion (as if a burly one): - constellation, Orion.

There were no news reports of stars or the Orion constellation “not giving their light” in connection with the solar eclipse, so what could this prophecy of Isaiah mean? It must have a symbolic application, unless we are prepared to wait untold millennia for these “fortuitous” circumstances to return again, combined with a darkening of the stars of Orion.

Isaiah 13:10 speaks about the stars not giving their light, or not shining. There is only one Bible verse that prophesies that the stars shall shine:

And they that be wise shall shine as the brightness of the firmament; and they that turn many to righteousness as the stars for ever and ever. (Daniel 12:3)

When we understand that the “wise” people of Daniel 12:3 are the 144,000 who understand and teach the Orion message, then the prophecy of Isaiah 13:10 becomes a specific confirmation of where we are in time, as the message of the Fourth Angel comes to a close. Thus we have two more criteria for this solar eclipse:

9. The wise of Daniel 12:3 are not giving their light.
10. The Orion message is not giving its light.

While this is a sadly accurate prediction of present reality, the statistical impossibility of all of these criteria meeting together in this solar eclipse still makes it one ultimate confirmation that “the day of the LORD cometh,” and that now it is time for all to come out of Babylon, who don’t want to receive of her plagues.

Is your little light shining? Are you leading others out of Babylon?

As darkness covers the earth, it’s your time to rise and shine!

God be with you!

At solstice, pope visits Waldensians, then Paraguay

Written by Robert Dickinson

Published: Wednesday, April 1, 2015, 9:26 am

Created: Wednesday, April 1, 2015, 9:26 am

Another unprecedented event will take place when Pope Francis visits the Waldensian church in northern Italy, because he will be the first pope to do so.

This is a huge thing for several reasons:

1. Science.

The pope's visit is planned for June 21–22. June 21 so happens to be the day of the solstice, which is a term that literally means “sun-stopping” in the original Latin. It is the longest day of the year, and marks the peak of the sun's influence on the earth for the year. That is why it marks the beginning of the summer season in the northern hemisphere. It is definitely an important day for sun-worshippers!

The pope's visit is on the first day of summer, but the solstice will not actually occur until the late afternoon or early evening in that location. That means it would be too late to celebrate the strength of the sun with his Waldensian friends on that day. The meeting had to be arranged the next day for it to be in the summer season. Note that the information release is said to say “first thing on Monday morning,” meaning that the meeting was scheduled as close to the solstice as was practical.

2. History.

You have to understand a little bit of Protestant history to appreciate the significance of a POPE visiting a WALDENSIAN church. Ellen White summarized this history as follows:

The persecutions visited for many centuries upon this God-fearing people were endured by them with a patience and constancy that honored their Redeemer. Notwithstanding the crusades against them, and the inhuman butchery to which they were subjected, they continued to send out their missionaries to scatter the precious truth. They were hunted to death; yet their blood watered the seed sown, and it failed not of yielding fruit. {GC 78.1}^[1]

What she calls “inhuman butchery” does not come anywhere close to describing what the papacy did to the Waldensians, just for being good people. If you can stomach the graphic descriptions, read about the Piedmont Easter as recorded in History of the Waldenses by J. A. Wylie and compare it with the Jesuit Oath!

The root issues that led to the persecution have not changed. Catholicism still holds its unbiblical traditions, and the pope still seeks to wield universal sway over the minds and actions of all the people of the world. So what does this symbolic visit really signify?

Is this a show of reconciliation to their posterity who no longer “protest” against Rome, or is it a fearful warning to the figurative “Waldensians” of today who still protest? Here we see the mixed message with a pleasing exoteric (outward) meaning, but also an esoteric (hidden) meaning, much like the signet of the Year of Saul (Paul)!

3. Prophecy.

Ellen White said “of those who resisted the encroachments of the papal power, the Waldenses stood foremost.”^[2] In that sense, we could definitely say that the Waldensians prefigured whoever would become the most ardent Protestants of the world today, as I suggested in the point above. But who could that be?

I can assure you, it is not the organized Seventh-day Adventist Church. It has already hushed down to a whisper all the Protestant voices within its ranks. Don’t make me flatter myself by telling you what ministry exposes this pope the most forcefully with the weightiest evidence. Suffice it to say that this ministry is located in Paraguay, which the pope will promptly visit July 10–12, only about three weeks after the Waldensians.

The former half of that time will close with the U.S. Supreme Court ruling on gay marriage, which will make “every quarter” of the country fulfill the type of Sodom, and the latter half of the time will be occupied by the self-absorbed, crisis-wrung General Conference Session of Seventh-day Adventists. Meanwhile, the sixth trumpet of Revelation will sound on July 8.

Yes, it is a time busy with events of prophetic proportions, but what does it all mean? For one thing, you can be sure that there will not be a conciliatory attitude between him and us, like there is between him and his Waldensian friends.

All of this will transpire within the same lunar month, proclaiming peace to the Waldensians on the one hand, and declaring war upon his enemies on the other. This lunar month corresponds almost exactly to the seventh commandment-month,^[3] which is about the desecration of marriage on a couple of levels: literally through the gay marriage ruling, and spiritually through the union/marriage of Protestants (represented by the Waldensians) with Rome. (Watch yourself too, that you are personally living in compliance with the commandment: “Thou shalt not commit adultery.”)

The last line of the Adventist Today article is the ultimate betrayal of Adventist roots:

It is another of many steps that Pope Francis has taken which are understood to symbolize changes of attitude on the part of the Roman Catholic leadership.

Are they calling Ellen White a liar!? Are they saying they would be ready to embrace this “change of attitude” like the Waldensian Church did!?

They should have concluded the article by quoting Ellen White at least once:

Rome never changes. Her principles have not altered in the least. She has not lessened the breach between herself and Protestants; they have done all the advancing. (ST February 19, 1894)^[4]

State senator calling for Sunday Law finds Seventh-day Adventists sleeping at the wheel

Written by Robert Dickinson

Published: Monday, April 6, 2015, 5:00 pm

Created: Monday, April 6, 2015, 5:00 pm

With classic plausible-deniability, Arizona Senator Sylvia Allen communicated a secret agenda in such a way that the masses would not recognize it. On March 24, she made a comment recommending the creation of a law that would require every American to attend church on Sunday, as a way of combatting violence.^[1]

Several points need to be clear:

1. Her comments reveal the real agenda, even though she followed it up by saying “...but since that would never be allowed, and I—and we would not even be debating that, I am going to vote yes,” referring to her vote for the gun bill that was being debated at the time.

She says that since it would never be allowed, she votes yes on the gun bill. The implication is that if a Sunday law would be allowed, she would be promoting it instead. In other words, even spoken “flippantly,” her comment expresses her true opinion and the course she would readily pursue if it were allowed. Since all major churches have united with Pope Francis,^[2] requiring attendance at any “church of your choice” (as she said) is as good as legislating Catholicism. This means Sylvia Allen is a papist, and does not believe in the bill of rights.

I emphasize this to show that she is definitely an agent at some level in Satan's ranks, and she speaks the agenda of her commanders.

None of that is any "secret message," however. I will come to that shortly, but first I want to make another point clear.

2. Her comments fulfill prophecy, and I'm not just talking about the prophecy that "...even in free America, rulers and legislators, in order to secure public favor, will yield to the popular demand for a law enforcing Sunday observance."^[3] I am talking about something much more specific: a time prophecy.

Ever since we discovered the ten commandment-months,^[4] we knew that the Sunday Law would begin to develop during the fourth month, which corresponds to the fourth commandment. This fourth month runs from March 18 through April 17, 2015. Sure enough, Sylvia Allen's comments in the Appropriations meeting were made on March 24, just a week into the period. And how did the SDA Church respond? Did it raise its voice in warning as it should have? Not a word came from anywhere within the General Conference sphere of control!

This is just the beginning—just a seed being planted in the public mind, but it will not take long for the seed to bear fruit. When the Sunday Law really comes, IT WILL BE TOO LATE. "The substitution of...Sunday in place of the Bible Sabbath is the last act in the drama,"^[5] so you had better get your own act together now! "When this substitution becomes universal God will reveal Himself."

It is clear from the outset that Sabbath-keepers will be persecuted by the kind of legislation Sylvia Allen proposes, but isn't it interesting that there are two different levels of prophetic fulfillment going on? What I mean is: this event signals the Adventist expectation of the Sunday Law in general, but High Sabbath Adventists in particular have a more specific understanding of prophecy—time prophecy—which enables us to recognize the significance of this event (and others) in the flow of time. This gives High Sabbath Adventists a definite advantage on the spiritual battlefield.

Satan knows this. He is not at all worried about nominal Adventists, who are sleeping at the wheel. He is worried about those who know the time, because they can see with spiritual eyesight into the heavenly courtroom. He knows who is a threat to his diabolical agenda, and that brings me to my third point that needs to be made clear about Senator Allen's comments.

In speaking about violence, she made a remark about the weapons that a violent person will use, saying: "[If] you want to do violence, you'll use a clock in a sc—courtroom, or you can use knives or you can use whatever." That part of the video was not publicized as much in the media, but it contains the secret agenda I mentioned.

3. Her comment points the finger at High Sabbath Adventists by saying that a person who wants to do violence will use a "clock in a courtroom" just as well as a knife. High Sabbath Adventists are the ones who use the Clock of God in the Courtroom of Heaven to expose the papacy, and therefore—in keeping with Pope Francis' "punch" comment—we are being painted as the violent ones who speak against his "mother church."

On the surface, this reference to a clock seems to be a reference to any arbitrary harmless object. That would make it all the more remarkable that of all the harmless objects she could think of, this is the one she chose to use for the sake of illustration.

Furthermore, her little slip sounded like she accidentally started to say "schoolroom" (or something else) instead of courtroom, which also shows that she was deliberate about catching herself, because she had to identify the object as the Judgment Clock, and not just any clock.

The secret message is the identity of their target. Herein you can see the real-life fulfilment of another prophecy of Ellen White:

In legislative halls and courts of justice, commandment keepers will be misrepresented and condemned. A false coloring will be given to their words; the worst construction will be put upon their motives. {GC 592.1}[6]

After receiving media backlash, Senator Allen defended her comments without apology. This also shows that she was deliberate about what she said, and although her comments were purportedly “flippant,” she in no way retracted them.

The Forerunner gives a good Bible study on the Sunday Law in his breaking news report, which you can see here, complete with subtitles.

(It's too bad he hasn't recognized the clock in the courtroom yet.)

The sixth trumpet is just three months away. Are you ready? Are others in your area ready? Know the message for this hour, and give it to others!

Visit our website again soon for a forthcoming article which will further expose Satan's intentions regarding the courtroom clock!

SDA Church President Ted Wilson Caught in Bed with "Five Whores"! (Rev. 2:22)

Written by Robert Dickinson

Published: Sunday, April 12, 2015, 5:49 pm

Created: Sunday, April 12, 2015, 5:49 pm

On April 6, 2015, the Seventh-day Adventist Church’s main periodical—the Adventist Review—was quick to publish the fact that the church’s president, Ted Wilson, was called to meet with UN Secretary-General Ban Ki-moon. For Ted Wilson, this was like getting called into the principal’s office, as the Review explains the purpose of the visit in the first paragraph:

United Nations Secretary-General Ban Ki-moon expressed concerns about growing religious intolerance worldwide during a private meeting with Adventist Church leader Ted N.C. Wilson...^[1]

In essence, Ban Ki-moon was letting Ted Wilson know that his church must help to stop those people within it who are speaking against the pope, because it is considered “religious intolerance” according to the UN’s godless notion of Human Rights, which came out of the godless French Revolution. Of course, that means preaching the Three Angels’ Messages^[2] is no longer allowed, because the Three Angels’ Messages include the call to come out of Babylon, and any call to come out of Babylon requires an interpretation of the terms the Bible uses to describe the papacy and all of her formerly-Protestant cohorts:

And upon her forehead was a name written, MYSTERY, BABYLON THE GREAT, THE MOTHER OF HARLOTS AND ABOMINATIONS OF THE EARTH. (Revelation 17:5)

A few people—but not nearly enough—are recognizing that something sinister is going on between the president of the Seventh-day Adventist Church and the powers of the New World Order. To understand the depth of it, a person first needs to recognize that this forbidden cooperation between church and state has been growing throughout Ted Wilson’s term in office. He has been signing memorandums with the UN since at least as early as July 2011,^[3] citing “shared goals” of contributing to the achievement of the UN’s Millennium Development Goals (MDGs) as rationale for it.

Ban Ki-moon kicked off the intensive phase of the campaign for achieving the MDGs on April 5, 2013—which was 1000 days till the end of 2015.^[4] The whole concept of the MDGs and the 1000 days for 1000 years is about the temporal millennium on earth, which is a clear contradiction to Seventh-day Adventist doctrine. While even the secular world is looking for the millennium of peace to begin in 2016, the Seventh-day Adventist Church is relegating Jesus’ second coming—and thus the start of the millennium—to merely “soon” instead of “imminent” by submitting that very change of its 28 Fundamental Beliefs to the upcoming GC Session’s vote!

Ban Ki-moon paid his first visit to Pope Francis just four days after kicking off his campaign, which was just weeks into the pope’s pontificate. The Secretary General clearly associated that meeting with the beginning of the 1000 days, saying, “I was especially privileged to meet Pope Francis as we mark 1000 days to the deadline to the Millennium Development Goals (MDGs).”^[5]

That in itself speaks volumes, saying that for him, this pope is important not only to begin the 1000 days, but to begin the millennium which the 1000 days point to. Of that visit, Ban Ki-moon said:

I was also very heartened by the commitment of Pope Francis to build bridges among the communities of faith. I strongly believe that inter-faith dialogue can point a way to a deeper appreciation of shared values which in turn can lead to tolerance inclusion and peace. This is the driving force of the UN’s ‘Alliance of civilizations’ initiative and I greatly appreciated the opportunity to speak with Pope Francis about furthering this work.

The “communities of faith” that Ban Ki-moon refers to are the five major world religions—Hinduism, Judaism, Buddhism, apostate Christianity, and Islam—five harlots, according to the Bible, which Ted Wilson has been frequenting for quite some time. The church might try to deny that there has been any impropriety here, but nothing escapes the piercing eyes of our Lord:

The woman answered and said, I have no husband. Jesus said unto her, Thou hast well said, I have no husband: For thou hast had five husbands; and he whom thou now hast is not thy husband: in that saidst thou truly. (John 4:17-18)

The woman saith unto him, Sir, I perceive that thou art a prophet. Our fathers worshipped in this mountain; and ye say, that in Jerusalem is the place where men ought to worship. (v. 19-20)

Jesus saith unto her, Woman, believe me, the hour cometh, when ye shall neither in this mountain, nor yet at Jerusalem, worship the Father...But the hour cometh, and now is, when the true worshippers shall worship the Father in spirit and in truth: for the Father seeketh such to worship him. (v. 21, 23)

Reader, do you want to put away your past involvement with sin, and worship God in spirit and in truth today? Come and drink of the pure water of life freely today, which Jesus has offered abundantly through the Orion message!

The “Alliance of civilizations” initiative that Ban Ki-moon talks about is the peace branch of the biblical warning about peace and safety before sudden destruction. (They say that tolerance brings peace, but it is not peace with God—it leads to peace with sin!) The “Development” initiatives (MDGs) are the safety (security) branch, because development is the mechanism by which the poor are supposedly lifted out of poverty to a position of economic security.

Ban Ki-moon was “very heartened” by the pope’s commitment, which he strongly believes in, and while pursuing their common goal, he is now asking Ted Wilson to work with the UN on these very issues. If Ban Ki-moon greatly appreciates the pope’s input in furthering the work, and Ted Wilson is “focused on certain things that the Adventist Church can help with,” that means Ted Wilson is also working for the pope! Do you see that? The SDA Church is effectively integrated into the New World Order. (Yes, the New World Order is actually here already.)

This sheds light on the driving force behind the changes to the 28 Fundamental Beliefs, which are to be voted in during the upcoming GC Session. The despicable changes for gender neutrality and non-proselytizing language are required by the UN to support its distorted concepts of equality, tolerance, and “religious freedom” (which they understand as freedom from unwanted evangelism^[6]).

At the corporate level, Ted Wilson and his crew are doing everything possible to conform to the New World Order so that they can keep their lucrative “business” in operation and their “storehouse” full. His only problem is that there are still some faithful Adventist voices preaching to the world that the papacy is the great whore of Revelation, and Ban Ki-moon is letting him know that this does not fit the UN’s concept of religious tolerance.

That’s why the UN Chief called Ted Wilson into his office. Basically, he asked for help to silence the only voices which expose the man of sin.

Sadly, many Adventists are so egotistical that they actually think meetings like this are witness opportunities. That is certainly Ted Wilson’s portrayal of it:

“Seventh-day Adventists should be ready to witness for the Lord anywhere we go and to testify of God’s blessing in our lives and what we can do in His name,” he said.

And that is also what Dwayne Leslie said regarding his brief exchange with President Obama the following day at the White House’s Easter prayer breakfast:

“This is a way to reach folks whom we are not typically reaching,” he said.^[7]

The fact is, those who are so infatuated with powerful figures are the ones who are being “reached” by the stronger influence. It is definitely the UN influencing Ted Wilson, not the other way around. He just turns it around to butter up Adventist egos so they will swallow the news without knowing what it means. Seriously—does Dwayne Leslie actually trust President Obama to defend his religious liberty!?

We are in the fourth commandment-month, which is a month-long prophetic time period during which the church and the world are especially being tested in regard to the fourth commandment.^[8] I have to wonder at how “faithfully” the church is standing up for the truth by going to court to defend their members’ right to fry donuts on the other six days of the week in complete disregard for our health message, and their right to service competitive sports events, except on Sabbath.^[9] Is this how the Adventist Review—or the church’s legal department—gives a good testimony as Sabbath-keepers today?

It is interesting that Ted Wilson’s UN visit took place on the day of the wave sheaf offering, according to God’s calendar. In other words, we are finally beginning to see the “firstfruits” of Ted Wilson’s “revival and reformation”—it is the fruit of cooperation with the New World Order!

The real surprise, however, is how Ted Wilson is reacting to Ban Ki-moon’s concerns about religious intolerance. Our understanding that the Orion Judgment Clock is the “clock in the courtroom” of Sylvia Allen’s remark earlier in this fourth commandment-month is proved correct by the fact that immediately after Wilson’s visit with Ban Ki-moon, we heard through the grape vine that Adventist pastors are being dispatched to tell people to stop sharing our website! (It’s funny that our visitor count increased tenfold right about then.) Either Ban Ki-moon communicated exactly whom he is concerned about, or else Ted Wilson already knew it beforehand. Either way, it shows that we are indeed being targeted as “violent extremists,” which is made exceptionally clear in an even more recent eyebrow-raising article in the Review about fundamentalism in the church.^[10] That article shows just how much pressure the church is feeling on this point, but I cannot give it a detailed analysis in this short news update.

Imagine, after working so hard to quiet the unruly voices in the church, partly to attain to the UN goals, one voice of protest from Paraguay has to spoil everything! It is clear that the church will do exactly what the Jews did in Jesus’ day. They plotted to silence Him, so they could keep the “peace” and “security” with the Romans.

Hidden Agenda Revealed: Will SDA Church Elect Female President?

Written by Robert Dickinson

Published: Monday, April 27, 2015, 11:49 pm

Created: Monday, April 27, 2015, 11:49 pm

In the official brochure for the 60th Session of the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists, the church leadership has communicated their agenda for the Session. The language they selected for the brochure is the universal language of symbols, a very natural way of communication for the Mason son of a Mason, Ted Wilson, who is the current president of the worldwide denomination.

Perhaps the most prominent Masonic symbol on the cover of the 2015 GC Session brochure is the Lone Star of Texas, which is not so "lone" as it appears in many places on the brochure. This Texan star symbolizes the Masonic Order of the Eastern Star. The name of the order comes from the "star in the east," which led to Jesus, but the star of Freemasonry certainly does not lead to Jesus.

The General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists selected the Eastern Star of Freemasonry to represent the church, when they should have selected the star Alnitak, which means "the Wounded One" who is at the center of the Orion clock in the eastern heavens. (Study the original, so you can debunk the counterfeit!)

The Order of the Eastern Star is a Masonic order for women, whereas Masonic orders typically admit only men. In fact, "the Order of The Eastern Star is the largest Fraternal Organization in the world to which both women and men can belong."^[1] The masonic star on the 2015 Session brochure shows in symbolic language that the masterminds behind the GC have already decided that the ordination of women will be approved for the World Church during this Session.

Although the issue of women's ordination has been on the table for decades, as of 2012 the church has taken up the issue with unrelenting determination to reach the goal of changing church policy to allow women into the highest leadership positions in the church. This is a move which flies in the face of God, who prescribed the natural order of leadership in the home as well as in the church. The figurative language that God used to describe the deplorable condition of Isaiah's day has become a literal reality in ours:

As for my people, children are their oppressors, and women rule over them. O my people, they which lead thee cause thee to err, and destroy the way of thy paths. (Isaiah 3:12)

Why is the church so decided on reaching this goal? It is because they are in a checkmate situation: it's a matter of "do or die" because the overarching legal framework of the nations and world require gender equality. In the U.S. in particular, where the church is headquartered, all 501(c)(3) organizations must give equal opportunity for women in leadership, or risk forfeiture of their tax-exempt status.

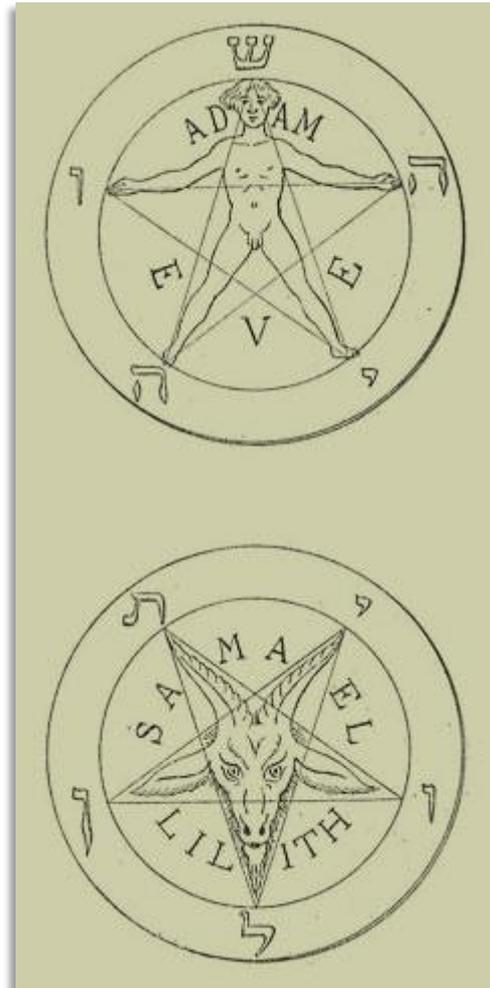

If the church were to lose its tax-exempt status, it would be socked with an unrepayable debt of back taxes and no other choice than to forfeit its assets (hospitals, schools, churches) to the State.

The GC did not dare to convey such a bold decision with obvious symbolism. The Order of the Eastern Star uses an inverted star for its symbol, which would have been far too conspicuous. Both orientations of the star are used in Freemasonry—representing the male element when a single point is up, and the female element when a single point is down.^[2] Therefore, the Texas Star—which has a single point up—had to be altered in a way that would transform it into the Eastern Star (the female counterpart).

What appears to be a cast copper-alloy Texas Star on the brochure has a tell-tale defect. There is a mark that was added, which was obviously not cast into the metal of the original object. An X shape was "photoshopped" into the small circle at the top of the wide ring around the star (see photo). Compare this black X with the cast X in TEXAS at the bottom of the ring, and you will see that it does not have the three-dimensional "feel" of being cast in the metal.

As modified, the ring around the Texas Star has two Xs in total, standing at opposite poles. Put together, it is simply XX. The fact that the added X was placed inside a circle is a hint: it refers to the chromosomes inside a biological cell. The pairing of X and Y chromosomes determines the sex of an organism: XY for male, XX for female.

What the Masonic executives of the GC communicate with this design is simple: in this Session, the church's God-given male-leadership paradigm will be transformed to match the world's notion of gender equality, just as the XX chromosomes transform the otherwise male Texas Star into the female Eastern Star. Rather than accommodate these genetic mutations, one would do better to apply the genetic principles that lead to eternal life, as found in the Vessel of Time.

The star also represents a “sea star” or starfish, which is a common (Catholic) symbol for the Virgin Mary.^[3] This is one of the symbols on Pope Francis’ coat of arms, and whom he refers to as the prime example of a woman in theological leadership.^[4] By using the star so deliberately on its brochure, SDA General Conference leaders echo the message of Pope Francis, but take women’s leadership to a level that even he would not dare to do in his church!

The artists made an accurate representation of sex determination in humans by placing the new X chromosome inside a very small circle, which represents the sperm cell just after it penetrates the outer membrane of the much larger female egg and loses its tail. The X chromosome contributed by the egg is of course already depicted as being within the circle.

Depicting the XX chromosomes at this stage of the fertilization process has important symbolism to Freemasons, who view miscegenation—the mixing of races—as a tool to degrade a people. It also shows that the plan is irreversible as far as the GC leaders are concerned. The egg is fertilized, and all that remains is the development of the embryo.

This begs the question of just whose sperm cell fertilized the church egg? And who is the female child that will develop from this union? The symbol says it all: the embryo is the female Eastern Star of Freemasonry, which is the star of Baphomet, or Satan. It is disgusting how Ted Wilson so deliberately and so clearly depicts the Church’s spiritual adultery—which he himself has arranged.

As you can see, the elements of Masonry are used openly in the design of the Seventh-day Adventist GC Session brochure. When women’s ordination is a done deal, what will keep the Seventh-day Adventist denomination from electing a woman to preside over the World Church?

I end this news brief with a personal appeal to you, dear reader, to take Elijah’s challenge at Mount Carmel seriously by reading Fire at Mount Carmel and by making your final decision to serve the Lord.

Rape Attempt Foiled in Sodom: LGBTQISDA Church Blinded by Four Angels (Gen. 19)

Written by Robert Dickinson

Published: Friday, May 1, 2015, 3:32 pm

Created: Friday, May 1, 2015, 3:32 pm

Apparently, the current leadership of the Seventh-day Adventist Church has decided to abandon its firm biblical stance against homosexuality. The leadership communicates this decision in its official brochure for the 60th Session of the General Conference of the World Church. Considering that they have also decided to ordain women, this is only the next logical step.

The changes to be approved at the GC Session come a little more than a year after the Church's sex summit, which was held in March of 2014. It was titled "In God's Image: Sexuality, Scripture and Society."

The church, which has always held firm biblical beliefs on this subject, received an enormous amount of pressure from pro-LGBT groups in the time leading up to the summit.^[1] The discussions among the leadership at the summit, however, were remarkably soft toward "alternative sexuality," a term they use to disassociate homosexuality from sin. In all truth, sin is no alternative to right living.

It is clear that the real purpose of the summit was to align the church with the UN's Human Rights agenda, which was born out of the French Revolution in its effort to remove God from human law.^[2] The SDA Church announces in its General Conference Session brochure that it will reach that UNTHINKABLE goal at the Session in San Antonio this July.

Prominently displayed on the cover of the brochure are two complementary photographs, which—when combined—tell the whole story. In the top-left corner is a photograph of colorful shade umbrellas in a scene which has nothing to do with the Session. Directly opposite this picture in the top-right corner sits a photograph of a bronze sculpture of two hands releasing a butterfly.

By placing these two images on opposite sides of the page, the designer of the brochure uses them to balance and complement each other. That means the main subjects of the pictures are related: the bright rainbow-like colors of the umbrellas on the left belong with the butterfly on the right.

One of the two most recognized international LGBT symbols is the rainbow flag, the colors of which adorn other LGBT symbols everywhere. The butterfly is a transgender symbol (due to the transformation associated with butterflies) which has also become a common symbol of the LGBT movement.

When the bright colors are combined with the butterfly on the GC Session brochure, the meaning is clear. From left to right, the brochure spells out LGBT in pictures. The leadership has already decided that the church will adopt church policies supporting LGBT equality.

Many influential Adventists believe that Ted Wilson's administration has led the church toward an imminent split, larger than anything in its history. (Click the image to read its inspiration.)

What will prevent homosexuals from being elected as leaders in the church? Will some homosexuals be elected in this Session of the General Conference?

Where will it end? Will bestiality be next? Will the “chief goat” soon be leading the sheep?

The hands which appear to be releasing the butterfly in the sculpture have a meaning. Releasing the butterfly symbolizes that LGBT persons will be set free in this Session. There will no longer be restrictions hindering them or limiting them within the organized church. They will be free.

What is even more hideous, is that monument stands in a San Antonio children's park. The church does not even shrink from demoralizing your children to further the spread of homosexuality. They will be happy to incorporate unisex clothing, pictures suggestive of homosexual pairing, and the whole gamut in children's media.

Friends, this decision will be finalized in the seventh month since God has been judging the church by the Ten Commandments. The beginning of July corresponds to the seventh commandment, which is about the sanctity of marriage. The conference leaders are obliging the church to break the seventh commandment, not only by dismantling the God-given order of the home through the ordination of women, but also by dropping God's heterosexual design to the ground.

Ellen White spoke of "twin institutions" which have been with us since the days of Eden. The two twins are the marriage institution, and the Sabbath institution. When one suffers, the other suffers, because they are twins.

The church will be busy making these changes in the immediate aftermath of the U.S. Supreme Court's decision on homosexual marriage. It is clear where the world is headed, and it is clear where the last truly Protestant church is headed.^[3]

When the antediluvians reached this level of degradation, God swept them away in the flood. When Sodom and Gomorrah reached this level of degradation, God cleansed them away from that plain with fire and brimstone. Those were examples for the end of the world. The book of Revelation prophesied in the 11th Chapter that these things would happen again, and today we see it happening with our own eyes.

If you find these circumstances disturbing—as you should—I can only urge you to read Fire at Mount Carmel, and take the challenge seriously. The spiritual battle is intense, and it is high time to put your full strength on the Lord's side.

Capital Crime: Pope Francis Kidnaps God's Bride! (Isaiah 62:5)

Written by Robert Dickinson

For as a young man marrieth a virgin, so shall thy sons marry thee: and as the bridegroom rejoiceth over the bride, so shall thy God rejoice over thee. (Isaiah 62:5)

The General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists has announced in its 60th Session brochure that the church has put itself under the command of Pope Francis and the Roman Catholic Church, and all who object will be forcibly silenced. The current leadership has communicated this information in stories and symbols on the brochure. We've already exposed the brochure's messages regarding women's ordination and LGBT equality, but paramount stands the story behind the Alamo.

The Spanish Missions in Texas comprise a series of religious outposts established by Spanish Catholic Dominicans, Jesuits, and Franciscans to spread the Christian doctrine among the local Native Americans, but with the added benefit of giving Spain a toehold in the frontier land.^[1]

The Alamo Mission was built by a Franciscan priest. It was a Roman Catholic mission and fortress compound. It became famous for the Battle of the Alamo, a pivotal battle of the Texas Revolution in which one entire side of the battle was annihilated. By selecting this site as the central theme for the GC Session brochure, they send a strong message that the 60th Session will be the setting of the last decisive battle for the church, and that they intend to completely destroy the opposition.

Linking the SDA Church to a famous Franciscan mission is not just incidental. Pay attention to the logo on the brochure—especially the outline of the Alamo. Notice how the brim of the “hat” is exaggerated. This has no basis in the Spanish architecture of the building, and is an obvious deviation which was added to confirm that the Alamo has symbolic importance for the GC Session. Just search for similar drawings of the Alamo and see for yourself how abnormal this is.

The profile of the hat matches that of a special Roman hat (cappello romano), also known as a saturno because of its resemblance to the ringed planet, Saturn. This type of hat was worn with the cassock by Catholic clergy for many years. The cardinals were once privileged to wear red cappellos like the pope. The same hat appears with tassels above every cardinal’s coat of arms, and the tassel cords perfectly trace the outline of the Alamo.

Now you can see very clearly who is behind this GC Session. Not only do we find Masonic symbols, but now outright Catholic symbols! The battle of the 60th GC Session is not just about issues in the Adventist Church—it encompasses issues that involve the Catholic Church, and specifically the pope’s agenda. Just as the battle of the Alamo was one battle in a larger campaign to bring Texas under centralized Spanish control, so the 60th GC Session is one battle in the last papal campaign to bring the last Protestant hold-outs into line.

Whether directly or not, the architect of this Session is therefore Pope Francis (the Jesuit “Franciscan”). The opponents he wants to annihilate are the last independent Protestants within the Seventh-day Adventist denomination, similarly to what was done to the Waldensians at the Piedmont Easter.

It is not difficult to find Pope Francis in the logo itself, especially once you see how the hat and tassel cords of the cardinal coat of arms are incorporated into the logo. All you have to do is recognize that it is in fact Pope Francis’ own cardinal coat of arms which is depicted there. The three windows of the Alamo correspond to the three elements on his coat of arms: the star, the grapes, and the Jesuit sun-disk logo. In other words, they represent the three-in-one counterfeit trinity.

Unlike the true Trinity, where the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit are three separate Persons, the counterfeit trinity says that all three are just different modes or manifestations of one and the same person, which is Satan (a.k.a. Lucifer).

The graphic designers placed the Eastern Star (already deciphered) inside the O of San AntOnio, once again saying that the seed of Satan is already in the womb of the church. This is an important symbol for Freemasons, because they believe that Eve had corrupt offspring from the serpent’s seed in Eden. For them, the symbolism means that the besieged Adventists at the 60th GC Session have already been “corrupted” with evil seed, and therefore they must necessarily die, similarly to how the Spanish gave the Alamo defenders no option to surrender, but only to be killed.

By placing the Alamo at the top of the page, and by incorporating its altered profile into the GC logo, Ted Wilson and the brothers of his Order are announcing that the Franciscan Order of today (which worships Pope Francis) plans to annihilate the opposing force within the Seventh-day Adventist Church, in this GC Session and the ensuing term!

Now please pay close attention. We are often falsely accused of “calling the SDA church Babylon,” when it is in fact God’s true church. The Orion Message and the Vessel of Time both testify with the certainty of time prophecy that the SDA church has been God’s remnant church all throughout the past 168+ years! That doesn’t mean the church is all good, though. In fact, those prophecies tell us what the problem areas have been, while highlighting the good things. I will explain the church's relationship with Babylon in more detail later, but first let's see what else the GC Session logo is telling us.

There are things inside and things outside the Alamo fortress in the GC logo:

The logo shows pictorially the two main groups within the Seventh-day Adventist Church: those who are inside the Alamo, and those who are outside.

Group 1 – Outside the fortress.

The duration of the siege—13 days—indicates that the Spanish side of the historic battle represents Satan's side. The centralized Mexican government's army outside the Alamo represents the centralized army of Pope Francis within the SDA church, because this is where we find the church logo itself. The church logo, which is well-known to be a Masonic design,^[2] stands for the part of the church that is loyal to Rome. This group has control of the organization, thus the logo. These papists call themselves Seventh-day Adventists, but they do not hold Seventh-day Adventist beliefs. These are actually Roman Catholics, worshipping their sun god in the guise of Seventh-day Adventism.

And he brought me into the inner court of the LORD's house, and, behold, at the door of the temple of the LORD, between the porch and the altar, were about five and twenty men, with their backs toward the temple of the LORD, and their faces toward the east; and they worshipped the sun toward the east. (Ezekiel 8:16)

These are the members of the executive leadership, starting with Ted Wilson and extending to the Executive Committee. From there, it goes on to Jesuit infiltrators especially in the Adventist schools, who author books of another order^[3] and teach your children Jesuit doctrines. They are in the Adventist hospitals and every other branch of the work. These are the ones who are responsible for books like QoD, and for educating Adventist ministers in the spiritual disciplines of Ignatius of Loyola. These are the ones who teach that William Miller was wrong to study the Bible to understand time prophecy, and who discard the sanctuary doctrine as an invention to cover the supposed error. These are the ones who scorn Ellen White. These are Romans by belief, masquerading as Adventists.

Group 2 – Inside the fortress.

The Texians^[4]—as well as natives—who were fighting against the centralized control of the Mexican government represent the conservative part within the church who still try to uphold the true foundational teachings of the movement. With their artillery (doctrines) they can “whip 10 to 1” but yet they are surrounded, outnumbered and oppressed by the siege.

James Bowie, the Alamo's co-commander, appealed for reinforcements, saying: "Colonel Neill and myself have come to the solemn resolution that we will rather die in these ditches than give it up to the enemy." Many Seventh-day Adventists have likewise decided to "go down with the ship," because they "know" that the church will go through to the end. Their big mistake is in thinking that the church ship equals the organizational structure. This is a prime example of a Catholic teaching that has been planted in Adventism—that salvation is conferred by the church organization. This group has locked themselves inside what has become a Catholic fortress, the SDA Church organization.

Once upon a time, the church was a safe place because God was present, and He protected it. That is how it was with old Jerusalem, after it rejected Christ it became worldly. The only way to survive Jerusalem's "end of the world" scenario in 70 A.D. was to heed the counsel of Jesus:

When ye therefore shall see the abomination of desolation, spoken of by Daniel the prophet, stand in the holy place, (whoso readeth, let him understand:) Then let them which be in Judaea flee into the mountains: (Matthew 24:15-16)

In 70 A.D. the abomination of desolation was the Roman army surrounding the city of Jerusalem. Christians were to flee to the mountains, not to lock themselves in the fortress of Jerusalem which had already deserted God, fallen through compromise and become torn by internal strife and division.

That same division and strife is tearing apart the SDA church today because of its own compromise, but God has not left Seventh-day Adventism! The ORGANIZATION has been hijacked, and obviously God is not going to be found among the hijackers, but He is still accessible to the denomination. The remaining faithful Adventists today—those who sigh and cry over the abominations done in the land—must be careful not to lock themselves up in the Alamo-like organization; there is still a mountain of truth where refuge from false teachings can be found.

Let's recap.

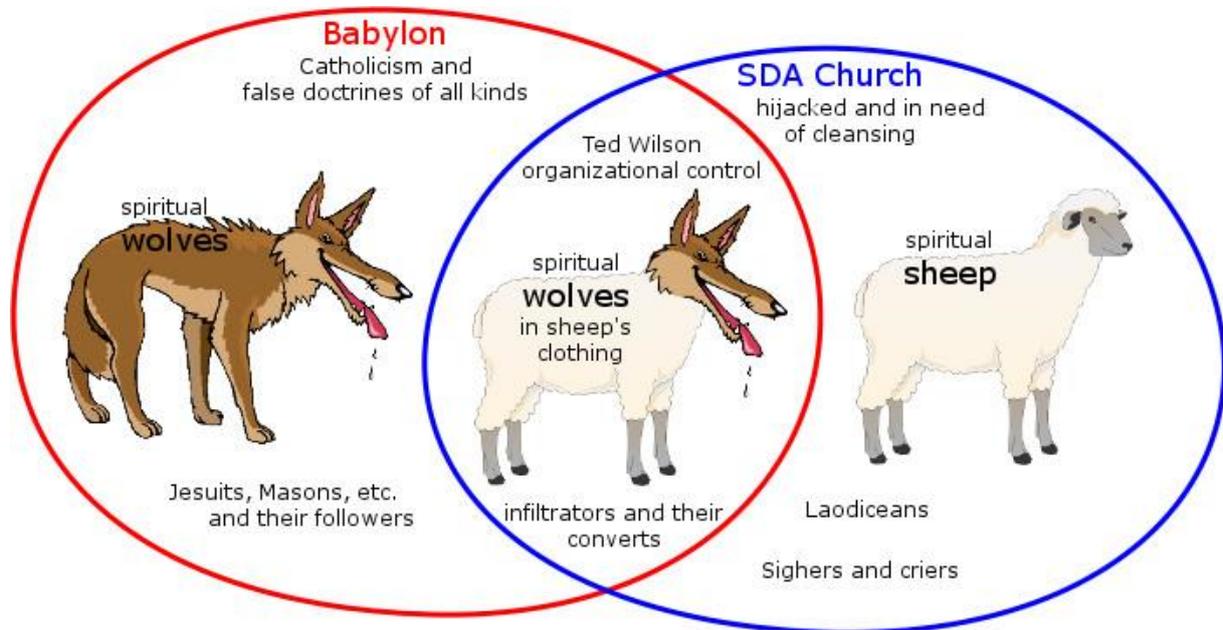

The Masonic leadership of the SDA Church wants to eliminate its opposition like what was done in the battle of the Alamo. They don't want Adventist "fundamentalists" to wreck their newly ordered world. Group 1 outside the walls are Babylonians, fair and square—wolves in sheep's clothing. They profess to be Adventists, but in terms of their beliefs, they simply are not.

Group 2 inside the walls are Adventists. They are sheep in varying degrees of ill health, many suffering from the false doctrines that the wolves have introduced into the church. These are the remnant people of God, under siege.

That is how the situation—and Ted Wilson's goals—are presented on the brochure, but just because they portray it that way does not necessarily mean it corresponds 100% to reality.

The Church Is Not and Never Can Be Babylon

To clarify who is Babylon and who is not, we can make a simple diagram as follows:

This is an accurate picture irrespective of what the papists hope to accomplish with their Alamo plan. The fact is, Babylon is and always will have the same clear identity that Scripture has always given it: the great whore of Babylon is and always will be the Catholic Church, and all the other Sunday-keeping churches are her daughters. We do not condemn individuals in Babylonian churches who have not known the truth yet, but the false doctrines they presently hold make it necessary for us to represent them collectively as wolves (a threat) to the sheep.

The confusion comes because the leaders of the Adventist organizational structure are in fact papists. Does that make the whole Adventist church Babylon, including independent and self-supporting ministries? No, it just means that Babylon has hijacked the church organization, and anyone who is loyal to the hijackers and the hijacked organization is subject to Babylon. For example, your local pep-talk pastor avoids preaching straight truth because he doesn't want to lose his paycheck. He is loyal to the papists, regardless of his personal beliefs, and when you sit in his pew, you get fed smooth things that make you spiritually sick.

If you are happy with that, then you are a Laodicean. If you are unhappy with that, you might be sighing and crying for the abominations done in the church, and you might see why it is necessary for God to cleanse the church.

We could even draw a "cleansing" line between the Laodiceans and the sighers and criers, because we know from Ezekiel 9:4-6 that those who sigh and cry are marked to be kept alive though the cleansing. Laodiceans, on the other hand, will be spewed out in the cleansing as Jesus warned in Revelation 3:16.

This would be a good time for you to take personal stock of yourself and see where you stand. You can find out easily by asking yourself some specific questions:

- Was everything done at the cross?
- Will everyone keep sinning till Jesus comes?
- Was William Miller wrong to find a date for the Second Coming?

- Should the sanctuary doctrine be dropped?
- Is Ted Wilson a good man, even though he stripped the Great Controversy of its potency and deceived the church into spreading millions of copies of something devoid of Adventist truth?
- Does our message need to be more Christ-centered at the cost of teaching less doctrine (less naming of Babylon and the beast when preaching the three angels' messages of Revelation 14:6-12)?
- Is the U.N. basically a good thing?
- Does the pope have good intentions?

If you answer "yes" to any of the above, you might be a Babylonian, or hopefully just a Laodicean under the influence of Babylonian wine. If you answer an emphatic "no" to all of the above, you are likely sighing and crying for the abominations done in the church, and are most likely not part of Babylon.

If you sigh and cry too loud, you will probably get kicked out of the organized church. Does that make such a person a non-Adventist? Do such persons lose their salvation because the church has wrongly disfellowshipped them? No! Don't confound the church with the official organization. The church is made up of individuals, and God came to save SOULS, not a policy structure! The organization is under Babylonian control, but the church as a people is not! Ellen White put it this way:

We have our Bibles. We have our experience, attested to by the miraculous working of the Holy Spirit. We have a truth that admits of no compromise. Shall we not repudiate everything that is not in harmony with this truth? {1SM 205.1}^[5]

What the Church Is Not Telling You

Let me make it painstakingly clear. International, national, and local laws are all requiring the church to stop discriminating based on gender or sexual orientation this year. If the church does not vote for women's ordination etc., the organization will be killed by the various levels of government. Bye-bye Seventh-day Adventist Church. The End. Period.

Ted Wilson knows this. Former president Jan Paulsen knows this, and he even admits that the church has been working on this problem for 40 years, and after all that, their solution is WO— or NWO in other words! MANY in leadership know this, but they aren't telling you. They just say "It's time! God will punish the church if the church doesn't vote 'yes'."^[6] Isn't it interesting how they "set the time" when the nations speak, but when God speaks, they won't set the time!?

How will the church vote? Will it vote for (N)WO? Will it vote to marry the world and betray Christ, or will it vote for its own death?

The world must not be introduced into the church, and married to the church, forming a bond of unity. Through this means the church will become indeed corrupt, and as stated in Revelation, "a cage of every unclean and hateful bird." {TM 265.1}^[7]

The church doesn't have to BE Babylon to be INDEED CORRUPT, and "a cage of every unclean and hateful bird!" All it has to do is marry the world by voting in favor of women's ordination, gender-neutral language, and LGBT equality, among other things!

Are you content to hide a corrupt church behind a paper sign with the words "NOT BABYLON" on it? Do you think He who discerns the thoughts and intents of the heart will be pleased with such a sham?

Wake up from your STUPIDITY!

The Omega of Deadly Heresies

The corrupt seed that has been planted in the SDA Church gives rise to the Eastern Star, which is depicted inside the first O of San AntOnio. This is alluded to in the motto, "Arise! Shine! Jesus is coming!" We can be sure that the motto does NOT mean exactly what it says, because the new wording of the 28 Fundamental Beliefs that is to be voted in this Session postpones the Second Coming from "imminent" to only "soon."^[8] It is a blatant contradiction to say in the motto that Jesus is coming in the present tense, while in the same conference saying that He is not coming imminently, but that He will come soon.

Who, then, is the "Jesus" that the motto says "is coming"?

The big Texas star on the brochure is not straight. It is exactly 3° out of alignment. This is an intentional hint to show Freemasons that the star is not really pointing up as it appears—it should be decoded by rotating it 33° according to the degrees of Freemasonry. 3° + 33° = 36°, which is the angle needed to change the normal five-pointed star to the inverted star of the Eastern Rite. The star also appears 18 times on the border of the brochure: 18 = 6 + 6 + 6, and you know whose signature is 666.^[9]

The star is related to the triangle, which also has different Masonic meanings depending on its orientation. The brochure shows the Texas star partially overlapping a triangle-shaped structure next to the (phallic) Tower of the Americas in the photograph above it, showing that the triangle relationship has an important meaning in this context.

When you see the point [\[of the triangle\]](#) down, this represents the Deity and is called the Deity's Triangle or the Water Triangle. The Earthly Triangle or Pyramid Triangle is what it is called when one point is up [\[as it is in the brochure\]](#). It "symbolizes the PERFECT OR DIVINE MAN." This quote is not from some heinous Black-hooded Satanist, it comes from a 33rd Degree Masonic author named George Steinmetz [Freemasonry: Its Hidden Meaning, New York, Macoy Publishing and Masonic Supply Company, 1948, p. 63, repeated on p. 67]. Freemasonry joins all pagan groups in saying that man can become "divine" or "perfect." In another book, George returns to this theme once again:

"Be still—and know—that I am God...That I AM GOD—the final recognition of the All in All, the unity of the Self with the Cosmos—the cognition of the DIVINITY OF THE SELF!" [George H. Steinmetz,

The Lost Keys of Freemasonry, Richmond, Virginia, Macoy Publishing and Masonic Supply Company, 1923, p. 92]^[10]

This concept of the “divine self” or “god within” is simply the age-old lie of the serpent in Eden:

And the serpent said unto the woman, Ye shall not surely die: For God doth know that in the day ye eat thereof, then your eyes shall be opened, and ye shall be as gods, knowing good and evil. (Genesis 3:4-5)

The serpent connects the false teaching of the immortal soul with the divinity of the self. Plainly read, the star inside the O of San AntOnio is a Marian star as on Pope Francis' coat of arms, which symbolizes spiritualism (ye shall not surely die). On the other hand, with its association with the pyramid triangle, it symbolizes the divinity of the self (ye shall be as gods). In a nutshell, it is the O for the Omega of deadly heresies that Ellen White warned of:

In the book Living Temple there is presented the alpha of deadly heresies. The omega will follow, and will be received by those who are not willing to heed the warning God has given [the Orion message]. {ISM 200.1}^[11]

The alpha of deadly heresies was the pantheistic teaching in Living Temple that says, “God is in all things” (including man). The omega, logically connected, says that “man is God.” This is not just a theory; it is also demonstrated in practice by the decisions of the GC. Setting aside God’s plain word, they assume the prerogative to make man’s own decision of what is right in regards to the issues of gender and sexual orientation.

He referred them to the blessed days of Eden when God pronounced all things “very good.” Then marriage and the Sabbath had their origin, twin institutions for the glory of God in the benefit of humanity. {AH 340.4}^[12]

The Sabbath and the family were alike instituted in Eden, and in God’s purpose they are indissolubly linked together. {Ed 250.2}^[13]

Then let this, God’s institution of marriage, stand before you as firm as the Sabbath of the fourth commandment. {TSB 159.2}^[14]

When man assumes the prerogative to decide on the definition of one of the twin Edenic institutions (marriage), how is that different from assuming the prerogative to decide on the definition of the other twin (the Sabbath)? Do you see how the traitors are acting just like the papacy, thinking to change God’s law? Blasphemy!

It is clear which “Jesus” the motto is talking about. It is about the god in you. It is about the arising of the cosmic Christ of the New Age, or the divine self, which is personified in Pope Francis, who even “jokes” about himself as “Jesus II.”^[15] Unfortunately, this isn’t a problem only with Argentine egos, but also those Adventist egos which look at Ted Wilson (the False Prophet/Protestant) the same way Argentines look at Pope Francis (the False Christ). This egoism—the opposite of humility—is the expression of the “divine self” in a person.

By contrast, Jesus said:

By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another. (John 13:35)

Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends. (John 15:13)

The disciples of Jesus are not the egoists who will give a punch to whoever insults their mother church, but rather the ones who are willing to die an eternal death for people they've never met—like Jesus.

THAT is not Babylon.

Jade Helm - Military Blockade Against God's Witnesses

Written by Ray Dickinson

Published: Friday, June 5, 2015, 10:55 pm

Created: Friday, June 5, 2015, 9:58 pm

It's just a military exercise.

In our latest article, we shared what was a startling revelation to us: the Sunday Law that many have for so long been waiting, has already come, but we didn't realize it because it came in a different form than we expected! God's true Sabbath was instituted in the Garden of Eden along with marriage. In this garden sanctuary setting, the definitions were established. After the six days of Creation, God rested and was refreshed. Adam and Eve enjoyed the seventh day communing with their Creator. This was the pattern that God set by His own authority as Creator: work the first six days, and rest the seventh.

And God blessed the seventh day, and sanctified it: because that in it he had rested from all his work which God created and made. (Genesis 2:3)

Similarly, He defined marriage by His own authority:

So God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them. And God blessed them, and God said unto them, Be fruitful, and multiply, and replenish the earth... (Genesis 1:27-28)

Again, He set the pattern for marriage by creating a man and a woman, and blessing them with the capacity to procreate. Neither one could be fruitful and multiply alone. They must do this as a couple, united with the sanction of God. They were equal, but in the same way that their anatomy was different, so their roles were different. Adam was the responsible party. It was Adam who was told not to eat of the tree, before Eve was created. It was Adam's responsibility to follow God's example and teach Eve what God had taught him.

And the LORD God took the man, [H120: Adam] and put him into the garden of Eden to dress it and to keep it. And the LORD God commanded the man, [H120: Adam] saying, Of every tree of the garden thou mayest freely eat: But of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil, thou shalt not eat of it: for in the day that thou eatest thereof thou shalt surely die. And the LORD God said, It is not good that the man [H120: Adam] should be alone; I will make him an help meet for him. (Genesis 2:15-18)

The Creator, by definition, has the privilege to establish the relationships and requirements of His creation. He set Adam in a beautiful garden and gave him pleasant work to do. He set aside the seventh day (not just one in seven, but the seventh, which is called the Sabbath and runs from sunset Friday to sunset Saturday) as a day for refreshing communion. He gave Adam a woman in marriage and made him the responsible party between the two. They were different, yet equal.

By His authority, He established these two institutions in the Edenic sanctuary: Marriage and the Sabbath. Their perpetuity would rest entirely upon whether man would regard His authority as Creator. It was His idea to set aside the seventh day, and it was His idea to unite woman to man. Any deviation from these definitions is a disregard for God's authority! Furthermore, if you hold to His definition of marriage, but reject His Sabbath, you deny His authority over you; or if you hold the Sabbath, but choose your own order in marriage (which may be done by giving the woman responsibility, or rule, over the man as much as by adopting an LGBT lifestyle), you reject His authority just the same.

Many point to the fact that many women are more capable leaders than their husbands may be, and use this as an excuse for women to assume the responsibility in marriage, making the man subservient to her judgment. But this undermines God's authority over that marriage. Even if the man has less ability to lead, God has set him in that position, and the woman, though perhaps more gifted, is to be subject to his (possibly inferior) judgment, if the marriage is to have God's blessing—so long, of course, that it creates no moral conflict. They are equal, but hold different positions and serve different functions, just as their different anatomy indicates different function. Consider how Ellen White put it:

God Himself gave Adam a companion. He provided "an help meet for him"—a helper corresponding to him—one who was fitted to be his companion, and who could be one with him in love and sympathy. Eve was created from a rib taken from the side of Adam, signifying that she was not to control him as the head, nor to be trampled under his feet as an inferior, but to stand by his side as an equal, to be loved and protected by him. A part of man, bone of his bone, and flesh of his flesh, she was his second self, showing the close union and the affectionate attachment that should exist in this relation. "For no man ever yet hated his own flesh; but nourisheth and cherisheth it." Eph 5:29. "Therefore shall a man leave his father and his mother, and shall cleave unto his wife; and they shall be one." {PP 46.2}

But there was a serpent in the forbidden tree, "that old serpent, called the Devil, and Satan, which deceiveth the whole world:"^[1] and he sought successfully to overturn the order established by God by tempting Adam to heed Eve above God. In like manner, he has been seeking to defy God by causing His creation to universally deny His authority over them, choosing rather to have Satan's rule, disguised as freedom, or liberty from God's law. The "mark of the beast" is the mark of alleged authority that is claimed by the institution led by Satan. The institution (beast) is the papacy, and it has claimed the authority to change the Sabbath.^[2] Those who continue to submit to the false authority of that system, when they understand that it stands in defiance of God's definition of the Sabbath at Creation receive the mark of the beast.

But there is something much more important for us to understand now, and that is that there is an "image to the beast," which serves the beast by its equivalent defiance of God's authority. The image is the perversion of marriage as we see in the LGBT movement and in the transference of headship in the family from the man to the woman. The mark of the beast is irrelevant if you already stand in defiance of God's authority by accepting the image of the beast!

If you, husbands, have taken the "yes, dear, whatever you want" attitude toward your wife, letting her take the responsibility that God laid on you, rather than lovingly provide for her needs while retaining the responsibility of judgment in the home, then you have the image of the beast! Repent now, and put yourself in subjection to God's authority! Take up the reigns of your home, regardless of how well or poorly you manage it. That is the position that God has assigned to you!

And whether married or not, if you identify yourself with the principles of "equality" that God has not established (taking "equal" to mean "interchangeable"), then you have the image of the beast. This is the test for this generation! If and when the Sunday law (the mark of the beast) comes, it will not be the deciding factor of our allegiance. All will have made up their minds already according to the demonstration of their position regarding gender equality.

The Bible says that there is a second beast—a lamb-like beast with two horns—that "had power to give life unto the image of the beast, that the image of the beast should both speak, and cause that as many as would not worship the image of the beast should be killed."^[3]

And this is where Jade Helm comes in. The second beast is the United States, founded upon its two horns of Republicanism and Protestantism, but which speaks (makes laws) like a dragon.

Jade Helm 15 is a United States military training exercise that is scheduled to take place over multiple states in the US from July 15 through September 15, 2015.^[4]

As is typical of the illuminati and other secret societies who have been an integral part of the US since its foundation, they communicate in secret by embedding symbolic messages in images. The logo for the Jade Helm 15 exercise is no exception. But you may be surprised at just what it points to! Here is the logo:

The arrows and the knife are apparently borrowed from the US Army Special Forces logo:

The Latin phrase “de oppresso liber” means “being liberated from oppression.” By association, it is included with the Jade Helm slogan, “Master the human domain.” We will discuss what this means later. First, there is one bizarre element in the center of the Jade Helm logo that is very significant. It is a transparent shoe. This isn’t any old walking shoe, though! It has been identified as one of a pair of clogs^[5]—a wooden shoe that was worn by prisoners in Hitler’s concentration camps.^[6]

Another name for these wooden shoes is “sabot,” from where we get the word, “sabotage.” The term means to “deliberately destroy, damage, or obstruct (something), especially for political or military advantage.” Its origin is from the French “saboter” which means to “kick with sabots, willfully destroy.”^[7] Here is an indication that “Master the human domain” may have a sinister meaning. But there is much more to this clog as we will see. One analyst cleverly brought out a clearer image of the shoe, and shows that the artistry of the clog in the logo matches that of this pair:

On the shoe itself, is some symbolism that is representative of the New World Order. The phoenix rising is depicted at the toe end. The phoenix represents the sun and a rebirth to a new life, or in this context, the ascension to the world throne. A serpent is depicted in the spiral, like a coiled cobra ready to strike. The three X’s in the middle have various occult meanings including the false trinity and the number of the beast, 666 (because x is the 24th letter of the English alphabet, and 2+4=6).^[8] Notice, however, that the serpent is depicted on two pages of an open book. What book do you suppose that is? As we saw in our article about the Return of Quetzalcoatl, Satan has an age-old desire to ascend to the very throne of God.

How art thou fallen from heaven, O Lucifer, son of the morning! how art thou cut down to the ground, which didst weaken the nations! For thou hast said in thine heart, I will ascend into heaven [the rising phoenix], I will exalt my throne above the stars of God: I will sit also upon the mount of the congregation [as ruler], in the sides of the north. (Isaiah 14:12-13)

The book is none other than the word of God—the Bible—the foundation of His throne. This is where it gets deep. God's word has ever been represented by two parts: the Law and the Prophets, the Old and New Testaments, the unleavened Bread and pure Wine. The Ten Commandments were written on two tables of stone and in Revelation 11, God's word is depicted as Two Witnesses. In this depiction, we have two leaves of the book, but both are adulterated with the presence of the coiled serpent! Could this represent the attack on the twin institutions, born in Eden, that bear the Creator's seal of authority? I believe they do.

So now let's put the pieces together. The symbolism on the clog represents the usurping of God's throne and the serpent replacing the word (law) and throne (authority) of God. Now bring this into the Jade Helm logo. The two arrows of the logo represent a dual attack on God's authority. One arrow for each twin.

But why is the shoe transparent, and why is there only one? Shoes come in pairs, one reflecting the other. One of the clogs is already gone, and the other is not clearly visible (transparent). If you successfully destroy one shoe of a pair, is the other of any value? No. They must be worn together. By successfully destroying one, it is an indirect attack on the other. The clog is transparent because it was not attacked directly, but indirectly (stealthily, almost invisibly) through the destruction of the other.

In our last article, we took you through Revelation 11 and showed how the symbolism fits in beautiful harmony with the ministry of the Fourth Angel of Revelation 18, beginning with the command to prophecy again. The Two Witnesses of Revelation 11 are not just the Old and New Testaments, but also represent the two clocks of God, the Book of Seven Seals, and the Book of Seven Thunders. Those who receive these Witnesses are especially hated by the devil, for they clearly expose him for who he is, and prepare them for the great test, when the character of God is vindicated.

The clocks of God have, in these last years of earth's history, highlighted key dates that point precisely to the push for overturning God's order in marriage. In other words, the clocks point especially to the twin to God's Sabbath—marriage. This reveals a humorous aural relationship: the clogs, also known as sabots, refer to God's clocks and Sabbaths!

Consider also the timing of Jade Helm, two or three weeks after the Supreme Court of the United States declares that man is completely free from the authority of God by the end-of-June ruling for "marriage equality" without regard for gender. When the pattern that God designed for marriage is formally abolished in the United States, one clog is destroyed, leaving only one behind by the time the Jade Helm Exercise begins on July 15.

It gives another meaning to Independence Day this year. It is not a celebration of independence from England, but from God! Indeed, the Special Forces motto meaning "being liberated from oppression" is to be understood from the perspective of the rising phoenix, Satan, who feels oppressed by those who regard God's law. By setting it aside, he gives "liberty" from God's law (which liberty is really bondage to sin), and at the same time, "master[s] the human domain" by setting himself as the universal authority and master over all the slaves of sin.

Those who stand for God's authority in their lives are destined for concentration camps for extermination as it was in the Holocaust. But if you are of that class of people continuing to wait expectantly for a Sunday Law, don't miss the boat! It is the twin institution that is the test, not the Sabbath! By the time the Sunday Law does come, it will be too late to get on board. The decisions will all have been made based on whether we accept God's authority in marriage, or receive the image to the beast. Only after the test is completed will the false Sabbath, which is the mark of the beast, become an issue.

And he [the US] had power to give life [influence] unto the image of the beast [LGBT movement], that the image of the beast should both speak [make laws], and cause that as many as would not worship the image of the beast [accept LGBT marriage as legitimate] should be killed [martyred]. And he causeth all [after the test is complete and the "grades" are in], both small and great, rich and poor, free and bond, to receive a mark [the literal Sunday Law] in their right hand [practice], or in their foreheads [belief]: (Revelation 13:15-16)

Are you prepared for Jade Helm? Are you ready to die for your stand against man's manipulation of God's authority in marriage—even that of letting the woman overrule the judgment of the man? Dear reader, this is a serious issue. We may think we have a right relationship with God, but if we do not submit to His authority, is that really a right relationship?

Wives, submit yourselves unto your own husbands, as unto the Lord. For the husband is the head of the wife, even as Christ is the head of the church: and he is the saviour of the body. Therefore as the church is subject unto Christ, so let the wives be to their own husbands in every thing. Husbands, love your wives, even as Christ also loved the church, and gave himself for it; That he might sanctify and cleanse it with the washing of water by the word, That he might present it to himself a glorious church, not having spot, or wrinkle, or any such thing; but that it should be holy and without blemish. So ought men to love their wives as their own bodies. He that loveth his wife loveth himself. (Ephesians 5:22-28)

If we, the church, do not submit to Christ, our Head, then we will not be presented to Him all glorious and without spot or wrinkle! Pride is a blemish that must be removed. Wives, if you cannot submit to your husband, so far as doing so does not dishonor God, then you have the image of the beast, and Jesus will say to you, "I know you not." Husbands, if you cannot accept your God-given responsibility to lead your wife according to godly judgment, but yield to her wishes for fear of conflict, then you also have the image of the beast, and will hear the same words.

Yes, it is that serious. "God is not mocked."^[9] Children, if you do not submit to the God-given authority of your parents, in so far as it is not contrary to God's law, then you reject God's authority, and will be in the same class. It is a matter of authority. If we accept an order in marriage (whether our own, or symbolically as the church with Christ) that is not in God's defined order, then we receive the image of the beast, and thereby forfeit our eternal lives with shame. In the time of final judgment, all is exposed.

If any of those scenarios represents you, then do not delay to repent and reform your lives. Jesus is ever loving and ready to forgive, but make no mistake about it, He "will by no means clear the guilty,"^[10] who do not repent, presuming upon His love to be accepting of sin and rebellion against His authority. It would be easy if it were just about the Sabbath, but God desires the heart. Are you willing to yield it to Him above your own desires? Will you put Him first in your life? The choice is yours. May He say to you, "Well done [well chosen], good and faithful servant; thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things: enter thou into the joy of thy lord."^[11]

Babel Rising

BABEL RISING

AND YOU THOUGHT IT WAS JUST A GAME

This is it. The final rapid movements of earth's history are finishing up right before our eyes. This September, cataclysmic events are scheduled to happen. I am not talking about what the "prophets" everywhere are warning about, who say that something "big" will happen due to natural or supernatural causes. I am talking about the big things that are happening right under your nose:

August 2, 2015: Consensus Reached on New Sustainable Development Agenda to be adopted by World Leaders in September

If you're like most people, you probably read a headline like that and think "That sounds ok, even good." That's why I'm not really sure how to break this news to you. The truth is, you've been had. That's a difficult thing for a smart person to swallow, but it's even harder for a proud person.

Go ahead. Try to figure out what the headline means. Break it down one word at a time.

Consensus is agreement, harmony, concurrence, accord, unity, unanimity, solidarity. We could call it "oneness." And what about this oneness or consensus? It has been reached. Does it say it will be reached someday? No, it has been reached, finalized as of August 1. It's done. Oneness has been reached.

On what? On a new sustainable development agenda. That sounds nice, doesn't it? Sustainability is a good thing, right? Well, isn't it? Sustainability means having a fire to warm your home without burning up the whole forest before your grandchildren grow up. Sustainability means having clean water without draining the whole aquifer. Isn't that good? It depends on what it costs—and I don't mean monetarily! Let's make it real. Is it good when the law says you can't drink rainwater that falls on your own land because that rainwater is reserved by the government to recharge the aquifer? Or is it good when the law says that you can't get wood from the forest without paying a middleman because the government has to control the forest usage? No, it isn't good. Sustainability is a good principle only if it is subordinate to individual rights. I will come back to that.

Let's finish unpacking the headline above. The new sustainable development agenda is to be adopted in September. Adopted means that it will go into effect. Where will it go into effect? Wherever the jurisdiction of those who adopt it extends. And by whom will it be adopted? By world leaders, namely the same ones who are already in consensus or oneness on it. Who are those world leaders, who are in consensus or oneness? The headline comes from the United Nations website, and the article itself says that it is talking about the 193 nations that are involved in the UN.

Mind you, that IS the whole world. There are only three nations that are not members of the UN, and two of those are not recognized as sovereign states (Taiwan and Kosovo) which means their parent states speak for them as far as the United Nations is concerned. The only other state that is not a member of the UN is the Vatican, which is not bound as a member state. The Vatican is the only state that maintains its sovereignty independent of the rest of the world.

In summary, the headline above says: One-World Government Approved; Effective in September.

NOW DO YOU SEE HOW BIG THIS IS!?

The Tower of Babel

Take a close look at the meeting place of the UN General Assembly, pictured in the organization chart at right. Do you recognize the symbolism that is built into the architecture? At the top is the all-seeing eye, casting its light down onto the world leaders below. The world leaders gather inside the walls of the pyramid, below the Luciferian eye. In other words, the visual message is that the entire world is under Satan's domination.

The unfinished or uncapped pyramid has always symbolized the never-finished Tower of Babel. It was not finished, but the mastermind behind it has never stopped working toward his goal. Since that time, Satan has still been planning to establish his form of government across the globe. He has experimented and succeeded to varying degrees throughout the ages, for example in pagan Rome, papal Rome, France during the French Revolution, and in the United States as of late. The present consensus of world leaders is the great final attempt to demonstrate to the universe the viability of his alternative to the government of God.

Sovereignty is supreme power. In a democracy, the supreme power of the nation rests with the people. In a monarchy, the supreme power rests with the king. Either way, the nation is sovereign because it answers to no other power than its own sovereign body, be it the king or the people.

Under the United Nations, however, every member state—every political state of the world except the Vatican—willingly yields its sovereignty to the overarching governmental authority of the United Nations itself. In the case of a monarchy, that means the king will now have to answer and submit to the UN. In the case of a democracy, the people will have to answer and submit to the UN (through their elected officials). That is what all the nations of the world have agreed to do.

The only political state in the world which has NOT yielded its sovereignty is the Vatican. The Vatican does what it wants. It is the satanic eye at the top of the new Tower of Babel, whose only law is "Do what thou wilt."

You can kiss your personal freedoms and unalienable rights good-bye...

The UN has two sides. On the one hand, they promote Human Rights, which again sound good, but they are interpreted so as to serve the greater good, not to protect individuals. In essence, Human Rights are about not making trouble for others. They tell everyone to just get along. Don't tell somebody they are wrong. Don't offend. Don't thump your Bible at them. Just let everyone be, no matter what flavor of sin they prefer. The epitome of Human Rights is gay tolerance: just live with it, and don't say anything against it no matter how disgusting and degrading and sinful it is.

That's how the UN keeps peace. They want everybody to get along by tolerating everything except intolerance.

On the other hand, the UN has the sustainable development goals. One of the main thrusts—the first goal, in fact—is to eliminate poverty. The new catch phrase is "No one will be left behind." It sounds good, doesn't it? In essence, they say everyone should have bread on their table to eliminate violence, never mind whether they work for it or not. Nobody should be poor. What they really want is to make sure every single person is tied into the financial grid. For them, anyone who grows their own food and chops their own wood is living in poverty, and has to be helped!

That is how they aim to provide security for all, meeting everyone's needs. Those two aspects of the UN agenda are interwoven and inseparable.

Lyn Leahz, a popular contributor to Before It's News, explores many aspects of this and related developments in a 30-minute video.^[1] She emphasizes how the one-world government is fulfilling Bible prophecy, and that Satan will lead the New World Order in person. She hasn't yet quite realized who he is, though.

She quotes Michael Snyder to point out that the new development goals are really about total control:

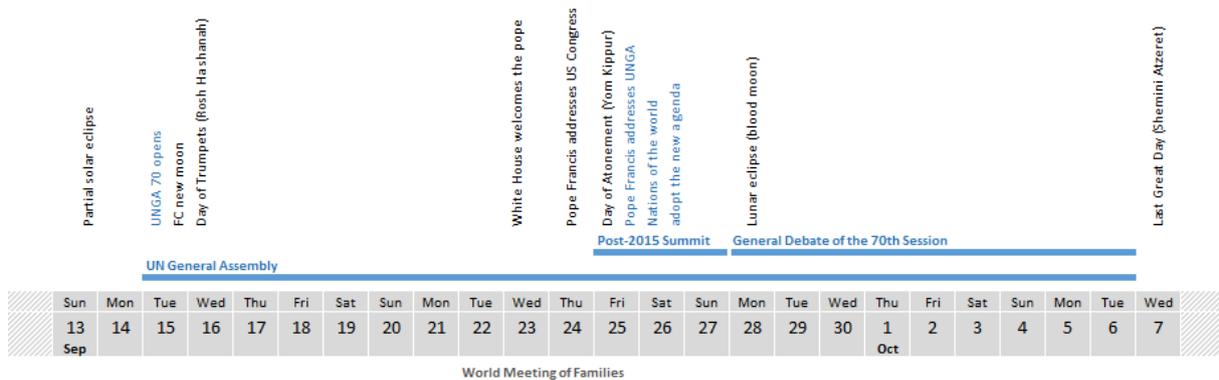

As I discussed earlier this week, the globalists want to use "sustainable development" as an excuse to micromanage the lives of every man, woman and child on the entire globe.^[2]

There is no doubt that once the NWO system goes live, life will get really unpleasant. You've been warned about what is coming...there will be a financial crisis, martial law will go into effect, the Jade Helm 15 exercise will be replaced with a real-life military operation, and people will be snatched away and taken to concentration camps. Homes, and in some cases entire streets, have already been marked for how they will be dispositioned when martial law goes into effect.^[3] A red dot on your mailbox or a red X on your street means that you are slated for execution. Blue means you can be re-educated in a FEMA camp. Yellow means you will conform without resistance.

It's your choice whether you believe the warning signs or not, but one thing is sure: the New World Order is coming on schedule. If you want to understand the issues involved, your best source is the Word of God:

For when they shall say, Peace and safety [Strong's: security]; then sudden destruction cometh upon them, as travail upon a woman with child; and they shall not escape. (1 Thessalonians 5:3)

When the world hails the adoption of the UN peace and security initiatives, then sudden destruction will come. How sudden will this sudden destruction come? The clocks of God indicate that the first plague of God's wrath will be poured out upon the world on October 24/25, 2015. That is only two and a half weeks after the UN General Assembly meetings close.

Timeline 1 – 70th Session of the United Nations General Assembly (click to enlarge)

Note how the dates of the General Assembly nearly correspond to the autumn feast days. By the incorrect reckoning of many, the Jewish feast days are mistakenly believed to begin a day or two earlier than the correct dates (shown). The feast dates shown are according to God's true calendar, but the UN meetings were obviously planned to correspond to a version of the calendar which begins a day early.

I hope you see that the big trumpet warning for 2015 is about the New World Government! This IS the great calamity! This IS the reason why your finances are no longer secure! This IS the reason why martial law will take away your individual freedoms!

The History of the United Nations

On their official website, the UN points out the importance of its history on this special anniversary:

The 70th anniversary of the United Nations is an opportunity to reflect – to look back on the UN’s history and take stock of its enduring achievements. It is also an opportunity to spotlight where the UN – and the international community as a whole – needs to redouble its efforts to meet current and future challenges across the three pillars of its work: peace and security, development, and human rights.^[4]

This time of year 70 years ago was a critical time in world history, as World War II was coming to a close. Nazi Germany had already surrendered, but Japan was continuing to war. The US formally demanded Japan’s unconditional surrender on July 26, 1945—exactly one month after the UN Charter was signed.

Already we begin to see the parallels 70 years later: The US Supreme Court ruled that same-sex marriage must be protected—that’s like the UN Charter, but this time it is directly the charter of Satan’s government. In essence, they formally demanded God-fearing Christians to surrender supreme allegiance to the Law of God, and to honor instead the claims of man-made law. Worse—they demand decent human beings to give up their innate dignity to support Satan’s form of government. Scarcely a month later on July 27, the General Assembly of world nations met to draft the 17 goals (demands of surrender) of the NWO.

Atomic bombs were dropped on Hiroshima and Nagasaki on August 6 and 9, respectively. The world had never before seen such an act of destruction, nor has it ever since. Seventy years ago, the US caused fire to come down from heaven, and through that singular act, the world has steadily been deceived into reuniting to finally build the One-World Government.

And he doeth great wonders, so that he maketh fire come down from heaven on the earth in the sight of men, And deceiveth them that dwell on the earth by the means of those miracles which he had power to do in the sight of the beast; saying to them that dwell on the earth, that they should make an image to the beast, which had the wound by a sword, and did live. (Revelation 13:13-14)

That was the greatest catastrophe of the world since antiquity. Hundreds of thousands of innocent people died. Half of those cries were forever silenced in a day. The horror of those wonders is what has led to where we are today, because the potential for a nuclear holocaust has been used as the primary motivation for the United Nations to succeed. Now, the threat of climate change has taken up that role.

On August 10, the day after Nagasaki was nuked, Japan acquiesced to the terms of unconditional surrender. On August 15, the Emperor of Japan publically announced the country’s defeat. One month and 70 years later, all of the nations of the world will meet together to surrender their own sovereignty to the New World Order that was chartered and motivated by war and fire from heaven.

Will fire from heaven play another role in the establishment of the UN? Will another cataclysmic disaster strike before the General Assembly to burn into every mind the need for climate action? Will the numerous false prophets and false saviors of apostate Protestantism successfully call down fire from heaven this September, thus fulfilling Revelation 13:13 once more?

Those are questions to ponder, but what is absolutely certain is that the plans to rebuild figurative Babylon are moving forward at break-neck speed. The 70 years will officially close on the High Sabbath of October 24, the anniversary of when the UN Charter entered into force. Then the wrath of God in the seven last plagues will begin.

The Spread of Babylonian Law

The law to protect same-sex marriage in the US is quickly spreading throughout the world. A recent ruling of the highest Human Rights court in the world has put 47 European states under pressure to grant legal recognition to same-sex couples, if they don't already. The judgment was issued on July 21, 2015 by the European Court of Human Rights, a supranational or international court established by the European Convention on Human Rights,^[5] which has jurisdiction over 800 million people.

This advancement of the LGBT cause is the world-wide expansion of the National Sodomy Law (NSL) that was passed in the United States of America on June 26, 2015. The role of the USA in the expansion of the image of the beast has been foretold in Bible prophecy:

And [the second beast, the USA] deceiveth them that dwell on the earth by the means of those miracles which he had power to do in the sight of the beast; saying to them that dwell on the earth, that they should make an image to the beast, which had the wound by a sword, and did live. (Revelation 13:14)

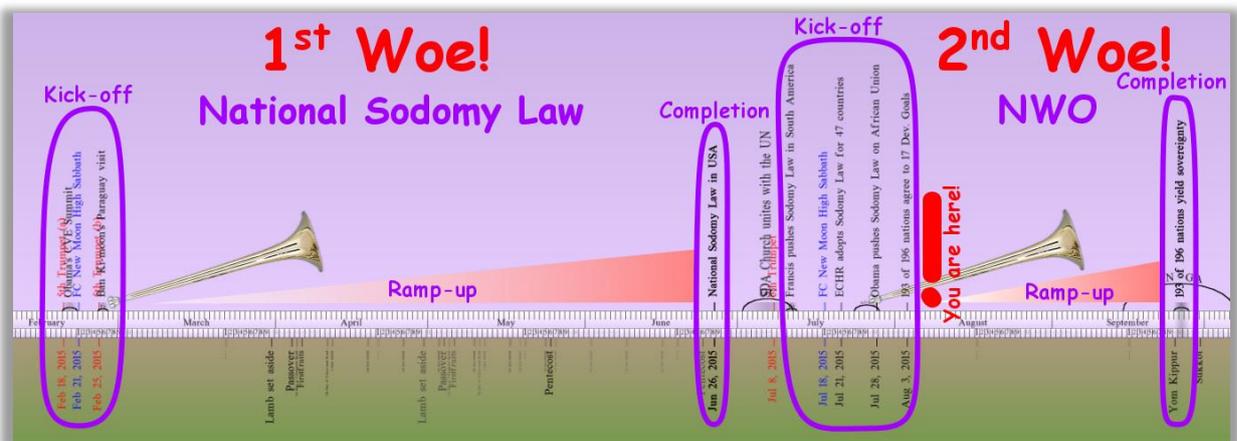

In fact, the decision of the ECHR was expedited precisely through the influence of the United States of America. Regarding the recent ruling, it was acknowledged that:

The rapid development of the move towards recognition of same-sex unions in the United States was also taken into account.^[6]

While this development affects primarily Euro-Asian countries, the second beast of Revelation 13 has also been at work in Africa. The Chief Executive of the USA, President Obama, personally visited his home continent to promote the LGBT cause in several countries there,^[7] similarly to what Pope Francis did in his home continent of South America. Now you can see why it was so important for the secret societies to install a black President of the United States (the Moor of Freising). Only someone whom the African people could strongly identify with would have enough influence to push gay rights in Africa.

Are you counting the continents that are being pressured into accepting world-wide sodomy legislation? North America, South America, Euro-Asia, Africa... It won't take long before the sin of sodomy has been legalized in every quarter of the world.

But before they lay down, the men of the city, even the men of Sodom, compassed the house round, both old and young, all the people from every quarter: . . . Then the LORD rained upon Sodom and upon Gomorrah brimstone and fire from the LORD out of heaven; (Genesis 19:4, 24)

Timeline 2 – First and Second Woe (click to enlarge)

The 17 new Development Goals that the nations of the world have agreed upon include points that directly underlie non-discrimination against homosexuals. For example, Goal 5 contains nine bullet items entirely dedicated to “achieve gender equality and empower all women and girls.” Gender equality is the foundation for removing the distinction between male and female, and paves the way for LGBT tolerance and gay rights. Goal 16—which is to “promote just, peaceful and inclusive societies”—includes the following bullet item:

- Promote and enforce non-discriminatory laws and policies for sustainable development

Although the language does not specify LGBT discrimination, it is certainly being promoted as already mentioned, and it is included in the wording by implication as one of many forms of discrimination.

The first two woes are as plain as day... Are you ready to withstand the second beast's next ambition?

And he causeth all, both small and great, rich and poor, free and bond, to receive a mark in their right hand, or in their foreheads: And that no man might buy or sell, save he that had the mark, or the name of the beast, or the number of his name. (Revelation 13:16-17)

The crisis is here.

And after these things I saw another angel come down from heaven, having great power; and the earth was lightened with his glory. And he cried mightily with a strong voice, saying, Babylon the great is fallen, is fallen, and is become the habitation of devils, and the hold of every foul spirit, and a cage of every unclean and hateful bird. For all nations have drunk of the wine of the wrath of her fornication, and the kings of the earth have committed fornication with her, and the merchants of the earth are waxed rich through the abundance of her delicacies. And I heard another voice from heaven, saying, Come out of her, my people, that ye be not partakers of her sins, and that ye receive not of her plagues. For her sins have reached unto heaven, and God hath remembered her iniquities. (Revelation 18:1-5)

The church denominations have ALL partnered with the United Nations, including the Seventh-day Adventist Church. It's official now: Ted Wilson's meeting with Ban Ki-moon has borne its fruit, voted and approved by the World Church in Session.

RUN, if you are still a member of any Church organization! Probation closes on this October 17! Don't get fried by the plagues!

Ben Carson Caught Violating Twins He Separated!

Written by Ray Dickinson

Published: Thursday, November 12, 2015, 8:46 am

Created: Thursday, November 12, 2015, 8:46 am

The life story of pediatric neurosurgeon, Dr. Ben Carson, renowned for his successful separation of craniopagus conjoined twins, has proved an inspiration to many. As a teenager, I read his biography, Gifted Hands, and appreciated the lessons and wisdom it contained. I was also inspired by it, and was deeply impressed that although a person may appear to be incapable of learning, it may be that their true potential is simply hidden by negative mental programming, and redirecting their time and attention into productive channels will help them to realize their potential.

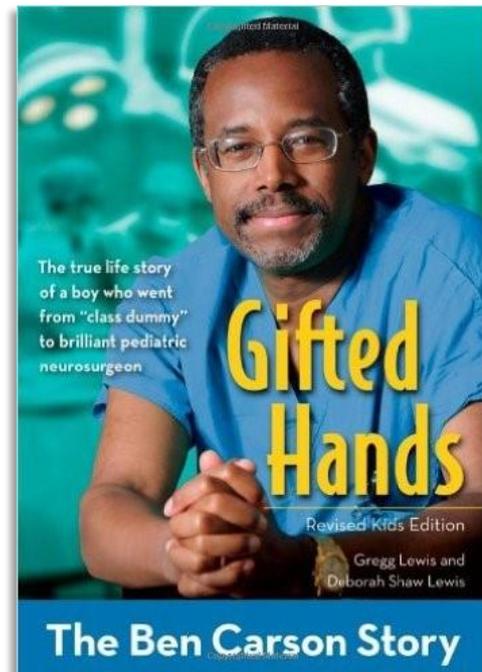

My respect for Dr. Carson remained strong as I matured and set out to find my own place in life. So when my wife and I started a little ministry promoting spiritual books and lifestyle aids in our community, we took the opportunity to spread the inspiration of his story. We especially wanted to encourage the young readers to rise above the emptiness of TV sitcoms, video games, and mind-numbing music, so they could see the great potential God has endowed them with to serve society in a meaningful capacity and find fulfillment they could never find in entertainment. So when we discovered that there was a Kids Edition to Ben Carson's biography, we were excited, because we knew it would be more appealing to the younger readers, since it had more pictures and simpler language, etc.

In the summer of 2014, we received our first box of Gifted Hands, Kids Edition, and immediately began promoting it. But soon, something happened that gave us a real surprise. My wife, who had also read the book earlier in life, decided to refresh herself on the story, and began to read the Kids Edition. Right near the beginning, she read that Ben Carson was inspired by the story of a missionary doctor he had heard at church. That much was fine, but the strange thing was that it said that this happened “one Sunday morning during church”!^[1]

Being lifelong Seventh-day Adventists ourselves, we well knew that Ben Carson was raised with the same faith, and therefore would have heard this story on Saturday, when Seventh-day Adventists meet for church! We checked the regular edition to be sure we hadn't gotten our wires crossed, but sure enough, where it related that story, it was clearly stated, “We were Seventh-day Adventists, and one Saturday morning, Pastor Ford, at the Detroit Burns Avenue church, illustrated his sermon with a story [of the missionary doctor].”^[2]

“Does Dr. Carson know about this?” we wondered. “He's a busy man—maybe he didn't proof every detail of the Kids Edition.” Giving him the benefit of the doubt, we sought to contact him more directly, but the best we could do was return the books, citing the incorrect and misleading information, and were told that our finding would be forwarded to the publisher.

Of course, it is clear that it was not an unintentional change. It is clearly a deliberate alteration of factual details that was done with a specific purpose in mind. It doesn't take a brain surgeon to recognize that you can work on the minds of children without the knowledge of parents by slipping little changes with subtle effects into a kid's edition that most parents won't read for themselves, thinking it's the same story as the full-detail regular edition! There has been plenty of time since the publication of this error at the end of 2009, to come clean about what the intentions were behind this change (and who knows what others?).

This was when we first began to realize that something wasn't right with Ben Carson. Since that time, he has become a public politician, and his faith has been an ever-present theme for the journalists covering his presidential election campaign in the US. Many have seen his prayer breakfast speech, where he spoke his mind in front of president Obama, and not only lauded him as a courageous public speaker, but encouraged him to run for president. Many Americans long for someone with common sense and a strong backbone in the Oval Office, and Dr. Carson seems to fit the bill! Many Adventists hail him as a man “for such a time as this,” hearkening to the biblical story of Esther who was a Jew, thrust into the spotlight (though against her desire, unlike Carson) and became queen of a non-Jewish nation, making it possible for her to intervene when that nation sought to exterminate the Jews within it.

To be sure, it is a curious fact that a Seventh-day Adventist would run for president at all! Although the church at its recent General Conference Session (its highest voting body) has officially, if subtly, downplayed the prophetic role of Ellen White, for many Adventists, her words are still an authoritative and influential voice, and as if Jesus' example and that of His disciples weren't enough, she has left clear words about the incompatibility of the Christian's mission and politics:

The Lord would have His people bury political questions. On these themes silence is eloquence. Christ calls upon His followers to come into unity on the pure gospel principles which are plainly revealed in the word of God. We cannot with safety vote for political parties; for we do not know whom we are voting for. We cannot with safety take part in any political scheme. {CCh 316.2}

It would seem that we cannot with safety vote for Ben Carson, either. Are you voting for a Seventh-day Adventist or a Sunday keeper? Are you voting for an honest man of courageous integrity, or a sly politician who happens to have a better-than-usual façade? Call me paranoid and accusatory if you wish, but I smell something rotten.

And what's with all the attention^[3] on who built the pyramids^[4] and for what purpose? Could it be a Globalist insider signal that the physician, Ben Carson is poised to fill the shoes of Imhotep^[5], the great physician and mason of Egypt who is historically credited with building the pyramids? It is the pyramid, after all, that is a hallmark of modern Globalists and they have long held key offices in both the public and private sectors, boldly stamping their hallmark (and other symbols) wherever they can—including on the one-dollar bill in your pocket!

If you broaden your perspective a bit instead of getting caught up in the opponent wars, and realize that there is a much larger, sinister scheme at work that utilizes the Hegelian dialectic, taking advantage of (or even creating) the opposing elements with the ultimate goal to bring about a much larger objective, then you will begin to understand that this is not so far-fetched. The problem is that we're too naïve and locked into modern history, and we forget that there are influential forces at work in the world that operate on much larger time scales than that of an individual human lifespan. In short, it is a battle between Christ and Satan, not Ben and Hillary.

The symbolism, however, does not stop with the pyramids! Carson's fame for the successful separation of conjoined twins is itself symbolic. We have previously written about how marriage and the Sabbath are twin institutions, both of which originated with the creation of the world and more importantly reflect the seal and authority of God.^[6] This is their indissoluble link, meaning that in reality, they cannot be separated. But then Ben Carson, the great separator of conjoined twins, comes heroically on the scene!

Seventh-day Adventists have a long history of Bible prophecy analysis that suggests that they will be persecuted at the end of time because of the seventh-day Sabbath. They believe that the second beast of Revelation 13 is identifiable as the United States, and that it will enforce a National Sunday Law.

Regardless of what may be the societal trend today, there is a certain significance to this belief that suggests that it shouldn't be brushed aside too quickly. After all, in 1890—decades after the church had settled its prophetic understanding, Kentucky Congressman Breckinridge introduced a bill that would have ultimately compelled Sunday worship, but it was narrowly defeated. Among those who spoke before the Congressional subcommittee that voted on it, was the Seventh-day Adventist minister, Alonzo T. Jones, who presented a solid case against it.^[7]

But times have changed over the intervening century and a quarter. Today, equality and anti-discrimination laws ensure that Sabbath keepers retain their rights to worship on the day of their choice. This is where the twins come in. The twin to the Sabbath is marriage, and the same anti-discrimination laws redefine marriage and not only demand that LGBT marriage be accepted and honored, but anything spoken against it is being redefined as hate speech, as though the simple expression of a differing conviction is the de facto standard of hatred.

This is where the long tradition of Adventist interpretation is a disservice to them. With all due respect for their prophetic interpretation, we realize (and have been preaching) that although prophecies referring to a “Sunday Law” may have literally applied in the late 19th century, today, they must be understood in principle and applied to the twin, the Sodomy Law. Thus, while many Adventists are hopeful to have a representative in the White House who would surely delay the expected Sunday Law, they are unaware that an equivalent law was enacted by the Supreme Court’s decision on June 26, 2015 that legalized gay marriage. Their prophecy already came true, but their twins were separated so they didn’t recognize it!

Thus, while traditional Adventist interpretation regards legislation of Sunday worship as the mark of the beast, in today’s context, it is gay marriage, and the image of the beast is the passive support of sodomy.^[8] Carson is technically against gay marriage, but he has no word against the sin of sodomy (rather, he supports it through civil unions). He has apparently successfully separated the twin institutions! He may appear to uphold the Sabbath, but even so, without honoring God’s form of marriage and denouncing the devil’s counterfeit as sin, it is pure hypocrisy!

So there you have it—the twins that God united, Ben Carson thinks to be able to successfully separate, but in the process, he violates them both. The Bible gives us relevant and wise instruction applicable to this point:

For whosoever shall keep the whole law, and yet offend in one point, he is guilty of all. For he that said, Do not commit adultery, said also, Do not kill. Now if thou commit no adultery, yet if thou kill, thou art become a transgressor of the law. (James 2:10-11)

There is more than just the Sabbath in God’s law, but some have become so focused on the Sabbath that they offend in nine points, but think that their Sabbath keeping will count for all! Sorry, but it doesn’t work like that! “What therefore God hath joined together, let not man put asunder.”^[9]

Unfortunately, the Seventh-day Adventist Church, while it appears to be unique among Protestant denominations, has voluntarily given up its historical unique identity. Decades ago, it admitted in official capacity before a court that those dark, “fearful prophetic scenarios” that

Loren Seibold speaks of^[10] have been “consigned to the historical trash heap.”^[11] Although the current president of the church, Ted Wilson, outwardly appears to uphold its historical values, his actions and the changes that were approved by the duped sheeple at the recent General Conference Session, have successfully brought it into harmony with the ecumenical goals of the UN. Oh, but God forbid we consider any infiltration conspiracy theory!

For this reason, and because we stand for the core values that the church has historically upheld, we find it necessary to uphold them without membership in any church organization (all of which are required to comply with UN development goals), welcoming new understanding without throwing away the old. David Corn of Mother Jones Magazine may have concluded that the church believes it got the date wrong in 1844,^[12] but its uniqueness is centered in the belief that it got the date correct, only misunderstanding the event!

“Can two walk together, except they be agreed?” (Amos 3:3)

So then, there’s no need to worry about any hidden secrets of Ben Carson’s faith! He’s just another politician like all the rest! If he were really one of those “extremists” who actually believe those “fearful” bible prophecies, then maybe, just maybe, he would have opened his mouth about it by now! But his church is in the same ecumenical boat with all the others. Have no fear! You can elect him with confidence that his faith won’t affect his policy! The only thing is you’ll have to get used to him worshipping on Saturday (at least when he’s not busy campaigning). But take care, because while you wait for the elections, you may find that you’re left in the shadow of time.

The Movement

Our Mission

As we look back on the history of this movement, we recognize that the Lord was guiding it from the beginning. The Last message to a dying world had to come through someone, and God prophesied that He wouldn't use the pastors and Bible scholars, but that it would come from humble lay people. In these short lines is a brief sketch of the story of this ministry as it began with God's call on John Scotram, and developed into what it is today.

Shortly after his conversion in 2003, the Lord moved on Brother John's heart to give himself to mission service and led him from Europe to Paraguay, South America. Unfortunately, the real estate agency informed him that no property existed in Paraguay with the characteristics he had specified. Nevertheless, after some time, a 30-hectare farm in the mountains was found that in fact met every requirement—except the price. In further answer to prayer, God provided the money in a surprising way. As a result of discovering a miscalculation in a transaction regarding his inheritance in Germany, the owing party sent a large sum, which exactly covered the remaining amount (about two-thirds) to purchase the property—which was deposited on the very day it was needed!

For planning purposes, Brother John asked God how much time he would have in which to develop the mission outreach project, and then he studied the Bible to learn the answer. The White Cloud Farm was developed amidst numerous and extreme difficulties calculated to discourage the effort, including a terrible three-and-a-half-year drought, robberies, and ongoing problems due to dishonest workmen who claimed competence in their trade, but didn't deliver. Nevertheless, the Lord's hand was in the project, and by 2012, the temple and other construction was completed, and the houses were ready to be occupied.

Tests and trials continued relentlessly as the Lord's plans for the ministry shaped the seven years after the Clock of God in Orion was discovered. During that time, through the mysterious working of the Lord, He brought together five friends from around the world to join Brother John and his wife. These seven, who recognized the Holy Spirit's leadership of the movement, became a close family, despite the language barriers, personality differences, and character issues among them.

Growing through the challenges as only the family of God can do, they would ultimately choose to stay together on the farm to further serve as witnesses for God in these remaining years of trial. Watching the Lord in Orion, these seven—the four authors and their wives—were brought together by acting on their love for Him, and held together with the strong bond of sacrificial brotherly love.

The first seven years of the LastCountdown ministry served to gather a small community of the first-fruits of God's harvest, giving them the experience in sacrifice that is needed to reflect the character of Jesus effectively. This little community was gathered into a private, online forum, known informally as "the restaurant," where we share and study the things God reveals before publishing the findings publicly as appropriate. From this group, our regional secretaries and study group leaders are selected.

It has been a difficult work. To offset the tides of condemnation, ridicule, and sheer hatred that we received in ever-increasing amounts, there were but a handful of thankful voices to give a breath of fresh air to our weary souls, and even among those few, many turned away, and some now spread slanderous reports against us. We take heart in the knowledge that it was the same with Jesus and the early church, and indeed, with God's people in every generation.

Remember the word that I said unto you, The servant is not greater than his lord. If they have persecuted me, they will also persecute you; if they have kept my saying, they will keep yours also. But all these things will they do unto you for my name's sake, because they know not him that sent me. (John 15:20-21)

Those who know not the Time, who sent His Son, are those who persecute us. But He is our exceeding great reward, and we remain on the earth to give witness to the gospel that could have saved them. If you believe in the testimony we have given, and would like to show your support of the Lord's message by returning a portion of what He has given you, please see our donation options.

And this gospel of the kingdom shall be preached in all the world for a witness unto all nations; and then shall the end come. (Matthew 24:14)

We encourage those who believe this message of time, to take a stand and publicly show their support by applying the Orion seal to their forehead in profile pictures for social networks, etc. We have provided this simple tool so that you can quickly do it yourself in a three-step process. May God bless you as you witness for Him!

The 144,000 were all sealed and perfectly united. On their foreheads was written, God, New Jerusalem, and a glorious star containing Jesus' new name. At our happy, holy state the wicked were enraged, and would rush violently up to lay hands on us to thrust us into prison, when we would stretch forth the hand in the name of the Lord, and they would fall helpless to the ground. Then it was that the synagogue of Satan knew that God had loved us who could wash one another's feet and salute the brethren with a holy kiss, and they worshiped at our feet. {EW 15.1}

Membership Statutes of the High Sabbath Adventist Society

1. Baptism

One of the most fundamental and important confessions of faith is baptism by immersion in water. It is a public demonstration of faith in Jesus Christ as one's Savior through substitution of His death and life for ours, and the words of Paul still give a clear picture of what it means:

Therefore we are buried with him [Jesus] by baptism into death: that like as Christ was raised up from the dead by the glory of the Father, even so we also should walk in newness of life. (Romans 6:4)

The significance of baptism is naturally greater for the High Sabbath Adventist than for other Christians who practice baptism by immersion, since we understand the centrality of Alnitak, the Wounded One in the Orion message. Nevertheless, the baptism itself is no different, and having once been so baptized as a public confession of faith in Jesus Christ, it is sufficient to satisfy the requirement of baptism for membership in the High Sabbath Adventist Society. Those, however, who have been "baptized" by any other means, would need to be baptized again according to the biblical model of immersion.

2. Organizational Structure

The High Sabbath Adventist Society is governed by the laws of heaven, and therefore is organized in such a way as to prevent the laws of the state from interfering with the faithful fulfillment of our duty and obligation toward God. Thus, this society is not a state-recognized non-profit organization, even though in practice, it is indeed not for profit, but in order to obtain state recognition, the organization would have to submit to, among other things, state-defined principles of equality and non-discrimination. God knew the dangers of compromise that would need to be met, and gave wise instruction early on to make the way clear:

And thou shalt take no gift: for the gift blindeth the wise, and perverteth the words of the righteous. (Exodus 23:8)

The gift of the state is to reduce the tax burden for contributors and organizations, if the organization abides by the state's principles of tolerance and non-discrimination (among others), which are contrary to the law of God. Lest the words of the righteous be perverted as we have seen happen in the Seventh-day Adventist Church and every other religious organization who has received this tempting gift of the state, the High Sabbath Adventist Society and its members must work on a higher level. The tithes and offerings given to this organization are therefore not tax deductible, but are faithfully used to spread the Lord's message for this time in whatever way is appropriate, and to supply the basic needs of the ministry.

3. The Tithes

Members of the High Sabbath Adventist Society, having accepted our high calling, are expected to be faithful in all things, and that includes the returning of the tithe, or 10% of the income God has given, before any taxes or necessary expenses are paid. That portion is holy, and God asks the individual to return it to Him as a tangible acknowledgement of His ownership of all. Therefore, as faithful stewards of God's resources, the returning of the tithe is a requirement for membership in the High Sabbath Adventist Society.

The churches have corrupted themselves with the state, descending into apostasy and the terrible misuse of the tithes that are given to them, even appropriating them to that which is clearly not God's work. Therefore, the tithes given through those corrupt channels are not returned to God, but to the corrupt servants of Babylon.

Because there is no other organization that is faithfully delivering the last message from God to the world, which He has given as an ark of safety to save life from the earth, it follows that the High Sabbath Adventist Society is the only remaining storehouse that God may claim as His own. As it was in the days of the first apostles, so it is now. Though the church was young and small, it was God's chosen body, separate from the large, but unfaithful people who had rejected their Lord.

The tithe is the holy part of the income and is treated as such by the ministry leadership. It is used to support a holy work, and faithfulness requires that it not be appropriated to common purposes. Though one may return their tithe and later turn away from the truth, and regret having supported the cause, the Society must remain faithful to God, even with the tithes from those who are no longer members. Regardless of the channel through which the moneys are remitted to the ministry, tithes and offerings, once given, no longer belong to the giver, and requests for "refunds" of these moneys will not be honored.

4. Religious Affiliations

In order to become a member of the High Sabbath Adventist Society, it is necessary to first relinquish any other membership in the Babylonian system of churches and tax-exempt organizations. The faith of the 144,000 must be pure and untainted with the false teachings and practices common in such organizations. Members should be willing to testify for their faith, not just in their conversation with others, but also for all to see in their social media profile pictures with the star seal representing their unashamed faith in the message from Orion.

5. Forum Membership

Access to the private study forum is a privilege that has its own set of responsibilities beyond that of the believing student. The advanced instruction in the forum is restricted to those who have demonstrated their willingness to follow their Lord in the highest confession of self-sacrifice and have ordered their lives according to the calling of the 144,000. One of the twelve regional secretaries must verify in good faith that the candidate has made all changes in their lifestyle as are necessary to testify that nothing is so important to them that it would not be surrendered if their Lord should require it. Once these requirements are met, the candidate may then register for entry to the forum community, where they may take an active part in sharing prophetically relevant current news on our community group for News about the Last Three Plagues.

While the faithful returning of the tithe to the Society is among the basic requirements for membership, it should be understood that this is a free-will decision and is not a payment for any service or benefit. Though one may faithfully return their tithe, it will not purchase access to the forum community apart from conformity to the lifestyle that is required.

Authors

It has become evident through the first seven years of the movement, that God has called four men to communicate His messages in written form. It seems to be a repetition of the number of gospel writers who were called in former times. Thus far, the work includes nearly 3500 pages written by those four authors

Please understand that they are under a lot of time pressure and responsibility, so if you have any questions, please contact one of the regional secretaries. If necessary, they will forward questions to the responsible author. We try to answer all serious questions, but please be patient because we are processing the questions in the order they are received. Thank you very much!

The Bible is written by inspired men, but it is not God’s mode of thought and expression. It is that of humanity. God, as a writer, is not represented. Men will often say such an expression is not like God. But God has not put Himself in words, in logic, in rhetoric, on trial in the Bible. The writers of the Bible were God’s penmen, not His pen. Look at the different writers.

It is not the words of the Bible that are inspired, but the men that were inspired. Inspiration acts not on the man’s words or his expressions but on the man himself, who, under the influence of the Holy Ghost, is imbued with thoughts. But the words receive the impress of the individual mind. The divine mind is diffused. The divine mind and will is combined with the human mind and will; thus the utterances of the man are the word of God.—Manuscript 24, 1886 (written in Europe in 1886).

Publishing Team Paraguay

To Prepare a People to Meet God—The publications sent forth from our printing houses are to prepare a people to meet God. Throughout the world they are to do the same work that was done by John the Baptist for the Jewish nation. By startling messages of warning, God's prophet awakened men from worldly dreaming. Through him God called backsliding Israel to repentance. By his presentation of truth he exposed popular delusions. In contrast with the false theories of his time, truth in his teaching stood forth as an eternal certainty. "Repent ye: for the kingdom of heaven is at hand," was John's message. Matthew 3:2. This same message, through the publications from our printing houses, is to be given to the world today....

And in a large degree through our publishing houses is to be accomplished the work of that other angel who comes down from heaven with great power and who lightens the earth with his glory.—

Regional Secretaries

Regional secretaries are normally non-ordained members of our movement who can answer administrative and doctrinal questions for the people in their area/region. If you have questions, please always contact the regional secretary closest to your area before contacting an author. If any special questions arise that need dispatching, your regional secretary is responsible for doing that and getting the answer to you.

Here the ministers of righteousness are symbolized by the seven stars, which the First and the Last has under his special care and protection. The Lord Jesus Christ is acquainted with the number of the stars. He calls them by their names, binds the sweet influence of Pleiades, and looses the bands of Orion. The ministers of the gospel of Christ are greater blessings to the church than are the stars to our world. All are in God's hand. He directs their motions. He disposes of them in their different orbs in their positions. He fills them with light and influence. He supports them, else they would soon be falling stars. They are instruments in his hands, and all the good they do is done by his hand and by his Spirit's power. {RH May 31, 1887, par. 4}

DVD and Book Version of the Web Site

Since the signs of the times indicate that religious freedom and the Internet will soon be very limited, we've made our entire web site available on DVD (with videos) and as PDF book (without videos) for distribution. For the DVD version, you need ONE Data DVD with max. 4.7 GB capacity. The DVDs are only WINDOWS COMPATIBLE! The Book version is for ALL systems!

The ISO file is for burning Data DVDs or to be mounted on a local PC with a tool such as Daemon Tools Lite. It includes a portable version of the Firefox web browser, so that the target computer needs neither an Internet connection nor an installed web browser. The Data DVD starts automatically when inserted into the drive. If you copy the content to a local directory on your hard drive, the website is launched by double-clicking the LastCountdown.exe file in the root directory of the installation.

Please download the archives by clicking the following links (please trust, we scanned the files for viruses):

- 📄 DVD VERSION: ZIP Compressed ISO File from our Google Drive
- 📄 BOOK VERSION: The LastCountdown Book \(PDF\)

The archives can be downloaded also by a Torrent Client (such a program must be installed on your PC):

- 📄 DVD VERSION: ZIP Compressed ISO File via Torrent
- 📄 BOOK VERSION: The LastCountdown Book \(PDF\) in three languages via Torrent

The ISO file must be unzipped before burning the Data DVD! You can also mount the unzipped ISO file (with Daemon Tools Lite), open the virtual Data DVD in your file browser and copy its content to a directory on the hard drive of the target computer without burning a Data DVD. The same way, the web site can be distributed and operated on external hard or pen drives.

Note: The most important videos are already included in the ISO file of the DVD version and you do not have to have an online connection to view them in the portable browser. Other videos are NOT included in these files and should be downloaded separately from our YouTube channel. Don't forget to download the subtitles too! To distribute those videos, you would have to burn them to a separate Data or Video DVD.

If downloading this rather large ISO file should cause any difficulties with the links above, you could also use a free FTP program such as FileZilla to download it. In that case, you would need to enter the following server information:

Server: ftp.lastcountdown.org
Username: anonymous
Password: any

Study Material regarding the Second Time Proclamation

The most important charts and diagrams of the Seven Lean Years article from White Cloud Farm are provided here for use as a basis for sermons and/or seminars.

How to Download and Play Our Videos Locally

Over the years, the DVD version of the website(s) became difficult to handle and very big for download. Therefore, we decided to not produce new DVD versions of the websites. Instead, we have been offering the pdf books of all websites with the video links to be played online via your default web browser.

All our videos have a download button  that can be used to download a high-quality version of the video being played. If you want this downloaded video to play from your local copy when you click the  button in the pdf, simply create a local subfolder called videos on your drive where the pdf book is located. Download all videos you are interested in to that local subfolder videos. Do not change the filenames of the mp4 files that you are downloading (they are indeed ID numbers)! As soon as you have downloaded a video, you can access it directly from the pdf book clicking the  button after "Play locally".

Recommendation:

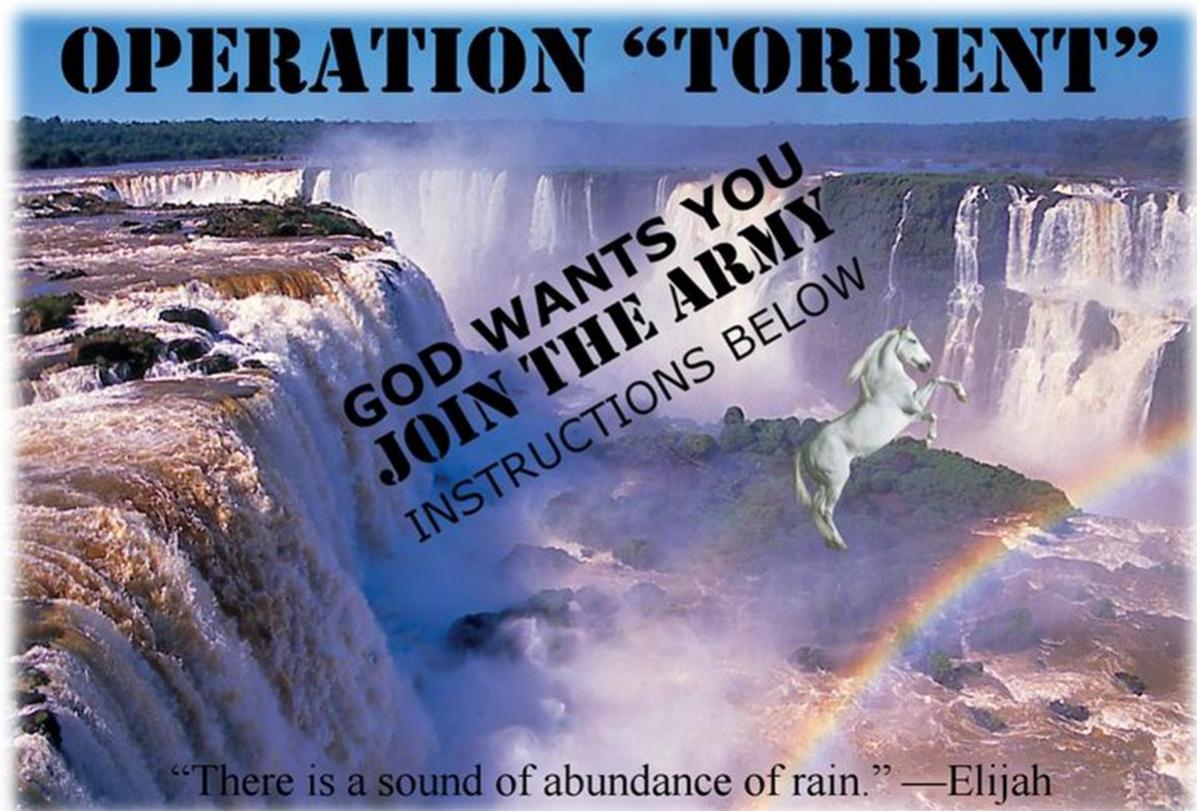

If you want to download all videos of our websites to the local subfolder videos at once, feel free to do so by accessing our public Google Drive folder videos.

Subtitles:

You can download all English subtitles at once at our Google Drive folder subtitles. Put them into the same subfolder videos with all the other downloaded videos. Most modern players like VLC Media Player recognize them automatically if a video has English subtitles that can be displayed along with the video.

May God bless all who participate in the distribution of the light of the Fourth Angel throughout the world!

Operation "Torrent"

HELP SPREAD THE MESSAGE OF THE FOURTH ANGEL BY DISTRIBUTING THE LASTCOUNTDOWN DVDS VIA TORRENT!

The time will soon come when we will not be allowed to speak openly about this message, and a famine for the Word of the LORD will be in the land. So, if you have flat rate Internet (i.e. with unlimited data traffic), please use your existing Torrent client (or download one like Vuze, etc.) and download the three (Windows compatible) DVDs and the LastCountdown Book (PDF) in three languages from our websites. After downloading, keep the Torrent client running so that others can download from you. In this way, you do a great work for the Lord and form part of the Movement of the Fourth Angel!

If you have absolutely no idea about how that works, please watch this video on YouTube.

Fight the deceit of Pope Francis, women's ordination, the same sex marriage and the globalists by spreading the Word of God. Thank you so much, and be blessed!

HSL Wadsworth with Orion-Years

Based on the official israelite New Moon Society criteria for the visibility of the new moon (crescent) in Jerusalem as by biblical astronomer Robert Scott Wadsworth in 1996/1997										*The calculation of the Sabbath Year Cycle is based on Luke 4:16-19. See SDA Bible Commentary.		The declaration of Jesus was in spring 29 AD, and therefore the Jubilee Year was 29/30 AD
